Michigan Agricultural College

I Liked It

I happen to be a bed ridden patient of St. Joseph's hospital in Phoenix, Ariz. Listened in on your program this morning—besides being very instructive and enlightening it was beautiful and artistic—due to the colors of Michigan. My hearty congratulations! Prosper, prosper, prosper! I am proud of my Michigan. Sincerely,
Mrs. Magr. A. J. Rezek, L.L.D., Pastor, St. Ignatius Church, Houghton, Michigan

So Did I

Dear Pres. Shaw:
Old Mich. State scored another victory here in Penna today since it beat Temple last fall. Congratulations on the fine radio presentation on the forward march of agriculture. I couldn't help but think back with a great deal of satisfaction that we had at home (VanBuren Co.) one of those first acres of alfalfa in the State of Mich. I remember me of my four years in the M.S.C. band too!
Respectfully,
John T. Breger,
Class of 1917.

Me Too!

Dear R. S. Shaw,
Michigan State College,
East Lansing, Mich.
I feel Mr. Shaw:
Only inadequately can I express my appreciation and interest in your splendid "Farm & Home" broadcast of April 20.

Your program came through magnificently and hearing of your way of accomplishment makes me glad to be alive.
Congratulations to all who participated—but alone in this exhibition—not to all who have contributed through the years to so splendid a record. Your state must prosper.

I hope you pardon this intrusion as I was simply thrilled by your accomplishments.
Sincerely,
Mildred Hayes,
Branch Librarian,
St. Louis, Mo.

Will He Join?

As an assignment in business writing, Lloyd H. Geil, instructor of composition, had the members of his class write a letter inviting someone into an organization. One of the letters turned in began:
"Knowing of your activities on campus, I wish to take this opportunity to invite you to join the E. T. C. A."
Mr. Geil refused to reveal his decision in the matter. He preferred to answer by letter.

Roy Eldridge to Play At Sophomore Cruise In Union Ballroom

With the signing of Roy Eldridge and his colored band, George Garrett, general chairman of the Soph Spring Cruise, announced last night that arrangements for the sophomore spring term party Friday, May 6 in the Union are practically complete.

Eldridge, until recently known as a musician's musician, has gained popular favor through his broadcasts over WBBM and CBS. His early recordings for Decca are now collector's items and his recent waxings for Brunswick have topped sales lists.

Recently rated one of the leading trumpeters today by "Downbeat", prominent musicians' magazine, Eldridge comes here direct from a week's engagement at one of the Detroit downtown theaters. For the last two years he has been playing at the "Three Deuces," Chicago night club catering to musicians.

TO GO ON TRIP
After his engagement here, Eldridge will go on a road trip ending with an engagement at the "Famous Door" in New York city. The cruise marks the first time any class has given two parties in the same year, both with big time bands. Favors, heretofore reserved for the J-Hop, will be given at the party.

The whole second floor of the Union has been wired for an amplifying system to relieve any crowding in the main ballroom. If the night is warm, the air circulating system will be installed. SALE STARTS WEDNESDAY
Tickets for the dance will go on sale Wednesday at the Union desk. Sales will be limited to sophomores only for the first day. Eldridge got his early band training with one of Fletcher Henderson's aggregations, but soon left to organize his own group to try out his own ideas.

Women to Sing In St. Johns

Michigan State's Women's Glee club will sing before the student body of the St. Johns high school on Tuesday, April 26, at 2 o'clock in the high school auditorium. A large number of representatives from the colleges of the state will also be present for their annual all-college day program.

The glee club is under the direction of Josephine Kackley and its personnel consists of girls from all departments of the campus. This is the first of several out-of-state concerts which the club gives each spring, in addition to the annual concert on the campus which will be given this year on May 24 in the Union ballroom.

The club will be assisted by Leone Schavey, voice, and Marian Maddy, pianist, who are members of the club.

McSorley is secretary of the Michigan State college branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Michigan State has been a leader in the study of this problem. McSorley's paper was judged a long with those of 17 other contestants from midwestern engineering colleges.

At his lecture here Mr. Kean will present character impressions from Shakespearean plays, from the books of Dickens, and miscellaneous numbers. Among the characters he will impersonate are Hamlet, Richard III, Cardinal Wolsey, Shylock, Utah Heep from David Copperfield, the old grandfather from Old Curiosity Shop, and Alfred Jingle from Pickwick papers.

PLAYED GUNGA DIN

Other impersonations include Quip, Svengali, Gunga Din, Mathias in "The Belis," Peter the Miser, and others.

Critics have likened Kean to Irving Booth and Salvini.

Born in London, England, Richard Kean made his debut at the age of 12 years, appearing as a boy character actor.

He is said to make arrangements for many of the present-day dance bands and he has written numerous song-tunes, the most famous of which is probably the swing tune, "Milk and Honey."

Although Henderson has been featured what he calls "legitimate" music in Chicago, he has also a well rounded repertoire of the lighter side of music which he intends to bring out in the approval of State dances. His program here will be a fifty-fifty mixture of low-down and soft swing numbers.

Citizens Petition Removal Of WPA Office From Residence Zone

Claim Usage Is Nuisance To District

City Will Purchase Truck for Hauling Garbage, Refuse

A petition signed by 150 East Lansing residents requesting the city council to force the WPA to move its county headquarters from its location on Burchman and Union streets was presented at a council meeting last night. The petition claimed the building and property, formerly a warehouse of the Hager Cove Lumber company, to be a nuisance and a detriment to the surrounding residential district.

RESIDENT ZONE

The petition further stated that although the property was in fact reserved for residence only, its use as a warehouse was in violation of the WPA. It went on to state that the workmen who gathered there at all hours of the day and night were of an undesirable nature.

The councilmen turned the matter to the city attorney, Harry Hallett, and instructed him to take the matter up with the state WPA director.

In case that the council is unable to do anything about the matter, William Wise, the group's spokesman, said the petitioners will seek an injunction from the court restraining the WPA from using the property.

BUY TRUCK

The council also empowered Harry Lott, city clerk, to purchase a new garbage truck from the A. W. Handy company, Lansing, which presented the lowest bid.

The petition was presented to the council requesting that a C zone be changed to a B zone along Burchman street. That would move the area from a commercial zone to a residential zone. Mayor Frimodig referred the petition to the zoning commission.

Another petition was offered requesting that the name of Hallett street be changed to Collingwood street. Mayor Frimodig referred it to the street commission.

Michigan university has just issued an endorsement campaign to raise $3,120,000 in five years.

Captain's Son Is Youngest Boy in Senior Class

James Goodrich Renno II, the youngest and shortest boy in the senior class of East Lansing high school, says, "It feels the same to be the youngest and shortest boy as it would to be the largest."

He plans to complete his education at some out-of-town school. Chemistry is the subject James wants to major in during his college career.

His favorite subjects in high school are chemistry, physics and mathematics. There are also his hobbies. This summer he wants to work on a farm to help earn money for college expenses.

James is the son of Captain and Mrs. J. G. Renno of 261 Cowley, and says he likes East Lansing high school better than any of the others he has attended.

Coeds Give Views on Vacating Dorm for A W S Delegates

By MARGARET BUZZARD

Cries of "ain't fair" at first greeted the proposition that dorm girls move out of their rooms for three days when the A. W. S. convention meets next Thursday. But they gladly volunteered to leave when it was explained to them that they would just have to be away two nights.

With nearly one hundred girls expected for the weekend, they will be placed in the various halls in groups of 10 or 15. Most of the girls who move from the dorms will be pledges, who will go to stay in their sorority houses. Not only will they live with the activities but they will not have to forfeit their overnight permission to do it.

Mrs. Thompson, housemother, said, "Of course, I've heard some grumbling, but the girls are not forced to go—they volunteered, so I know they really want to do it."

Virginia Thompson, 39, "I think it's the most effective way of housing the women—as for myself, I expect to have a very good time staying out and everyone I've talked to thinks if it does nothing else it will make them appreciate their dorm rooms more."

Mrs. Colburn, housemother, "I haven't heard any complaints."

Bernice Proctor, 38, "The convention coincides with our security Coeds Week—so our pledges will have that much more time at the house, and that many more shoes to clean."

Orientation Program in Preventing Scholastic Failure and Dean Schultz, "Discovering Causes of Student Failures"

The conference will be attended by representatives from colleges and universities throughout the United States. About 300 are expected to attend.

When asked as to the principles used in his work as dean of men here he said, "It is believed that every activity, personal problem and feeling of a student is reflected in his scholastic achievement."

SEE STUDENT AS SCHOLAR

The deans of the various divisions view the student as a scholar, the first being the personnel worker views him with regard to his high school and parental background, extra curricular and outside work, emotional disturbances, living conditions and every problem that confronts him.

"In addition," he said, "I use the same results of the freshman week testing program that the various department heads use. With all that to work on an attempt is made to help the student to adjust himself to a particular situation and use to the best of his abilities, the opportunities which are his."

Camera Club Will Meet Tonight

Adoption of a new constitution and election of officers will head the business before the newly-organized Michigan State Camera club at a meeting tonight in room 4, Union annex, according to an announcement by William Ryan, re-organization chairman.

Other items to be considered at the meeting include further work on a movement to have a course in photography included in the college curricula and the appointment of a committee to lay plans for the year's activities. Field trips and speakers on photography are two activities the committee will consider.

Members and all persons interested are invited to bring cameras and pictures with them to the meeting for criticism and advice.
