BOARD JOBS GO TO DEMOCRATS

Halstead and Downing Defeat Republicans in State Ag Elections.

Elections for the State Board of Agriculture Monday resulted in the placing in office of two democratic candidates, Benjamin Halstead and Charles E. Downing, who defeated the republicans, M. H. Peterson and A. J. Rogers. The men will hold office for six years beginning Jan. 1, 1934.

Benjamin H. Halstead, of Potoski, was born in Iowa but came to Michigan when three years old. He attended M. S. C. from 1892 to 1895 and was graduated from Indiana University in 1899 and from the University of Michigan law school in 1909. He immediately set up his law practice in Potoski, where he has been city attorney since 1907, except for two and one-half years. He was a member of the Potoski board of education from 1909 to 1913.

Charles E. Downing, of Willis, Washtenaw county, was born on a farm in Wayne county. After attending Belleville high school, he rented a farm and now operates with his sons, 280 acres in Monroe county. Downing was elected to the state legislature from the third district of Wayne county in 1914, being the first democrat from there in 46 years.

Other previously elected members of the board who will remain in office are C. L. Brody, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, and William Berkeley of Cassopolis, publisher, Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson, Detroit, banker and financier, and Olibert L. Daane, Grand Rapids banker. Brody and Berkeley will complete their terms in 1935 and the latter two will finish in 1937.

During these members, Paul P. Voelker, newly elected superintendent of public instruction, is an ex-officio member, taking office at the same time as Halstead and Downing. R. S. Shaw, H. H. Halladay and Ben.

NO GREAT DROP IS ANTICIPATED IN ATTENDANCE

Definite Figures Will Not Be Available Until All Fees Are Paid

MANY LOANS MADE
Local Bank May Re-open Soon; Lucas is Appointed Conservator.

Although no official figures on the total number of students registered for this term will be available for some time, indications are that there will not be an extraordinary drop in enrollment in the various divisions. Fees are being collected at the treasurer's office at this time. The deadline for payment of fees is tomorrow, Friday, April 7, and after that time the books registration will be closed to new students.

Reports from the student loan committee indicate that a very large number of students are taking advantage of this opportunity to borrow for their tuition. In order to give the students as possible, the committee is holding its final meeting tomorrow night, when it will decide upon the loans to be made. The committee is also considering the possibility of making loans to students who have been dropped from the university for non-payment of fees.

With the additional time given for payment of fees, it is hoped that most students will be able to complete their registration this week. (Continued on page 5)

DROP PLAN FOR NEW BUILDING

East Lansing Post Office Project Abandoned for Present is Late Report.

According to an article appearing in the Grand Rapids Herald Sunday, April 2, East Lansing's new post office project has been indefinitely postponed along with 15 other similar federal projects in Michigan.

The article stated that this move is a part of President Roosevelt's economy plan. All available funds are to be used in connection with the new reforestation project backed by the president.

B. A. Fausch, local postmaster, stated that he had not been officially notified concerning this change in plans, but that on Tuesday, April 4, a federal agent had been in East Lansing taking measures toward reorganizing the lease on the present post office, the term of which expires July 1 of this year.

Members of the Olympic fraternity whose property was to be purchased as a site for the new federal stadium have been notified nothing concerning a cancellation of the proposed negotiation. They, rather, have been led to believe that the property will be purchased although the postoffice will not be erected for some time.

The postponement of the building of this new East Lansing postoffice, representing an expenditure of $24,500, is only one unit in the president's economy drive. In Michigan, alone, he expects to save $1,572,000 by postponing or cancelling 15 other similar projects.

M.S.C.: 'The Scapegoat'

Legislation now pending in our Michigan legislature threatens drastic reductions in the state appropriations to M. S. C. This is the result of a situation created by last fall's election in which legislators, both state and national, found their way into public office on a platform of rigid governmental economy. Confounded in their efforts to reduce appropriations as promised in other fields, these public officials are now fostering an attempt to make education the "scapegoat" in a relentless campaign for governmental retrenchment.

We need not discuss the serious results of such measures, if enacted in their present form. These are all too obvious.

Realizing the ruinous consequences which now threaten this college through reduced appropriations, the Student Council, backed by other campus organizations, has issued an appeal for every student and friend of the institution to cooperate in a plan to back such proposals at the outset. Effectiveness of this appeal will be measured by the number of individual responses and the number of college students who will be determined politicians?

Fraternity Cusses At

The first meeting of the Michigan State University Fraternity was held last night at the Union building.

Further discussion was held concerning the student loan committee. The room is set up for the room. The room is set up for the room.

The date for the spring term induction initiation was set for the third week of school starting next Monday night, Wednesday, April 12, and terminating before the start of the following school week.

The same rule is observed the winter term initiation will be in force for the term activities. According to George C. Fuller, president of the Michigan State University Fraternity, the winter term initiation will be in force for the term activities.

Another point of discussion was the placing of the Homecoming trophy for the coming year. It has been awarded to the Hesperian society as that house has won the trophy for the last two successive years. The cup will be a permanent possession of the Hesperian society.

The Interfraternity Council spring term party was discussed and it was decided that an informal party will be held on the weekend of May 5 at the Union building. These plans are tentative and are under the direction of C. H. Potter of the Education society, the host of the party.

A head discussion was held concerning the wearing of hats by the freshmen of the various organizations.

Union Tower Room Now Ready For Club Meetings

The fourth floor tower room of the Union building is now available for use as a meeting place for campus organizations, as was forecast last term. Manager Ray H. Higgs of the Union announced that the room, which was formerly occupied by the winter, has been converted and a room which will accommodate a meeting of as many as 100 people is now at the disposal of the organizations.

No organization has, to date, signed up for the room. The room is set up for the room. The room is set up for the room.

SPEAKER GIVES VIEWPOINTS ON FOREIGN PANIC

H. B. Lees-Smith Talks Before Large Crowd of Students Tuesday Night

GERMAN CASE CITED
Remedies for Foreign Troubles Given in Resume of "Super-Slump"

"If you were Germans today, more than half of you would be followers of Hitler," the Rt. Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith told an audience of students and townspeople in the auditorium of Peoples church Tuesday night. He spoke on the Liberal Arts lecture course, using the subject, "What is Wrong in Europe?"

The former British labor cabinet minister and member of Parliament expressed his startling statement by saying that there is no other German party unless it is the Socialist that university and college students there might have turned to. Embittered by lack of prospects for employment after obtaining degrees, they have joined the forces of Hitler, the German Nationalist party. The movement is the reaction of the middle class to economic misery and is more militant than the starved, alien working groups.

Lees-Smith discussed the German troubles in speaking of economic depression as the greatest problem of Europe. "Most European politicians would agree that this is even more dangerous than political difficulties," he declared. "The depression in Europe will end only when it is conquered in the United States and the rest of the world."

Calling the present conditions a "super-slump," Lees-Smith stated that England has suffered from unemployment for the last decade, reaching the number of men out of work in the last three years, just as in the United States has.

No one country can correct the forces causing this slump, said the speaker. "It is a matter for international co-operation. President Roosevelt has done admirably with measures for relief of distress within this country, but he should go into international action."

College students in England have now taken oath refusing to even fight for their king or country. This is a challenge to older men for allowing a crisis to set into the deplorable state. Although the situation is more dangerous in England, and there is greater apprehension. The authority of the (Continued on page 5)

AUTHOR GIVES VIEWS ON LIFE

Last Lecture on Town Hall Series Delivered by English Novelist.

Cosmo Hamilton, well known English novelist and playwright, gave the last lecture for the year on the Lansing Town Hall series this morning at the Odia hotel. His topic was "What is the Thing Called Life?" dealt with his own philosophy.

Mr. Hamilton is the author of more than a dozen successful novels and some 40 plays which reveal him as a keen student of human nature and the effect of social development on the individual. The list of his novels includes such well known titles as "The Blindness of Virtue," "The Infinite Capacity," "The Miracle of Love," and most recently, "Dammed Little Fool." Several of his books have reached the best-seller class, and his plays have been equally successful in this country and abroad. Among these are "Scandal," which attained phenomenal success, "A Sense of Humor," "Mrs. Skeffington," and his latest, "Happiness," and "Tom-Tom."

Mr. Hamilton gained fame with his first novel at the age of 20. He has traveled extensively throughout the world, and was at one time editor of the World, London society weekly. After the great war, in which he served with distinction, he entered into English social and political life. He is a brother of Sir Philip Gibbs and Major A. Hamilton Gibbs and uncle of Anthony Gibbs.

When he is in London, Mr. Hamilton occupies a wing of a famous old mansion off Piccadilly where Byron, Gladstone, Sir Bulwer Lytton and Macaulay have lived.

STUDENT SOCIETIES TO JOIN FIGHT AGAINST REDUCTION OF COLLEGE APPROPRIATION

Governing Body Requests That Co-operation of Every Student Be Accorded in Bringing Pressure to Bear on State Legislators.

The Student Council in regular meeting last Tuesday night initiated a movement which will eventually be backed by all other student organizations of the college to protest a bill now pending in the Michigan State House of Representatives and due to come up as a special order of business before that body on Tuesday, April 11, which would cut the present mill tax and reduce state appropriations to Michigan State college by nearly half a million dollars.

The sum and substance of this movement consists in an urgent request from the Council that students either wire or write parents and friends here in the state to bring pressure to bear upon their representatives so that the bill may be defeated at an early date.

Plans were formulated by the governing body at this meeting where by the co-operation of every active student organization on the campus will eventually be employed in an effort to make contact with members of the student body and influence these in turn to act upon the Council's request.

The proposed legislation in question was introduced on January 4 this year as House Bill No. 11 and was immediately referred to the committee on Ways and Means. The bill will be acted upon as an amendment to a section of the Public Acts of 1931 entitled: An act to extend and to the Michigan State college of Agriculture and Applied Science. The section of the amendment proposes to strike out the figures "2.10" and inserting in their place the figures "15.10" with reference to the present mill tax now collected under this act. A second section of the amendment would strike out the words "one million three hundred ninety-four thousand two hundred forty-one dollars and fifty-one cents" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "NINE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS."

The latter clause is the direct proposal with reference to a cut of nearly $500,000 in M. S. C. appropriations.

A bill of similar nature introduced into the state senate on March 27 was referred to the committee on taxation. It is generally conceded, however, that this bill will be superseded by the one now pending in the house.

Regular appropriation to this college through the mill tax have been reduced approximately 15 per cent since 1920 and in the same period appropriations for extension service have been cut about 37 per cent—all of this while college enrollment stayed at virtually the same figure. The stand which the Student Council and other friends of the college take is that, while enrollment has dropped somewhat in the last year (Continued on page 5)

BOARD NAMES STAFF EDITORS

Heath is New Associate Editor; Bedford Will Head Co-ed Staff.

In a special meeting called yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock the college publications board approved the appointment of Mott Heath, '33, and Barbara Bedford, '33, to the respective positions of associate and co-ed editors of the Michigan State News.

Following the precedent established five years ago, the board named Heath to the associate post in view of his three years of service on the editorial staff of the News and the fact that he was a runner-up for the position of editor in the winter term elections. Heath is well equipped for the associate editorship in view of his three years of editorial experience together with the fact that he has been an assistant editor on the paper for the past year. His duties will be in co-operation with those of the editor in planning, making up, editorial writing and general news coverage. Heath is a native of Cadillac and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

The duties of the co-ed editor extended to a complete charge over the women's staff of the News and the reporting of women's activities on the campus. Miss Bedford has had two years experience on the co-ed staff of this publication together with one year on the student paper at Carleton college, Minnesota. Her home is in Westfield, New York, and she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Staff appointments have also been announced at this time for junior members of the editorial staff who will fill the positions of assistant editors for the next three terms. Those whose names were approved for assistant editor posts include Charles Palmer, Seattle, Wash.; Bob Stoll, Battle Creek; John Babington, Sault Ste. Marie; Doug Graham, Lansing; and Jim Quello, Laurium.

Palmer, Stoll and Babington will act in the capacity of general staff members, each one covering specific sources of news as a regular duty together with their services connected with writing heads, proof reading and assignment writing.

Graham continues in the position of sports editor which he has held for the past two terms. He has charge over the sports staff of four reporters and will also be employed in writing heads and in make-up of sports articles. Quello has been named as a special assistant editor in charge of features.

ALUMNI MAKE SPECIAL OFFER

Seniors to Receive New Low Rate for Membership in Association

The entire membership of the senior class will be enrolled in the M. S. C. Alumni association on the day they graduate in June. This is the decision arrived at in the seniors' meeting of March 20, when they balloted in favor of paying to the alumni association $11 for each of their 140 odd members. This payment will give them all full association membership for one year, and one year's subscription to the monthly alumni magazine, the Michigan State College Record.

The 1933 classmen become members for the lowest ever asked of outgoing graduates. Last year the rate was $3 for two years, and the annual cost to regular members is $2.50. To fulfill their end of the bargain, the seniors will each pay $1 themselves before graduation, to the alumni office. By this action they will extend their membership and subscription to two years.

Secretary Glen O. Stewart met with the alumni board to consider the agreement under which the seniors voted their 100 per cent membership. The decision of the board, he said, was influenced by the current economic conditions.

In explaining the idea behind the historically unprecedented class action, Senior President William Vonelde pointed out that the money in the class treasury comes largely from dues equally assessed, and that redistribution of some of this money with equal benefit to all was demanded and popular. He also called attention to the fact that the class of '33 is also contributing a substantial sum to the student loan fund, as other graduating classes have done in the past.

KOBSMEN WIN THREE LOSE TWO ON ANNUAL SOUTHERN JAUNT: FIRST HOME GAME WITH IOWA

Start Sixteen Game Schedule Here Next Friday and Saturday;
Success Trip Brings Victory Over Elon, and
Two Over North Carolina University.

BACK FROM a successful southern trip, the varsity nine faces a week of diligent practice before they meet Iowa and Northwestern here April 14 and 15. These two games will open a 16-game schedule that brings to Old College field such teams as Notre Dame, Ohio U., Michigan, Indiana and Chicago.

During the southern games Coach John Kobs took the opportunity to experiment with various lineups with the result that several veterans were shifted and room was made for promising rookies.

Klewicki, massive sophomore catcher, proved himself equal to varsity competition both behind the plate and at the bat, where he batted .429 in seven times up.

He got his first chance at catching when Morse injured his thumb early on the route. At home, playing his first year on the squad, Kobs had at shortstop with Frank Norton teamed up with Capt. Fawcett and Al Kirsch in the outfield.

After losing his veteran hurler, Kirschner, to win the initial game on the trip, Kobs employed his recent find, Langer, in the next encounter. Although hit freely, Langer showed control and will be used to advantage during the rest of the season, indicated the coach.

Powerful hitting, secured the southern tour and Kobs expects to use it as his chief weapon throughout the schedule. The squad as a whole batted .276 with Pemberton and Kirschner leading the list of sluggers.

Michigan State officially opened its 1933 baseball season here today with a crushing victory over Elon college, 6 to 5. T. B. He weakened in the ninth frame but stopped the home team's rally in time to bring victory.

At Kirschner led the Spartans at bat, getting three hits in five chances. Capt. Chuck Fawcett and Bill McCann each hit safely twice out of five while Al Eklowitz rapped out one hit in two trips to the plate. Score by innings: R H E

Wake Forest, N. C., March 29.
Wake Forest's championship Deacons mowed their batting strength in the fifth and seventh innings here today to defeat the Spartans, Michigan State, 8 to 6. Kelly Langer and Ken Little both took to the mound to lead the Foresters' batsmen but the veterans were too strong.

Ed Fiedler started at bat with two hits in three trips. Klewicki and two others, out of four times up, while Capt. Chuck Fawcett drove in two runs. Langer tripled to score home in the second for the first Spartan hit. Thirteen State men were killed by Barnes. Wake Forest left-handed, but he was kept in line water throughout.

All of State's runs came in a big fifth inning. Klewicki looped out a perfect Texas leaguer Fiedler walked and then Kelly Langer hit out a triple, scoring two runs. Kirschner singled, scoring Langer, and then advanced on Capt. Chuck Fawcett's hit single. Al Eklowitz cleared the bases with a long drive into center field.

FIRST CALL FOR NETMEN ISSUED

Weitz, Norris Lead Tennis Men
--Chances Seem Good for Excellent Year.

When the local football had line up against Coach Harry Kipke's Michiganers next fall they may be confronted with a new offensive formation invented by the redoubtable Harry. The new idea, probably promulgated after several "leaves" in the "mump" which formation in which the two guards turn their backs to their opponents and face their own backfield. From this "mump" to "you" position Harry claims that the guards can pull out of the line faster to form intercepting or deflected passes. Incidentally if the Wolverine guards find it hard to get out of the way in time, they will be in a less-odious position to be helped out by a straying foot—Hello, Lay and Terhak!

Charles Bachman probably thought he came up here to coach rowing when he looked out on the very damp football field which was covered by muddy Red Cedar water last Monday. But then he is probably needed to take after tutoring his Florida Alligators for five years.

Otto Pommerer, general star performer on Ralph Young's track squad, had his own way of playing April Fool's day jokes. His latest "joke" came on April 1 at the Armour Tech relays in Chicago when he was running anchor man on the brilliant Spartan relay team. When he took the baton for the last lap the State quartet was 12 yards behind and when the race was over Pommerer was out in front by seven feet, all at the expense of Mr. Pommerer of Pro-Pom-Pommerer. Good joke, eh, boss?

Pope and fungus, A. H. Baker, general colored athlete, sings like Bing Crosby, but when Ray, Alrick and Art VanDusen join in they sound like the Tenorsville community quartet on a bad night. And "Whatta man" Dennis, who was christened Laurence but who likes this moniker better, doesn't help the din any either.

Jerry McCann, State baseball player who alternates at first base and pitching, went through a long one of training—44 minutes of working up in the ball pen, to pitch two innings. That's the height of something or other. It all happened on the southern tour. He'll find for the life of a pitcher!

FENCERS END YEAR WITH VICTORY OVER DETROIT

The Michigan State fencing team closed its season with an eleven to four victory over the University of Detroit. Murphy, Stokes and Glass won two apiece. Kirschner took three and lost one. Lutz won again in épée, while the sabre team slipped and lost three out of four bouts.

This completes a very successful season for State with five victories and only two defeats, both of which were at the hands of the University of Michigan.

The freshman fencing team hitchhiked to Detroit the last Saturday of the winter term and defeated the Lawrence Institute of Technology, 12 to 3. ## BATTER UP!

Diamond Personalities

Unlike most of Kobs' ball players, William C. McCann, veteran second baseman and general utility man, has not been plagued with nicknames. Of course Groundskeeper Amos now and then tags him with "Moose," "Mac," etc., but only on rare occasions.

Most of the grounds-keepers will permit—enrolled at Michigan State after three years of football, basketball, baseball and probably debating at Middleville high. Using this prolific pedigree, Mac perfected his ball-playing until Kobs now recognizes him as a coming big-leaguer.

After starting on his freshman team, McCann last season advanced to the varsity where he lost no time in clinching a position at second base.

During the course of the season he whiffed out numerous long drives, including a triple in the Michigan game. He finished the year with a batting average of .342, second to Captain Madonna who led the squad.

McCann ran into a slump on the recent southern trip but has promised to pull out of the pre-season lethargy before the Spartans open their home season with Iowa next Friday. Mac's habit of corresponding twice daily with a local co-ed acquaintance is rumored as the cause of his failure to produce while in the south. For those who want to know, the girl in the case lives on the same street Kobs does and Kobs resides on Ardson road.

POLOISTS LEAVE FOR CULVER GAMES

Hold High Hope of Beating
Culver in Friday and Saturday Contests.

Returning a visit of Culver earlier in the season, Michigan State's polo team will leave for Culver Friday morning, April 7. They will play games there one Friday and the other Saturday night.

When the two teams met here last month they broke even, and the M. S. C. poloists have high hopes of winning both games this week. The Spartans have been working hard this week and the last week of winter term preparing for the contest.

The starting lineup for State will be Russell Miller, John Casselman and Ronald McDonald. Ralph Dickie and Dave Meininger will also go to Culver and are expected to play part of the time. The team's coach, Capt. M. I. Vooches, will accompany the players on the trip.

A polo team from Detroit is expected to play the State team here next week-end. Following that game most of the time will be spent with the juniors who will comprise next year's team.

FRIMODIG PLANS SPRING GAMES

Intramural Program to Include
Baseball, Indoor, Tennis and Track Meets.

Within two weeks the intramural sports program will be underway. Assistant Director L. L. Frimodig announced yesterday. With the exception of the all-college golf tournament, which is still a tentative event, the list of spring athletics will be equally as complete as in former years.

Regular baseball, playground ball, tennis, and relays are on the roster, giving the amateur athletes a wide range in which to display their talents.

The Funomians will attempt to repeat their last year's win in the inter-trait baseball circuit when that sport begins April 17, a week from Monday. S. A. F. was runner-up in this league and their recent indoor triumph indicates they will put another strong team on the field this spring.

April 17 also marks the date of the first game in the Wells Hall playground series. Ward C won the dormitory title in 1932. Ward F playing second.

Eclectic fraternity will be the defending champion when the frat start their annual tennis race April 24. The Ties will defend still another trophy on June 3 when the societies assemble for the inter-trait relays.

Attempts will be made this spring to revive the all-college golf tournament. The fairway event was cancelled during the fall term because of the small number of entrants. Two years ago, over 30 men qualified for the meet with scores ranging from 75 to 121 in contrast with the 11 entrants last fall. If the present plans can be carried out, the qualifying rounds for the golf meet will be staged early in May.
