Today's Campus

Better Looking

Yesterday afternoon Norman Olman, former guard on the State football squad, stood up to give a persuasive speech in a public speaking class. Olman gazed out of the window continuously until Harry Hayworth finally stopped him and said: "If you don't mind I wish you would turn this way and look these boys in the face."

Thanks Anyway

Even President Shaw's support didn't help the North Langdon girls, as they lost 16-8, to Carr's Kids. Tuesday night in a softball game, President Shaw threw the first ball to start the game.

The girls had the Carr's Kids batters, while the girls' pitcher and catcher worked for the boys. Sam Smith hurried for the boys and did quite well, most of the runs coming from faulty male support.

Keith Wise and Vince Apantovic pitched for the girls and were hit hard by their team mates.

How on Earth—

Coach Van Alstyne's likes and dislikes seem to be front page news in Tokyo, Japan, despite the fact that President Shaw recently received a Tokyo newspaper from a former Japanese student here.

According to the Japanese daily, Van Alstyne believes that singing before or during a basketball game is definitely a Jinx. The former State student wondered if this were really true.

Lucky Guys

A busy girl and boy last night were Charlotte Schmidt and Ron Jackson, who handle the date bureau. One hundred twenty-five blind dates were arranged for MSC men with visiting AWS delegates. Cards will be sent to the escorts this noon.

The bureau requests all men who do not receive their cards tomorrow noon to call either 7-7238 or 4-2234 as an error in address may have been made.

Florida Tan?

Girls from Sarah Langdon Williams dorm are making good use of their sun porches. The results so far are more red than tan but the girls hope that by a faithful adherence to sun baths, they will soon have the desired degree of tan.

Those Customs

Very much vexed was Irving Wirth when he was unable to find his Kansas card during intermission of a party at the Independents' conference, Saturday night. So angry was he when he finally found her having a coke with another man that he wanted to fight. Very tactfully did Miss Sandson explain that for a girl to spend the intermission with whomsoever she last danced was just an old southern custom.

Proud Papa Beams

John Herman Kobs, Spartan softball mentor, was all smiles Tuesday night. One reason for this was that his softball team came home with a University of Michigan scalp hanging at the belt, the result of a 4-3 State victory. The other reason was that Jackie, his 14-year-old son, and a freshman at East Lansing' high school, hurled a two-hit game for the Trojans against Everett high, winning 13 to 1. This was Jackie's first start.

A Request

It is requested that all those who hold petitions for the auditorium theater, turn the names in at the speech office today so that they may be counted.

Peace Parley Slated For Thursday

Frederick Libby Will Speak on War Prevention

"What can Michigan students do to keep America out of war?"

That is the question which will form the topic of the third annual Michigan State peace parley tonight. A capacity audience is expected to fill the Peoples church to hear Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, who will speak at 8 o'clock. Only one lecture will be given. The speaker will answer questions after his talk. Inquiries about the details of the lecture have been received from as far away as Kalamazoo.

Libby is described as "no armchair theoretician" on the matter of war and peace. During the World war, he was busy unloading trains of wounded in Paris. From his contacts in Europe, both before and after the war, he knows the effects of the war on both Western and Central European countries.

In 1921 Libby organized the organization of which he is now secretary. It has a mailing list of over 150,000 names, and is considered one of the most potent organizations of its kind in the world.

Besides writing articles on peace problems for various magazines and newspapers, Libby is the editor of the magazine, Peace Action. His experiences with the Red Cross during the World war are said to be responsible for his inclination to spend the rest of his life in an effort to prevent another such carnage.

Delegates attending the A. W. S. convention here will be invited to attend the peace parley lecture.

Robert Allured is chairman of the United Students Peace committee, and has been in charge of arrangements for tomorrow night's lecture. Campus organization representatives on the committee are: A. W. S. Tower Guard, Blue Key, Y. M. C. A., International Relations club, Y. W. C. A., M. S. C. Student association, S. W. T. Honor Le club, Student Groups, Independent Men's League, Panhellenic council, Mortar Board, Interfraternity council, Union Board, Student council, and the State News.

SWL to Fete Delegates

Spartan Women's league will entertain visiting delegates to the A. W. S. convention at an open informal tea in the Sarah Langdon Williams dining hall from 4:30-5:15 p. m. Joyce Conklin is general chairman with Lucille Simmons and Marjorie Killian acting as co-chairmen in charge of arrangements.

Messieurs' Toasts—Thompson Ethel Gilhooley, Mabel Coburn and Miss Grace Richards will preside at the tea table. Guests will include Mrs. Curtis Beschum and Misses Stella McDaniel, Grace Falck, Elizabeth Conrad, and Mabel Peterson. Visiting deans will also be guests.

All girls on the campus are invited to attend the tea which will be informal.

Diesel Course Has Traveling Lab

Diesel engine short course students have recently been studying the equipment of the Waukesha Motor company's traveling laboratory. The truck arrived here on Monday and left Wednesday afternoon for Columbus, Ohio. The equipment consisted of three Waukesha Hasselman oil engines, nozzles and pumps.

As a field trip the students are to go to Detroit for a trip through the General Motors company plant Thursday or Friday of this week.

MOTHER'S DAY, May 8. Order her Flowers Early. Gene Averill, Florist, 211 Abbot Rd., Phone 46820.

Peace Lecturer to Talk Tonight

FREDERICK J. LIBBY

Larson to Head Dietetic Club

Mary W. Larson, 40, will be installed as president of the Lutheran Student club next Sunday evening at the regular meeting to be held at 7 p. m. in the Peoples church.

Other officials who were elected at the last meeting and who will take office are: Henry Schmidt, 41, vice-president; Marjorie Nilson, 40, secretary; Geraldine Keesh, 39, treasurer. Several other officers will be appointed by the president at the next meeting.

A calendar was planned by a committee and Rev. G. C. Buboltz, club adviser, was presented.

Frolic Heads Are Named

Just Avery Ann Arisler will serve as general chairman of the Frolic of the Air, May 27, according to committee announcements released by Avery Cameron, freshman class president.

The committees named yesterday are: music, Chester Kennedy, chairman, and Tom Loney, Mary Collier, Betty Jean Pante, Frank Sargent, publicity; Robert Taylor, chairman, and Dora Mae Barton, Bernita Western, Robert Peterson, Joe Lacey, Andy Hays, program; Virginia Clemens and Dorothy Hunter, co-chairmen, and Mary Lee, Schooley, Betty J. Mills, and Joy Pingel.

Decorations, Sara Watkins, chairman, and Madeline Owen, Virginia Teske, Margaret Burlington, Marjorie Baldwin, tickets; Theodore Dougherty and Don Phillips, co-chairmen, and Jean Fjetland, Don Brandow, Sarah Jane Baxter, John Taylor, finance; Lawrence Lusk, chairman, and Josephine Woods, Lyman Huff, Mary Jane Pugh, publicity; Grigby.

Institute Director To Speak to Union

Alfred Cope, Chicago, director of the Midwest Institute of International Relations, will speak to members of the Student Christian Union Sunday evening in Peoples church.

Cope will discuss the institute which is held each summer at North Central college in Naperville, Ill., and also some of the confused international conditions which make the institute so pertinent at this time.

MOTHER'S DAY, May 8. Order her Flowers Early. Gene Averill, Florist, 211 Abbot Rd., Phone 46820.

Geologist Donates Large Library To College

Dr. R. A. Smith, state geologist, has recently turned over to the department of geography and geology his entire private collection of several thousand volumes of geological publications involving U. S. geological survey bulletins, professional papers, monographs, water supply papers, and a collection of state geological reports.

This additional collection of publications will give the department one of the finest collections in the state.

It is planned to dedicate the department library to Doctor Smith.

Low Tariffs Advocated

Chicago Board of Trade Director is Campus Speaker

"A drastically reduced tariff would be highly beneficial to world trade," declared Clarence "Pat" Henry, educational director of the Chicago Board of Trade before the College club yesterday.

Because grain is the world's main substance of diet and because it is produced all over the world, there can be no national price, but rather the price is international. It is the ratio of production to consumption that regulates the price of grain, the speaker pointed out.

Tracing the history of successive protective tariff increases in the United States, Henry described the tariffs have reduced United States foreign trade to an extremely low level, how the tariffs have created an apparent surplus in this country and a deficiency in foreign countries.

Counting off examples on his fingers, the speaker described the means by which foreign countries get dollars, and how they are now unable to get enough dollars to purchase high tariff wheat and purchase American grain.

Besides being a guest of the College club at its noon luncheon, Mr. Henry spoke at a lecture held last night in the Kedzie chemists lecture room. Centering his talk on the operations of the board of trade, Henry amplified his remarks with lantern slides showing grain production and consumption throughout the world. Other charts depicted July wheat futures prices in Chicago, Liverpool, Winnipeg and Buenos Aires, the four great world wheat markets, during the first half of 1937.

A point which the speaker emphasized was the close relation during the past 132 years of the wheat price to the all-commodity index.

During his visit here yesterday, Mr. Henry was the guest of Prof. R. V. Gunn of the economics department.

Geology Students To Take Trip

Dr. Justin Zinn, instructor in economic geology, will take a group of students on a field trip to the Great Lakes Steel corporation plant at Escore, near Detroit, on Friday.

Plans Made For FFA Meeting

3,000 Expected for Two-Day Ag Convo Here on May 5, 6

More than 3,000 students from 177 Smith-Hughes high schools are scheduled to gain a preview of college life when they convene for the 19th annual Future Farmers' week here May 5 and 6. Statewide distribution of delegates is expected.

During the week, the Future Farmers of America will assemble for their tenth annual convention. Awarding of honors, election and installation of officers and a concert by the F. F. A. band will headline this convention. Alpha Zeta, honorary ag fraternity, and the speech department will sponsor a F. F. A. state public speaking contest Thursday.

Demonstration programs to supplement the judging contest, each year a part of the program, will be arranged by the department, on campus. Headlining these presentations will be a concert by the Michigan State band, a practice game staged by the Spartan football team, and a polo match between Michigan State and the Lansing Red Wings.

An opportunity to be heard over the radio will be offered when WKAR broadcasts the "F. F. A. on the Air" program Thursday. Another feature slated for broadcast is the program presented by the speech and drama departments the same afternoon.

Throughout the week, judging contests are scheduled for the visitors. The contestants will be divided into sections, one section judging while the other views the exhibition. By this arrangement, officials hope to avoid overcrowding in the contests.

During their stay here, the visitors will be housed in Demonstration hall, ag hall, and the gym annex.

Coed Injured In Collision

Margaret Goodell, liberal arts freshman, was seriously injured at 6 p. Tuesday when the auto which she was driving was involved in a collision on the corner of Jerome and Clemens streets in Lansing.

Miss Goodell was taken to the Edward W. Sparrow hospital. Attendants said that one leg was fractured, and that she had suffered other minor injuries. Her condition was given as good late last night.

Miss Goodell, who lives at 1573 North Geneva drive in Lansing, was driving home from the college.

Nash Attends Farm Marketing Meets

Claude Nash, extension specialist in farm marketing, is working in the Upper Peninsula this week. He is attending Farmers' Cooperative Marketing meetings at Escanaba, Norway, Feich and Sault Ste. Marie.

Ruth Starke to Rule as Ag Queen

Ruth Starke, home economics senior from Arcadia, will reign as Queen of Agriculture at the All-Ag Open House and Carnival here May 20. Her Majesty will be crowned at the coronation ball the same evening.

Gertrude Sidebotham, East Jordan home ec. junior, and Judith Corrigan, liberal arts junior of Grand Rapids, tied for second place in the contest held Tuesday night on the stage of the Little Theatre. They will act as attendants to Miss Starke.

Miss Starke was chosen from a group of 10 candidates who were scored on a basis of beauty and personality, 65 percent; scholarship and campus activities, 35 percent.

Judges were Dr. Lydia Lightring, Prof. E. B. Hill, Secretary J. A. Hannah, and Ralph Tenny, director of short course.

Miss Starke has been active in the Home Ec club and studied at Merrill-Palmer fall term on one of the scholarships awarded outstanding senior women in the home economics division. She is now living at practice house No. 6.

Until this term she has lived in Concord co-operative house, of which she was president. She is secretary of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary and the senior class and is a member of Tower Guard, sophomore women's honorary and Omicron Nu, home economics honorary.

In the elimination the contestants passed in review across the stage to the music of Ralph Bell's piano. The judges were seated among the audience of 40. Over an hour was spent in deliberation upon the candidates, who sat on the stage after parading across once. The decision was close, though Miss Starke was unanimously elected winner.

Frolic of the Air To Pick Talent Tonight

Auditions for this week's Frolic of the Air will be held in the studio in the home economics building at 7 p. m. tonight. Any student with ability to play a musical instrument is requested to try-out. An all-girls' and an all-boys' orchestra will be formed to play for the air show. Drummers, especially, are in demand, says Bill Ryan, producer of the show.

Saturday's frolic will feature an interview with a visiting AWS delegate.

Gym Troupe To Arrive

Dances, Formations Will Headline Show In Gymnasium Friday

Fresh from appearances that have brought them wide recognition for gymnastic feats, Springfield college's gymnastic team will arrive tonight for its performance here at 8 p. m. Friday in the gymnasium. The program is sponsored by the student council. Roger R. Wilcox is in charge of the arrangements.

Presenting acts similar to the Ted Shawn dancers who appeared here last fall, the troupe will feature rhythmic dances of several lands and stationary formations. They will perform under spot lights and to the accompaniment of music.

The 18 men making up the troupe are all college students. In addition to gaining recognition as athletes, the members carry full academic schedules. For this reason, the troupe makes only a limited number of appearances each year. Friday the team will tour the campus under the leadership of Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary, and practice in the gymnasium.

Students will be admitted to the performance on the presentation of student activity books. The general public may purchase tickets at the door.

Booklet Lists Student Job Possibilities

"Student Aid and Finance," a booklet advising prospective students on part-time employment possibilities and warning new students against the great hopes of earning part-time all their expenses was published recently by the college.

The booklet will be distributed to college representatives on their visits to high schools and will be available to high school seniors. The booklet advises new students to prepare a budget to provide sufficient expenses for the first few terms.

A table of expenses given in the booklet shows that the costs for men vary from $174.80 to $242.80 for essentials for a year at Michigan State college. Costs for women students are slightly higher, according to the booklet, ranging from $406.80 to $486.80 annually.

If NYA student-aid program is continued next year, prospective students seeking NYA work are advised to write to Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary.

The booklet also explains the college's system of loans and scholarship funds.

Caswell to Lecture In Lansing Church

Prof. J. T. Caswell will speak before the ninth orderly conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at 3 p. m. Saturday, April 30, at Central Temple house, Lansing.

Problems of democracy will be the theme of Professor Caswell's talk.

MOTHER'S DAY, May 8. Order her Flowers Early. Gene Averill, Florist, 211 Abbot Rd., Phone 46820.

Daunt to Give Main AWS Address

Oxford Graduate To Talk Friday on 'Value of English'

Miss Marjorie Daunt, exchange professor at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., and graduate of Oxford, will be the main speaker at the Associated Women Students' conference opening here today. She will talk on the value of English at 11 a. m. Friday, in Peoples church.

Miss Daunt, who is regularly a reader in English at the University of London, is an authority on Old and Middle English. She is well known to British students as the co-author of "Book of London English," published in 1931.

Today's activities will begin with a business meeting in the Union at 10 o'clock. At 12:30 an introductory luncheon will be held. Discussions will begin at 3 p. m. with one on orientation and counselors for large and small schools, in organization rooms 1 and 2, respectively; one on problems of town students in the faculty dining room, and a third on judiciary board and dormitory problems in the dormitory parlor of the Union.

Spartan Women's league open tea follows at 4:30 in Sarah Williams hall.

At 6:30 a dinner will be held in the main dining room of the Union at which Alice Lloyd, dean of women at the University of Michigan, will speak. Following the dinner, a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will be held in the main dining room of the Union at which Mortar Board will close the day's activities.

Friday meetings begin with a breakfast by Mortar Board and one by Tower Guard and WAA at 8 a. m. Dean Elizabeth Conrad will hold an honorary breakfast at her home for dormitory lecturers and visiting deans. Three discussion groups will meet at 9:15. One on "Peace and International Thought" will be held in the organization rooms of the Union building. The second, "Social Revolution, Home Systems, and Christianity" will meet in the faculty dining room, and a third, "Campus Influences: Politics, Social and Class Stratifications" is scheduled to meet in the dormitory parlor of the Union.

Following Miss Daunt's lecture at 11 o'clock, the Y. W. C. A. will have charge of a luncheon in the basement of the church. It will also feature a slide show by the Home Economics club and a talk by Miss Mollie Stenberg, A. S. P. M. Miss Winifred Bart of Merrill-Palmer will talk at an open meeting on "Marriage as a Vocation." Three discussion groups will meet at 1:30 in the Peoples church to discuss problems of transfer students and cooperative houses.

A formal dinner at 6, at which Fred, Robert S. Shaw and Dr. David M. Tread of CSC will speak, will be followed by the dance for delegates.

Guests will be given excuse slips for Professor Daunt's lecture.

Welcome Delegates

The State News takes pleasure in welcoming AWS delegates to the Spartan campus. Michigan State college is glad of an opportunity to be the background for a group so influential in the eyes of collegiate America.

AWS organizations throughout the United States have done much toward developing American college women. They have been one of the tools whereby the cool has gained her independence and responsibility for self governing. Through this and similar organizations the college women have obtained intellectual respect, putting herself on a level with Joe college himself in class room competition.

While AWS delegates are in East Lansing they should feel that Michigan State campus is their own campus.

A little bit INDEPENDENT

By JOHN CRIST

Conventioners Return

Hasselback, Richards, Roach, West, and Zant returned Monday night from the convention in Norman, Oklahoma. The only accident in the whole trip occurred before they left Lansing when Al Richards tried a squeeze play and lost a tender.

Housed in the Independent "Co-op" houses on the campus in Oklahoma, the delegates had little time to use them because of the parties, dances, barquets, and the rides, all part of their program, besides the usual speeches. There were 125 delegates from twenty-five schools of the middle-west, State men traveling the farthest from home with the exception of one man from Washington, D. C.

The work of the convention was the formation of a National Independent Students' association, designed to act as a clearing house for information and solutions to the problems of the local independent organizations, and to aid the organization of new groups.

Dates and More Dates

Long hours of overtime are ahead for Ron Jackson and Charlotte Schmidt if requests for dates during the A. W. S. convention continue at the present rate. Monday the list reached 125 and more were expected. Lonesome Latharios can succumb to spring by calling the date bureau.

Meetings

Because the delegates had not yet returned, there was no independent meeting Monday night. There will be a regular meeting Monday night, May 1, and all interested men are again asked to attend.

Oklahoma State delegates say that they have slept from Louisville to Lansing on the last leg of the 2,400-mile trip.

College Seniors Help Teachers Write Finals

WORTH HADLEY, MASS.—(AP)—Missus Hadley, a high school teacher, is helping her students write the examinations for the year. She says she will answer all their comprehensive questions during the year.

Started as an experiment, the students offered suggested questions for the examinations and the teachers have accepted 12 of them for inclusion in the test.

Article Tells of Survey

The Merchants' Ward Students have an article written by Earl H. Geil, "Associations in Merchants' Ward as an Advertising Survey," made by the State News department for the April issue of Students' Edition, a magazine for student periodicals.

Devising his article by attending departments of high schools, and college newspapers, he first explained the way in which he had prepared the advertisement for all advertising in the merchants' ward, and what students want and buy.

Also in said, an estimate of the total amount of money spent by the student body during the year serves to offset arguments of superficial materialism.

A survey reported in the State News survey is the result of Mr. Geil's article. Fourteen per cent of the student body considered a fair sampling was chosen, and questionnaires, each listing 100 frequently used articles, were distributed. On

Selected Short Subjects a la ODD

By GUELDA PIKE

Did you know that... a top notch movie star was once a Michigan State student at his very topnotch moment? ... That he drove a Cadillac convertible "half a block long" ... That he came here to polish up a voice that was turning out love songs in the best Rudolph Valentino manner and studied under Louis Graveure, former music prof? ... That he was America's Frustrated House-wives' Sweetheart and that he was here for three months in our best Beside-the-Winding-Cedar spring weather? ...

And he was none other than Ramon Novarro, who is now playing bit parts in la Hollywood. Had just finished shooting "The Pagan Love Song" one of his best pictures. The star gave parties for the East Lansing youngsters, 'wowed' them at an SAE party, and generally kept this quiet little town in a dither.

Have you noticed... How the latest pictures are harking back to the 1928 "100% talkies" stage? Every time the hero and heroine get in the throes of a love scene they burst into song. When Deanna Durbin and Bobby Green and those other musical super-super get into the awkward age, maybe the current singing fad will die of anemia. Not that we're thumbs-downs on Grace Moore or Jeanette MacDonald or singing in general but it's this bleating into each other's face that we object to. A love scene isn't a metaphorical one that a way. Personally, when you folks passed up our fee-for-nothing limerick contest of last Thursday, but we think a few of you might have enjoyed a pair of passes to the State theater. Well, here's your last chance.

Fill in a fifth liner for our "Smile, Go! Everything" limerick, drop your entry in the cigar box in the State News office by Monday noon and be one of three winners and a pair of passes to our local movie house. If we go this time, well, we'll know you just didn't read the far. Where's your competitive spirit? And would you like to sit on the main floor in the balcony?

Mad Sermon, dear sisters in brethren— See his picture starring Ann Southern. It's on at the State Moore n Biederick are great. (Fill in your own last line)

Did we ask you... to cut the tops of boxes? No! Did we ask you to write us a letter? No! Well, you Michigan State's faculty would be duck soup for a

Diary: Felt defiant today. Cut a class on purpose then discovered it didn't meet, so blew bubbles in four cokes with two straws at a time. Didn't do any of the things I outlined last night for me to do today. Told one of those magazine salesman off even though he was cute (didn't read that editorial) and didn't give him back sample. Cracked gun in library, returned catalogue-card drawer into wrong hole, and hope you can't find it. A caboose is probably all you have in your train of thought anyway.

Honor Award Presented To School

East Lansing Student Wins Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship Plaque

Jane Newlin has earned the honor of Phi Kappa Phi, the highest honorary award given to a high school graduate during his or her career at Michigan State University. East Lansing high schooler Jane Newlin, having ranked an average of 2.98, brings the award to East Lansing high school for the first time. An average of 3 is an A record. Miss Newlin is daughter of Prof. and Mrs. C. Newlin, of 626 M. A. C. avenue.

High School Speech Contest Held Here Monday

District forensic contest of the Michigan high school forensic association will be held Monday evening, May 2, for 7 to 9:30 in the East Lansing high school auditorium.

Donald O'Hara, superintendent of East Lansing schools, will preside at the contest. Miss Pauline Zoller, instructor in the speech department, is in charge of the district meet.

East Lansing high school will be represented by Ruth Swift in declamation, June Hyer in oratory, and Grace Nahstoll in extemporaneous speaking. Schools represented besides East Lansing include St. Charles, Fowlerville, Howell, Flint Central, Kalamazoo Central, Montrose, St. Pauls of Owosso, and Lansing Eastern.

Judges will include Professors Kenneth G. Hance and Karl Robinson of Albion college, and Gordon Fischer, instructor in the speech department at Michigan State college.

Coeds Given Late Leave

Horace Henderson Will Perform for Greek Letter Ball

One o'clock permission has been granted to all coeds who attend the Pan-Hellenic-Interfraternity dance Friday, April 29, at the Masonic temple, Lansing.

Horace Henderson, who formerly made arrangements for his brother, Fletcher Henderson, and who is now finishing an engagement at the Swingland Cafe in Chicago, will furnish the rhythm. Henderson has a reputation for combining sweet and swing and, according to Downbeat, theatrical magazine, does it very successfully.

Lots Land and William Bell, co-chairmen of the dance, have announced that the decorations will be in the Greek motif, with columns and figures around the platform. Eileen McGuirdy, president of Pan-Hellenic, with her escort, Willard Klumzinger, will lead the grand march.

Speakers End Year's Work

Michigan State Is Represented At Convention

Closing the forensic season, Michigan State's time delegates have returned from the national Phi Kappa Delta convention held last week in Topeka, Kan. Present at the meeting were over 800 delegates from 150 colleges in all sections of the country.

Two of State's representatives, Rose Ella Gorsuch and Lawrence Ball, reached the semi-finals in oratory which included the highest 18 in the field. Other members of the State delegation were: Maryann Ashley and Kenneth Green, extemporaneous speakers; Jean Beukema and Helen Beattie, women debaters; and Aivin Kowalski, Robert Refae, and Gerald McMonagle and Prof. J. D. Menzies, editor, of the speech department, and Mrs. Menzies.

A feature of the convention was the National Student congress, modeled on the congress in Washington. Legislative measures were considered and bills passed. Maryann Ashley and Robert Refae, from the State delegation, were members of the House of Representatives.

ZETA TAU ALPHA—

Sunday the Zeta Tau Alpha entertained their fathers at dinner in the chapter house, creating their own Fathers' day for the event.

Last Wednesday Mary Alice Quick of the Ann Arbor chapter dropped in at the house, and stayed until it was time for her to go back for the new term at U of M.

CHI OMEGA—

Carolyn Mitchell, Les Wilcox, Ola Gebel, John Baker, Jane Shaw, and Chris Beukema formed the group that won first prize in the scavenger hunt given by the Chi Omega Saturday night. Betty Sears was chief cook and planner of the affair. Everything from rowboat oars to live fleas were dragged into the Chi Omega living room.

Francis Kinsting spent the weekend at her home in Monroe.

DELTA SIGMA PHI—

The Delta Sigs are planning a smoker with the Alpha Tau chapter at Albion. It will be held some time in the near future.

East Lansing Nine Suffers Loss

East Lansing high's baseball team, playing its second game in two days, was defeated by Lansing Eastern, 9-3, yesterday afternoon at Marshall field. The Trojans went on a batting orgy Tuesday afternoon and swamped Everett, 13 to 1.

The Eastern time pounded Ty Anderson and Al Games for nine hits, including a home run, and the run, Stapheld holding by the Trojan pitchers who made four batters contributed to the defeat.

Girls Sponsor Cookie Sale

Goal is Lansing Girl Scout Camp

With the sale of more than 400,000 Girl Scout cookies to their credit the Girl Scouts of the Lansing district, including East Lansing, Okemos and Haslett, will continue working for their quota until May 1.

A permanent camp for Lansing Girl Scouts to be started this summer is aided upon by the Girl Scouts, according to Mrs. Joseph Stack, chairman of the Girl Scout cookie sale. With this aim in mind the girls have canvassed the outlying districts and will come to East Lansing Friday and Saturday to set up cookie booths in the Union.

The cookies, which are in the shape of the Girl Scout pin, come in boxes of forty.

The game of football existed in England as early as 1175.

Bailey School Notes

The boys and girls of the safety patrol will give the program for assembly tomorrow.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls have planned a hike to Pine-tim Saturday afternoon.

The second graders are taking a great interest in nature this season. Besides their aquarium with its polliwogs and crayfish, the students are making a fish poster in art class. They also made butter and cottage cheese last Friday which they had for lunch in the afternoon. Monday Kay Seipster brought a tiny live garber snake to show the class.

From cocoons which the kindergarten children have been watching, three Polyphemus and one Cerynia moths have emerged. While the children were waiting for these moths to develop the Cecropia died, but two of the Polyphemus moths were mounted.

The pupils of the fourth grade went for a walk through Stratmoor subdivision recently to watch new roads and sidewalks made.

U. P. Club to Elect New Officers

Election of officers will be the main business at a meeting of the Upper Peninsula club at 7:15 Friday night in the Union organization room.

Officers will be elected from the following list of nominees: For president, Harry Mertens; Jim Trebilcock; Bob Trembath; for vice president, Jean Olds, Floras Leonard, Betty Peterson, Edith Westcott; for secretary, Beryl Knudsen; Shirley Mailgren; Vivian Antilla; for treasurer, Bill Strough; Joe Ostrowski; Bernard Kowaleski; Lanto Barfield.

Spartan Nine Invades Iowa For Two Games With Hawkeyes

Delt Sigs Win Second Tilt In Row

Beat FarmHouse 13-1; Kappa Sigs Win First Game

Delta Sigma Phi scored their second straight victory in the Interfraternity baseball league, trouncing the FarmHouse, 13-1, Wednesday, while the Kappa Sigs made their season's debut, defeating the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 6-4.

"Davy" Young, Delta Sig hurler, allowed the FarmHouse only two hits while his mates were scoring 13 runs on seven hits and seven walks. Don Rolle and Alex Ford smashed a triple and a home-run respectively for the Delta Sigs.

KAPPA SIGS WIN
Behind the two-hit pitching of Lefty Dickens, the Kappa Sigs had little trouble whipping the SAE's. The SAE's threatened in the last inning when they scored three runs before Dickens could regain his control.

Tuesday night's games saw the Electrics wallop the Delphics, 14-8, while the Hoopsters were noosing out the Phi Kappa Tau's, 6-0. Behind Al Theiler's three-hit hurling.

SIGMA SIGS STILL UNBEATEN
Sigma Sigs remained undefeated in their quest for a second straight tennis title by turning back Alpha Epsilon, 6-1, 6-4. Roy Letwin and Bob Blackwell fought a winning pair while Al Taylor and Art Wolf competed for the losers.

In the other matches last night, Phi Kappa Delt's whipped the Alpha Gamma Rho's in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, and Phi Chi Alpha edged out Delta Theta, 2-6, in polo. Iowa State will ride State horses in the game.

Rankin and Libbers To Pitch; Michigan Turned Back, 9-3

Dahlstrom Checks Wolverine Batters, Allowing Five Safeties; Owen, Kuk and Randall Top State Batting Spree at Ann Arbor

By DON ANDERSON

Definitely back in winning form after its 9-3 slaughter of Michigan Tuesday, the State baseball team will again take to the road this weekend, playing two games with the University of Iowa Hawkeyes.

The Spartans' two hard luck pitchers, Glenn Rankin and Art Libbers, are scheduled to hurl, Rankin on Friday and Libbers Saturday. They are the ones who pitched brilliantly against Wisconsin, only to see their work nullified by errors.

Poloists Play Flint Trio
Lead of Michigan League at Stake
Michigan State's polo team will be trying for its fourth straight victory when they take on the Flint trio at 7:30 Thursday. The lead in the Michigan Polo league will be at stake.

State has won all of its games in the league so far, while Flint has lost but one. By winning tonight Flint can move into a tie for first place.

Captain Taylor intends to start his regular lineup of Tommy Matlack, George Burns and Manuel Artega. Larsen has been improved in these games and will probably see straight tennis title by turning back Alpha Epsilon, 6-1, 6-4.

The team is recruited from a Phi Kappa Delt's whipped the Alpha Gamma Rho's in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, and Phi Chi Alpha edged out Delta Theta, 2-6, in polo. Iowa State will ride State horses in the game.

SPORT INTERLUDES—Reign Ends

By GEORGE MASKIN

Down Ann Arborway, the boys and girls who attend University of Michigan are beginning to wake up to the fact that the days of the Wolverines' supremacy over Michigan State, athletically, have slipped into the great beyond.

No longer in the majority of sports engaged in by the state rivals do the Wolverines sweep through the Spartans, recording one successive victory after another to set the mind of the impartial fan wondering if it wouldn't be a good idea for State to quit sponsoring teams.

Except in track and swimming, the Wolverine monopoly of State-Michigan contests has ceased to exist. The Spartans rapidly are closing in on Michigan in track, but present indications do not point an equalization of swimming teams.

Margin Too Great
There is little chance State will succeed at any time in the future to draw abreast with Michigan in the victories and loss column. The Wolves hold too great a margin most of which was compiled in the days when State teams rated on a par with those produced now in Junior colleges.

Although competing in the various branches of sports since the turn of the century, it wasn't until around 1926 that State began to rise in the collegiate athletic world. Prior to that, almost any fair team was assured of conquering State.

It was in those 25 years that Michigan ran rough shod over State. Many of the events turned into jokes as far as the Wolverines were concerned. State proved no worthy opponent in most instances for the great Michigan team.

Fortune Changes

Then the wheels of fortune altered their course, State began its move into the athletic limelight. But the process was slow.

At first, the successes of Spartan teams were termed "lucky". State, they said, won because of the breaks, or the opponent was having a bad day, or the foe had a new team composed primarily of sophomores who as yet had not adjusted themselves.

No Favorites

State, in its march to athletic recognition, has played no favorites with opponents. The Spartans have whipped foes in every section of the country, and that naturally includes teams turned out at Michigan.

Michigan Next For Netters

Spartans to Seek Fourth in Row
The Spartan varsity tennis squad is practicing daily in preparation for its fourth match of the season on Saturday against Michigan at Ann Arbor.

State has won its three previous matches, defeating Kalamazoo 5-4, Toledo 9-0 and Ohio State 5-4. Seymour Rawitz and Wendell Foltz accounted for the two 5-4 victories by winning the final doubles matches in each meet.

Trojan Tennis, Golf Teams Break Even

East Lansing high's tennis and golf teams broke even with Lansing Eastern Tuesday afternoon. The Trojan netters hung up their second straight win of the season by turning back Eastern, 5-2. The Quaker linksmen evened the score, winning easily with a 52-stroke margin over their East Lansing opponents.

Laramy Hurls 3-hit Game

Bakerboro Defeats Barnum's Team

Dick Laramy, with errorless support from his Alpha Chi Sigma team mates, shut out the Sleeping Beauties, 6-0, last night in the Independent Men's softball league.

Laramy gave three hits, while his mates collected five off the pitching of two Sleeping Beauty hurlers.

Don Tuttle turned in another fine pitching performance, as Bakerboro completely outlasted the Barnums, 21-0. Tuttle issued only one hit, while the winners picked up 13 safeties.

A six-inning slugfest featured Tuesday night's games, as the Ringers topped Macks Boys, 11-10. The Topnotchers beat the Hometowners, 8-5, in the other game. John Buvill pitched for the winners, and Al Genetti worked for the losers.

Central Trackmen Beat Trojans

East Lansing high's track team bowed to a stronger Lansing Central squad, 65-39, on the college track yesterday afternoon.

The Trojans were able to collect only three first places. Ron Mead continued his supremacy over opponent sprinters to slam bats in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes. He also ran anchor on the victorious relay team.

Trackmen Head for Drake

By TOM MOLLOY

With approximately the same squad that went to Kansas, Coach Ralph Young leaves this afternoon for Des Moines and the Drake relays.

Two men who have been added to the personnel of the team for this trip are Claire Graft, who will compete in the 100-yard dash, and Bill Carpenter, who will replace Gayle Robinson on the 440- and 880-yard relay teams.

Wilbur Green and Harvey Woodstra will carry the mail for State in their respective events, the 100-yard dash and the 120-yard high hurdles. Both men are also on the dash relay teams, which are composed of Robert Atwood, Bill Carpenter, Woodstra and Green.

Kon Waite, Dick Frey, Bob Hill and Art Green will form the Spartan entry in the two-mile relay, the four-mile relay and the distance medley relay. Waite and Frey will also be entered in the two-mile run, and Hill and Green will run in the eight medley relay.

Completing the roster, which will soon be on its way to Drake, Harvey Woodstra, Dale Springer, Lodo Habre, who will be State's representative in the pole vault. The shuttle relay team will be the same foursome which placed second in that event at Kansas. The men on this quartet are Gayle Robinson and Johnny Seay. The meet will last two days, Friday and Saturday, with several elimination heats scheduled for Friday to decide who will have berths in the finals on Saturday.
