The Panhellenic Dinners

Two factors more than any others account for the absence of strained Panhellenic relations on the campus. One is that the election of Panhellenic president, long a football for campus politics, was taken out of that realm in the spring of 1936, when it was decided to have the presidency rotate among the twelve sororities on the campus.

Two years of the new system have seen the efficiency of the group deteriorate not at all because of it. This stands to reason since sororities pick from their most competent members when they choose Panhellenic representatives. And the rotation system of selection permits sororities with smaller membership to share equally with larger groups, something that is always a Panhellenic problem.

The second factor is the exchange dinners sponsored by Panhellenic. Begun three years ago after several abortive attempts, these dinners have become a custom observed every week during winter term. Two women from one house go to dinner at some other sorority, which in turn sends two members to the first house. All sororities participate in the event every week.

In the convivial atmosphere of dining together women of various sororities get much better acquainted than they ever would otherwise. In fact these occasions are an excuse for visiting chapter houses which members of other groups may never have been inside before. They are the foundation for new friendships and numerous acquaintances.

The Panhellenic is to be congratulated upon the unity it has achieved thus far, and may it continue to encourage measures to embellish this feeling of things in common among sorority women.

Hisses For Helen

Collegiate enthusiasm is all right at times, but it can hardly be called anything other than poor taste when it goes so far as lampooning actors presenting such a fine performance as that given by the Detroit Federal theater here last week.

The whistles from some of the male members of the audience that greeted the entrance of Helen of Troy in "Dr. Faustus" was a mere indication of social boorishness, of uncouthness uncommon to and little liked by the vast majority of Michigan State students.

The players of the Federal theater are serious artists, as their production showed, used to audiences that regard them in that light. The outburst at Thursday night's performance must have been surprising, if not disconcerting to them, unaccustomed as they are to college audiences. They must have carried away with them the idea that Michigan State students are hoodlums, without sufficient background to have developed understanding and appreciation for drama.

Those in the audience who attend movies in Lansing and East Lansing probably expected it, for they are well aware of the wisecracks who assume that show goes well enjoy their ad libbing more than the production they paid their money to see. Of course, it is only the audience who suffers in the movie theater, for the cat-calls and hisses of Joe College can't disturb a celluloid film.

A college education should certainly develop one's taste in the arts. If it fails to do so, the more sophisticated student at least has sense enough not to let the world know it.

The News Dons New Dress

The State News hits the street this morning in a new dress—streamlined Reads, designed for easier reading.

Streamlining of newspapers is in keeping with other improvements in this modern age of speed. Trains, motorcars, and airplanes, all agents of transportation, have been streamlined to speed them up. So progressive papers, which transport news, are being streamlined to save the energy and time of the reader.

By streamlining its heads, the State News hopes to make it possible for the average reader to assimilate the day's news in a shorter space of time. The continuance of the new style will depend largely upon reader reaction.

The general public is hesitant in accepting anything new, for that reason the college press, with its younger, less conservative readers, has pioneered in streamlining. Already the style has been successfully adopted by many of the best papers in the country.

The News now awaits criticism, either favorable or unfavorable from its readers.

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

When Sarah Shaw, daughter of our presy, attended the Theta party Saturday night, she had as her guest John A. Hannah, secretary of the college. According to the KAT sleuthing department, Miss Shaw was wearing a diamond on the finger that counts. We will draw no conclusions.

—David Vincent Cleary, youth of the flaming locks who two years ago or so piloted the destinies of the State News, and later married Kappa Marguerite Paine, is now a proud poppa, the babe being a boy, Michael Paine Cleary. He has the same red hair that his pop has, 'tis said. The Clearys, and family, live in Detroit.

DISCONNECTED

On the eve of the day when the Paine's Digest came out in the column, Theta Jessie (Hessie) Besannon got tired of wearing George Gargetti's Phi Delta badge, and returned it. The same night, history repeated itself when Kappa Eleanore Cram tossed Johanna Brown's Hespie shield back at him.

And by a mysterious streak of luck, both couples were forgotten in the Digest the next day.

Blind Man Aids Classmates

When grades shoot up all of a sudden, professors become suspicious and try to find the reason.

One at Georgia Tech traced the skyrocketing marks to the fuse and discovered what was what. Grades had been just average until Clifford Witcher, a blind student, brilliant in his studies, entered the class, the professor noted.

In writing his quizzes, Witcher used a typewriter. Since all the tests were true and false, the poorer classmen would wait for the typewriter clicks and write "yes" when they heard three and "no" when they heard two.

The professor smiles again, grades have slumped back to normal, and students are unhappy because Witcher now has to tap a period mark after each "no" answer.

These embryo fourth-esters.

OPEN LETTER TO THE TIC AND THETAS

Method the painter dropped another stitch in setting up the type for Saturday's issue when he put that paragraph about the new Theta house residents in the items. Or maybe he is a humorist at heart. Sorta looks like the idea appealed to some gals, so put your blinders on, you TICs.

To Train Men For Public Service

New Course to Begin Next Fall for Liberal Arts Sophomores

A new curriculum called "general public administration," within the liberal arts division, was created at the faculty meeting yesterday afternoon. The organization of this new course is a result of a year's research by the heads of the departments in the liberal arts division.

The plans for the new curriculum provide that the course shall be opened in the fall of 1938 to sophomores only. The first two years' grouping of classes will be similar to those of the regular liberal arts students. This junior required subject will be in American history, sociology, economics and political science. For the senior year, men who are prominent in the public eye will be obtained as instructors. Arrangements will be made for apprenticeship, as a necessary requirement for graduation, in county and state offices.

Professor Claims Career Women Not Content

According to a Loyola university psychologist, Dr. Alexander A. Schneiders, the bachelor girl who tells you that she simply loves her work and wouldn't think of leaving it for home or family, is kidding at least 50 per cent of the time.

"It goes back to Freud's theory of the free will," he said. "The girl may have had a frustrated love affair, she may fear that the man she marries will dominate her or she may have half a dozen other reasons, all in her subconscious mind, and none of which she will admit."

The chances are that she will say she simply is not interested in men or perhaps that the right man never came along.

And after hurling this gaudy in the face of emancipated women, Dr. Schneiders leaned back safely ensconced behind his psychology books.

Trojans Set For Rapids

East Lansing Cagers Out For Third Win in Row

Captain Cuddy Shaver's Trojans will be trying for their third victory of the current basketball season when they journey to East Lansing to engage the Cardinals Tuesday night.

So far this season the Trojans have not fared so well on the court as they have won only two games while they have dropped three. The Blue and White basketballers have lost close games to Charlotte, Lansing Central and Lansing St. Mary's.

Shaver's boys did not look up to their usual standard in losing to St. Mary's Big Blues last Tuesday and Coach Shaver is looking for his boys to once again hit their stride.

In Tuesday's game the boys were not making their shots and were not using their effective fast break attack, as the defense that St. Mary's threw up was more than able to cope with their long passes and fast breaks for their basket. Also the Trojans were not passing as they have been in their previous games so far this season.

Fruit Growers Meet Here

Will Discuss Latest Developments

Acquainting Michigan fruit growers with the latest developments in their field is the aim of the Michigan State fruit growers conference this week.

The general program for Monday and Tuesday centers about spraying and control of orchard insects and diseases. Wednesday forenoon the discussion will relate to package and storage problems. Topics relating to various phases of orchard soil management are listed for Thursday and Friday. Miscellaneous subjects that appear to be of particular interest to fruit growers at this time make up the balance of the program.

Thursday and Wednesday afternoons the programs will be concluded with laboratory studies and demonstrations. It is proposed to divide the group into two sections each afternoon. One section will study the various kinds of apple, while the other section will attend a cider-making and processing demonstration.

Church Opens School

Large Groups Attend First Sessions

Nearly 200 attended the first meeting last Monday night of the school of religion being conducted at Peoples church. The talks were enthusiastically received. For last night's session there was a change of speakers in two of the four divisions. For the group on psychology and personality rebuilding Dr. S. Linton, assistant professor in the education department, discussed "Personality and Personality." For the group on dictatorship and democracy Prof. G. E. Hires of the economics department discussed "Comparisons of Types of Society."

Prof. Hutson Addresses Pomological Society

Last Friday Professor Hutson of the entomology department addressed the South Haven, Camp pomological society in that city. His talk concerned the Oriental fruit moth, the insect that caused severe loss in some of the orchards of southwestern Michigan.

General public administration is offered in other colleges only as graduate work. It is the desire of the college to put training for public office within the reach of regular college students and also to offer a preliminary course for those wishing to go on with graduate work.

The purpose of the new curriculum as stated by Dean L. C. Emmons, is "to put men into politics who have been trained in that line, and to prepare people for public positions."

Although this course was precipitated to a certain extent by the new civil service law which makes training necessary for public positions, a committee has been working on it for over a year. The proposition was approved within the liberal arts board last fall, but was not made official until yesterday afternoon.

Peace Pledge Rejected

Annual Convention Meets at Vassar

The American Student Union, during its sessions on the Vassar campus, rejected the Oxford pledge against participation in war and adopted a resolution which in some of its principles resembles the Roosevelt policy.

The Oxford pledge was accepted as a policy by the union's convention last year. This year's sentiment marked a reversal.

The present resolution pledges "then American Student Union support to a program which will make the United States a genuine and active force for peace. In answer to the urgent danger of world war, we favor immediate steps to restrain fascist aggression influence in behalf of world by contributing America's decisive peace."

The panel on labor urged unity of the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. on a plan for industrial unionism wherever feasible. It also voted to help establish junior chapters of the American Newspaper Guild on college campuses and to give aid to labor unions by establishment of educational projects.

A panel on Negro student problems, which all Southern delegates were asked to attend, adopted a program calling for a bi-racial student conference in the South on specific programs, support on the Anti-Lynching Bill, protest against discrimination, and more pay for Negro teachers.

Speech Profs To Report

Members of the speech department faculty will conduct a review of the national convention which they attended in New York during vacation, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, January 20, in the Union organization rooms.

J. A. McMonagie, Don Buehl, W. F. Thompson, C. R. Van Dusen, and J. D. Menchhofer will give reports on their learnings and contacts with various members of the National Association of Teachers of Speech.

Speech teachers from the vicinity of East Lansing have been invited to attend. Interested members of the faculty and student body are also welcome.

Pershing Riflemen Will Meet

Pershing rifles will meet Wednesday night at 7:15 in Demonstration hall. All members and candidates are required to be present or get in touch with an officer before that time. Informal initiation of pledges will be held January 29. The 17 "General Orders" are to be learned by that time. They will be found on page 72 of the infantry training manual.

State Cagers Split Even On Trip

Marquette to Invade Spartan Court Next Saturday Evening

By VIC SPANIOLO

Only one game is listed for the Spartan basketball forces this week, but the opposing team is Marquette, Saturday night.

A single glance at the record of the Hilltoppers so far in this current campaign is enough to make the State followers fearful of the result.

Marquette points to the victories over Butler, Wisconsin and Western State. Wisconsin was defeated twice by the Hilltoppers. This year, Bill Chandler, Marquette coach, has one of the most powerful cage aggregations in the country.

EXCEPTIONAL FRONT LINE

Like State, Marquette has a top-notch front line that clicks consistently. Paul Sevedy, Tupper center, is a speed merchant besides being a "dead eye."

The Spartans who are a bit tired from their strenuous week of play which saw the State men play three difficult games in five days cannot afford to let up because of this Marquette rivalry.

Revenge will be the motive against the Hilltoppers because last year the Spartans lost both games against Marquette. So if determination means anything, State will be in there fighting.

STATE SPLITS ON ROAD

Home from their eastern invasion where the Spartans broke even, walloping Buffalo and 'n turn being defeated by the Syracuse powerhouse 58 to 46.

Most of the story of the Syracuse game happened in the last half. Syracuse paced by Bob Stewart and Mark Haller combined efforts produced 28 points, the majority of them in the final half.

State plainly showed the effects of the difficult schedule for although trying hard, could not cope with the Orangemen in the late minutes of the game.

George Fakowski, State high point man, staged quite a scoring duel with Bill Thompson, Orange guard, before both were banished from the contest on four personal fouls. Fakowski registered 12 points as did Marty Hart.

Men's League Teams Play

Teams Set for Games Tomorrow Night

Again the Independents supported their organization in fine fashion by submitting 24 teams to the college basketball intramural program, topping all other leagues.

The team that comes out on top after wading through the independent's basketball schedule, which runs right up to the week of finals, will be a worthy champion. The program calls for a total of 63 games to be run off. The winning team will receive 10 gold medals and the runner-up get 10 silver medals.

Every game in the loop must be run off on schedule if this program is to be repeated next year. Paul Moves and Frank Studier are in charge of the league with the varsity members of the basketball team officiating the games.

The games Wednesday bring the following teams together in the gymnasium: At 7:15 p. m., Lamsangster vs. Hot Shots; at 7:55 p. m., Sarah's Boys vs. Chemistry Kids; at 8:35 p. m., Haskalings vs. Vets; at 9:15 p. m., Dribblers vs. Sleeping Beauties.

State Fencers Show Promise Despite Wayne Defeat

Although the State fencing fortunes have been on the wane the past year or so, the Spartan fencing squad failed to get onto Wayne last Saturday afternoon. The score of their meet was Wayne 8½, State 7½.

State's inexperience in fencing on the mat—actual competition to the laymen—the Spartans' greatest fault. A few meets should remedy this situation.

A tabulation of the results shows that in foil, Long won 2 and lost 1, and Artega and Bisgier each won 1 and lost 2; in sabre, Hasselback and Balle each won 1 and lost 1; and in epee, Hasselback won 1 and lost 1, and

SPORT INTERLUDES-Wonders Why

By GEORGE MASKIN

Rumblings persist on campus concerning the withdrawal from Michigan State of Ted Lutrzykowski, all-state football star at Muskegon in 1936. Lutrzykowski has left State to enter the United States Military Academy next fall.

In the meantime he will study at Muskegon Junior college. Lutrzykowski is reputed to have made a good scholastic record here last term.

Charles Bachman captained the Notre Dame track team in 1916. Still tired from the long football season, Johnny Pingel to date has not reported for track. Pingel is a hurdler of considerable class.

Bill Bell, freestyler, is the only Michigan State swimmer to score a first place against Michigan in a dual meet in 12 years. He turned in the trick here two years ago.

State's track team will face Notre Dame in an outdoor meet at South Bend. The annual State intercollegiate outdoor track championships will be run off here May 28, two weeks later than usual.

John Kobe is officiating 10 Big Ten basketball games this winter. He already has called 'em in three contests at Michigan, Iowa, Indiana.

Prominent Figures

The Spartan fencing team draws from various prominent campus activities for its members. Bill Hasselback is president of the Independent Men's league. Bill Ingleson, editor of the Wolverine and Tony Smith, drum major de luxe of the band.

Manuel Artega, another swordsman, once was a member of the Cuban army. Artega also is noted for his outstanding horse-riding.

Interest in intramural athletics has shown a marked increase during the last two years. Lack of space, however, handicaps Mayor Lyman Frimodig in carrying out the program to the extent he desires.

Shortage of room also will prevent Charles Bachman from staging informal grid practices this winter. In their place Bachman plans a series of lectures to start within two or three weeks.

Victor Spanio reports he has in close information Michigan's new football coach will be named this week. Blaine Henkel, basketball pitcher on the last three State baseball teams, has spurned an offer to go south with the St. Louis Browns.

Instead, Henkel has accepted a job with the United Press in Lansing. Official averages released this week reveal Milton Lehnhardt hit 271 with Almagro in the Transjungle League. George Hill, who is no longer eligible, is assisting with the coaching of State pitchers.

Yearling Wrestlers Will Engage Cranbrook

The froth grapplers are starting trials for their first bout of the season next Saturday with Cranbrook Boys' school. Coach Collins has one of the strongest, if not the strongest, yearling squad he has ever had. In the All-College tournament last term, freshmen took four first places, and the squad as a whole compares favorably with the varsity.

'M' Wrestlers Again Rout Spartans

Wolves Win All Bouts For Perfect Evening To Swamp State

ANN ARBOR, Jan. 18.—University of Michigan's Wrestling team for the second straight year, had too much class for Michigan State here last night, and as the result the Wolverines shut out the invading Spartans, 32-0.

As the score indicates, the State grapplers were unable to record a victory in any of the eight matches, although the Spartans did battle the Wolves on even terms in three of the bouts.

In the 145-pound class Harold Nichols of Michigan had to extend himself in order to gain the nod over State's Cliff Freiburger. The same held true in the light-heavy and heavy-weight bouts in which Tom Hurd and Don Nichols beat Steve Szek and Dale Stevenson, respectively.

Other bouts saw John Steiker triumph over Gordon Purdy at 118 pounds; Paul Cameron pin Dale Ball in the 126-pound division; Earl Thomas throw Ted Crowe in the 135-pound class; Harold Danmer win on default from Bill Mason at 155 pounds; and Frank Morgan toss John Kellogg in the 165-pound battle.

Matmen Whip Wheaton in Opening Meet, 25-5

The Spartan matmen opened their season in no uncertain manner with a 25 to 5 victory over Wheaton college last Saturday night.

Gordon Purdy, who is subbing for Sam Aldrich in the 118-pound class, showed that Aldrich will have a fight on his hands when he returns because he pinned Shiroma of Wheaton in 3:04.

Ted Crowe, 135-pounder, won his first bout in Varsity competition by pinning Miller in 3:57. Dale Ball, wrestling at 126 pounds, won a decision over Hess.

Cliff Freiburger had a battle on his hands to defeat Pett of Wheaton. The bout was even most of the way with Cliff finally gaining the nod.

Bill Mason also had a close bout but got the decision over Frank of Wheaton in the 155-pound class. Berghous was a little too good for Paul Kellogg, wrestling his first bout for State at 165 pounds, and pinned Paul in 2:16.

Steve Szek had little trouble in gaining a decision over the Wheaton 175-pounder, Butler, who lacked experience. Dale Stevenson, Spartan-heavyweight, gained the decision over Hansen in the final match of the evening.

Frimodig, Biel Set Pace in First Matches

The Faculty league began their twelfth year of organized bowling last week with two matches of four-men teams Friday night in the Rainbow Recreation hall alleys followed by three matches of six-men teams Saturday afternoon.

In the four-men team matches the Giants and Yankees defeated the Indians and Tigers by scores of 1,671 to 1,442 and 1,463 to 1,286. D. F. Biel was the only bowler to break 200 in a game and this gave him low in total pins per match with 539. C. W. Sabrosky of the Indians was his closest rival with 472.

In the six-men teams Saturday afternoon the Turkeys, Splits, and Cherries were victors over the Doubles, Strikers and Errors. The closest match of the day was between the Errors and Turkeys. The Errors scored 2,234 pins to 2,168 for the Turkeys but the latter won the first two games by narrow margins to take the match. L. L. Chesterfield Features PLEASURE

Every cigarette features something...
Chesterfield features the one thing that really counts... pleasure. It all comes down to this: Chesterfields are made of mild ripe tobaccos... rolled in pure cigarette paper... the best that money can buy.

That's why Chesterfield's milder better taste will give you more pleasure.
