Today's Campus

Introducing Pat

Patricia Simpson, junior co-ed, only recently revealed how she was introduced to this campus.

Prof. King, then head of dramatics, did it by asking her if she was any relation to Nate Simpson.

When she admitted that Nate was her grandfather, Prof. King explained to the class how many times he had gone over to Jackson to visit Pat's father and grandfather. He even drew a diagram on the board, to the amusement of the students, to show, "Here's where I used to sit at the table, when I visited."

Next to me would be a murderer over there, a bank robber, here Nate Simpson; there a kidnaper, and here Miss Simpson's father.

Pat says the class distinctly avoided her after that, because Prof. King forgot to mention that Nate Simpson was warden at Jackson.

Retaliation

Two FFA boys decided on a little subtle retaliation late Thursday afternoon. Thinking no doubt of all the thoughtless civ folks who had picked on their land, they did a little picknicking themselves.

Seated comfortably on the Chi O lawn in the shade of a large tree, the Future Farmers produced a couple of brown paper sacks and laid out a sizeable feast. They lit no fire, left no debris, and otherwise set a good example that they probably hope city picknickers will follow in the future.

Swing 'Em Off

The old periodical room in the library is supposed to be an excellent place to study but people are beginning to have their doubts Wednesday afternoon a student, tired of studying, removed his shoes, propped his feet on a table, and leaned back in his chair for a good old-fashioned snooze.

The snooze was so good that his snoring caused quite a commotion. The rest of the students in the room laughed loudly enough to awaken him. Seeing the interested spectators, the sleeper calmly stretched, put his shoes on, and walked out of the room.

Man Bites Dog

Jim Briney of Pontiac brought the great Dane back to school last weekend to give his pet a taste of college life. His room mate, Art Barry, was quite pleased until he discovered it was necessary that he give up his share of the room, as the dog would be able to rest comfortably for the night.

We Can Prove It

Both Driscoll, sophomore home economics student, discovered she held a certain charm for the FFA boys. Thursday she was walking quietly on her way to class when a group of these boys stopped her and blushing asked if she would allow them to take her picture. Always willing to oblige, both posed beside their truck while the boys proudly snapped the picture.

Wednesday Concert Slated to Dedicate New Band Shell

The Michigan State college band will inaugurate the new band shell with the first of a series of three open-air concerts there at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 11. Two other programs will be given on the following Wednesdays.

This concert will be the first performance to be held in the new band shell and will serve as part of its dedication ceremonies.

The band shell is the outcome of the gift by the graduating class of 1937 for the purpose of constructing a suitable place for outdoor concerts. This gift was augmented by the State Board of Agriculture, so that the plan could be completed this year.

Temporary seating facilities will be arranged in front of the band shell where the ground slopes gently. Leonard Falcone, director of the band, inaugurated the spring open air series of concerts eight years ago. At that time the band did nothing except play for athletic events, military parades and similar occasions and Falcone felt that there was a need for concert music.

Mr. Falcone has returned to the campus during his leave of absence to conduct the final rehearsals and to assist in the dedication of the new band shell. The program will be held in the college gymnasium in case of inclement weather. There is no admission charge to these concerts.

Just before the concert Wednesday evening, the band shell will be officially dedicated. For the brief ceremony, scheduled to start at 7:25, Secretary John A. Hannah will act as chairman. Since the shell is the project of the graduating class of 1937, Vincent Vandenberg, president of that class, will present it to President R. S. Shaw. The president will accept the gift in behalf of the college.

Forestry Department Has New Secretary

Miss Mary Lou Tilton will be the new secretary of the forestry department, succeeding Mrs. Dube, who will finish her work there June 1.

Them Grecian Hillbillies Been a'Feudin' Ag'in

By NORM KENYON
"Oh the Martins and the Coys they was reckless mountain boys—and girls."

But them lily-pickin' pikers didn't know beans from buck-shot when it comes to feudin'. Now take the Alpha Phi-Hespie taffy-pull for instance. Them there Greeks kept the East Lansing foothills buzzin' for high on to two weeks with their carry-on.

It all started one night along the first of May. Everything had been peaceful-like up until then. The boys was walkin' their gals down along the river bank. Birds was a bilin' and cooin' and makin' big plans for the future. Even a couple of professors had come out of their libraries and was a sniffin' the cowslips.

All of a sudden things popped. One of the Hespie boys, called Derrickson, got up gumption enough to go callin' on a red-headed Alpha Phi. Her pappy had tagged her with one of them fancy Frenchy names like Yvonne something or other. Well, this Hespie fiddled around the Alpha Phi shack, eatin' up the leftover corn pone and makin' wisecracks about the size of the Alpha Phi's feet.

Just like it was out of nowhere, Yvonne got her dander up. She told Derrickson them bacon-skiabs he staggered around on wasn't no lady-fingers either. Besides, he hadn't paid his union dues. Derrick got mad and lumbered off makin' lurid threats.

Late that night when the Alpha Phi was makin' the hillside rock with their slumberins, Derrick snuck back through the bushes, wiggled in through the chicken coop and swiped a picture of the fireplace.

Next morning the Greek gals discovered the dirty deed and set up a howl that could be heard clean out to Okemos. They called out the local revenoo'n agents to fetch back their picture. But the coppers couldn't get to first base with the Hespies.

So Yvonne and a blond vowed revenge. The next night they slithered into the Hespie diggins when the boys was sleepin' off the effects of studym' and snatched a plaque. One that the Hespies had won for beatin' the Phi Deltis at mumblety-pek.

That riled the Hespie kinfolk. The Alpha Phis had called in a bunch of down-river Greeks, callin' S. A. E.'s, to act as watchdogs, but the brothers overet and had to go home. So the Hespies had clear sailin' when they carted off their enemy's front stoop.

By that time things had come to a pretty pass. Every time an Alpha Phi would see a Hespie next day she would stick her tongue out at him and leer. Kids didn't dare to go outdoors for fear of bein' corrupted.

At last the Hespies couldn't stand it any longer. Beggan' for mercy they swore to bring back everything they had took. So the two clans kissed and made up and had an awful good time. Now Derrickson and Yvonne are smiling at each other again. The S. A. E.'s have their digestion and the profs are back out sniffin' cowslips. But it'll be a long time before most folks will forget that Greek feud.

PWA Speech Research To Start

1,000 Students Will Be Observed to Find Best Teaching Method

Work will start with 300 beginning speech students on a PWA research project in an effort to find out which techniques are most successful in teaching speech. A fund of $20,000 is available for this project, of which about $8,000 will be used here.

A force of about 75 workers is being employed to gather data from this and other colleges and from high schools. It is expected that over 1,000 students will be observed during the course of this study. The project was started by the Committee of Co-operative Research of the National Association of Teachers of Speech, of which Dr. D. Hayworth, head of the speech department, is the chairman.

Official sponsor of the project is the Department of Public Education of Michigan. The advisory board includes men from several Michigan colleges, who are prominent in the field of speech teaching. Technical advisor is Dr. Adrian Rondleau, a specialist in educational statistics from Columbia university.

Dean Named To Board

Governor Appoints Hutson as a State Science Examiner

Symphony Ends Concert Season

HANS LANGE

By VADA GRANGER

Under the direction of Hans Lange and with Alexander Schuster as guest soloist, the Michigan State symphony orchestra presented the final concert of the year in the gymnasium last night. The program combined some of the less well-known modern composers with two of the most popular and widely-known of the last period—Haydn and Schubert.

Mr. Schuster's appearance was his first since his return from Pittsburgh, where he spent the season as soloist with the Pittsburgh symphony. His execution of Haydn's famous "Concerto in D Major for the Violoncello" was extremely powerful and showed his complete familiarity with and mastery of the composition.

He was given splendid support by the orchestra, which also performed very ably in its three groups.

The first, "Ukrainian Suite for Strings" by Quincey Porter, was in six movements. Porter, a young American composer, is a teacher of theory at Yassar college.

The Schubert "Symphony No. 5 in B-flat Major" which was the crowning number, was by far the most outstanding. Mr. Lange, whose poised and commanding presence on the stand added much to the performance, demanded the most from members of the orchestra. They responded to make his last appearance as conductor a notable success. Mr. Lange will return to Chicago soon, where he is associate conductor of the Chicago symphony orchestra.

Pianist to Give Recital Here

The music department here will present Wendell Westcott, pianist, in recital Monday evening, May 9, at 7:30, in the Union ballroom.

Westcott received his music education and training in the college music department, studying piano under Professor Lewis Richards. Since his graduation in 1933, he has been teaching piano at the college as a graduate assistant.

Westcott a well known in Lansing and East Lansing through his concert appearances and as organist at the Central Methodist church of Lansing.

Numbers by Mozart, Schubert, Schuman, Gluck-Friedman, Poulenc, Chopin, and Prokofoff will make up his program.

Engineering Group Elects Clough

William Clough was elected chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the meeting held Wednesday. Other officers who were elected were David Boys, vice-chairman, Robert Stirling, treasurer, Victor Carlson, secretary.

FFA Visitors Move From Campus

Two-Day Session Ends With Talks, Contests, Showings

Future Farmer boys numbering 3,000 are back home after spending the past two days at Michigan State. Sessions which began early Thursday morning closed yesterday noon.

Readings were given by Shirley Cook and John Marshall, the latter being from WKAR's poet's corner. A one-act play and music completed the program. D. O. Buell of the speech department was chairman and Robert Ritter, student announcer, acted as master of ceremonies. Thursday night a concert was held.

Horse Show To be Staged

Entries to Include Sixty Varied Types in Competition

Prizes totaling $3,000 in cash and trophies will be presented winners at the sixteenth annual horse show which is scheduled for June 3 and 4. The show is sponsored by the Michigan Horse Breeders' association and Michigan Horse Show society.

Sixty different classes, consisting of saddle horses, jumpers, polo ponies, draft stallions, and hunting horses will be shown. Draft horses have never been exhibited in this show before but since the college has taken so much interest in them, the committee has decided that it would be beneficial to include this class with the others.

The judges for the different classes will be as follows: Morris Carnes, rated one of the best judges in the mid-west, for saddle horses and fine horses; Edward Y. Argo, former member of the U. S. Army Olympic team for jumping horses and polo ponies; M. W. Staples, instructor at the Ontario Agricultural college, for draft horses.

Penelope Enjoys Showing Visitors Around Town

By BILLIE TELL
Hi, Penelope, what have you been doing with yourself and other people and why. But that isn't why I'm talking to you—to play guessing games.

Have you ever answered your phone to have a very nice voice say, "I'm a friend of a friend of your cousin, and I'm up here for a convention." He told me to call you, so I am, and would you have a little time in which to show me around?" What would you say, especially if it were a very nice, deep, male voice? That's just what I said.

So Saturday afternoon I started downstairs to meet the owner of that voice. But I had a problem on my hands. What did he want to be shown? The campus? East Lansing? Lansing? Or places like To—, I mean Sandy's? Well, I'd soon find out.

Well, Penelope, you little chocolate chicken, he was as nice as his voice. Thrill, thrill! What did he want to see? Everything. He all was from Alabama, and wanted to see all he could. So we did. Yes, yes.

We started with the campus. And he was most impressed. Rilly. He raved about the pine trees and stuff. Seems that they have pine trees in Alabama. Who'd a think it? And he saw the river. Oh, my, yes. And the ducks. And all the buildings. He even took pictures "to show the fellahs back home because they wouldn't believe it if he just told 'em." Pictures of the campus, you double dope. Huh? Certainly he took

Return to Spirit Of Whistler's Mother

Sunday is Mother's Day. As declared by the florist, the gift shop, the telegraph company, and even the butcher...

It used to be a day for honoring our mothers, for showing them in actual fabric what our love meant. Today it has become a mechanical, commercial exploitation of an intimate, personal feeling.

Why can't we have a return to the spirit of "Whistler's Mother"? That world-famous painting has something we have lost in our modern hustle bustle—a simplicity, a dignity, a loveliness of soul entirely lacking today...

Let's stop a minute and take account of what our mothers really mean to us. What would best express this feeling? Would it be a box of candy mailed by the drugstore, or a trip home for the week-end...

We've been hard-boiled and matter-of-fact long enough. Let's have a return to sentimentalism, if that's what it would be to tell our mothers we love them.

Away with this "express your love with a beautiful American Home washing machine". Back to the days of sonnets and sentiments...

Don't let someone else do what you alone can do. Make Mother's Day your own personal celebration, something for you and your mother to share. Give what your mother wants most—your love and appreciation...

GUEST EDITORIAL

The Need For An Auditorium

By LEWIS RICHARDS, Head of the Music Department

From the standpoint of my own department, of course the need for an auditorium is more than obvious—it appears to us almost imperative. To each department its own needs seem the most important...

petitions that have circulated on the campus.

As a recapitulation of the many points to be considered, may I point out the following most important aspects of the necessity for an auditorium as soon as funds can possibly be made available?

- 1. There is no place with adequate acoustics in which the entire student body or even one-third of it can be seated at lectures, concerts, etc., for which every student pays a voluntary fee and is consequently entitled to admission.
2. Because of the inadequacy of all existing places used, it is impossible for those people responsible for these attractions to bring certain types of entertainment to the campus, such as symphony orchestras, ballets, and many of the finest lecturers who are now impossible to secure because of prohibitive expense of two lectures on the same evening.
3. Because of the lack of auditorium space, it has become increasingly difficult each year to schedule activities of the many departments who give public recitals, plays, etc., without a constant conflict in dates and rehearsal schedules. It has been a constant source of chagrin to me, for example, to have to interrupt the schedule of the Athletic Department in using the Gymnasium. Although Mr. Young has been invariably generous about it, it has been most inconvenient for him and his department and very unsatisfactory for us all.
4. Events such as Commencement and Baccalaureate Services must be held in Demonstration Hall under the most unsatisfactory conditions, with the only alternative an out-of-door arrangement dependent on the weather.
5. Many events prepared by students and faculty, such as plays, concerts, and so on, into which a great deal of effort and time are necessarily put, must be given outdoors in the spring, so that weather conditions are a most potent source of worry.
6. For the Speech and Dramatics Department, it must be a very difficult, if not almost impossible thing, to give adequate instruction in staging, lighting, and other mechanical phases of dramatics without the proper laboratory equipment housed in a permanent fashion.
7. It is my belief that in the long run an auditorium would eliminate a great expense, which must run into several thousands of dollars a year, in renting the Church, preparing all the smaller places for seating audiences, setting up stages, etc.

Since health and classroom facilities have by right the first consideration when building funds are requested, the need for an auditorium has had consistently to be replaced by more urgent provisions on campus. However, in one respect an auditorium for an educational institution of this size can most certainly be considered equal in importance to classroom space, inasmuch as it would fulfill that particular function for a number of very important arts, whose value to the student body as a whole cannot be questioned.

Spartan Gets Lowdown on Horses

Steve Szasz Worked As Race Secretary

With the forthcoming race between War Admiral and Sea Biscuit holding the attention of every racing fan in the country, here at Michigan State is a student who is probably as capable of picking the winner as any racing fan on the tracks.

He is Steve Szasz, Arlington Heights, Illinois, junior and member of the Spartan football team. During the past four summer vacations he has returned to his home to work at the Arlington Park race track for the five-week racing season.

His job in racing secretary Charles McClellens' office has brought him in contact with many notables. Alf Vanderbilt, one of the wealthiest horse owners and largest money winner in 1906, he knows well.

"Vanderbilt," says Steve, "is very eccentric, both in dress and manners—he rarely knows the names of his horses, and depends entirely on his agents."

These agents are in his opinion the real racers at the tracks. The owners give them complete charge of the buying and racing of the horses, and save the glory and occasional profits for themselves.

Orchestra leader and movie star Ben Bernie, prize fighter Barney Ross, and newspaper man Quentin Reynolds are among the other well-known racing fans whom he has met.

"Late at the track for the initial followers is one of easy come, easy go," states Steve. "Money is the least of anyone's worries, either you have it or you don't, and if you don't you soon will have—that is the motto."

This summer Steve will be unable to return to his job as he is to attend ROTC summer camp. However, when the racing season rolls around no one will be following it closer in the papers than Steve.

The Readers Speak

Continuation of receiving the weekly mail is greeted at the student club with interest. Articles in the columns are read by the members who will then discuss them at the next meeting.

With the announcement by the military department that there would be a special parade Thursday afternoon in honor of Junior Farmers' Week, some 2,200 farm students found that another hour of their time was to be appropriated by the college. They realized that they would have to stand at attention while several student officers carried them through another boring ceremony.

It is a fact that the students of the college have not the slightest interest in the affair. The statement seems paradoxical in view of the fairly large crowds which have witnessed the three parades already completed, but it must be remembered that a large proportion of this group is made up of parents and sweethearts of the young stalwarts who lead their various platoons, invariably before the reviewing stand.

The parade certainly teaches neither the officers nor the boys even the fundamentals of military drill. All movements of the battalions are marked out on chalk lines before the exercises, and there are officers circulating constantly through the ranks, giving instructions. Any deviation from these tactics is apt to result disastrously, as is evidenced by the unhappy mistake made by the leader of a certain Coast Artillery platoon during the first parade of the year.

Perhaps our country counts were thrilled to the core at the sight of one upon line of uniforms standing at attention while the fellows went through the routine of a salute to the sponsors, but I am inclined to believe that a goodly collection of the college's livestock would have had much the same effect, and would, moreover, have been easier on the feet and feelings of the students. Livestock doesn't mind being lined up for exhibition.

Murphy Proclaims National Air Mail Week

Honoring the twentieth anniversary of regular mail service in the United States, Governor Frank Murphy has proclaimed that Michigan observe National Air Mail week from May 15 to 21.

In the proclamation, issued Wednesday, the governor urged that all the people observe the week by "liberally patronizing the air mail and otherwise evidencing their appreciation of the effects of the post office department to provide this necessary service for our state."

Winners in the public speaking contest were Clio Buxton of Haslett, who was presented with a gold medal and Allan Van Dyke of Olivet and William Camburn of Morenci, who won silver and bronze medals.

Future Farmers from 188 of the 227 Michigan high schools teaching vocational agriculture were present at the 19th annual Future Farmers of America convention Thursday.

Raymond Powell, Haslett, was chosen vice-president, and Dean M. Radtke, of Morenci, was elected secretary.

The junior farmers' farm management contest held by the F. F. A. high school boys is a new type of contest tried here at M. S. C. for the first time. Only two other states, Iowa and Oregon, have tried contests similar to this.

SPORT INTERLUDES-

Honorary

By GEORGE MASKIN

Sigma Delta Psi, honorary athletic fraternity for which tryouts will be staged here next week, was founded at Indiana university in 1912, but the society did not incorporate until 18 years later.

The name translated into English means "the body is the servant of the mind." The organization has for its purpose the object of promoting physical, mental and moral development of college students.

In contrast to most other honoraries, Sigma Delta Psi bars no male collegiate students, excepting those ineligible under the institution's rules. Candidates for Sigma Delta Psi should command the respect of their associates as athletes and gentlemen.

Men qualifying to gain admission into Sigma Delta Psi must lay $10 on the line.

Must Pass Tests

Chapters, one of which exists at Michigan State, can not establish local dues which shall exceed $2 per year, the money obviously to go toward defraying the running expenses of the group.

For admission in full membership in Sigma Delta Psi the student must attain certain required marks in each 13 events. In addition he must boast a good posture, and as previously stated, be eligible.

A candidate can attempt only three tests on a single day. In each test he is allowed three official trials during a 24-hour period, all of which in the presence of at least one faculty member or the authorized director of the certification committee.

Tests Easy And—

One seeking entrance into Delta Sigma Psi may engage in the tests while a student or an alumnus from his college. At State candidates can pass certain requirements next week and complete the tests next fall if he desires.

Some tests appear simple enough, but we don't know about the others, especially that broad jump after our recent experience in Mike Casteel's track class. Here are the tests:

- Event Record
100-yard dash 11.6 seconds
120-yard low hurdles 16 seconds
Running high jump 5 feet
16-pound shot put 30 feet
Running broad jump 17 feet
Baseball throw 230 feet
Or javelin throw 130 feet
Football punt 120 feet
100-yard swim 1:45
Mile run 8 minutes
Hand stand 10 seconds
Fence vault chin high
Front hand spring landing on feet

Can't Drop Hurdle

To complicate matters in the hurdle event, all hurdles must remain upright from their bases for the test to be valid. This is contrary to the National Collegiate rules, which supposedly prevail in the test.

In college and high school meets a runner can knock over every hurdle without facing disqualification. Such performances do not result in good times, however.

Lighter men get a break in the shot put, with the 30-foot mark demanded only of candidates weighing 160 pounds or more. The smaller entry's requirement is scaled down in accordance with the following proportion:

"One hundred and sixty pounds is to the candidate's weight as 20 feet is to the requirement."

One of Toughest

One of the toughest tests comes in the rope climbing. The candidate starts from a sitting position on the floor and climbs the rope without use of legs. He may use his feet in the descent.

In the hand stand, the candidate does not have to remain stationary, but the rules forbid his advancing or retreating more than three feet in any direction.

Winners of varsity and intramural letters may substitute the broad for any one requirement in Sigma Delta Psi, except swimming. This privilege is limited to two official varsity sports and one intramural championship.

Team Rallies to Turn Back Hoosiers As Dahlstrom Hurls Effectively

By DON ANDERSON

Glenn Rankin, sophomore right-hander, will attempt to pitch the State baseball team, fresh from a 7-4 victory over Indiana yesterday, to its second triumph in two days when he takes the mound against Notre Dame this afternoon.

The Irish may prove to be a tough nut to crack, however, for they have been bowling over all opposition with great consistency. They have a veteran, hardhitting team and on Thursday defeated Western State, a team which year in and year out has one of the strongest teams in the state.

Beta Kappas Triumph

Beat FarmHouse, 9-5, as DeLong Pitches Well

Inter-fraternity athletics took it easy Thursday evening with only one baseball game and two tennis matches being played.

Beta Kappas turned in a 9-5 victory over FarmHouse in a fairly well-played game in which hitting was the main point rather than fielding. Jimmy DeLong, Beta Kappa hurler, had a lot of stuff on his pitches but was very wild and consequently issued several walks.

His mates, led by Willie Scales, made up for this weakness by pounding Ken Cavanaugh, FarmHouse pitcher, for plenty of hits. Scales contributed a double and two singles and Massey binged out two singles.

Sigma Nu's veteran tennis team was well on its way to a second inter-fraternity crown as they turned in their fourth straight win, a 6-0, 6-1 victory over the Kappa Sigma Roy Leitch and Bob Bucknell, Sigma Nu racket-weilders, were hitting with accuracy and speed and were too powerful for Jack Gauntlett and Bob Reed, the Kappa Sig duo.

In Thursday's other match, Pi Kappa Phi trounced Theta Kappa Nu, 8-6, 8-1. Bob Field and Don Patehrt teamed together to form a winning pair which overpowered Gordy Purdy and Bill Carlson.

Monday's schedule for baseball is as follows: Sigma Nu vs. Pi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon meets Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Delphics face Hesperian, Phi Kappa Tau meets Lambda Chi Alpha, and FarmHouse tackles Sigma Alpha Epsilon Monday.

All activities start at 5:30.

Poloists to Engage Iowa in West

Spartan Golf Team Plays Wildeats

Big Ten Champions Threaten State Streak Today

Riding on the wave of a three-match winning streak, State's sensational golf team will attempt to chalk up its fourth straight win at the expense of Northwestern university this morning in the first home match of the season.

The match, to be played on the Walnut Hills course, is scheduled for 11:30 a. m.

Ed Flowers, Tom Brand, Roy Nelson, and Bud Tarsney make up the team which has turned back Michigan, Wayne, and Western Reserve in a fashion which has stamped them as one of the outstanding golfing foursomes in the mid-west.

In the three matches played on the road, the Spartans have piled up a total of 41 1/2 points while allowing their opponents but 12 1/2.

Brand has turned in the most sparkling individual scores of the foursome by shooting below par in both the Michigan and Western matches. Flowers is the most consistent player on the squad, turning two 75's and a 76 and being medalist in the Wayne meet.

Northwestern looms as the highest hurdle on the State schedule because of the fact that the Purple boasts practically the same team that carried off the Western Conference championship last year.

Led by Sid Richardson, individual champion of the Big Ten, the invaders will be attempting to repeat a 10 to 8 win over the Spartans last season.

The rest of the Northwestern squad is made up of Frank Perich, Chet Bland, and Harry Lazer.

Frat Tryouts Set to Open Monday

Tryouts for membership in the Michigan State chapter of Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity, will be run off next week beginning Monday.

The schedule:

Monday—100-yard dash, 120-yard low hurdles, and high jump.

Tuesday—swimming, 100 yards, and baseball or javelin throw.

Wednesday—broad jump, shot put, and baseball or javelin throw.

Thursday—football punt, 20-foot rope climb, and hand stand.

Friday—mile run, front hand spring, and fence vault.

All events will be held on the new track from 4 to 6 p. m., except swimming trials which may be run off from 2 to 3 p. m. in the college pool.

Spring Game to End Football Practice

After five long weeks of strenuous drills and bruising scrimmages, Coach Charley Bachman's football squad will ease off during the coming week, tuning up its attack for next Saturday's annual spring game.

The exhibition contest will officially close the spring practice session and serve as a forecast of next fall's grid machine.

Most of the work next week will serve to polish off the rough edges on the huge squad that Bachman and his aides have molded into a smooth working outfit.

INSTALL NEW DUMMY A new type of tackling and blocking dummy was installed this week, and Bachman intends to make good use of the new development during the final week.

As the squad tapers off for the contest, several boys are laid up with injuries. Les Bruckner sprained his knee in scrimmaging last week and will be on the sidelines next Saturday.

Charley Asher, last year's second string fullback, has been hobbling around with a cane since he sprained his ankle in gym class and will also view the spring classic from the bench.

Slugfest Again Features Yearling '9' Victory

Evidence to impress upon the mind of Athletic Director Ralph Young the advantages of a lighting system on College Field was again presented Thursday afternoon.

Providing this was or was not their intentions, the fact still remains that the freshman baseball squad struggled through the latter hours of the afternoon and early part of the evening to register their second straight victory of the season, conquering Alma college, 15 to 14.

The crowd of approximately 400 FFA boys left during the middle of the game, after the evening meal, and returned in time to see the Spartan yearlings come from behind for the fourth time in the game to eke out a one-run victory in 10 innings.

Alex Fisher, yearling third baseman, after almost sucking the game away in the first half of the tenth inning with two of his five errors, became the game's hero. With two out in the tenth, he smashed his second tremendous triple over the centerfielder's head to drive home the tying and winning runs.

The Spartan yearlings made a total of 20 hits with Dick Leahy, Ron Krueger, Ben Good, and Guy Mann contributing three each.

Bill Wilson started on the mound for the fresh and enjoyed but mediocre success as the Scots belted his offerings for 11 runs and 15 hits in eight innings.

Bull Green, the big round man in blue, took the day off from his familiar job behind the plate—to see the ball game. We forgot to look Bull's way during the game to see if he was participating in the occasional outbursts of razzberries of the officiating umpire.

Indiana tried the old cut-off play in the third, but it failed as the way Dahlstrom hugged third while George Owen took second unmolested.

Next inning State tried it, and was entirely successful as Colek returned Randall's snap throw, the latter putting the ball on Clark, Indiana first baseman, attempting to score.

Fiechok, third baseman for the Hoosiers, proved himself to be quite a juggler. When Randall's high infield fly popped out of his glove, Fiechok reached out with his meat hand and caught the ball coming down the second time.

George Owen really knows how to place his hits, or does he? Anyway, he hit a fly in the eighth that the right fielder grabbed without taking a step.

Manor Softball Team Scores

Evergreen Manor completely outclassed Snyder's Corners men Thursday night in the Independent Men's league, behind the airtight no-hit hurling of their ace, Al Ritz. He walked three and fanned six, while his mates hammered out 15 runs on 12 hits.

Leo Callahan and Ritz lead Manor's offensive, each getting a home run and a double in four trips to the plate.

No games are scheduled Monday night in the Independent Men's softball league, but on Tuesday, Avenue Boys and Ringers play in one game, while Briggs-Jones engage the Tognatchers in the other. Both will be out to extend their winning streaks to three games.

Netmen Win Easily Over Hoosiers

State Will Seek Fifth Win From Kentucky Today

Back on the victory trail with a 6-3 decision over the University of Indiana yesterday, Michigan State's tennis team will clash with Kentucky here today in search of its fifth win of the season.

Kentucky comes here with an impressive list of victories, including a 5-4 score over the Indiana team last week. The meet is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

In spite of a gusty wind which played havoc with all drives, the Spartans had an easy time brushing aside Indiana. They crashed through to take four singles and two doubles matches.

The No. 1 singles clash between Dulberger of Indiana and State's Herm Struck featured the meet. After more than two hours and a half of play, the Hoosier finally won out, 7-5, 7-9, 6-4.

Wendell Foltz, Charley Gibbs, and Ralph Jennings were the other singles winners for State.

Struck and Chester Olson combined to capture the first of the doubles events in another endurance match, 9-7, 5-7, 6-3. Foltz and Seymour Rawitz paired for State's other doubles victory and won in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5.

The summaries:

Singles: Dulberger (Ind.) defeated Struck (St.) 7-5, 7-9, 6-4. Olson (St.) defeated Foltz (Ind.) 6-2, 6-3. Jennings (St.) defeated Foltz (Ind.) 6-3, 7-5. Foltz (St.) defeated Rawitz (Ind.) 6-3, 6-2. Gibbs (St.) defeated Struck (Ind.) 7-5, 7-9, 6-4.

Doubles: Struck and Olson (St.) defeated Dulberger and Jennings (Ind.) 9-7, 5-7, 6-3. Foltz and Rawitz (St.) defeated Struck and Gibbs (Ind.) 6-4, 7-5.

Hoosier Catcher Unleashes Surplus Power by Throw

Aggressive is the word for Heidt, Indiana catcher. As Gentil, his battery mate, was taking his warmup throws before State's half of the seventh, he uncorked one that couldn't have been reached with a butterfly net. Heidt retrieved the ball and promptly heaved it high and far into center field.

At yesterday's ball game, when Al Diebold's foul back over the screen in the sixth inning crashed down on the broadcasting platform on top of the bleachers, Chief Sports Scribe George Maskin, who was sunning himself up there, was forced to beat a hasty retreat to the bombproofs.

If you're wondering if Gentil lives up to his name during the game, ask Gene Colek, who probably has an application of liniment over the spot on his back that got in the way of a badly pitched ball.

Bull Green, the big round man in blue, took the day off from his familiar job behind the plate—to see the ball game. We forgot to look Bull's way during the game to see if he was participating in the occasional outbursts of razzberries of the officiating umpire.

Indiana tried the old cut-off play in the third, but it failed as the way Dahlstrom hugged third while George Owen took second unmolested.

George Owen really knows how to place his hits, or does he? Anyway, he hit a fly in the eighth that the right fielder grabbed without taking a step.

Burke, Carr Head Entry Of Rivals

Power is Expected To Bring State Fourth Victory

Unless Mr. Surprise Upset again intervenes, Michigan State's track team will capture its fourth, straight outdoor dual meet of the season today when the Spartans play host to Marquette, starting at 2 p. m.

State, with all around power, appears to have too much class for the invading Hilltoppers from Milwaukee, despite the appearance of such well known track performers as Eddie Burke and Herman Carr in the Marquette lineup.

But the Spartans refuse to flatter the meet already is "in the bag." They will remember the recent indoor get-together between the two teams at Milwaukee.

The Spartans went into that meet heavy favorites to topple Marquette without great difficulty. However, Marquette, and not State, emerged on the long end of the count after the evening's program had been run off.

ENTERS 20 MEN

Coach Connie Jennings of Marquette plans to enter about 20 men in today's dual meet. He will rely especially on Burke in the high jump, Carr, quarter-mile, Maynard Black and Harry Knorr, dashes, Bob Shurilla, hurdles and broad jump, and John Dye and Larry Hartig, weights and javelin.

In addition other "Toppers" who probably will break into the leading column include John Hoolter, middle distance, Len Pruski and George Papuga, distance runs, and Earl Stolberg, pole vault.

The Hilltoppers also load a crack one-mile relay team which should break the present track record of 3:20.2 set last year by Western State Teachers college.

Today's meet will be the final home appearance of the Spartans before they defend their state intercollegiate championships here in two weeks. State will wind up its dual meet season next Saturday running Notre Dame at South Bend.

TO LEAD STATE

As in past meets, Wilbur Green, sprinter, deluxe, and Harvey Woodstra, hurdling star, will lead the Spartans. Greer should take both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, while Woodstra is favored in the two hurdles.

Ernie Bremer and Art Jenkins give State a formidable entry in the weight and javelin events. Bremer is expected to better his present record of 182 feet in the javelin during today's meet.

Besides Woodstra, the Spartans will have Dale Sprunger, Gayle Robinson, John Scales and Johnny Pingel competing in the hurdles. Bob Hills should give Carr a good race in the quarter-mile, while Roy Fehl is the favorite in the half-mile.

State again will have a strong entry in the distance runs with Ken Waite leading the mile and Richard Frey, the two milers. The Spartan half-mile relay of Woodstra, Green, Bill Carpenter and Bob Adcock, also should score.
