SEE SUCCESS OF EARLY STAGES IN CLASSIFICATION

System Found to be Popular With First Tryout This Week

MORE THAN 2,000 ENTER

Printed Instructions Given All Students at Registrar's Office Wednesday, Thursday

Marking the inauguration of a new system of classification on this campus, more than 2,000 students secured printed instructions from the registrar Wednesday and Thursday. The process with which the new plan was accepted by the students was a great pleasure to Miss Ethel Zales, college registrar, who stated that this was one of the best steps in the complete reorganization of the college education system.

The next step in enrollment will be to advise students to see their various advisers in order to secure their instructions as to the manner of procedure. All next week has been set aside for students to see their advisers and students are urged to attend to this as soon as possible to avoid a last minute rush.

Announced on the printed instructions which were given out Wednesday and Thursday the freshmen will report to the advisers whom they were assigned last term, sophomores will report to the deans of their respective departments, juniors and seniors will report to the heads of the departments which they are majoring. After seeing their respective advisers students will then report at the classification bureau on the second floor of the Union building to see their classes on the days assigned for the various divisions. The date for reservation of classes is March 9 or 10 for freshmen, March 10 for sophomores, March 11 or 12 for juniors and seniors. The time will be 9 to 12 daily.

Printed instructions for payment of fees will be found on the "Direction" page. It is hoped that all students will pay their fees at the earliest possible time. The fine for late registration will not be imposed until April 4. Fees may be submitted during vacation by mail. All letters should be addressed to J. Shepley, treasurer.

The centralization of the classification and registration system is one of the final steps in the complete reorganization of the college registration system which has been going on throughout the year. Administrative officials expressed their approval of the scheme as worked to date. They are certain that the new method of classification will facilitate and speed the process of enrollment in the future.

ALL-AG BANQUET PROVES SUCCESS

J. A. Hannah's Talk on European Trip Is the Main Feature of Program

SENIORS RECEIVE PLAQUES

Presentation of Medals to Members of Judging Teams to be Made Later

A total of 175 students in the agricultural division attended what is stated to have been the most successful All-AG banquet ever to be held here. The success of the event can be largely attributed to the interesting descriptive talk by J. A. Hannah of the college poultry department on a trip to Europe which he took last year. In addition much interest was displayed in the presentation of the award.

Starting with a description of the World Poultry Congress held in London last summer, Mr. Hannah described the rest of his trip to other European countries in detail, including Ireland, Scotland, France, Holland, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, Austria and an interesting review of the continent.

CANCEL LECTURE OF "SEA DEVIL"

Count Felix Von Luckner Will Not Speak on Liberal Arts Course; Seek Will Durant

Count Felix von Luckner, who was to speak on the Liberal Arts course at the Peoples Institute, March 4, will be unable to appear as scheduled according to word received this morning by Prof. W. W. Johnston, head of the English department. Count von Luckner was severely injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago and has not sufficiently recuperated as yet to continue his lecture tour.

All efforts are being made by the Liberal Arts board to secure some prominent speaker to fill the vacancy in the schedule, and at present Will Durant (famed author of "The Story of Philosophy") and Dr. J. B. Fisher, a bishop and missionary who has spent twenty-five years in India and is well versed with the conditions existing in that part of the British empire are being considered as possible speakers.

Since it is impossible to have a speaker of high caliber to be present on the scheduled date, it has been decided to delay this lecture until early in the spring term. Further announcement of the speaker, topic and date will be made when more definite plans are completed.

SINGS "SHADOW SONG"

First Time Michigan State College Students Sing This Musical Selection

SPEAKING before a crowd of more than 1,000 students who attended the second all-college convocation of the year Wednesday morning in the gymnasium, Chauncey S. Boulder, dean of the Library, Science and Arts school at the University of Chicago, outlined the progress of education during the industrial revolution in which we are now living.

Education in a thorough education has made such progress according to Dean Boulder, that the graduates of some of the best high schools in the country today are better educated than many of the college graduates of 50 years ago. Instruction in medicine has shown such progress and has won the confidence of the public to such an extent that one school alone has a combined endowment of all the medical institutions in the United States 50 years ago.

Feasible, senior met's head, honor societies, fraternities, announced the following initiates: Edward Gaby, Claude Stroh, Charles Ladd and Harold Inman. The official food of the organization was placed on Gibbs Street and Ladd who were present at the convocation.

The Shadow Song, composed by students at an Alma Mater to produce Michigan State, was presented at the student body for the first time under the direction of Fred Kline, associate director of the Music Institute. Copies of the song were distributed to all students who attended the convocation as they entered the hall.

LOOSE MANAGEMENT

Experience is a dear teacher, but by experience we may learn. Even if improvement cannot be made in events of the moment, then by a probing of those weak spots in current happenings we can plan a smoother future for ourselves, and advise and forewarn those who come after us.

These time-worn platitudes are self-evident and are followed every day purely from the use of common sense. The only reason that they are set down here is to show how woefully weak college people are when it comes to using those grains of common sense on financial planning of the social budgets.

Very seldom in the history of the four years a class here, has any vestige of accounting of receipts been asked for party finances. This apathy is similar to the same state of mind that appeared about thirty years ago in the political life of our nation, when political officials astounded the world in mismanagement of the nation's public affairs.

As the class party budgets are now handled, the student chairman can use his own judgment as the apportionment of the expenditures. They also can use their own judgment in the final accounting of the receipts. Often the responsibility is so much divided that no one cares a great deal as to what outcome results.

Party chairmen now are not required to show the number of tickets that have been sold for their affair. A few years previous an affidavit was demanded from the printer of those tickets certifying as to the number that had been printed, and the chairman, or the class president, was obligated to either turn in the unsold tickets or the money representing them.

Class social chairmen are in no way obligated, except indirectly to the class treasurer, and he in turn to the college executives, for an accounting of receipts, or for the nature of his contractual agreements. Credit transactions are often held up because the creditor is in ignorance of the financial standing of the class or group sponsoring its own particular social affair.

There is no excuse for such sloppy supervision. There are

FRESH H. E. STUDENTS MAY GET EXAM. EXEMPTIONS

According to the catalogue, freshmen students who have two years of Home Economics in high school, may take an exemption examination in foods and clothing. Those who pass the foods examination may omit H. E. 110a from their schedule, and in clothing may substitute H. E. 150a for H. E. 150c and H. E. 150b. All those wishing to take these examinations are asked to sign their names to the list on the bulletin board in the Home Economics building.

ALL-AG BANQUET IS A SUCCESS

The Passion Play Mr. Hannah, with long the attention of the audience for a second, gave a rapid description of the political, art and general conditions he visited, showing small details of the countries which the average American would pass over as unimportant. The attitude of the various European countries toward each other and toward the United States was clearly brought out in the speech.

Dean J. P. Cox, head of the agricultural department, who presented the two plaques to the two outstanding seniors, T. Norman Hurd receiving the award for the combination of activities and scholarship and Evelyn Bradley the one for the highest scholarship record for the four years in college. Dean Cox also expressed a desire to continue this presentation of awards in following years, making it an annual event.

The medals which were to be presented to the members of the various ag judging teams during the past year failed to arrive on schedule, but Dean J. P. Cox read the names of the members to whom the awards will be given upon arrival. They are: Annual husbandry team, Robert Lasey, W. L. Finley, Evelyn Bradley, John Lessor, Kenneth Parish, Laurel Key and Charles Davis; dairy team, Charles Davis, Laurel Key, Kenneth Parish and Russell Waite; dairy production, Lowell Dowd, Burrell Henry, Henry Gleason and Donald Koppel; poultry team, Wilson, Ethred Johnson and W. Carlo; farm crops team, Robert Lincoln, Harold Burgess, H. J. Finley and Harold Knoblauch.

The sole musical number on the program consisted of three vocal solos by Jack Williams, 34 Ag, and member of the Spartan Singers quartet. Williams, who has been singing considerably over the radio lately, was very well received.

three alternatives. The first is have the entire finance plan under the direct supervision of the college administration, which the State News by no means favors as it savors of paternalism. However, such a plan is to be recommended rather than to have such a system as now is in vogue. The second is to publish the financial statement of each party in the college newspaper, so the student body can determine for themselves the whys and wherefores of the financial procedure. This plan has its limitations, as it is too easy to "pad" the statements. The third alternative is as follows: There is now offered to all classes and the more important student organizations a plan whereby the college comptroller will cooperate on all financial matters, and will aid the supervising students on any matter that may trouble them. This means that the financial routing of accounts will be handled in the same manner as are the college receipts and expenditures, whereby a systematic record of requisitions would be used. It does not mean that the students would have no voice in the matter, but any irregularities in accounts would more likely be discovered, and a certain mental pressure would be incited in the minds of the responsible ones to live up to their trust.

This last named system has been offered for use by the students since the beginning of the year, but to date only one party committee have availed themselves of the privilege. They have thereby safeguarded themselves as far as is possible, for a systematic record is offered for student inspection. This fact may save them considerable criticism and embarrassment in the near future, a condition against which no other party committee has protection. It is a luxury which they might have cause to regret.

KEEPING ABBREAST

Current changes in the departmental organization following recommendation of President Shaw to the administrative group indicates the influence of an executive working with ideals of betterment uppermost in his mind. It is an indication that the administration recognizes that certain steps in advancement are necessary to alleviate the natural growing pains of an educational institution.

It is a step toward where the benefit of the college is considered as a whole. The changes are confined to the transfer of certain departmental functions to other divisions. Where added responsibility is thrown on one division, it is thereby removed from another. By thus realigning the responsibilities a more efficient management is sure to result. It is stressed that in no case has a change been introduced because of previous inefficiency. Overburdened department heads will have their loads lightened in such a way that they now have opportunity to efficiently execute the duties for which they were primarily intended.

The change will be a welcome one to the faculty as well as to the students.

Be Prompt!

Seniors are strongly urged to have their measurements taken for caps and gowns some time during the remainder of this week or during next week. They are to be taken at Hurd's East Lansing Fashion Shop on Abbot Road. Promptness is necessary!

There are about 100 seniors yet to be measured. Those students are advised that further delay might mean an inferior quality of caps and gowns if the contracts are not soon made out. Prompt schools get first choice in selections and tardy applicants are sent the remainder by the company contracting the supply.

It's too bad that the architects of the campanile were not far-sighted enough to put luminous dials on the clocks of the tower. Then strutting swains and damsels who have turned out like flies to premature spring and the stardust could keep close check on fleeting time. They clog the walks at night. And the other side of the river during the day. But who would condemn so ancient and revered a custom?

The latest definition of an atheist is an individual who recognizes no superior being. Which is more or less inclusive since it takes in ecologists, melancolics, and cynists. The latter at least in their official moment, so matter what their personal thought in their private boudoirs. They do have them.

A student in a speech class the other day harangued for fifteen minutes on how to remove one-one-thousandths of an inch from the stomach of a cockroach with appropriate gestures. Even the most arrogant old prof would hesitate before performing so remote an operation for the dumb, the blind, and the student.

There is a sequel to the story of the girl who went to the senior party for the favor and received only half. She sent the book-end to the erstwhile boyfriend. It was like having one shoe.

One of our most notorious non-generators after many years of ungenially repression has finally broken down and run off at the frothy mouth. Confession is good for the soul. And here you have it.

SCHOLASTIC PRESSURE

Dear Prof: For the following reasons I have been unable to turn in the paper you requested:

- 1. I have been told, commanded, required, threatened, and requested to write several other themes, essays, and otherwise assign articles along with yours.
- 2. I am getting ready for other exams, yellow does, and blue books, along with yours.
- 3. I am up to my neck in Botany, Biology, Horticulture, History, Economics, and English and am not getting no time left.
- 4. Through my various classes by day I must learn about Neophytes, Eriogonites, and Phragmites by candle light. I must read about dairy dinosaurs, cow exodonts, and physical Perodactyls. My G. D.'s! Then all night I feverishly toss and dream of bright Elston fields and marauders far too madly pursuing me and panting home down the slopes of Nirvana, as betis my budding youth, ah the ecstasy of poetic frenzy, but rather of monstrous-eyed Gar-goules, green-eyed goblins, and glassy-eyed professors.
- 5. I am so busy that I eat on Ground Hog day.
- 6. I have "alien" articles from carrying heavy assignments, I am hump-backed from heavy concentration. I am bow-legged from jumping at conclusions, and cross-eyed from trying to see the point.
- The only reason that I keep on living is to see what the h. l. you guys are going to spring next.

CAPACITY CROWD HEARS EDUCATOR

(Continued from page 1) In speaking of the modern interpretation of the college, Dean H. C. Moore stated that "Passing on the siftest best, the tested best, to student and the pioneering of research are essential functions."

From the student's standpoint, the essential thing in education is the process through which a student must put himself, he said. Preparation for that process begins properly not in the secondary schools as it was thought by leading educators up until a few years ago, but in the pre-school period.

The University of Chicago savant stated that education is progressing today toward a higher level than ever before in spite of the criticisms which are constantly heaped upon our institutions of learning. To show that "calamity howlers" have been in evidence since the birth of America's educational system, he read a number of clippings from newspapers dated over a period of 150 years. Many of the accusations were typical of current editorials.

While medical instruction has progressed by leaps and bounds, legal education is today in one of the most backward stages of any profession, he said. However, steps toward raising the standards are in evidence in some of the leading law schools of the country, particularly at Johns Hopkins university.

M. S. C. Host For Relay Carnival

THINCLADS FROM 10 MICHIGAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES WILL COMPETE HERE FRIDAY, SAT'DAY

Schedule 10 Relay Events, 300-Yard and 40-Yard Dashes, 40-Yard Low and High Hurdles, Pole Vault and Two Mile Run; Chamberlain to Stage Exhibition.

TRACK MEN from ten of Michigan's colleges, universities, and junior colleges arrived in East Lansing Friday afternoon to take part in the 11th annual Michigan State college indoor relay carnival to be held Saturday afternoon and evening at the gymnasium. The afternoon events, consisting mostly of trial heats and freshman relays, will start at 2:30 o'clock. The evening schedule, starting with the pole vault, will commence at 7:15.

Entries have been received from Western State Normal, Detroit City college, Highland Park Junior college, Flint Junior college, Grand Rapids Junior college, Michigan Normal, University of Detroit, Albion college, and Detroit Tech. Besides the ten relay events, many open events are scheduled. Under this heading will come the shot put, the high jump, the 300-yard dash, the 40-yard high and low hurdles, the pole vault, the 40-yard dash for both freshmen and varsity, and the two mile run.

The annual two mile relay between Michigan State and the University of Michigan will be missing this year, due to the fact that the Wolverines have a dual meet with a Conference rival the same night. There will be other attractions, however, to compensate for this loss. Chief among these will be the two mile run, featuring Clark Chamberlain, State's star distance runner, and Ray Swartz, state intercollegiate mile champion.

Chamberlain to Run. Swartz, who holds the present state record of 4:16.6, recently defeated Joe Sivak, Butler university's national collegiate mile champion in a dual meet. He also has one victory over Chamberlain to his credit, having defeated the Spartan star last spring. The day he turned in his record-breaking performance on Saturday night. When the two clash Saturday night, a new gymnasium record may be set, provided Chamberlain is sufficiently recuperated from his grueling race at New York Wednesday night.

Fresh Show Class. Another mark that is endangered is the two mile freshman relay record. State has a classy quartet of half-milers in Ponkratz, Gus Warren and Hurd, who have been flashing rare form. Ponkratz holds the present gym record of 2:04.3, and Hurd recently ran more than two seconds under the varsity record of 2:07.7.

Johnny Lewis, Detroit City college's 1928 Olympic representative and National A. A. U. champion at 300 yards, will be on hand to defend his last year's laurels at this distance. Hill O'Neill, University of Detroit football-sprinter, will have a chance to show some of the form he has been flashing in late meets, when he has come within speaking distance of world record time in the 40 and 60 yard dashes.

Dutt of Western State and Beatty of Michigan Normal will find their hardest competition in the hurdles coming from Michigan State. Liberty Yarger, Russell, and Bach will defend the Green and White in these events. Dues, Detroit City's big colored shot putter, should point the way for Harper and Barnhill of Western State, and Pfing of Michigan State. As a freshman, he consistently crowded the 50-foot mark.

CHAMBERLAIN FAILS TO SET WORLD RECORD

Spartan Speedster Places Third in National A. A. U. Two-Mile Competition.

FALTERS NEAR FINISH

After setting a terrific pace for more than a mile and three-quarters in an attempt to set a new world's record, Clark Chamberlain, State's great distance runner, wilted with less than two laps to go in the National A. A. U. two-mile run at Madison Square Gardens Wednesday night, and crossed the finish line in third place. Leo Lemmond, Boston A. A. star, won the event in the remarkable time of 9:11.4-5 with Joe McCuskey of Fordham a few steps behind.

With 300 yards to go, Chamberlain had a 60-yard lead on his two nearest rivals. The rest of the field had been lapped. Gus Moore, Brooklyn negro, one of the favorites, had attempted to match strides with the flying Spartan and had been literally run into the ground at the mile mark and had dropped out. Back in the hinterlands were Rekers, Penn State star, and Harold Manning, 1930 National Collegiate champion.

For a mile and three-quarters Chamberlain ran at the same gain that the incomparable Paavo Nurmi maintained a few years ago when he lapped up the present world's record of 8:58. He went by the mile mark in 4:30 and the mile and a half in 6:48, only a few seconds less than Nurmi's own record for that distance, but the pace told on him; he "let up" and his rivals swept by him.

The crowd was loud in its praise of the plucky Spartan, and gave him a great ovation for his sensational attempt at a record considered by many experts as unapproachable for many years to come.

GRAPPLING TEAM ON EASTERN TOUR

Coach Collins' Wrestlers Meet Alfred College Tonight; Mechanics Saturday.

Coach Fendley Collins and his variety wrestling team left Thursday night on an eastern jaunt which is scheduled to take them as far as Rochester, N. Y. Tonight they will meet the mat team of Alfred college at Alfred, N. Y. and are expected to take the easterners into camp without much trouble. The grapplers of the New York school have not had outstanding success this year although they are particularly strong in a few divisions.

Tomorrow night the Spartan grapplers take on the wrestling team of the Mechanics Institute at Rochester, N. Y. and may have considerable difficulty in downing them. The Mechanics have attained some recognition in eastern mat circles this year and may supply the Spartans with an unexpected reverse.

Coach Collins and the following men are making the trip: Bill, 118 pounds; Roberts, 125 pounds; Ryan, 135 pounds; Stearn, 145 pounds; R. Tompkins, 155 pounds; Marsa, 165 pounds; Legard, 175 pounds; Martinkew, heavy weight; and J. Laraway, manager.

To conclude the evening's activities, the Eclectics ran away with the Phylean quintet, 18 to 2. The Ties floating into a victory after piling up most of their counters in the first half. White, at left guard for the winners, accounted for five points of the total eighteen.

Spartan Basketball Team Flies to Milwaukee

AIRPLANE TRIP ARRANGED FOR STATE CAGERS

Play Last Game of Season Against Marquette U. Quintet Saturday.

AFTER FIFTEENTH VICTORY

Michigan State's cage team left Friday morning for Milwaukee, Wis., where it will meet the court aggregation of Marquette university Saturday evening in the finale of the Spartan schedule. The game with the Hilltoppers has not been taken lightly by Coach Ben F. Van Alstyne and State's cagers will be in top form tomorrow night when they attempt to annex the last and 15th consecutive win of the season. The Milwaukee team bowed to the Spartans earlier in the season on State's floor by a score of 19 to 16, but they showed plenty of strength in defeat and only succumbed after Coach Van Alstyne's men had put on an extensive stall.

Air transportation will be used for the first time by a Spartan athletic team on the trip to the Wisconsin city today. State's court men left at 7:40 this morning by motorcoach for Grand Rapids. The first group consisting of Ed Wayne, Scott Art Hagg, Roy Grove, Lee Pinneo, Randy Boskool and Coach Ben F. Van Alstyne, were scheduled to leave the Grand Rapids airport at 11:40 this morning for Milwaukee at 1 p. m.

The second group, consisting of M. Holomb, C. McCaslin, W. Vondette, A. Kircher, J. Gagner and Manager R. Carruthers left the Grand Rapids airport at 3:10 and arrived in Milwaukee at 4:45. The return trip will be made by the air Sunday afternoon over the same route. The air line between Grand Rapids and Milwaukee has been in operation over a year and has proven highly successful. The planes are Kohler operated and are most impressive of the air. The aircraft have the appearance of giant eagles, but are equipped with wings which are levered when landing on a field.

The game with the Hilltoppers will mark the exit from Spartan court for Roy Grove, Art Hagg and Ed Scott. Michigan State's co-captain, the greatest record holder in the game, will graduate next June. The three seniors, who graduate next June, have been the nucleus for Coach Van Alstyne's team this year and have furnished in almost flawless performance.

Grove has been leading scorer of this year's team and has played with a powerful cut in the defense. The versatile Spartan athlete will be greatly missed next year in basketball as well as on the gridiron.

With the passing of Hagg and Scott, Coach Van Alstyne loses two accoutrements who have also been highly important part of the present State quarter-back. Former Marquette star will fly away his basketball base after tomorrow night after many years of play.

with the basketball. It has been a hard road from the hoop on his dad's team to the splendid court in Deming, Minn., but the blond guard has flashed uncanny basketball ability all the way up. Scott, too, will leave his uniform with reluctance after a brilliant campaign of years.

Coach Van Alstyne will start his plan lineup against the Hilltoppers tomorrow with Grove and Doc Purnell as forwards. Randy Boskool and Ed Scott at the guard positions, the greatest record holder in the game, will graduate next June. The three seniors, who graduate next June, have been the nucleus for Coach Van Alstyne's team this year and have furnished in almost flawless performance.

The annual freshman wrestling tournament will be run off on Monday, Feb. 29 and 6 under the direction of Spartan mat coach, Fendley Collins. All freshmen are eligible to compete in the tournament, but will be subjected to physical examinations first before entry is accepted. There will be no weight divisions and the winner of each division will be awarded numerical sweaters.
