Freshman Enrollment Close To Record

Registration Figures Assure Increase in Entering Class.

Divide Class Into Ten Groups for New Classifying System.

That the freshman enrollment record set in 1929 would be equaled or surpassed by figures received this morning from the Registrar's office. At 11 a. m. 1,131 new students had officially entered the institution. This compares with 1,216 for last year and 1,285 for 1929. These statistics are the final figures for those years and include all new students at this early date. College authorities are reasonably certain that the record is again in danger.

Although this was a record number, college officials pointed out that many of this number would either withdraw their application or never appear for registration. Upperclassmen began to move on the campus during the week for

President R. S. Shaw

To the entering class, I would like to extend a most cordial welcome, both personally and in the name of the college. May you find in this institution everything to fulfill your ideals of what a college should be, and may these ideals come true by your doing your college career.

You will enjoy the democratic spirit that this institution fosters. Here you are everybody's friend. There is no select group to which you belong.

Recent adjustments in organization and policy have greatly strengthened the institution. As the facilities for the administration of its sixteen courses is concerned, you will find these changes greatly to your advantage as you progress toward graduation.

Recent adjustments in organization and policy have greatly strengthened the institution.

A minimum number of changes in the faculty have been made according to a bulletin issued recently by President Robert S. Shaw. The greater number of these are of the very minor positions.

The most prominent of the new personnel will go to the forestry department. Prof. P. A. Herbert will act as head of the department, replacing the late Prof. A. K. Christensen. Herbert was formerly at Cornell University and was senior forest economist of the forest taxation inquiry and the U. S. Forest Service.

Prof. H. S. Nevins will replace Prof. J. C. DeCamp who is now on leave of absence. Nevins of Yale University was state forester in West Virginia.

A. B. Bowman as assistant and instructor in forestry is the only newly appointed in that department. He comes from Farm State and was recently with the U. S. Forest Service in Montana.

Miss Jean Hawks, as associate professor in nutrition, will take over the work formerly carried by Dr. Marie Day before her appointment as dean of home economics.

F. T. Mitchell, as associate professor of education, will take over part of the work formerly borne by W. E. L. Austin before he was made acting dean of liberal arts. Prof. Mitchell received his B. S. from Mississippi A. & M. college, his M. A. from Peabody Teachers college, and his Ph.D. from Cornell University. He was recently connected with the state department of instruction at Little Rock, Ark.

T. M. Aycock becomes assistant professor of health education which is an entirely new position. Miss Mary Ann Collins will join the extension staff in music a new position. She will work with Miss Josephine Kackley.

Newcomers Have Busy Week With Convocations, Appointments, Social Events.

Members of the class of '35 are being initiated into campus life this week according to a schedule which accounts for nearly every hour of the day. Psychological, mathematics and English tests with sittings for photographs and registration are in order during the day, while social events offer recreation during the evenings.

A convocation of all first year students officially opened Freshman Week at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. A record number of newcomers heard an address by President R. S. Shaw in which he welcomed them to the campus and outlined the procedure for registration.

Following the general assembly the freshmen were assigned to one of ten groups. Thereafter the program for each group varied, though the members of each division went through the process of enrollment sitting for pictures, and a trip to the library. Sometime during the week each group attended a division convocation.

Members of the class of '35 were the first to be photographed as part of the registration procedure. The pictures will be filed with the student's application blanks. The system has been used in many of the larger colleges and universities and will be used for all future freshman classes.

The first freshman reception was held Thursday evening. The newcomers received tickets which admitted them to either the Union ballroom or demonstration hall. This event, officially opened the campus social season.

Friday evening the first year students met at the Peoples church for the traditional mixer sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. Group games were in order during the first part of the evening. Later, autograph books were distributed and the guests were left to their own devices for entertainment.

Candidates for the freshman football and cross country teams were issued suits this week, and practice sessions were begun. Events for the Varsity band were held in the old armory. Though no band uniforms have yet been issued, a drill was held Thursday afternoon, when aspirants were put through some of the least complicated maneuvers.

Medical examinations were held Thursday and Friday according to appointment. The second general convocation of the week was scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock today. Men students were to meet in the gymnasium while co-eds were to assemble in the Little Theatre. Representatives of the various honorary societies and campus activity groups were to speak.

An open tea for freshmen girls was to be given at 4 o'clock this afternoon under the auspices of Associated Women Students. Sororities have been sponsoring teas at their houses during the week.

By Saturday it is expected that all of the newcomers will have met their appointments, and will be ready to enter classes Monday. The final social function of Freshman Week will be the Y. M. C. A. stag party to be held in the Peoples church Saturday evening.

Co-eds Must Take Two Examinations From Miss Daniels

All new co-eds, freshmen as well as transfers, must have both a medical and physical examination. All women who have not yet had their physical examination must report to the women's gymnasium for an appointment at once. Miss Elizabeth Daniels is in charge of the examinations.

Gymnasium suits, shoes and athletic equipment may be obtained at the physical education office. Sixty per cent of students sleep through at least three hours of classes each week, a survey at an eastern university has revealed.

REGISTRATION PLAN WATCHED

Personal Guidance Given Groups of Thirty New Students.

Administrative leaders were this week watching the workings of Michigan State's newest registration and classification systems for incoming freshmen. The most noticeable feature of the new plan was the almost total absence of long waiting lines, long the bane of registration day.

Under State's new enrollment scheme the entire freshman class was parceled into sections of not more than thirty students under the personal direction of a faculty adviser. Personal assistance in all phases of registration, classification and personally conducted tours of the campus were highlights of the plan. As a result the various sections went through the freshman week requirements at different periods, cutting to a minimum the lines and waiting at all points.

An outstanding feature was a complete tour of the library in addition to a lecture on the use and make-up of the building by a member of the library staff. In keeping with a plan found on most of the college campus today, Michigan State freshmen in the future will be photographed for the benefit of advisers and dean's records. For the present, pictures of each student will be kept only of the design and section advisers.

Phi Deltas Get National Rank

Michigan Beta of Phi Delta Theta Re-established at State.

Initiation and installation ceremonies which marked the re-establishment of the Michigan Beta chapter of Phi Delta Theta at Michigan State took place last Friday and Saturday.

The formalities of initiation were carried out at the Hotel Ojds by teams from the chapters at the University of Michigan and University of Chicago. Sixty-five members of the old local Phi Delta chapter were inducted into this national fraternity which is one of the oldest in the country. Of this number 40 were alumni and 15 active members.

Ceremonies of installing the chapter were conducted by a team of general officers of the fraternity on Saturday afternoon at the new fraternity house on Grand River Ave. This team of installing officers included A. R. Priest, executive secretary of Phi Delta Theta, George Banta, Jr. member of general council, Dean E. E. Ruby, member of general council, Frank J. R. Mitchell, past president of the fraternity, B. G. Leake, president of the Michigan-Illinois province, and James E. Davidson, chairman of the fraternity of Phi Delta Theta.

One hundred and forty members of Phi Delta Theta, representing 22 chapters, attended the initiation banquet given for the new chapter at the Hotel Ojds last Saturday. Frank J. R. Mitchell, past president of the fraternity, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. The chief speaker was Dr. L. H. Bailey of Cornell college who was a member of the former chapter of Phi Delta Theta here. Seven other members of the old Michigan Beta chapter were also present including Dr. Frank Edgels.

Mrs. Mary Mayo for whom the new women's dormitory is named played a very active part in the establishment of co-education on the campus, being one of the earliest agitators for the admission of women to what was then the Michigan Agricultural college.

She was the wife of the Honorable Perry Mayo, and lived nearly all her life with her husband at their farm in Calhoun county. Both she and Mr. Mayo were active in the early movement for the Grange in Michigan, and Mr. Mayo was at one time master of the State Grange. Mrs. Mayo also was prominent in State Grange work. She had one son and one daughter, the son, Nelson S. Mayo, graduated from this institution in 1888, specializing in veterinary medicine.

Begin the mother of a daughter, Mrs. Mayo was anxious to give her the advantages of a college education, and joined with others in advocating co-education at the college. Her work developed into an interesting and moving public speaker, and an eminent leader for the cause of co-education. She was also one of the first women speakers in the Grange cause.

Her campaign for co-education successful, he turned her efforts to the establishment of a home economics course in the curriculum. This was successful in the year 1905.

She died about twenty years ago after a lifetime of unselfish endeavor.

The building named in her honor is a beautiful one, both in design and interior work. The large rooms are both luxurious and comfortable. The architectural work is of the finest and in every way the edifice is a worthy monument for Mrs. Mayo.

Thomas M. Aycock is the latest staff of the physical education department. He will act as assistant professor of physical and health education. He is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. and also attended Iowa State where he received his master's degree. His main duties will be the giving of health education courses and corrective courses.

Board Sanctions Comprehensive Building Program for Biennium

Second Dormitory Unit to be Completed Within Year; Start Work Soon.

The preliminary outline of a rehabilitation program for Michigan State college for the ensuing two years, as presented by President Robert S. Shaw to the Board of Agriculture, was approved by that body at a meeting held Sept. 13-14.

Eight distinct projects were included in this plan which covers the major construction plans for the biennium. The eight projects are: Renovation of Wells hall, an addition to the engineering shops, the installation of an additional boiler, the construction of a stock building, the renovation of an additional women's dormitory to be completed within 12 months, remodeling the old women's building, refitting Abbot hall for music, and the construction of an additional wing on the gymnasium.

The renovation of Wells hall, already accomplished during the latter part of the summer, made the building livable and comfortable by finishing the fourth floor, repainting, and redecorating the entire structure, installing showers and modernizing dining facilities in the basement. Quarters for social and recreational activities were also provided. It is planned to operate the building through a cooperative student organization in conjunction with a staff representative. Here, too, he will govern of continuing body will be in evidence.

ground has already been broken for the new engineering shop. This structure, was made possible partly through the steady growth of that division and the great increase in the number of students.

Woman's Club to Supervise Outing For Frosh Co-eds

A hike for freshman girls, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., is scheduled for 7:00 to 8:30 Friday, October 2, according to Jean Ellen Kelley, 34 chairman in charge. At Pinecroft the destination, a marshmallow roast dinner, introductions, and the presentation of Miss Emma C. Carter, adviser, will comprise the entertainment.

Freshman girls are urged to attend this function since an opportunity will be offered to sign for membership. The group will meet on the steps of the Peoples church.

Although I would enjoy meeting personally each one of the incoming girls to welcome them to this institution, circumstances do not permit such a privilege.

However, I am pleased to take this opportunity to wish you a most pleasant and successful four years at Michigan State college.

I hope you all will feel free to come to me for assistance of any kind. My office is always open and I sincerely desire a most cordial and friendly relationship. The office of Associated Women Students and the chairman of the Freshman Council are conveniently located with mine. These officials will also be happy to help you.

Each of us has a home to be a trying year, financially one which may mean sacrifices at home. I feel sure you will make your college career fine.

MUNICIPAL CONTROVERSY OVER ZONING ORDINANCE SAID TO BE CAUSE OF SORORITY DIFFICULTY

East Lansing City Clerk Explains Basis for Muddle That Is Preventing Local Society From Using Residence in Restricted Residential Area.

WHAT the local chapter of Kappa Delta, national social sorority, is the unwitting victim of a municipal political controversy was revealed today in an exclusive interview granted the Michigan State News by Harry Lott, East Lansing city clerk.

Returning to East Lansing last week to take up residence in a new dwelling at 500 W. Grand River, members of the sorority found themselves embroiled in a dispute between East Lansing city officials and their landlord, H. M. Perry, over the establishment of a sorority in a restricted residential district. A zoning ordinance of the city prohibits the location of a boarding or rooming house within the restricted class A district—societies being considered in this category.

While it is thought that college authorities warned Kappa Delta against moving into this district, it is understood that present officers of the society were empowered by last year's senior class and alumni group to make the change, after having been assured by Perry that the ordinance would prove no stumbling block. Officers now in power denied ever having heard of a faculty warning.

The society was promised certain changes in the house to make it suitable for a society dwelling on the signing of the contract with Perry. According to Lott, no application for a building permit had been made since such would be in violation of the zoning ordinance. However, the presence of workmen around the house during the latter part of the week was taken as evidence the changes were being effected.

City Warned Perry

Lott exhibited to the News representative a letter from the city of East Lansing to Perry, written Sept. 9, in which he was warned that the contract was in violation of the city ordinance. Immediately following there was submitted to the city board of appeals a petition signed by less than 10 property holders for a change in zoning of the district affected. An informal check of the signers indicated that a majority could personally benefit through such a change.

According to Lott, had the sorority itself filed a petition for permission to remain their new residence until the expiration of the written contract, it would undoubtedly have been passed by the board. It is believed that the city would have been willing to grant permission to avoid embarrassing the society, but hesitated to nullify the ordinance for the individual benefit of private landowners. Lott admitted the danger of setting such a precedent. During the past week metropolitan dailies carried lavish yarns about the co-eds carrying water in buckets from neighboring homes giving the impression that the city was attempting to compel them to move by shutting off their water supply. It was learned yesterday that the water had been turned on last Tuesday after a short-lived turn-off.

Lott emphatically stated that the city had no quarrel with the society members themselves and desired to cause as little inconvenience as possible to them.

Hawley Returns Comment

Marian Hawley, 31, president of Kappa Delta, was uncommunicative when interviewed by newspapermen. She admitted, however, that a fine settlement of the dispute could probably be expected within a few days. While college authorities are maintaining a strict hands-off policy in the dispute, she believed by those close to society members that some out-reaching a compromise with officials.

BULLETIN

Unofficial figures released at 1 o'clock this afternoon showed a total of 1,305 freshmen and transfer students had registered and classified. The figures are earlier in the day were of freshmen alone, which accounts for the great increase.

Enrollment and registration day registration has been completed and the officials have been able to make a complete check of the new and old students who have entered this year. definite figures will not be forthcoming. It is expected that definite statistics of an increase or decrease in total registration will not be available until some time next week.

Assurance was expressed by officials that the mark of 1,200 new students set last year will be surpassed by the incoming year and transfer students this year. Wednesday's total of 1,000 students at the convocation was a record for the opening day activities at Michigan State.

President Robert S. Shaw closed the incoming students with a brief speech and then proceeded to give them instructions on registration. A system of class advisers was instituted this year in an effort to facilitate the registration situation.

The entire freshman class was divided into ten groups. Each group went through a routine of seeing advisers, having teeth and hair pictures taken Wednesday. They had medical examinations, consultations, and meetings with their respective deans took the yearling time. Today psychological, mathematics, and English tests were given and another general convocation was held.

In charge of Freshman Week activities this year was Prof. L. C. Commons. He was assisted by Dr. E. Miller, Dr. F. W. Chamberlain, Prof. L. G. Miller, Prof. J. W. Shaw, A. L. Proulx and Dean Marie Day.

Freshman enrollment figures for the three past years show that in 1929 there were 1,033 new students enrolled, in 1929 new students numbered 1,164, setting a record made in 1930 new enrollments showed 1,285 students.

House Presidents Will Be Elected For Dorms Monday

Election of house presidents of the various girls' dormitories will take place next week. Nominations will be held at the houses on Monday with eliminations on Tuesday. The final elections will take place on Wednesday.

A meeting of all house presidents will be held in the Home Economics building on Friday of next week, at 5 o'clock, at which time house rules and plans for the term will be discussed.

Season Opens With Teas, Dances, Parties of All Incoming Freshmen

Plans for Wide Program Formed By Speech Staff

Menchhofer and Drake Start Ambitious Schedule With Veteran Squad.

An extensive forensic program is planned for the coming year under the direction of the speech staff. Last year students participated in over fifty intercollegiate debates over Michigan State has debate relations with the larger colleges in Michigan and with a number of institutions of our standing outside the state.
The college is a member of the state oratorical league. Early this fall two students will be chosen to participate in the contests for men and women which will be held in February. The annual state peace oratorical contest will be held in January, for which students are urged to prepare. Those interested should confer immediately with Prof. J. D. Menchhofer.
Separate debate squads for men and women are maintained. Debates (trials) will be held shortly after the opening of school, and anyone wishing to train should register his name at the speech office, Room 11, Woodshop. The telephone number is 2-1741, extension 171. Prof. Menchhofer will be in charge of the men's debates and O. J. Drake will be in charge of the debates of women.
When students have participated in recognized intercollegiate debate oratory or extemporaneous speaking, they become eligible to membership in the national honorary oratorical fraternity Phi Kappa Delta. Miss Mildred Patterson is president of the local chapter.
Last year O. J. Drake organized the Michigan intercollegiate extemporaneous speaking contest for men and women. The first contest was held on our campus and held in the Michigan State Clubhouse at the Women's Center. All interested in extemporaneous speaking should consult O. J. Drake.
On Tuesday evening, October 12, at 7:30 p. m., there will be a meeting of men and women interested in oratory. At this time more definite plans for the year's work will be outlined and specific information given concerning details.

A. W. S. President Extends Welcome

Marian Kline

Marian Kline, 32 President of Associated Women Students, an all-campus political and social organization for co-ed students at Michigan State today issued the following statement of welcome to the incoming class of freshmen girls through the medium of the Michigan State News: "The Women of Michigan State College are glad of this opportunity to welcome the girls of the Class of 1935. May your year start with a great deal of fun and may you meet many new acquaintances. The upperclassmen want you to know that they are ready to help you in any of your experiences, so that you may live your college life to the fullest extent. We hope to promote among the women students a democratic spirit already felt on our campus. This to be accomplished through the full realization of each individual only through constructive organization based on the friendly intelligent cooperation of all women students can we function effectively. Michigan State College is a whole. May it be a joy and a profit to all girls to be associated with the Women of Michigan State College."

RECRUITS SOUGHT FOR NEWS STAFF

Tryouts for Men's and Women's Editorial Staffs Monday at 5; Business Staff Wed.

An unusually large number of openings for freshmen aspirants for the three staffs of the Michigan State News are available this fall. It was announced today by the News management.

For the editorial staff, men students are asked to meet at 5 o'clock on Monday in the News office on the fourth floor of the Union where an opportunity for tryouts will be afforded. No experience is necessary. Following a short probationary period in which the men are allowed to become acquainted with the technique and policies of the paper, they are advanced to full membership on the staff.

Co-eds who desire to work as members of the women's staff are asked to meet with Hazel Githens, co-ed editor in the Women's lounge of the Union building at 5:00 o'clock on Monday.

Openings in the business staff will be available to students who attend the business staff meeting in the News office next Wednesday at 8:00 o'clock.

A total of 56 names appear as new on the faculty roster, the majority of them being part-time assistants held by graduate students working for their masters degree. The number of changes is said to be unusually few.

SEASON'S SURPRISE IS WAITING LIST AT WELLS

The creative surprise of the season of fall term was not the increased number of freshmen enrolling, but the sight of a vast array of three-week-old freshmen. It was found that the first term of college had not been as long as it was supposed to be. The surprise was that the freshmen had not been as long as they were supposed to be. The surprise was that the freshmen had not been as long as they were supposed to be.

Council President Welcomes Frosh

Leonard Logan

Visiting a host of Michigan State's new freshmen class, Leonard Logan, president of the Student Council, welcomed them to the new year.

Leonard Logan, president of the Student Council, welcomed the new freshmen to the new year. He expressed the hope that the freshmen would find the college life interesting and profitable.

All new co-eds who have not been assigned freshman counselors should report to Dean Elizabeth Conrad's office in the Women's Building at once.

The freshmen co-eds who have not received a counselor should go to the dean's office in the Women's Building where they will have one assigned to them.

Freshmen candidates for cheerleader will meet Tuesday at five o'clock in the gym.

State Eleven Clashes With Alma Here Saturday

PRESBYTERIANS TO FURNISH OPPOSITION AS CROWLEYMEN OPEN GRUELLING CAMPAIGN

Lack of Capable Reserve Material Worries Spartan Football Coach as Michigan State Opens Hardest Schedule in Years.

WITH A SCANT THREE WEEKS of practice completed, the Michigan State college football team will open the grid season Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the stadium against the doughty Alma college team, 1930 champions of the M. I. A. A. Last year the Presbyterians, coached by the cagey Roy Campbell, gave the Spartans a great argument and held State to a 28 to 0 victory. The Alma eleven uncoiled an interesting collection of trick plays which kept the State players on the alert continually.

With many veterans back, Alma can be counted upon to furnish State with a good brand of opposition for the curtain raiser on what looms as the most difficult grid season outlined for a State team in recent years. The Spartans are facing a tough eight game schedule, with five contests scheduled on the home gridiron.

Coach Jimmy Crowley will present a match-up lineup composed of all the available veteran players from last season's highly successful team. Although the starting lineup for the Alma game has practically been determined, the Spartan grid mentor may see fit to make some last minute shifts, but these are hardly expected because of the lack of State's reserve strength. The first team looms as perhaps a little stronger than last year's, but Handy seems to be gaining the upper hand and dirth of able substitutes has had Coach Crowley worried since the opening of early practice. Sept. 8 State's veteran ends, Merion (Red) Vandemoer and Jake Fasse are counted upon as certain starters

Gridiron Players Offered Awards

Lewis Bros. Offer Hibernian Dasher for Outstanding Individual Effort.

A unique system of hibernian awards for members of the football team has been drawn up by Max Clark, manager of Lewis Brothers College Shop, and has the approval of Coach Jimmy Crowley. The plan of recognizing outstanding individual achievement, both on the line and backfield men, will go into effect for the game with Alma Saturday. Clark announced Friday that Lewis Bros. are offering a $100.00 check to each player who makes a touchdown, blocks a punt or recovers a fumble during the Alma and Cornell college games. This gives every player a chance for an award.

When the Army, Michigan and Georgetown teams come along, Clark expects to increase the value of the awards by giving a hat or a shirt, or some other article in a man's wardrobe which is of greater value than a tie.

In the event that a player makes more than one touchdown, he will receive only one award.

To climax this offer, the player receiving the most award during the entire season will be given a complete suit of clothes.

to the loss of Roger Gross, punter de luxe and veteran field general, shifts were made necessary in the quarter fullback line. Abe Elowitz, powerful fullback last season, has been called signals recently and will pilot the team against Alma when Joe Kowatzki, Elowitz's understudy last fall, returned for practice he worked out at and for a day or so, but was later shifted to quarterback because of his blocking and ball-carrying ability.

Francis (Buddy) Meiers, plucky blond from Muskegon, will be at the center position as usual.

There have been more radical changes in Crowley's backfield due

SCOUTS WILL SEE ALMA GRID GAME

Nearly 3000 Boy Scouts Are Expected to Witness Game at Costs of the College.

There will be military scenes about the Michigan State college campus on Friday and Saturday. Some 3000 Boy Scouts from all sections of the state are expected to gather here to witness the football game with Alma college on Monday, the opening game of the Spartan schedule.

The youngsters from the area about East Lansing are to pitch their tents Friday afternoon. They will see a display of Scoutcraft for the entire Friday evening and all day Saturday, until game time. Any other Scouts who so desire may bring their camping equipment along for the overnight stay.

The entire east side of the stadium has been reserved for the Scouts. They will have thousands of seats all to themselves, and between nature will put on a marching exhibition about the field. The appearance of Scout bands always proves interesting.

After a strapping sophomore, awaiting for a center at the fullback job, Ben Johnson, Liberty and Kirsher, reserve halfbacks, Swartzberg is back and is playing quarterback for the second team.

Twenty-six players, reported for early practice Sept. 8 and have been drilling strenuously twice daily since. In addition to the rigorous workouts on the field, the candidates have been given a liberal allotment of lectures of "skull sessions."

They insisted to early practice since Lester W. Fasse, Holland tackle, James H. Decker, Muskegon center, Paul W. Brown, East Lansing center, Paul H. Bennett, Green Bay tackle, Arthur Bus, Benton Harbor tackle, Russell M. Lay, Williamson guard, George S. Carlson, Iron River guard, Maynard H. Hauer, Kalamazoo tackle, Edward I. Brady, Saginaw end, Charles E. Gosta, Bessemer end

BROWN IS NEW HARRIER COACH

Cross Country Men Start Work Under Tutelage of Former Spartan Distance Star.

Michigan State's cross-country team are already hard at work under the able direction of Laurens Brown who has taken over the coaching job held in recent years by Mort Mason. Coach Brown, former star of the green-clad distance men, predicts a successful year for his squad although the season is yet young. The team is backed by experienced runners who have already shown their ability in the field.

Clark Chamberlain, last year's National Intercollegiate Cross Country

FRESHMEN Tomorrow's grid game with Alma will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. as has been the custom in past years and not at 2:00 as erroneously stated in the freshman program.

Among the new faculty members is Miss Elizabeth Daniels, teacher of corrective and remedial mathematics. Miss Daniels holds the Cornell university where she is taught for the past four years. Ms. Daniels is a graduate of Oberlin, Michigan university and of Wellesley college.

Five letter men return this year. They are Clark Chamberlain, Earl Simons and Don Price, Seniors, and Ernest Elliot and Howard Gale, Juniors. Three Sophomores also look good. They are Otto Pongro, Wesley Hurd, and Ralph Small.

Football aspirants for Freshman Management are asking to be put to Lumpy Loan or called at the Hesperian House.
