The J-Hop Price Cut

Many rumors circulate the true price of the band secured for the J-Hop this year. As usual those who are "in the know" have stipulated amounts varying from $650 to $750 as the booking fee, the definite price, however, as divulged by those who made the final arrangements, is $700—still a very economical figure.

NOTED CHOIR TO SING IN LANSING

Renowned St. Olaf Lutheran Singers Will Appear at Prudden Auditorium an. 24.

The St. Olaf Lutheran choir, America's foremost "capella" choir, will make its initial appearance in this vicinity in recent years when it appears at the Prudden auditorium in Lansing on the evening of January 24.

The St. Olaf Lutheran choir is the pioneer "capella" organization in America, having toured annually since 1911, both in the United States and abroad. In 1930 they presented 40 concerts before brilliant European audiences, and their singing has inspired the organization of similar choral groups throughout the country.

Press comments of the choir have been most favorable. Said the St. Louis Globe: "To one who has followed the St. Olaf choir programs for almost a decade, its coming annually becomes somewhat of a routine matter. That is because, under F. Melius Christensen, that choir is so perfect. One attends some other concert, on a gambler's chance, as if it were the essay proves an adventure. Never with St. Olaf's. A decade of such programs leaves no memory of any musical mishap. For years the genius who has directed that choir has achieved as near perfection as is humanly possible."

LECTURE CANCELLED

Joseph Auslander, lecturer-poet, scheduled to appear here January 22, has just undergone an emergency operation and has cancelled all engagements, it was learned from Prof. W. W. Johnston, head of the Lecture Course committee yesterday. No substitute has been selected as yet, and it is hoped that Auslander can speak here at a later date. If he cannot appear, a substitute will be booked.

In the past it was customary for the class presidents to negotiate personally with musical prospects. Whether that individual was qualified or not, he assumed full responsibility for the contracts. And as the aftermath there arose complaints of partiality, incompetency and graft.

To remedy the situation, a college bureau was established last year under the direction of C. O. Wilkins, present treasurer, to act as intermediary between the class officer and the band agencies. Now the former submits a half dozen desirable prospects to Mr. Wilkins, who became acquainted with orthodox procedure through a brief career in that field, and allows the school office to accept the best bid. The minimum prices secured on last season's parties and on this year's J-Hop contract are evidence of the system's efficiency. D. V. C.

The Spartan Spoofer

SOFT LIGHTS

The fall season opens tonight with a two month siege ahead and campus playboys and queens will disport themselves to the strains of the best bands in the country as the social highlights of the school year come off with rapid regularity. The Engineers offer Paul Specht of Inaugural ball fame and a maximum of highly technical lighting. Blue Key will bring a good out-of-town band to the armory at a remarkable low figure, the J-Hop will mark the peak of social cruising with the celebrated Anson Weeks, unique decorations and lighting, and original favors, the Varsity party will again seek to rival the Hop, uniformed officers, resplendent in olive-drab, shiny leather and glittering brass, will frolic at the biggest closed party of the year, the seniors will follow with the invincible blond Larrier leading the parade, and the sophs are already in a serious Luddle over their prom. Just one night each—a few hours of swanky recreation—but it's remarkable how long the memories will linger. And so we'll still sacrifice a lot for a good party.

J-HOP

With the booking of Anson Weeks, a quality maestro who can drop in any time at the Aragon, Trianon, Waldorf-Astoria, and several California hotspots, and get a return invitation, the juniors ended their worrying over musical attraction. In addition, the J-Hoppers under Freddy Ziegl have more than a few good ideas about decorative schemes, favors and programs. BUT—ticket sales will be definitely limited (at a lower price than last year's), so those who really intend to revel at the snappiest event of the term should grab the duets while they're grabbable.

ADD—J-HOP

The cut in the Hop price this season is the result of several weeks of haggling with orchestra agencies, with C. O. Wilkins, college comptroller and former trouper, in the heat of the fray. Selection was limited considerably by contracts that bound many of the musical elite to their own halls and by demands for fees that would normally bring Whiteman and Garber together, with the Prince of Wales as crooner, so far as we're concerned, the decision to import Anson Weeks is one that makes for economy in price without economy in quality, and incidentally puts the Hop on a par with its more glamorous predecessors.

BLUE KEY

In past years, the junior honors was content to throw the first formal of the season, with unimpressive accessories. This time, however, they've decided not to stress the date and are planning instead an up to the minute open formal with the 119th armory in full bloom for the occasion and a popular importation to furnish the melody. Prior to the torchlight procession, the actives will sup regally at Hunt's. And in case you're in the dark about it, the date is just one week ahead—Friday the 25th.

THIS TIME—

The ghost that is Sherwood Anderson, another Ohio boy who made good by rapping at the big city and its evils with rustic rhetoric. At one time, Anderson said quite a bit in a few simple (very) words, but then he decided to string along with Mr. Dreiser and reform the weakening world, with the result that now he resembles a poet in the throes of schizophrenia. But he's not out of place in this column—it's yours, Sherwood.

When I reached Beaumont tower I stopped and sat down on the stone ledge in front. It is a comfortable seat, I thought, even if it is of stone. In front of the tower there is a little bed of low shrubbery. "I suppose that's ivy," I said. My companion looked up. "Maybe it is," he said. "I don't know. Anyway, you're supposed to walk around it." My companion was a student. He looked young for a college student, but he said that was all right, all college students are young. He said that it was a good idea to finish young so that you had a chance to get a job before you got old and decrepit. He was cynical, but perhaps he won't be cynical later on. After all, he is young. Beyond the ivy patch there is a long green slope covered with mellow old trees. They looked like a grove. I had known in my bygone. Once I had got lost in the grove. It was night and I had thought, "What if I should die here before morning?" I had been terrified. But this campus grove looked peaceful and inviting. It looked like a park. "That looks like a park," I said. My companion shrugged his shoulders. "No," he said, "that's the Forest of Arden." He ran his fingers through his hair. His hair was a sort of golden brown, but in the setting dusk it looked almost black. He was speaking again.

M. S. C. Chorus Presents Patton With Second Gift

Group of Two Hundred Show Appreciation for Director; Men's Glee Club Makes Plans for Winter Term.

For the second time since his appointment as director of the chorus, Prof. Fred Patton, head of the voice department, received an appreciation gift from the Michigan State College Chorus. This year's gift was an electric clock and was presented to Professor Patton at the meeting of the chorus last Wednesday.

Neil Wadsworth, president of the Men's Glee club, made the presentation speech and Marian McKee, pianist for both the chorus and glee club, presented the gift to the director. Most of the chorus, which is composed of more than 200 men and women students, were present.

The M. S. C. Men's Glee club, which now has 76 members, is making many plans for this term, including several out-of-town trips, numerous broadcasts on the college radio station, and a half hour program during Farmers' Week.

Definite announcement will be in the near future of the club's trips for this term. Several alumni clubs in various parts of the state have announced their intentions of inviting the glee club to make appearances in different cities, but definite plans have not been completed.

It is expected that the glee club will give a series of programs on station WKAR, the college radio station, before the end of winter term. Station WJIM of Lansing has asked for a return engagement of the club.

This year's glee club officers are: President, Neil Wadsworth, '35; first vice president, Douglas Craig, '35; second vice president, John Baxter, '36; secretary, Edgar White, '36; business manager and treasurer, Merrill Lemmon, '35; assistant business managers, Carl Jorgensen, '35, and Mark Lewis, '37; librarians, Robert Pierson, '35, and William Ingleson, '38.

Following is a complete list of glee club members for winter term: First tenors—Carl Benton, Arthur Bonine, Duane Burton, Richard Clark, Edward Colwell, Douglas Craig, Paul DeKemp, Ed Hamilton, Carleton Eldridge, Joseph Roe, Duane Metcalf, Ralph Rose, Robert Pierson and Paul Stevenson. Second tenors—John Baxter, William Chandler, Laurence Hamilton, Dale Henning, Norman Hockenburg, J. L. Harrie, William Ingleson, Harold Jayne, John Kraus, Paul Kyberz, Herman Lipskowitz, Ira Murray, Robert Noel, Ralph Orcutt, Victor Smith, Robert Trembath, Lowell Sundstrom and Victor Bielinski.

First basses—Robert Bash, James Chaffield, Seymour Edgerton, Walter Heston, Max Kerr, Merrill Lemmon, Mark Lewis, Robert Loft, Homer McKay, Byron Miller, Charles Noble, Richard Oberhaute, Edwin O'Boyle, Gerald Owen, George Pearce, Prosper Pesek, Vincent Skinner, Marston Warsaw, Donald Wettlauffer, William Ryan, David Rure, Edgar White and Donald Wright. Second basses—Paul Aldrich, Clarence Boonstra, Burrill Brown, Earl Bruner, Richard Chapman, Merlin Crane, Robert Carpenter, Harold Fairbanks, William Gladstone, Vernon Holmberg, Carl Jorgensen, Richard Knudsen, Alvah Miller, Richard O'Dell, Gerhart Wacker, Neil Wadsworth, John Wortman, James Wooton, Elton Powell and John Adriance.

The afternoon session held on Thursday, January 31, again in the gymnasium, Chester A. Davis, administrator for the agricultural adjustment administration, will present the main topic for the afternoon meeting. During the Thursday night gathering at the armory, C. L. Brody, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture and J. A. Hannah will be speakers of the evening.

In the homemakers section, the women will be given an opportunity to hear such experts as Dr. Abby Marlett, chairman of courses in home economics for the University of Wisconsin, who will address the 10:45 meeting, which will be held in the Little Theatre of the Home Economics building, on "Glimpses of Danish Homes and Danish Folk Schools."

At 6:30 Tuesday evening in the Union building, "Looking Forward With the Farm Family" will be the main address, given by Miss Grace Frysinger, senior home economist, with the extension service of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. At 9:30 Thursday, Miss O'Brien will speak again on "Government Aids the Consumer."

At 10:45 Thursday forenoon in the Little theatre a talk on "A Fair Deal in Nutrition" will be given by Miss Lelia McGuire, director of nutrition service for the state emergency welfare relief commission of Michigan. Tarni P. Sinha, Indian graduate student at University of Michigan and an associate of Gandhi in India, will speak on "Gandhi's Religion" to members and guests of C. U. at its regular meeting on Sunday evening, January 20. All college students are welcome.

Glancing Back In Spartan Annals

Five Years Ago—Jan. 18, 1930 The condition of Miss Elida Yakely, registrar, who suffered almost fatal injuries in an accident November 4 at Buffalo, continues to improve slowly but without doubt.

Keen competition was shown in the inter-sorority bowling tournament held December 7 at the Rainbow and Olympic alleys. The Kappa Deltas captured the cup for the second year in succession by rolling a total of 1663 pins, averaging 110.2. Sesame ranked with a score of 606 pins and an average of 100.4.

Ten Years Ago—Jan. 19, 1925 On registration day The Green Onion made its first appearance on the campus. It is intended by the editors that this publication shall be printed once each month during the college year and their first effort tends to support their conviction that further numbers will be forthcoming.

Fifteen Years Ago—Jan. 16, 1920 The total enrollment of 325 for the winter term short course is the largest in the history of the college. Short course men this year must take physical and military training in addition to the regular work. Later courses will be given in truck and tractor, beekeeping and gardening.

The millennium is not quite here but has almost arrived, according to Wells hallites, for hot water in Wells is assured. When the students came back to their rooms winter term they discovered little holes in the floors, and now they are patiently waiting for the pipes. The only thorn in the flesh is the fear that this is the beginning of the end. "Does this mean that the girls are to have possession of Wells next year?" is the question they are asking. The Wells gang cannot believe that after all these years of waiting, hot water has at last come—and is only for men.

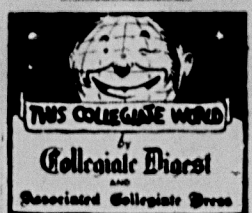

The girls of M. A. C. are given a "co-ed room" in the new gymnasium on Friday evening, January 23. The dance is to be an all-girl dance under the management of the girls' student council.

Twenty-five Years Ago—Jan. 18, 1910

One of the most hotly contested games ever played on the local floor was played last Friday evening between the home team and the Spalding team from Detroit. The visiting squad is one of the champion teams of the state, and had been in practice some two months, but we put another plum into our pockets by a score of 20 to 18.

Thirty Years Ago—Jan. 17, 1905

Isn't it laughable to see the other fellow tumble? The walks during the past few days have been in good shape for slipping. Hours for callers at the Woman's building will be from 5 to 6 every day during this term. The building will be closed to callers after supper except on Friday and Saturday, which remain calling evenings as heretofore.

Anybody knows that a good proportion of the conversation among members of one sex is about members of the other sex.

Young women in a writing seminar at Wellesley college were enough interested in each other's opinions about men to take a written canvass of the class in order to determine each girl's qualifications for her "ideal man." One list, that of a brilliant poetess, includes these points:

- 1. He must take a woman as a person, not as a woman.
2. He must be honorable.
3. He must be tolerant in every way—this is most important.
4. He must have a broad interest (character, social ease, intelligence).

Another young author's list was very short:

- 1. He must be generous.
2. He must be ambitious.
3. He should be gracious—the sort of graciousness that goes with a pipe and tweeds.
4. He should be helpless at times.
5. He must be a real person—three-fourths of all men have only a superficial knowledge of life.
6. He doesn't have to have a "moral" character.

Strangely, not one of the girls mentioned wealth or social position. After the answers were read in the class, a visiting married woman asked for the floor and declared: "You girls have been picturing saints, not men. In the first place, he should be intensely masculine. Then he should be broad-minded—that's about all you can ask."

ENGINEERS' BALL WILL FEATURE SPECHT'S MUSIC

Patrons for the ball this evening will be Dean and Mrs. H. B. Dirks, Prof. and Mrs. H. S. Reed, Prof. and Mrs. L. F. Foltz, and Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Allen. Honored guests are President and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkins, Secretary and Mrs. John A. Hannah, and Dean Elisabeth Conrad.

John F. Randall, '35, of Detroit, is general chairman of the affair. He has been assisted by R. W. Warren, Paul DeKoning, D. Pettigill, L. Plastring, and R. E. Hall, members of the committee on general arrangements, together with Alex Collier, publicity chairman, E. E. Ellwood, decorations chairman, Herbert Robey, program chairman, and Gary Morgan, ticket chairman. Programs have been distributed today from the Union desk, and will not be obtainable this evening at the Masonic Temple.

Very Technical Engineers' Ball to Open Spartan Formal Season Here Tonight With Paul Specht

The Engineers' ball tonight, with Paul Specht and his nationally famous band, and decorations resembling the technical ideal of civilization, promises to be one of the most unique and brilliant formal parties of the season. The Masonic temple in Lansing will be decorated for the occasion with designs of slide rules, squares, transits, and other engineering devices, and projections of gears and other instruments of the machine age, made by electrical projection machines on the floor and ceiling.

Other features of the decorations for the Engineers' ball are indirect lighting effects, and a false ceiling. Programs for the ball are black and white, with a black woodcut of an arc welder on rough white paper for the cover, and are tied with black cord. A Michigan State student designed the programs, and engineers are carrying out the decorations for the ball, thereby making it an exceedingly original and engineering party.

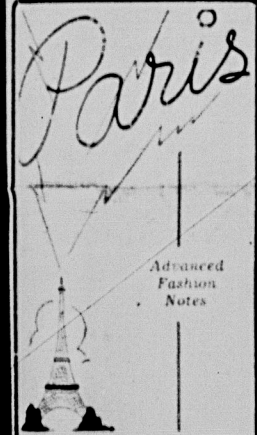

Other features of this social week-end are the Kappa Kappa Gamma winter term formal dinner dance in the main ballroom of the Hotel Olds Saturday night, and a Sigma Nu open house and three radio parties also on Saturday night.

ART SHORTS

Beta Alpha Sigma, honorary art society, wishes to announce that it is sponsoring an art exhibit which is to be held on the third floor of the Union in the faculty dining room.

The exhibit will be put up and ready for your inspection on Monday, January 21, and will remain until February 7. The exhibit will consist of landscapes with water color and pencil techniques, oil paintings, life drawings, commercial work, and clay modeling.

This display is made up entirely of work done by the junior and senior members of the landscape and art departments on this campus.

Beta Alpha Sigma, honorary landscape and allied arts fraternity, includes students from several divisions of the college. It is made up of students in art, architecture, landscape architecture and floriculture. The organization is open to any student in these departments having a B average in either his major or minor subjects. Beta Alpha Sigma is rather unusual in the fact that it does include students from each of these four departments.

The fraternity now includes 21 members, 12 of whom were initiated at the close of fall term. Those who took initiation at that time are Marian Andros, Norene Anson, Anna Mae Childs, Bruce Fox, Alfred Green, Edward Morris, Louise Muncie, Paul Robe, Mrs. Irene Wilson, John Wortman, Alice Wrigglesworth and Russell Hurd. The fraternity had its first meeting of the term last week and is planning an interesting program of work for this and next term.

The Arnold Scheele Beta Alpha Sigma award, a valuable oil painting, executed and donated annually by Professor Scheele, is to be presented each year by Beta Alpha Sigma to that senior student majoring in architecture, floriculture, landscape architecture or art, who has proven to be the most outstanding for his or her scholarship, achievements and activities, always in the field of the arts.

This award is not limited to members of Beta Alpha Sigma. The proposed committee on awards is to be made up of Miss Katherine Winkler of the art department, Professor Wildon of the floriculture department, and Professor Halligan of the landscape architecture department, together with a junior representative of each division represented in Beta Alpha Sigma to be selected annually in a meeting of that organization.

King George Compliments Tenor Who Will Sing Here

Roland Hayes, Noted Negro Singer, Caused Famed Soprano, Nellie Melba, to Receive Extraordinary Royal Command.

By CHESTER BUKOSKI

Roland Hayes, the noted negro tenor, who is to sing here next week, unwittingly caused the unforgettable Nellie Melba to receive an extraordinary royal command.

After the American tenor, a newcomer to England, had sung at a command performance before King George, Queen Mary, and Princess Mary, the royal couple attended a concert by Melba. During an intermission, they summoned the great coloratura to their box and congratulated her on her splendid performance. Then his majesty said:

"Have you heard Roland Hayes?"

Dame Melba's face registered her unfamiliarity with the name. "He is a great artist," the king went on. "You must find and hear him at once."

Traditionally, a royal statement like that is a command. Dame Melba set out on the trail of the American. With characteristic modesty, Hayes had supposed that no one in particular would care to know his whereabouts, so Melba had difficulty in discovering any trace of him.

Eventually the great soprano located the American through the British song writer, Roger Quilter. She and the composer arranged with a noted music lover, Frank Schuster, to have a party in honor of Hayes at the Schuster estate in Maidenhead, with herself among a group of other prominent musician guests. On this occasion, she explained to Hayes that it was the king's command for her to find him and hear him sing. Naturally he responded. And Dame Melba agreed with the royal verdict.

The famous and influential soprano later gave a party of her own at which she introduced the tenor to many celebrities. By opening the way for introductions on the continent, Melba was influential, too, in establishing Hayes as a concert artist in Europe.

One of the proudest possessions of Roland Hayes today is a photograph of Nellie Melba, autographed to him with a quotation of the king's statement:

"To Hayes—You are a great artist."

Men Taboo When Co-eds Hold Prom

Choose Advertising as Theme for Annual Party.

Everything from the Fisher Body girl to "Aunt Jemima, with Pepsodent toothpaste, and "Time to Retire" in between will be represented when the Co-ed Prom gets under way at the gym annex Thursday night, January 24, at 8. The party will be an advertising display worthy of the pages in the Saturday Evening Post, with each girl or group of girls coming as an advertisement.

Incidentally, it will be "time to retire" early for Michigan State men that night, because no man will be allowed at the prom, which is traditionally a co-ed affair. Extensive precautionary measures will be taken to keep all men out, since in the past some have been so intrigued with the idea of the co-ed party that they have tried to disguise their sex to be admitted.

Preparations for the Co-ed Prom this year are in charge of Virginia Kamps, and committees of freshman counselors and Panhellenic members. Following are the committees: Refreshments, Marion Andros, chairman; Nan Gallery, Virginia Lyon and Betty Gilray; program, Ruth Martin, chairman; Wilma Wagenvoort and Edith Johnson; orchestra, Virginia Taggart, publicity, Dorothy Langdon, chairman; Marjorie Kidder, Virginia Taggart.

The number of college students in the United States has increased approximately 900 per cent since 1900, while the population of the country has increased only 63 per cent.

State Theatre Previews

Friday and Saturday—"Anne of Green Gables," starring Ann Shirley and Tom Brown.

Sunday and Monday—"The Gay Divorcee," starring Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edward Everett Horton, and Alice Brady.

In the story Fred meets Ginger under strange circumstances and chases her in an effort to clinch their romance. She runs because she loves him and, finally, through mistaken identity, she issues him a strange invitation which results in a conglomerate mixup of loves and romance and people in one hotel suite. The cast includes Horton as a dumb English barrister, Alice Brady who causes him to try every device to avoid marrying her, and Eric Rhodes as the mean husband.

Tuesday—"The First World War," secret films from the nations' archives, edited by Laurence Stallings, as suggested by the book of the same name.

The picture has been selected from the motion picture libraries of the nations and brings to life the horror scenes shown in the book. The film starts with the events leading up to the war. Then the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand in Sarajevo, the volcano bursting in Europe and America finally being drawn into it.

Van Faassen and Garlock Star for Green and White as Morstadt is Held to Two Field Goals; Huge Crowd Views Game.

By HARRY WISMER

Led by Arn Van Faassen and Ron Garlock, Michigan State's fighting basketball team eked out a well deserved victory over Bill Chandler's Marquette five by the narrow margin of 30 to 29 at Demonstration hall Thursday evening in a contest packed with thrills and one which had the fans on their feet cheering for over half the game.

It was VanFaassen's one handed pivot shot, with but 30 second remaining, which finally spelled defeat for the Golden Avalanche. Van had previously scored on four similar shots, all of which came at crucial moments, but this final counter gave State its one point edge, and victory. Garlock also proved to be a hero, holding the great Morstadt to two field goals and bagging ten points for himself. His play all during the fray was spectacular.

The game started slowly with both clubs missing several shots close in. Morstadt opened scoring festivities by counting from the foul line. This was soon nullified, however, as Garlock went on a little scoring rampage all his own, chalking up two free throws and a field goal within a minute. From here on until two minutes before half time the Spartans managed to hold a slim lead.

At this point Ehrig, Marquette's rangy center, broke through for two dog shots and coupled with Morstadt's two markers from the foul line gave the Hilltoppers an 18 to 15 lead. With but 15 seconds before half time Garlock then leaped high in the air and intercepted a Marquette pass, and with a beautiful underhand sweep, flipped a short pass to Herrick who counted while traveling at top speed. A few seconds later the gun went off ending the first half. Score: Marquette 18, State 17.

The second half opened with both teams fighting madly for the edge. Van Faassen scored first, however, as a result of a pretty pass from Herrick. Morstadt then scored his second and last field goal of the evening on a hook shot from just outside the foul circle, throwing his team in the lead once more. Rouse tied it up seconds later on a neat toss from the foul line. Spence Rogers was now in the game for State, having been substituted for Danny Beck, who had been digging up the ball in his usual manner and passing well.

For the next ten minutes the score see-sawed back and forth, and with everything square at 24 all Rasmussen, Marquette guard, fouled for the fourth and last time and the dependable Garlock was awarded two more chances from the charmed circle. He made both good, and following the next tip off he scored again on a pretty shot from the field, thereby putting his team four points to the good.

Joe Smith, one of the heroes of the Western Reserve game, replaced Rouse at guard. As Mike left the floor the crowd gave him a great ovation as a reward for his fine play.

But two minutes remained to play when Bob Herrick dove five feet through empty space to block a close in shot from Rubado in one of the prettiest pieces of defensive play seen in this section in years. Ehrig and Casterson scored in rapid succession, however, once more tying up the count, this time at 28 all. With both teams angling for an opening, Morstadt was fouled. His attempt was successful, giving Marquette a one point lead. Van Faassen then tipped the ball back to Herrick, who in turn passed to Smith, and with a pretty piece of maneuvering Smith passed to Van Faassen who alluded Ehrig for the fifth time and scored, giving State victory and revenge over the university from Milwaukee.

STUDENTS INVITED TO Y. M. C. A. LECTURE

(Continued from page 1) ... the first centuries after Christ. Students will find this inspiring as well as useful in giving them a glimpse of the possibility of attaining a high ideal through the years.

The lecture will be held at 8:00 p. m. Sunday, in room 105 of the Hollister building. All students are invited.

GIVE TRAINING IN BADMINTON

Co-eds Offered Opportunity to Learn About Game From Athletic Department.

Along with the various other sports listed for W. A. A. activities, Miss Parker of the physical education department is very anxious to start the game of badminton. This game has become very popular in the east and it is gradually spreading to Michigan. There is much interest in it already in Flint and Ann Arbor, also there are teams in Lansing. If there are any girls interested in the game, they are urged to let Miss Parker know at once. If enough girls show interest in this growing sport, it will be listed on the W. A. A. activity list, and points will be given for it. The first practice will be next Thursday from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The DOPE FIEND

By HARRY WISMER

"Dope" Burhans, boxing coach at State, comes through with the welcome statement that this year the men of Sparta will have a boxing team. Any of you rough and tumble boys who like to mix it up are asked to see Burhans and put on the gloves. Outstanding men who have reported so far are Lou "Duke" Zarza, college middleweight champion and the athlete who has held down the left end for Charley Bachman for the last two years. Ray Aldrich, college heavyweight champ, Barman and Voochell, former light heavyweights, A. A. U. champ of New York. Meets have already been scheduled with Wisconsin and Wayne universities and other engagements will be disclosed at a later date.

OUTLOOK POOR FOR TRACKMEN

Loss of Men Through Graduation and Injuries Will Cause Many Vacancies.

Prospects of a winning track team at State this year are not very bright, according to Coach Ralph Young. Loss of several stars through graduation, failure of some other hopefuls to keep abreast of their classroom work, and injuries of several men which were sustained in football may prevent the Spartans from living up to the name they have made for themselves in track circles.

Lost from last year's team either by graduation or by virtue of their completing three years of competition are Andrew Cobb, Roger Keast, Otto Pongrace and Ken Warren, all middle distance runners, and Art Buss and Bernard McNutt, shot putters. Bechtold and Dennis are scholastically ineligible, while Warmheim and Agett, hurdlers, are handicapped by football injuries. There is little chance that either of these boys will be available during the winter season. Alvin Jackson, was among the missing when Coach Young went over the list of volunteers.

But Coach Young and his two assistants, Mike Casted and Lauren Brown, believe that they can still patch together a pretty fair array of talent. Capt. Wes Hurd, Tom Otley, Nelson Gardner, and John Hammer are four long distance runners of known ability who may be welded into a fine four-mile relay team. Jack Berry, a sophomore from New York, is another possibility for the long runs.

Robert Kibby, a junior, is back in the harness after a year's lay-off. Kibby will be a strong contender for the sprint events. Willie Hart, another who was on the injured list last year, is well known as a sprint man. Allen, Pearsall, Quilan, Uckele are the pole vault prospects. Two football men are, Archie Ross and Don Wiseman, will join Ten Eyck in the shot put brigade with prospects only fair.

Carl Mueller is the best hurdler to show up for practice so far, but Dick Colina is rapidly improving. In the 440-yard field there are many weaknesses. Frank Hoff is hampered by the effects of a recent illness, and John Mann and Doc Weaver are about average. The half miler consist of Edger-tonfi Clark, and Agusbach, none of whom have ever won any special mention.

Football lectures began today for all graders, whether they be big or small. Freshman or senior, letterman or non-program winner, Coach Charley Bachman will conduct these lectures which are to be held daily except Saturday and Sunday in the gym lecture room. Football instruction from every angle will be discussed and diagrammed and all who have any football aspirations at all are urged to attend. Roll will be taken.

State's victory over Marquette was the second one point victory scored by the Spartans having defeated Western Reserve in a 34 to 23 thriller last Saturday evening. The Marquette victory was very sweet indeed to Coach Ben Van Abstyne and his men as Marquette last winter eked out a couple of victories over the Spartans.

Here are a few interesting statistics on Thursday night's battle: For Marquette, the great Morstadt scored two field goals on 20 attempts for a grand average of 10 per cent, while for State Ron Garlock not only made good on four out of four attempts from the foul line but also counted on three out of seven shots from the field, in addition to guarding Morstadt. Team averages were almost even, however, with State's team scoring ten goals from the field; State had 48 shots and Marquette attempted 48.

BOWLERS

The independent bowling league, with games to be scheduled by L. L. Frimodig of the college athletic department, will begin their matches on Thursday, January 24. The Delta Sigma Phi and Phi Delta Theta fraternities have entered in the league, and all others who are interested in forming a team from fraternity members or students living in rooming houses are requested to get in touch with Steve McCris at the Rainbow Recreation as soon as possible. All matches will be bowled at the Rainbow alleys.

Mrs. Collin's Eldest Son, Fendley, Is Expert on Mat

Coach Collins, Husky Product of Oklahoma, Had a Spotless Record as a College Grant and Groom Artist.

By BOB BURHANS

From the dusty plains of Oklahoma, favored cynosure of Will Rogers, home of the much-publicized Murray national guard, and birthplace of many a crack wrestler, comes Michigan State's capable wrestling coach, Fendley A. Collins. To be more exact, he hails from Hendrick, Okla., and along in 1923 he matriculated at Oklahoma A and M, the first of four Collins brothers to make athletic history at the Sooner institution.

After enjoying a successful high school wrestling career, it was only natural that he should pursue the collegiate sport. While a freshman, he never lost a bout. His sophomore year started with him playing football in a line position but he soon was taking his daily workout on the mat. Collins' first year in collegiate competition witnessed his rise to the championship of the Missouri valley conference in the 175 pound division, going on later to capture third in the national meet at the same weight. The following year he not only cleaned up all competition in the conference but he annexed the Canadian national championship at Vancouver, this year wrestling at 158 pounds.

In 1927, Collins' final year in college, he played fullback on the football team that won the conference title. Back to the roped mats he made a clean sweep of all opponents in the middle weight class and then went on to win the national crown and so clinch a rare, successful college career. Collins never lost a bout while in college. In addition, he won his letter in track by running the hurdles.

The next year he was snapped up for a high school coaching job at Guthrie, Okla., and in '29 he tutored the prep grapplers in Cushing to state championships in four classes. After a two year sojourn in the coaching field, Collins tried his hand in the professional game but remained in the paid sport only long enough to realize that a coaching job is far superior and so accepted an offer to guide the destinies of the Spartan wrestling program.

Fendley was followed through A and M by three illustrious brothers who also knifed the name of the clan of Collins into a trenchant light. The four brothers, between them, won 25 letters for athletic achievement, and last fall, when the youngest had graduated, was the first time in 11 years that a Collins is not out for a sport at Oklahoma A and M.

During the five years that Collins has coached the matmen at State, his charges have won 16 and lost 11 matches. Indiana university is the only school that has not been defeated while Michigan has been trounced twice during the regime which includes last Saturday's drubbing. He considers the season of '32 the most fruitful, when the Green and White chuchers triumphed on four different occasions, while losing a lone meet to Indiana, which went on that year to win the national collegiate team title.

Going into his sixth year at State, Collins has hopes for an undefeated season and in view of the Wolverine upset sees his hopes having a possibility. The coach is a big man and ever today is capable of throwing any of his mal progers. A story is told that during his student days at A and M, he was unable to take cavalry because the supply sergeant didn't carry a pair of puttees large enough to encircle his stocky legs.

NATIONAL SPORT SUMMARY

By JACK WARNER

George Lott and Lester Stoefen, whose names appeared in this column a few days ago, and who are among the newest members of the professional tennis ranks, have found barnstorming a lot more profitable than the amateur game ever was. Fame and glory have just about been forgotten. In their first week in the racket racket they earned more than $6,000 and they and their companions who are presenting the exhibitions are well on their way to setting a new high for gate receipts in the tennis field.

Lott and Stoefen, who have teamed up with Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, have engaged the famous Bill O'Brien as their promoter. They made a contract with O'Brien to take a cut of the gross receipts amounting to about 12 per cent each. From six eastern exhibitions the former doubles champions have made as much as a lot of people make in a year.

Because they had "individualistic ideas on training," Tom regularly and one substitute were suspended by Coach Franklyn Cappon, coach of the University of Michigan's basketball team.

The suspension benched Capt. Al Plummer, George Rudness, Chelo Tamagno, John Jablonski, and Jack Tietelbaum.

His quiet, unassuming air is left behind as he takes a class in hand and demonstrates the proper method on how to "bust 'em to the mat." Collins takes material of any caliber and through a definite course of training, he builds teams that make Spartan followers proud of them. He is a fine asset to the institution, a highly proficient coach in his line, and most important, he is well liked by all who come within the sphere of his influence.

YEARLING CAGERS WIN OPENING TILT

Coming from behind twice during the game, State's yearling basketball team defeated Grand Rapids Junior college 27 to 23 in the first scheduled game Wednesday.

At half time Grand Rapids had a 10 to 6 lead. The spirited fresh started out the second half with a rush that had the Grand Rapids lads bewildered. Dropping them in from every position on the floor, the Spartans had a one point lead near the end of the game when Labonoski tied the score after a State foul.

When the overtime period started, Grand Rapids made two baskets to take a four point lead, and the freshmen saw their chances of an opening game victory fading away. They opened up a driving attack and in three minutes looped in four goals from the field.

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago—
 —throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

They came looking for gold ... but they found tobacco

... and tobacco has been like gold ever since! The tobacco raised in Virginia and exchanged for goods helped the struggling colonists to get a foothold when they came to America.

Later on, it was tobacco that helped to clothe and feed Washington's brave army at Valley Forge.

Today it is tobacco that helps—more than any other commodity raised in this country—to pay the expense of running our Government.

In the fiscal year 1933-34 the Federal Government collected $425,000,000 from the tax on tobacco. Most of this came from cigarettes—six cents tax on every package of twenty.

Yes, the cigarette helps a lot—and it certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure. Smokers have several reasons for liking Chesterfields. For one thing, Chesterfields are milder. For another thing, they taste better. They Satisfy.

Early Colonial planters shipped hundreds of pounds of tobacco to England in return for goods and supplies.
