M.S.C. SYMPHONY WILL PRESENT THIRD CONCERT

Orchestra to Offer Final Number Here Tomorrow Night.

PATTON TO BE SOLOIST

Michael Press Will Conduct Student Musicians in Recital in Gymnasium.

The third in this season's Michigan State college symphony orchestra series of concerts will be presented Wednesday night in the college gymnasium at 7:30. The orchestra will be under the direction of Michael Press, and Fred Patton, baritone, will be the soloist.

The entire program will be made up of selections from the works of Richard Wagner, famous German composer, and will include two operas by Patton and three overtures by the orchestra.

It should be noted that the date of this concert has been advanced from Thursday night. Although originally scheduled for March 14, a conflict with a downtown orchestra has resulted in the switch to the Wednesday night time.

Fred Patton is highly capable of doing local music lovers opera singing at its best. He is recognized as one of the leading oratorio and opera singers in this country today. He has appeared with all of the leading symphony orchestras as one time or another. As a member of the Metropolitan Opera and other famous companies he has performed more than forty operatic roles, including those in which appear the two numbers he is to sing on Wednesday's program.

This will be the best to the date on this year's schedule. The final concert in the series will be given on April 25. Alexander Schuster will be guest conductor and Michael Press, violinist, will be the soloist.

The program for this Wednesday's concert is as follows:

- Overture to the Opera "Reinzi" M. S. C. Orchestra
- III Overture to the Opera "Lohengrin" M. S. C. Orchestra
- IV "To the Evening Star" from the opera "Tannhauser" Fred Patton
- IV Overture to the opera "Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg" M. S. C. Orchestra
- V "Wain's Farewell and the Magic Fire Music from the closing scene of the music drama, "Die Walkure" Fred Patton and M. S. C. Orchestra

YEARBOOK TO ADD NEW SUPPLEMENT

Wolverine Will Include Section of College Divisions.

The 1935 Wolverine will be six-hundred pages larger than the 1934 edition due partly to a special section devoted to the divisions of the college. Ira Murray, who is winding up the fraternity and sorority write-ups, will handle the writing end of this section, for which Carl Jorgensen is now busy collecting photographs.

The rest of the book is rapidly taking shape, 160 pages now ready for the printer, with material for the remaining half daily piling up. The art department has practically completed its contribution to the attractiveness of the volume in the selection of a cover which has recently been approved and is now in the process of production. The sports section is being given special emphasis this year, because of the fine showing made by most of the Spartan teams during the past season.

Philosophers Name A. M. DeHaan as President

Dr. John M. DeHaan of the philosophy department has been recently elected president of the philosophical section at the Academy of Arts meeting at Ann Arbor. It is an honor to Michigan State college to have one of their faculty chosen for this distinguished position, considering the number of papers that were given at the meeting. Dr. DeHaan's paper was "Some pathological manifestations of conscience."

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR CONGREVE'S FAMOUS DRAMA

"Way of World" to be Given by Theta Alpha Phi Friday Night.

ADMISSION TO BE FREE

Most Members of Cast Have Appeared in Previous Campus Plays.

"The Way of the World" is to be presented Friday evening at 7:30 in the Little theater under the direction of Prof. E. S. King. The interest which the campus "first-nighters" have shown in previous performances leads Professor King and Theta Alpha Phi to give this production free of charge.

In glancing through the cast we find that the great majority has already made its debut, a fact which is a promising sign of a big success.

Phil Schwartz of Lansing, whose talent has added so much to the dramatic performances on the campus, will be graduated this term and consequently he will make his last appearance Friday evening in the part of Farnall.

CONFERENCE IS SET FOR APRIL

Will Hold Annual Collegiate Country Life Meeting Here on April 27.

The date set for this year's annual Collegiate Country Life conference, which will take place on this campus, is Saturday, April 27. The theme chosen for this year is "What kind of rural life do young people want in Michigan and how can it be obtained?"

In past years those attending have found the program interesting and helpful. This year's program as it is now planned, promises to be of equal interest. The morning program will consist of group discussions on the following topics: "What kind of library facilities do we want and how can we get them?" in charge of Western State Teachers' college; "What opportunities in education do we want for rural young people and how can we get them?" (led by Ashland Folk School); "Rural health problems and how they can be solved" (Michigan State Normal); "How can rural economic life be made self-sufficient?" (Ingham County Normal); "How can we help young people decide upon the worthwhile use of leisure time?" (University of Michigan); "How can we develop constructive pride in our local communities?" (Central State Teachers' college); "New governmental policies and their relation to the rural community" (Michigan State college); Luncheon will be followed by reports of group discussion, of practical accomplishments, and of problems to be solved. From 3:30 to 5:30 recreation will be in charge of Ashland Folk School. Then, to top off the evening, from 6 to 12 there will be a banquet and all that goes with it. The main speaker will talk on the subject, "The Prophetic Look in Michigan."

GET OUT AND VOTE

Thursday is the day when the all-college elections for members of the Union Board, the Liberal Arts Board, the Student Council, and the publications officials will be held.

These positions are decided entirely by the ballots of the students of the college. It is not only the privilege but also the duty of the members of the student body to exercise their right of voting.

Representatives to the student council are to be elected from every class. It is important that no minority candidate is elevated to this position merely through the votes of an organized group. The possibility of such a situation being created can only be eliminated by the voting of all students.

It is to the advantage of the student body to see that the most able candidates are selected for the Union and Liberal Arts Board. These organizations control student activities and regulate the expenditures in the lecture courses.

The office of managing editor and business manager of the State News are probably two of the most important student positions on the campus. Ability to fulfill the duties of these offices should be the foremost consideration upon which to base a decision when voting for a candidate for the editorship.

Many times in the past, the feeling has been expressed among a large number of students that there is no use of going to the polls in the all-college election as the fraternity politicians have the outcome already decided. Those who share this opinion should remember that there is by far a greater number of independents than there are affiliated students in this institution. The independent vote is not subordinated to the organized vote, but it is the ballots of the unaffiliated students that actually decide the elections.

Take interest in your school. Show real school spirit. VOTE AT THE ALL-COLLEGE ELECTIONS ON THURSDAY—D. H.

OFFER CONTEST AWS FINALISTS FOR STUDENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Courier Service Sponsors Contest for Writers of Essays on New York City.

To determine the points of interest in New York City which would most appeal to college students, the Courier Service, in cooperation with the Panhellenic Home association, New York headquarters of the National Panhellenic fraternities, is sponsoring a nation-wide essay contest among men and women college students. The subject of the contest, which closes on June 15, is "What I Would Like to See When I Visit New York."

Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $15, with one week's stay at Beekman Tower included in the first prize, and week-end stays in the second and third prizes, are to be given. In addition, the Courier Service will conduct prize winners on their itineraries.

The Courier Service is an organization specializing in unusual itineraries for students of art, history, sociology and architecture.

Two hundred suggestions for the essay are given in a list prepared by the Courier Service, which may be obtained from the contest headquarters, Beekman Tower, 3 Mitchell Place, New York. The contest entrant is asked to select an itinerary for a week's visit to New York and to write an essay covering this itinerary. The suggestion-list compiled by the Courier Service includes New York landmarks such as buildings, universities, foreign districts, the waterfront, churches, zoos, parks and museums, as well as general and specific topics such as the "lowery, the Ghetto, a Chinese temple, the theatrical district, "snuggly" markets, building murals, etc.

Persons need never have visited New York to enter the contest. Essays will be judged on the integrity and individuality of the point of view rather than on their value as a mere travelogue. Essays should be sent to Miss Dorothy Gaylord, contest secretary, Beekman Tower, 3 Mitchell, New York.

THORPE WITHDRAWS

Thomas Thorpe, Delta Sigma Phi, announced his withdrawal from the election for Sophomore Union Board this afternoon. This leaves Austin Weimer, Lambda Chi Alpha, unopposed.

All-College Elections to Be Held Here Thursday; Polls Open at 10 o'Clock

Classes to Ballot on Student Council, Union Board and Liberal Arts Board.

PREDICT RECORD VOTE

Voting All Day Will Climax Week of Electioneering as Fatal Day Draws Near.

With the final ceremonies in the annual winter term elections only two days away, politics on the campus have assumed a quasi-professional character, with studios side-tracked in favor of campaigning and electioneering. The new climax was reached today when the announcement of the nominations for the Michigan State News and Wolverine editor and business manager jobs was made public.

Notwithstanding the interest which has been evinced in these managerial positions, the other class offices still remain hotly contested. Thursday, March 14, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., four classes will ballot on the State News and Wolverine positions. While these classes will elect men and women to offices, the student council, Union board, liberal arts board, A. W. S. and W. A. A.

Following are the candidates who will contest the various offices: their fraternities or sorority affiliations and their home towns.

Junior Student Council: James Lewis, Sigma M, Detroit; Jack Warner, Beta Beta Beta, Detroit; Elton Mollet, Phi Delta Theta, Massillon, Ohio; Stanley Lothreiser, Delta Sigma Phi, Detroit; Lawrence Rathbun, Lambda Chi Alpha, Flint; J. L. Hurdle, Pi Kappa Phi, East Lansing. Three men are elected to this office.

Junior Union Board: Harold Decker, Psi Chi, Detroit; Jack Booth, Delta Chi, Detroit; Robert Sanders, Tri Gamma, Grand Rapids; David Brand, Epsilon Sigma Tau, Two men are to be elected.

Sophomore Student Council: Vincent Vandenberg, Sigma Nu, Muskegon; Harry Wismer, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Port Huron; James Hartyman, Phi Delta Theta, Lansing; Stuart Clark, Delta Sigma Phi, East Lansing. Two men are to be chosen.

SORORITY BALL SET FOR FRIDAY

Pan-Hellenic Formal Will Feature Grecian Setting in Union March 15.

Nate Fry's orchestra, popular campus band, will play at the famed Panhellenic hall, the last party of the formal season, which will be held in the Union ballroom Friday night. The Greek letter societies will go truly Grecian for an evening, transforming the ballroom into the ancient Acropolis.

The Grecian motif will be carried out in black and white, with the Parth of the Maidens of the Acropolis at the far end of the room, and silhouettes of Acropolis buildings on both sides of the room. The emblems of the various sororities on campus will be outlined on both walls, projecting down to the Parth of the Maidens. The whole scene will be dimly lighted by a soft Grecian moon.

One hundred fifty tickets are to be sold for the affair, with each house receiving a portion of the number. The slating of a band of choice has made it possible for Panhellenic to set the price at $1.50 per couple, and assure those attending the best in entertainment for their money at the last big splurge of the term. Keeping in step with other parties this term, an early sell-out is expected, according to Jane McClellan, general chairman. State's society inclined will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity to dance to the strains of Nate Fry's orchestra once more at a really fine party.

In addition to Miss McClellan, committees for the affair are: Decorations, Helen Snow; Alpha Chi Omega, and Mary Sue Kantz; Alpha Xi Delta, program and tickets, Fartella Weaver; Alpha Gamma Delta, patrons and guests, Helen Anthony; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Senior members of Panhellenic council will be guests at the ball.

David Cleary and William Kirkpatrick to Contest State News Editorship.

MURRAY VS. HUGHES

Melville to Oppose Hutchinson for News Management; Nosal Unopposed.

David Cleary, of Jamestown, N. Y., and William Kirkpatrick of Plymouth will oppose each other for the position of managing editor of the Michigan State News in the all-college elections in the Union building Thursday following their nomination by the board of publications at a meeting yesterday.

Kirkpatrick is a junior in the business administration division and a member of the Hesperian fraternity. Cleary is a Theta Kappa Nu and also a member in the liberal arts division. Both have served eight terms on the News. Cleary finishing this year as feature editor, and Kirkpatrick as assistant editor.

Candidates for the editorship of the Wolverine will be Ira Murray and James Hughes, both independently from Lansing. Both men have been on the staff of the annual six terms. Hughes serving as sports editor and Murray as literary editor.

Lawrence Hutchinson, Grand Rapids, will run against Stuart Melville, Battle Creek, for the business management of the News. Hutchinson is a Hesperian, while Melville is a Delta Sigma Phi member. Both are juniors and have had the necessary experience in the business staff of the paper.

In the contest for the Wolverine business manager, Carl Nosal, Lansing, independent, will run unopposed. The idea of running unopposed for business management of publications here has been almost a custom for the past three or four years. In 1932, Frank Noble ran unopposed for the position in the News and the following year Richard Harrison also ran unopposed. Last year, Donald Montgomery was the lone contestant for the office.

Voting in the contest for publications management will follow the regular rules of the student council for elections. Voting will take place from 10 to 6 Thursday in the Union building. The publication voting will be the only balloting in which all classes, including the seniors, will vote.

W. A. A. BANQUET WILL BE FRIDAY

Co-eds Will Dine Amid St. Patrick's Decorations.

One of the outstanding events for co-eds this year will be the W. A. A. winter term banquet which will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Union. The theme of the decorations and programs will carry out the St. Patrick's Day idea.

All co-eds as well as W. A. A. members are especially urged to attend. The awards earned this term will be given out, and the honor tents will be announced. A speaker from Grand Rapids has been secured by Mary Jean O'Brien, Elizabeth Johnston, who has been president for the past year, will act as toastmistress for the event. She will also install the officers who will be named in Thursday's election for the coming year.

Fontella Weaver is general chairman of the banquet. Assisting her are Isabel Blyth, Lorraine Rauls, and Mary Jean O'Brien. Tickets are priced at 50 cents, and reservations may be made by calling Fontella Weaver, 2-4633, or by signing on the bulletin board in the gymnasium.

CONCERT DATE CHANGED

Attention has been called to the fact that the symphony concert originally scheduled for Thursday night will be given Wednesday night instead, in the gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock. The ticket in the student books for the concert will be good, regardless of the date change.

REGISTRATION

During the last several years, Michigan State College has developed from a relatively small agricultural college into one of the largest institutions of higher learning in this section of the country. It has gained national recognition in nearly all lines of activity.

Yet, during this growth and development, certain practices and policies within the college have not shared in the evolution that the rest of the institution was undergoing. Numerous antiquated systems still remain as an important cog in the administrative machinery.

Perhaps the most outstanding example of a function that has not grown with the college is our archaic registration system.

In the days when the total attendance in this college was down around the thousand mark there was probably no such congestion as is experienced at the present time. Three times during the year to register and classify for the coming semester, a student must either arrive at the Union building in the early hours of the morning to take up his place in line or come at a more convenient time and stand in a line that winds from the front door up to the second floor. If the students were certain that patient standing in line would be rewarded by a speedy finish to the registration, then there would be little cause for the consternation that is being expressed.

However, patient waiting does not end the ordeal. For the longer that one stands in the seemingly motionless line, the greater are the probabilities that his classes will be closed when he ultimately arrives at the first desk.

Other colleges and universities throughout the nation have devised methods of classification and registration that certainly are far in advance of the system now imposed upon the student body by this college. It seems as if some change in our present system could be made that would tend to make classification less of a trial for every one concerned.

In view of the fact that student sentiment on the campus is strongly in favor of a definite improvement in the registration procedure, it appears that if some of the nationally recognized minds on the campus would forego temporarily trying to solve the mysteries of a split infinitive and the identification of the elusive "X," and direct their energies toward devising a new system of classification which would be free from congestion, they would earn the lasting appreciation of all the undergraduates in the student body—D. H.

CRITICS

To D. H. and others of his thinking:

We thought that this college stood for free opinion and progress until we read the editorial "Collegiate Communists" in the last issue of the State News. The point of view of the writer of that editorial seems to us to be extremely limited, showing that he isn't well read on the subject. Maybe everything from Russia isn't to be desired, but on the other hand, the United States could take several lessons from her to our benefit. We should like to ask D. H. if he ever considers that any progress could ever be made without some radical ideas to start with. Without a doubt, D. H. is wholly in favor of progress in this country, so we suppose that he must have made a slight slip in his analysis. We hope that this will be enlightening and will not arouse his indignation too much.

VERNE PICKFORD and JOHN GODAR

Editorial note:
May I take this opportunity to allay your fears that you have aroused my indignation, for you have not, as I am more than pleased that my writing would provoke such an amount of thinking or consideration on the part of any individual.

May I answer your question by saying that I believe that certain radical ideas are conducive to progress, but certainly not those which are tinged with your favorite color of red.

However, I believe that the reason why your views and mine do not coincide is due to the fact, as you pointed out, that "I am not well read." —D. H.

Over 100 Couples Attend Women's Building Formal

Decorations Feature Annual Dinner Dance Held Saturday.

The Women's Building dinner dance held Saturday, March 9, was attended by over one hundred couples. President and Mrs. R. S. Shaw and Dean Conrad were guests, the patroness was Dean and Mrs. L. C. Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Legendre, Evelyn Hart was the social chairman. The tables were decorated with black, candles, black placecards and white flowers. During the dinner a trio of dormitory girls, Jeanette Eichinger, Evelyn Hart, and Marjorie Brown, played.

The parlor downstairs was decorated as a winter woodland, with white figures skating and skiing around white cotton wood trees (why cotton-wood? Because the cotton would come off if you brushed against it). These realistic figures were designed by Dorcas Fuller. Sally Jackson engineered their excavation. Among those present were Harper Camp and his orchestra who furnished the melodious measures. A special feature of the evening was a dances by Mary Ellen Grover. After intermission, Charlotte Yarger and Janet Baird sang.

Frances Carstensen was the chairman of the committee which made the program. Janet Elliot was the chairman of patrons Ruth E. Johnston was chairman of orchestra, and Frances Wilson and Evelyn Heuvelhorst were co-chairmen of table decorations.

Scientists in the Harvard university (Cambridge, Mass.) biological laboratories have proven that different types of light striking the eyes of fish cause nerve secretions that make the protective color changes in fish.

THE Spartan Oracle

By JIM QUELLO

Another all-college election is on the horizon and once more the oracle chooses to maintain a judicious silence until the finglings come to a climax Thursday. It's great to be a senior and disinterestedly watch the strategic congeniality of the aspirants and the under-cover conflicting political tie-ups. We have seen honesty and perseverance defeated by cunning and personality time and time again—it's the same story in life. There's no altruism in politics—even campus politics. Everyone is upholding the belief or supporting the group that can do him or his organization the most good—give them a more profitable offer and they are on your side.

In this election two large fraternities are competing for a major political office—the political framework of the two houses and many houses is built about this position. There are many other sidelines—some ironical that we dare not print as yet. But we promise a political expose next Friday when it's all over.

SOPHOMORE PROM

Although not the best orchestra to appear here this year, Jack Miles and his Band of Bands had in our opinion the best selection of numbers. The program featured show-well-timed fox-trots rather than racy over-irritants characteristic of the Senior party. The music by Arson Weeks and Tremaine in rhythm and popularity. The stage decorations were probably the most attractive yet presented and the general atmosphere of the party was congenial enough. In all, considering the reasonable price of $2.50 which included a clever program, we think the traditional freshmen staged a nifty party that was a credit to the class and to the general chairman, Harry Wismer, my room-mate.

COLLEGE DAZI

Johnny Aldinger, Phi Tau moucher, is now an auditor in the auditor general's office. He flunked auditing in school, but says that the "browning" experience at school really proved beneficial. Political jobs are based on the same principle of apple-polishing.

Duke Farley, last year's State News editor, is now on the staff of the Michigan Farmer, while Dick Harrison, business manager, is wasting time down in South America.

Earl Ungren, another publications head of old, is now connected with the Farm Bureau. He's supposed to apply for a newspaper job as an M. S. C. grad—they will probably have me watering the office plants.

"Grades don't mean a thing," quotes grad Ed Mahoney, ladies' man, who is now employed downtown. Too bad—Ed was always interested in making the grade.

A picture in the Sunday Times shows Coila Anderson, Alpha Chi beauty queen, demonstrating some pretty knee action in the back seat of a car. Coila is gunning for a position as a model for Fisher Body ads—she should make an attractive addition to the bodies "made by Fisher."

And coming back to our present time, we see Jack Warner, old sports editor becoming involved, even perplexed in campus politics. Jack, who has spent many long hours making up your sport page, has almost become discouraged after two days of political breakings and baffling mangers.

MURRAY ATKINS NUPITAL

Walter Murray, student S. A. E., and political power behind Kelley's junior class presidency, throne, definitely abandoned all previous Alpha Gamma affiliations. He's really promised to back the Atkins, speaking Alpha Chi pledge against the "browning" average. All of which must be disbelieving to another Kelley. He's persisting until, incidentally, other S. A. E. Alpha Chi book-signs have watched Frank Graham, fresh football and college basketball champion, has been rubbing Jean Kroutier, shoe-eyed, bespectacled, weaving manager with minor regularity, Harmonica Sam Korman in all ages over Philip's nose, and we don't believe in the "Harry Schooling" Mousing, harmful all-around athlete, but he's a good college date at the S. A. E. party over a week ago with Mary McCallahan and is now making it a weekly habit which makes him the object of berate "bards."

PARIS QUINTET CLOSES SERIES

Large Crowd Hears Final Concert Number in Course Which Features Noted Musicians.

Before a large crowd, the Paris Instrumental quintet presented the concert completed one of the most successful courses ever presented by the college music department.

The unique ensemble was composed of a flute, harp and a string trio, and gave only original compositions with no transcriptions or arrangements being used. All the members of the ensemble have achieved individual recognition as musicians and as a unit they presented a fitting close to the concert course.

The first artist to appear on the course was Bronislaw Huberman, who came here on November 13. This famous Polish violinist gave the year's course a good start, and he was received exceptionally well by a very large audience.

Next to appear was Roland Hayes, Negro tenor, who came on January 23. He delighted a large crowd with his interpretations not only of classical numbers but also of Negro spirituals, proving to be very versatile. Particularly enjoyable was his recital of "Crucifixion" sung without accompaniment.

On February 18, Artur Schnabel, pianist, appeared here. The well known Beethoven student played in addition to some of his favorite selections from Beethoven, other numbers by Mozart and Schubert.

The college music department is to be congratulated on the fine program it has provided the musicians of the campus this past season. All four numbers of the

They are required to board at the college boarding hall, and to observe strictly all the rules and regulations in force in the same.

They are not permitted to absent themselves from the college grounds without permission.

They are expected to abstain from all immoral practices and from everything which is inconsistent with their relation to the institution.

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR "WAY OF THE WORLD"

Clare Pocklington, whose exceptionally fine character depiction in Sheridan's "School for Scandal" made us take notice, will appear in the part of Mirabell.

Leon Merian having proved his skill at characterization also in the "School for Scandal" has the difficult part of Sir Wilfull Witwoud.

Marian Donders, acclaimed for her performance as Lady Teazle in the same play, will play the role of Mrs. Fainall.

Ira Murray shows greater versatility than any of the others perhaps, in that he is playing two major roles this week, that of Witwoud in the coming comedy and that of candidacy for Wolvenburg editorship at the polls Thursday.

Stars Shine Serenely as Sophs Present Pleasing, Popular Prom; Miles' Musicians Make Melodies

Under the light of the bright and shining moon, to the music of Jack Miles and his Band of Bands, the sophomores ended the social season of the year with flying colors. This was one of the largest parties of the season. The downtown Masonic temple was decorated with stars all around and a large moon in the middle of the stage. Inside the moon was a silhouette of a couple and the numerals '37'. Around the stage were trees and more stars and at the edges of the dance hall were again the numerals 1937. The programs were heavy celluloid with green paper behind it. On the cover was painted a black edge outlining a silhouette of a fellow and girl in evening dress. The entire party, led by Harry Wismer and Virginia Grant, was well planned and most successful.

The other organizations of the campus holding formal dinners last week-end were Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Chi Omega, Theta Kappa Nu and the women's building. The Delta Sigma Phi formal dinner dance was held Friday night in the main ballroom of the Hotel Olds. The patrons and patronesses were Prof. and Mrs. A. J. Clark and Prof. and Mrs. R. S. Linton. One of the special features of the party was the 25th anniversary of Professor Clark's affiliation with the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. The guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Beckman. Music was furnished by Nate Fry and his orchestra.

At the Olds hotel main ballroom last Friday night, the Alpha Chi Omega and their guests danced to Eugene's orchestra for their winter term dinner dance. The patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. H. B. Durk and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patton. The guests included Dean Elisabeth and Marian Conrad, Miss Ruth Johnson and H. J. Fields.

The Union ballroom was the setting for the Theta Kappa Nu formal dinner-dance held Saturday night with music furnished by Eugene and his orchestra. The patrons

GRADS TO MEET IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Meeting to be Held in Connection With Gathering of Alumni Secretaries.

The strength of the Michigan State college alumni will again display itself in the limelight when a meeting of all State grads of Washington, D. C., will be held in the capital city on April 3.

This meeting will be held in connection with the gathering of the alumni secretaries of all of the colleges and universities of the United States. Gen. O. Stewart, secretary of the State alumni, announces that this will be one of the most important and most memorable of the annual meetings.

During one of the three days, April 1 to 3, of the meeting the representatives of each of the colleges will gather the alumni of his school and hold a banquet in some of the more fashionable hotels at Washington. At this time President of Mrs. Roosevelt will give a talk to honor the old graduates.

To assure themselves of an abundance of publicity, the association has secured the services of a prominent New York newspaper reporter who will be responsible for the delivery of the "goods" to the public.

Discuss Plans for Proposed Lectures On Social Training

Mortar Board held a luncheon last Wednesday at Home to discuss with Fred Patton, Mr. Harold Patton, and Prof. L. P. Waide the plans for a course in social training to be offered in the spring term. At a recent meeting they perfected their plans and definitely decided to have a series of lectures by prominent people on the campus concerning problems pertaining to social activities of college life.

These lectures are very helpful to the average student and should draw many interested listeners. Mortar Board realizes that the fault in the course as it was given last spring was that the lectures were too general; they plan to improve it this year by making them very practical and applicable to the more individual social problems of the student.

ART GRAD IS LAUDED FOR UNIQUE MURAL PAINTING

Miss Katherine Morden, who graduated from the art department here last June, has accomplished an artistic feat which is receiving widespread comment. Miss Morden has done a mural on the wall of the office in the Morden Oil company of Lansing depicting the story of the old bulk storage founded in 1924. This mural is done in common house paints with oil tints. She is planning to do another on the opposite wall representing the firm as it is today. Miss Morden is taking Miss Jessie Clark's place in teaching the history of art while Miss Clark is convalescing from an appendectomy at the Harper hospital in Detroit.
