Michigan Wins In Spite Of Ninth Inning Rally

WOLVERINES WIN BY 4-3 SCORE AS SPARTAN SUPPORT FALTERS AT CRITICAL POINTS IN CONTEST

Spartan Nine Loses First Home Contest With Wolverines in Four Years When Players Fail to Bunch Hits; Ninth Inning Rally Ends After Two Runs Are Scored.

The University of Michigan baseball team yesterday defeated the Michigan State college team on the local diamond 4 to 3.

The game was a climax to the sixteen inning struggle waged between the two teams earlier in the season, which resulted in a 3 to 2 tie. The contest yesterday was filled with some of the best and some of the worst baseball seen on Old College field this year.

Captain Ray Fisher's men took every advantage of the eight hits yielded by Charles Griffin to score their runs, while the Spartans were able to make only three runs on eleven hits given up by Jack Tompkins and McNeal. The contest was the first that the Spartans have dropped to the Ann Arbor team on their home field within the last four years. It was also the first game that Griffin has lost against the University in six starts. He had previously taken the measure of the Wolverines four times and then pitched the entire 16 innings of the first game between the two teams this year.

Wobbling Support

Loose playing by the Spartans in the pinches and the Wolverine's ability to keep their pitcher out of danger whenever State threatened was the cause for the Michigan State defeat. At no time during the game Griffin could be absolutely sure of his support. Langer's high throw to Elowitz in the eighth allowed Waterford to reach first and score a moment later when Braendle singled.

Michigan had only four men left on bases while the Spartans left nine of their nines stranded. In the eighth inning with the bases loaded and two outs, Captain John Madonia rolled weakly to the pitcher, who threw out Griffin at the plate, and ended what threatened to be a rally.

Again in the eighth Elowitz and Griffin singled in succession. Then Elowitz pinch-hitting for Kirchner, fouled out to the catcher. Gartner struck out after having gotten three hits in as many times at bat, and Langer first out to left field.

For the first two innings, Griffin did not give up a hit. In the third Madonia first up hit a double and Vance to third on Tompkins' pitch out, and scored on Soper's hit to center field. The next two men went down in order.

Griffin did not give another hit until the sixth, when Braendle lined a single to right. He followed out a moment later by Fetosky. Duffley got on with an infield hit in the seventh. Daniels then hit a triple to score him and put Michigan ahead. Western pitched to Langer and was thrown out at first. Daniels remaining on third.

On the next pitch Madonia hit a slow one to Langer. Daniels broke for the plate with the hit. Langer's throw to Morse was a triple, but Umpire Blavin called Daniels out.

Decision Causes Row

The umpire's decision caused a row at the entire Michigan team rushed out of the diamond to protest the ruling. For several minutes the Wolverine's harangued with the umpire, but were ordered back to the bench. Griffin caught Madonia off first on the next pitch.

The bold spirit of the Wolverine's was quickly withered when they were called back by the umpire. In the Spartan's half of the seventh inning, McNeal struck out to start the inning. Then Elowitz, attempting a bunt, was seen to be hit by the umpire, who charged the Duffley. The Michigan catcher interfered with the batter. Duffley anticipated Elowitz's bunt instead of waiting to catch the ball, and instead of making the play, he picked up the ball. The umpire called Elowitz out.

THIS and THAT

BY THE SPORTS EDITOR

WOLVERINES

The Michigan game offered some excitement to the largest crowd present at a ball game this year. Besides two non-strike between the members of the Michigan team and the umpire, the fans took a particular delight in seeing Ted Peterson and Catcher Duffley of the Wolverine's.

The decision of Umpire Blavin in the seventh, when Daniels was called out at home, was pretty close and argued for by Daniels. The umpire called Daniels out, but it looked pretty much like he was safe to the writer. It seemed that Daniels did cross the plate before River touched him. However, the umpire is always right.

Morse was hit with a ball in the first that would have made any of Jim Corbett's or Bob Fitzsimmons' kind of punch look sick. The batter, however, was not fazed and went to sit out for the remainder of the game. The Michigan pitcher, while McNeal was in for him.

A 'BIG HOUSE' WALLTOP

Abel Elowitz hit a home run the other day that caused a crowd of 5,000 spectators gasp for breath. He delivered the tremendous clout in a practice game with the Michigan prison team at Jackson. The prison wall is 296 feet distant from the home plate and the ball cleared the barrier with height and distance. It is said to have been the longest drive ever made at the prison. State won the game 11 to 6.

A frank discussion at last on a subject that has long been "taboo"

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

"IT'S TOASTED"

"LET sleeping dogs lie!" So said the cigarette trade when first we raised the subject of inhaling. But dodging an important issue is not Lucky Strike's policy!

Do you inhale? That question is vitally important... for every smoker inhales—knowingly or unknowingly. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette! And the delicate membranes of your throat demand that your smoke be pure, clean—free of certain impurities!

No wonder Lucky Strike dares to raise this vital question! For Luckies bring you the protection you want... because Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities concealed in every tobacco leaf. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

So, whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly, safeguard those delicate membranes!
