Artists Back With New Zeal

Art Staff Studied Exhibits in Large Centers of Nation.

The members of the art department have spent their summers following the phases of art in which they are most interested and are now back at their work with renewed enthusiasm and zeal. It has been a singular summer for people interested in art. There have been numerous special exhibits in museums throughout the country and art colonies and their efforts have been in evidence. But above everything else has shone the Century of Progress Exposition with its startling modern architecture and its special collections of pictures and art.

Miss Jessie Fremont Clark, assistant professor of art, spent the summer in the east. While there she did some research work for fall lectures at the University of Pennsylvania and also visited Radio City which gave her material for her history of architecture lectures. During the latter part of the summer she attended the world's fair.

Miss Alma Guelch and Miss Katherine Winkler attended Columbia university and there studied art education in its component divisions of psychology and philosophy. Visiting the school of the New Workers in New York city they observed Diego Rivera painting the murals of the school.

Howard Joyner studied at Harvard on a scholarship awarded him by the Carnegie corporation.

The window decorations at the Lansing Flower Show, just past, were executed by J. A. Person. Portraying the spirit of fall flowers, done in colors of brown and yellow, these decorations will remain for some time on the windows of the flower show building that was formerly occupied by the Lansing Capital News.

On the walls of the Cotton Club between Lansing and East Lansing Mr. Person painted several murals depicting the life in the old southern mansions. The plantation life with its pleasures of fox hunting and its pains of cotton cultivating is shown in the murals.

For the Motor Wheel corporation at Lansing Mr. Person completed about 200 wheel designs, creations of a new type which will bring out with great effect the spinning motion of the wheel.

Prof. A. G. Scheide studied with Maurice Comptre in the Rockport, Mass. art schools. Also he attended classes in East Gloucester where he did work in still life, marine and figure design.

Swimming Club Holds Meeting For Frosh Girls

Green Splash made its initial appearance last evening holding its annual greeting party to the incoming freshmen girls. A large number of girls heard Miss Garvin's welcome speech which opened the program. Miss Garvin encouraged the newcomers to continue in their swimming pursuits.

Dorothy McDonald, president of the organization, then briefly outlined the purposes and requirements of becoming a member of Green Splash. The stipulations for membership are as follows: A C average, the passing of the Red Cross life saving test, a member of a class swimming team, and meet the approval of the present members.

The remainder of the evening was spent in doing water stunts and relay races. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

All co-eds interested in trying out for Green Splash who did not swim last evening may do so at their own time during the next week.

STATE OPENS 1933 GRID SEASON SATURDAY

GRINNELL COLLEGE COMES HERE FOR INITIAL BATTLE ON STATE'S 1933 SCHEDULE; EXPECT 10,000

Charles Bachman, New Head Coach, Will Unveil His First Team Before State Fans; Boy Scouts to Be Guests; Band Parades at 1:45 and Game Starts at 2:00 P. M. Promptly.

By DOUG GRAHAM
(Michigan State News Sports Editor)

THE lid of the 1933 Spartan football season will be dramatically opened on Saturday September 30, before a crowd which is expected to swell upward of 10,000 people when Grinnell college of Grinnell, Iowa, takes the field against the first edition of Coach Charles Bachman's Michigan State football team. The game will start promptly at 2 p. m.

Arranged against one of the toughest, and surely one of the most brilliant schedules ever mapped out for a Michigan State grid machine, the Spartans are general favorites to defeat the invading Pioneers, though the Iowans have been pointing to the State game as "the" game of the year to win.

The season's opener will also mark the unveiling of the first grid product of Charles W. Bachman, the blonde, hard-working strategist who replaces James Crowley, State's coach last year. Schooled in the Notre Dame system, experienced by coaching assignments at Kansas State and the University of Florida, and backed by an intimate study of Michigan State's football material since last May 1, Coach Bachman will draw the attention of many hopeful Spartan fans who are anxious to see just what kind of a team this fall, muscular motor is going to have this fall.

Added to the usual fanfare of any opening day will be the presence of some 7,000 or more Michigan Boy Scouts and Lansing and East Lansing school children who will be guests at the game through the courtesy of the Spartan athletic department. They will be gathered in the East stands and will present a spectacular parade between the halves.

After the State and Grinnell teams take the field for their pre-game warm-ups at 1:30 p. m., the Michigan State military band, directed by Leonard Falcone, will march on the field and participate in the flag-raising ceremonies. This is scheduled for 1:45 p. m.

Though severely handicapped through the loss of seven starters, Grinnell, coached by Art Krueger, including two of their greatest products, Alvin Karpis and Tom Murrell, the Spartans are expected to put up a scrappy attack and a strong defense which should cause the Pioneers some trouble.

Grinnell boasts a fairly good running attack, combined with an efficient aerial game. They are expected to have a powerful attack and a strong defense which should cause the Pioneers some trouble.

McNitt Stated to Start. Looking the Spartan coach will be Captain Bernard McNitt, who has been back in action after a year's absence. Although he has had trouble in the past, McNitt is expected to start at quarterback.

Probably the strongest part of the State defense and offense will be in the center of the line where Frank Butler, mentioned as an All-American last year, and Russell Lay and Don Truitt, center, will hold steady. Ready to help them in the center will be Avery Pearson and Joe Burdick, centers, and William and Donnie, guards.

Joe Fortner, another veteran guard, will be out of the first game and McNitt will be a new man with a new job. They are Art Krueger, who always plays hard football, and who appears at all times, while a number of men are waiting for their chance to play. McNitt is out at right tackle, and Warner is playing left tackle. McNitt is out at right tackle, and Warner is playing left tackle.

End Positions Doubtful. Ed Kierstead, a stocky lad who was a crack veteran last year, should be at left end, though Louis Zarka, Almon, Baker and Jackson are pushing him at present. At the right end, Fritz Smith or one of the other ends may start.

Smart Almon Kierstead, who stepped into the Spartan quarterback job last year in the Michigan game and who has been there ever since, will probably start at State's field general. Amazing him will be Charles Muth and Harrison Newman.

If the Black McNitt starts at left half in the backfield, his understudy will be no doubt be Edwards and Norton. Edwards is one of the fastest men on the team; a good ball-carrier and is looked upon with some interest this fall as a possible stellar performer. At right half, either Warmouth, who tows forward passes, Armstrong, or Colina may start. Jerry Jones is also a likely starter.

The probable fullback choice will be McCreary, big colored back who can drive through most any line and is rated as one of the best ball-carriers on the squad. Under him, and undoubtedly due to get into the opener will be Chuck Brown, Don Wiseman, and Bill

THIS and THAT

BY DOUG GRAHAM

We were talking to Ralph H. Young, director of athletics, yesterday about the home football schedule which he and his assistants in the athletic department have arranged for Coach Charles Bachman's initial football machine this fall. The schedule this fall for the college stadium brings to East Lansing some of the toughest, most well-known and nationally respected grid elevens that have ever appeared here. It wouldn't be far amiss to say that State plays more country-wide reputation opponents in 1933 than ever before in Spartan history.

The cry around East Lansing and Lansing for many years has been to "bring some of the big boys here" and this year the fans are going to get their fill of big-time football if that's possible to do. The cost of bringing these big teams here is not a small item, and Ralph Young and Charles Bachman may well be congratulated for their extra work in making that financially possible.

Several interesting features have been planned by the athletic department for the various home games. Starting with the Grinnell tilt, coming on Saturday when Boy Scout Day will be marked. At this time some 3,000 Michigan Boy Scouts will be guests of the Spartan manager, which should be considerable to boost Michigan State college in these potential college students. Besides that, an almost equal number of East Lansing and Lansing school children will be guests for the Post-war game.

The Syracuse game, which brings one of the leading teams down east to the stadium will be Homecoming Day and appropriate ceremonies for the old grads will be arranged. Dad's Day will be marked here when Kansas State, the first member of the Big Six to meet a Spartan team, comes here. Plans are to have all State students bring their fathers to the game which promises to be a spectacular game from that spectator's viewpoint in that Kansas State will be playing two flashy halfbacks mentioned as timber for All America teams this year.

On the date that Carnegie Tech invades the Spartan camp, State Day will be celebrated, with all Michigan's officialdom in the stands.

That winds up the brilliant schedule carved for State fans this fall and early indications point to bigger crowds filling the stadium. It will be no surprise this fall to see several capacity crowds. Counting all the Boy Scouts and Lansing school children, the first game alone should draw a crowd of close to 10,000 yelling, rabid fans.

FROSH GRIDMEN HOLD TRYOUTS

Many High School Stars Are Among Those Present.

By HARRY WISMER

Eighty young warriors are to be seen working out nightly, doing their best to land a regular position on a team which promises to be one of the best yearling outfits ever produced on this campus.

This year's squad is an unusually tall one and is well supplied with outstanding high school material. Numbered among the squad is a group of all-state men, all-city men, all-county men, and many others.

The frosh this year come from all parts and sections of the state. There are also a number of fine looking freshmen from out of the state who promise to make their presence felt on the various Spartan teams before they grab the old sheepskin.

Drill on Grinnell Plays. During the past week Coaches John Kobs and Ben VanAlstyne have been drilling the boys on Michigan and Grinnell plays. They have picked up the various formations and have been using them against the varsity.

Probably the most important part of freshman football this fall is that fundamentals are being stressed daily. The men are out there blocking, tackling and picking up the pieces of the game. The coaches are doing their best to break the fellows in, and to mold them into future varsity material.

Following is a list of candidates: W. F. Augsburger, W. H. Adams, M. D. Allan, M. R. Aronson, J. F. Brown, J. S. Brumham, G. W. Buss, W. W. Butler, H. Ross, J. H. Canningham, H. G. Croy, L. A. Have Three Games. Three hot games constitute this year's freshman schedule and they will be well worth watching. The first game brings together Michigan State Normal freshmen and State frosh here in East Lansing. The game will start at 9:30 a. m. the morning of Oct. 28. Incidentally that is Homecoming day. On Friday, Nov. 3 Western State (near Idaho) will be the State's first game with the Spartans ever at East Lansing. Saturday, Nov. 29, U. of D. frosh travel to East Lansing and a real battle is forecast for that day.

The tickets for the Michigan State game have been announced as $1.50. This is for the Marquette game in Milwaukee on Oct. 31.

GRINNELL DOPE

Grinnell is reported to have a fairly strong team this fall, despite the fact that they were held scoreless last week by Coe college of Iowa. The game might have resulted in a scoreless tie had it not been for a blocked kick on Grinnell's own 20 yard line with only five minutes left to play.

Of their backfield men, Krueger is fast and shifty. First the quarterback does the passing and then the left half handles the kicking. McKee is also a good passer. Gould, their left tackle, is captain this year.

Captain Frank J. Murray, who is starting the twelfth year as head coach of the Hilltoppers, must fill his shoes in the backfield before any indication of their strength can be estimated. Guard positions on the line and all quarterback and halfback jobs are in the air.

Head Coach of Football Charles W. Bachman and Ralph H. Young, director of athletics at State, journeyed yesterday afternoon to Detroit when they attended the annual Free Press Sports Banquet. This annual affair is one of the outstanding sports banquets of the year, especially in Michigan, in that nearly all of the Michigan college football coaches and athletic directors besides the coaches of Detroit high schools were in attendance. Patronize Michigan State News advertisers.

HARRIERS BEGIN TRAINING

COACH BROWN MUST FILL PLACES OF THREE GRADUATED HARRIERS; BUTLER MEET TO BE TOUGHEST

Return of Captain Tom Otley Will Be Boon to Fall Season's Chances; Otto Pograce, Hammer, Hurd, Bechtold, and Small Will Round Out the Squad as Seen Now.

By ROBERT GARDNER

Facing one of the hardest schedules ever mapped out for a Michigan State cross-country team, Coach Lauren Brown, varsity and freshman coach, must find a way to fill the gaps caused by the graduation of his stellar performers of last season, Wissner, Fullerton and Elliott. Brown will have at his disposal the services of many track stars, including those of Captain Thomas Otley, to fill into the positions, so prospects for the fall harrier season are not entirely dimmed. The first meet on the schedule will be the All-College run on October 7, after which the Spartan team will be kept filling dates on every Saturday.

TANK PROSPECT SEEN AS GOOD

Daubert Predicts Best Team Since 1930 Season.

Butler Will Be Hardest

October 14 brings one of the hardest meets that against Butler university at Indianapolis. Butler will be running on its own track course to add to its advantages, while advantage does indicate that the Butler team will have another characteristically strong outfit this fall. On the following week-end the Spartan team will journey to Milwaukee where they will have to test their strength over something new in the way of cross-country courses in that part of the route will be over pavement, the nature of many a distance runner.

Irish Come Here

Notre Dame comes here the following week and is reported to be much stronger than last year. Nov. 11 brings the state meet in which Western State, Detroit City College, Michigan State Normal, Adrian and several others will probably compete. If the varsity succeeds in winning all these meets a team will probably be sent to New York for the I. C. A. A. A. meet, the cross-country classic of the year. Nov. 25, in the date for the Central Intercollegiate, which will find Notre Dame, Illinois, Wisconsin, Western State and four or five others coming here on the same day. The Michigan A. A. U. will be held at Ypsilanti the following Saturday.

To run this schedule State has Captain Tom Otley back. Otley won the all-college run, the dual meet with Butler, Notre Dame and Michigan the Central Intercollegiate and took third in the national meet last year. While dressing for the State A. A. U. meet at Ypsilanti an old injury returned which forced him to return from competition for the rest of the year. He ran only two miles after that wearing a harness two-mile run in the meet with Marquette and placing second to Bill Hoop at the Central Intercollegiate meet held at Notre Dame last spring. Following an operation he seemed all right and got a job pulling a junkyard at the World's Fair and got back in time. He is out leading the team again and looks better than ever.

Pograce Probably Second

Otto Pograce, probable number two man was the second State man to finish in most of the cross-country races last year. In winter and spring track he ran some fine half-mile races setting a new varsity record and placing third in the I. C. A. A. A. meet.

Bechtold is Promising

Bechtold, a sophomore this year, showed great promise last fall and this spring. He won all of the freshman races during the fall with the exception of two two mile races and won his specialty, the two mile all winter in freshman meets, and seems to be in very good shape this fall. He should fill one pair of shoes left by graduates from the team.

Small had a bad year last season but may get back into form this year. Gardner will be pressing him and Frazer and Don Warren will not be far behind. Hertzler was one of the strongest men on the freshman team last year and may force some of the men out of their places. Dennis, a sophomore this year looks strong and can go places if he runs like he used to in high school.

NEW PROSPECTS IN TENNIS CAMP

Varsity Squad Will Compete In Annual Doubles Tourney.

Tennis is going into its seasonal slump at present with veterans of last year's outstanding net squad laying only occasional due to damp weather. The activity in the ranks of the Spartan racquet wielders is centered about the search for capable doubles teams to bolster the one glaring weakness which developed last season.

GOLF TOURNAMENT IS ABANDONED THIS FALL

Due to lack of interest shown in past years L. L. Primodig has decided to abandon the All-College golf tournament this fall. Difficulties in arranging matches due to full schedules is the reason given for abandoning this once popular event this fall. In the past this tournament has been the medium through which freshmen golfers were given a chance to display their mashing abilities.

PARKING SPACE MAY BE RESERVED

A specially reserved parking space for automobiles belonging to Spartan grid followers will be designated this fall, starting with the game Saturday with Grinnell college. This parking lot will be directly in front of the main gate at the north end of the stadium and will be police patrolled.

This parking lot will enable many fans to park their cars close to the entrance gate and will also facilitate their quick departure after the game is over. A nominal charge will be made to patrons taking advantage of this new parking privilege of 25 cents, the proceeds of which will be set aside for the student athletic loan fund.

TRACK CANDIDATES WORK OUT DAILY

Aspirants Look to Handicap Meet to Show Wares.

Fall track practice is now in progress and a large number of varsity and freshman trackmen are practicing daily at the stadium between four and six each afternoon, in preparation for the fall interclass handicap track meet, which will be held the first week in November.

All field event men, hurdlers, sprinters, and quartermilers are practicing at the stadium under Coach Ralph Young, while the distance men are working out under Lauren Brown, cross-country coach. Although it is quite early to make any predictions, it looks as though the fall track meet should be a very interesting affair, which should produce several outstanding performances, and give Coach Young some idea of what he will have to work with next spring on his freshmen and varsity teams.

FRATS, WELLS SPORTS BEGIN

Frimodig Announces Plan for Bowling and Grid Teams.

Lyman I. Frimodig, assistant director of athletics, is busy formulating plans for the largest and most extensive program of intramural athletics in the history of the college. H. W. Dunn, an experienced Y. M. C. A. athletic director, has been put in charge of the entire program, working in conjunction with Mr. Frimodig.

At present plans for the annual interfraternity bowling tourney are well under way and it is expected that every fraternity on the campus will be represented. Last year the Phi Kappa fraternity walked off with honors in the bowling tournament despite the stellar performances of Featherly, Enomian, who led the league.

Frimodig has promised to complete the schedule soon and wants all fraternity athletic managers to get in touch with him immediately.

Plans for the annual fall touch football tournament at Wells Hall are also being drawn up. Last year Ward F was the winner while Ward D took second place. These interfraternity games are becoming more popular each year since they were first introduced in 1931. As no tackling is permitted in touch football, they are a very safe sport and a winning team, and Coach Bachman is showing interest in the sport as a possible source of uncovering good players for future State teams.

NATIONAL SPORT SUMMARY

By TOM O'BRIEN

All was not serene along the grid front as the 1933 season got under way officially Saturday with only a streamer of the major eleven making their debut.

The big scores that are usually attendant upon opening games were conspicuous by their absence in Saturday's results, and in some cases stunning upsets were recorded.

Notable among the schools to feel the sting of defeat were Virginia Military, Virginia, Clemson of the Southern conference and the University of Mississippi member of the newly-organized Southeastern conference, all were either beaten or tied and Virginia Poly and North Carolina state, also southern conference members, eked out victories by one touchdown margins.

The Washington Senators and the New York Giants are striving for the set in touch with him immediately. Plans for the annual fall touch football tournament at Wells Hall are also being drawn up. Last year Ward F was the winner while Ward D took second place. These interfraternity games are becoming more popular each year since they were first introduced in 1931. FAMOUS MEN TO SPEAK ON ARTS COURSE

Talks Will Be More Serious Than Formerly, Aim of Board.

FIRST IS DECEMBER 14

Sullivan, Wiggam, Andrews,
Chase, and Snyder
on Program.

With probably the greatest roster of consistently fine speakers ever to be booked at Michigan State college, the Liberal Arts board will inaugurate its lecture course on December 14 with Mark Sullivan, continue with Albert Edward Wiggam, Roy Chapman Andrews, Stuart Chase, and Fred Snyder, and close March 15 with the Right Honorable H. H. Lewis.

The program, as announced today by Prof. W. W. Johnston of the English department, is intended to supplement the excellent general training course with one offering the students instruction in various matters of universal interest. Political problems will have precedence with scientific developments following.

Speaking on important political problems of the day, Mark Sullivan, Washington correspondent for the New York Evening Post and editor of a syndicated column on capital activities, will open the series at the Peoples church. Mr. Sullivan was the first and most distinguished to return to America from the Paris peace conference and respect a contemporary history. "The Times" which have been published since best sellers and have enjoyed wide attention. Mr. Sullivan is an exceptionally dynamic speaker and usually terminates his lectures with question and answer periods. This process has been used by Mr. Sullivan.

Wiggam Is Scientist.
Albert Edward Wiggam, appearing Jan. 9 is noted as the author of "The New Discoveries of Science." "The Fruit of the Family Tree," "The Mark of an Educated Man," and others. His latest book, "The Younger World," is a study of the popular fallacies being accepted as true. Of him, Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, wrote in 1927: "Wiggam's power to value to American life is that he knows how to come to the heart of the laboratory and tell us what are waiting in the crowd outside just what the scientists are doing inside. And he can tell us in a language that we can understand." The fact that Wiggam has received an enthusiastic reception from W. H. Ince, the Glasgow, Scotland, of St. Paul's cathedral, London, should alone commend him to us.

Roy Chapman Andrews, who will speak Feb. 6, is world famous as the discoverer of the first dinosaur eggs. Known as the "Dinosaur Hunter," he is the oldest known mammal and extensive evidence of primitive human life on the planet. Andrews planned the first to conduct major excavations for commercial purposes in the Gobi desert, Andrews, who is at present the chief of the division of Asiatic exploration, and was in charge of exploration and research of the American Museum of Natural History, plans to continue his study of primitive man. Andrews' task following post performance should be especially interesting.

Chase Is Author.
Stuart Chase, engaged for Feb. 22, is a noted economist and author of "Men and Machines" and "Machines Presenting Important Facts on the machine age and its influence." Chase will continue a series of lectures on machineless man to Mexico with a representative American village. Present director of the Labor Bureau, Inc., and with experience in the national trade commission and the food administration, Chase is well qualified to give some of the economic problems of today.

Frederick Snyder, speaking March 6, is a New York newspaperman and public speaker with extensive contacts in both the United States and Europe. In addition to acting as public adviser in the public relations departments of several large corporations, he has been prominent in important social service in Europe. Snyder was a delegate to the world conference on Stockholm in 1925, and was designated special commissioner of the Peace Congress of the World and represented it in the press section at Geneva. He is a brilliant speaker with unusual influence on community betterment. This year he is expected to talk on "Happiness."

Less Smith Returns.
The Right Honorable H. H. Lewis, Smith, who will be remembered for his excellent talk of last year, will close the lecture course March 15. Until recently Mr. Lewis-Smith held, alternately the important offices of minister of education and postmaster general in the British cabinet and is considered one of the most brilliant men in the British parliament. He is not only recognized as a foremost authority on European political and social conditions but also ranks high as an economist. For more than 20 years he has been prominent in parliament and has earned a national reputation as a speaker. Because of his thorough knowledge of India he was selected to serve as one of the British representatives at the round table conference, held in London in 1931.

Communist Government.
The word "Comintern" is an abbreviation of two words, "Communist International," and is applied to the highest governing power in Russia.

Veteran Stallion Is Sold By College

Michigan State college has recently sold the well known Percheron stallion "Trevino" to A. T. Worsley and Sons of Kent, Iowa, and in his place purchased a son of "Egoist" from Mr. Worsley.

This horse, "Lake Forest Echo," now ten years old, has proven his worth as a sire and it was because of this that he was selected to head the herd of "Trevino" and "Sir Lancelot" at Michigan State. "Trevino" has been in service at Michigan State college and at the Lake City station for ten years.

AWARDS GIVEN TO ATHLETES

The complete list of scholarship athletic awards has just been completed and shows that contrary to public opinion, athletes are not necessarily backward in their studies, and "built from the ground up."

Varsity baseball is the only sport which has not earned a "B" average.

Walter J. Desert, 23, from Romeo, Mich., has been named to the team. He is a senior and has been named to the team for the fourth year. He is a senior and has been named to the team for the fourth year.

ORCHESTRA WILL MEET TUESDAY

Dancing Honorary Open to Girls
With One Year Dancing Experience.

Orchestra, a national honorary dancing society, will hold their first meeting Tuesday night from 7:15 to 8:30 in the dance studio on the second floor of the gym. Future meetings will be held regularly at this time. Extension of hours for freshmen has been arranged by the president.

A business meeting of members only is to be held sometime this week. Members are urged to get in touch with the president, Virginia Dean, as to the time and place of this meeting.

Girls who have shown interest and ability in dancing will be invited to this week to come into the organization.

Orchestra is open to any girl on the campus interested in dancing who has had one term of natural dancing, either at Michigan State or some other institution. Girls who come out to dance need no further regularity, but after they have been with the organization they are expected to show progress.

The organization has as its aim one large project which it stages forward the close of the school year. One special social function and several small programs are given during each term.

Officers for this year are as follows: Miss Kiehl, advisor; Virginia Dean, president; Mary Francis, vice-president; Marian Fuller, secretary; Virginia Holm, treasurer.

Stuart Chase, engaged for Feb. 22, is a noted economist and author of "Men and Machines" and "Machines Presenting Important Facts on the machine age and its influence." BAND DRILLS FOR FALL TERM WORK

Will Make Initial Appearance at Grinnell Game Saturday Afternoon.

The Michigan State college band is rapidly being rounded into shape this week by Director Leonard Falcione. Although outdoor drills have been considerably hampered by inclement weather conditions, indoor practice sessions are being held each afternoon on a temporary basis.

The drills are again under the supervision of Capt. F. B. Crabb of the military staff. Special formations are being planned for the game with the University of Michigan next week. In addition to the trip to Ann Arbor, the band will travel with the team to Detroit for the closing game of the schedule.

Story of Spain.
TOLD BY SWAIN.
ber. Admission prices run from 40 cents to $4. (No sales tax.) Madrid, although possessing about the same population as Detroit, does not give one the impression of being a large metropolis, due principally to the fact that skyscrapers are lacking. The tallest building is 12 stories and the average is about five floors.

Night Clubs Are Popular.
Bullfighting seems to be the favorite national sport in Spain, although soccer and tennis are gradually coming to the front. Golf is not very popular. The chief amusement of the young bloods is the night clubs, which draw many of them every evening. Most of the clubs, however, are open-air affairs, much like the beer gardens of Germany—and America. A wall surrounds a lot of tables and a dance floor, and within their semi-enclosure the Spanish young men spend many a happy evening. Wine is the most common of the beverages, although American tourists have made beer salable. Coffee is considered a luxury in Spain, and if you offer to buy the drinks for a native, that will invariably be his choice. A slice of lemon is often served with water at the hotels and restaurants, not for making your own lemonade, but for removing the flat taste of the water.

The public school system in Spain is somewhat backward, but is rapidly being improved. Grades 1 to 6 are called the primary school. After finishing there, the student enters the "lyceum" which runs from the 6th grade up to what would correspond with our junior colleges. It is more than a high school, since the student receives instruction in philosophy, logic, ethics, psychology, higher mathematics, etc., and the average age of graduation from the lyceum is 22 years.

American Made Movies.
Motion pictures in Spain are popular. Most of the productions being shown are American-made. The majority of them are talking pictures, spoken in English, with Spanish subtitles accompanying the spoken dialog. Some pictures are produced in Buenos Aires, and these use the Spanish language.

Swain's time in the Santander district was spent mingling with the Spanish peasants, talking with friends and relatives of the late author, Pereda, and acquainting himself with the settings of his many novels. Besides this, he spent a great amount of time in the two excellent libraries of Santander. This city was the home of Pereda, and Swain gained valuable information from members of the immediate family of the author.

THE FRIENDLY SPANARD

Particularly characteristic of the Spaniards is their friendliness and courtesy. Swain had no trouble at all in securing interviews with many noted Spanish contemporary writers, in fact appointments were even unnecessary. So friendly are the Spaniards that when traveling on train, they think nothing of offering absolute strangers a share of their lunch.

American Italian and French-made automobiles predominate in Spain, with the number of American cars about equalling the other two. The United States is well represented by a quantity of Ford, Chevrolet, Buick and Plymouth, as well as Buicks and Packards; the French cars are chiefly the Citroen and Renault, while the Italian vehicles are the Fiat and Hispano-Suiza. Some model of the latter selling for around $15,000. Spain has no automobile manufacturing concerns of its own, although it does have an assembly plant.

Prefers U. S. for Residence.
"All in all," declared Swain, "I was very much pleased with everything. The country in general appears to be very prosperous, although it falls behind the United States in some things, especially in agriculture. I much prefer the United States as a permanent residence," he continued, "although I would like to spend a year or two at a time in Spain."

This was Swain's first excursion to that country, but he intends to revisit it at least twice more, as he estimates that he will require two more trips before being able to complete his biography of Pereda. Buena noches. I much prefer the United States as a permanent residence," he continued, "although I would like to spend a year or two at a time in Spain."

Granger smokes right in a pipe
