

Today's Campus

As You Were

Members of the Tuesday 1 o'clock military class in the cavalry division got a real laugh out of the recent inspection by the corps area officers. While they were waiting to be given the "once over" by the inspecting officer, Private John O'Leary gave the boys a bawling out for chewing gum. Six or seven cadets spat out their chaws and the entire class snapped to attention in anticipation of the review. The students had difficulty in suppressing their laughter when they observed that Col. F. L. Martin, inspecting officer, was chewing gum.

Consolation

Although Kappa Sigma representatives went home last night with a big silver loving cup presented them for winning the Interfraternity Sing, the Theta Nu boys returned to their house with the pedestal on which the cup had been shown. This was fair enough because the pedestal had been borrowed from the Theta Kappa Nu house earlier in the evening for display purposes.

History Repeats

Green hats are dotting the campus. They are not a result of a tardy freshman week but merely the Varsity club renewing an old custom. At a recent meeting, the members of the club appropriated funds to secure these new hats. Made of green felt with a two-inch "S" on the front, the hat is a replica of those the Varsity club used to wear about five years ago.

The Two R's

Joe Rube, next year's senior president, must have been just a wee bit worried over the outcome of the election yesterday, for when he met Marshall Dann with the election returns under his arm, he practically got down on his knees to find out the results. Finally Marshall softened and told him that the last name of the winner started with the letter "R". Rube's face was glowing until he remembered that the last name of his opponent was Ritter.

Look, Girls!

The man in the gaudy, blue uniform seen about the campus these days is Donald Hittle, 37, who is a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Many will remember Don as a radio announcer and Parents star debater of last year. This past year he has spent at the Marine Corps basic school at Philadelphia. He is now visiting his parents and in August will report for active duty with the marines aboard the U. S. S. Portland at Mare Island, California, navy yard.

Student Art Show Presents Free Use of Colors

Color holds sway in the student art exhibit in Morrill hall. The exhibit consists primarily of individualistic water colors with a few oils, pen and ink, and pencil studies completing the show. Freedom of color, idea, and style have been emphasized, according to Miss Winckler, of the art department. "All paintings displayed are the result of the student's actual experience, not imaginative as might be expected." Members of the advanced art courses who are exhibiting paintings are: Mylred Bingham, Irene Brewer, Avelon Gowans, Jean Knight, Eric McKenzie, Raoul Nies, Barbara Struble, and John Wright.

Student Council Plans For First Chinese Movie on Campus

'Song of China' Will Show Three Generations of Chinese Family Life; Will Have Symbolic Music and Captions in Both English and Chinese

"Song of China", the first Chinese picture to be shown on Michigan State campus, will be presented Tuesday, May 31, in the social hall of the Peoples church at 7 and 9 o'clock.

The Student Council, at the suggestion of C. Y. Wong, graduate student in horticulture, and Felix Shen, business administration junior, is sponsoring the picture to aid civilian relief in China.

"Song of China," produced, acted, photographed and musically scored entirely by Chinese, in China, was brought to America by Douglas MacLean, producer for one of the leading motion picture companies in Hollywood. It is a silent picture synchronized with symbolic noises and Chinese music. Captions are in both Chinese and English.

The picture portrays three generations of Chinese family life, showing the changes wrought by modernizing influences. Besides being of educational value, "Song of China" is comparable as entertainment to "The Good Earth" and "The Adventures of Marco Polo".

Radio Classes To be Given

Summer Session to Offer 3 Courses

Three courses in radio, offering 10 hours credit, will be included in the Michigan State college summer session curriculum, Director S. E. Crowe announced today.

One of the courses, radio production, will be taught by M. U. Bildersee, of the education department of the National Broadcasting company. Mr. Bildersee's appointment to the summer session teaching staff recently was approved by the State Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Bildersee also will conduct an educational radio workshop, offering students opportunity for practical work in educational radio plays and other broadcasts. Two other courses in radio, radio writing and radio speech, will be taught by Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the journalism department, and Prof. David Hayworth, head of the speech department, respectively. The radio writing course will offer two hours' credit, and five hours' credit may be earned in radio speech.

The three courses will be coordinated, so that students in all three classes may see their work carried through from the writing to the production stage, at the same time participating in production of their work.

Howell Festival Ends Music Series

Michigan State's music department concluded its rural district music instruction Saturday, May 21, with a spring festival at Howell.

Lewis Richards, music department head, directed the rural school music extension service. He was assisted by three supervisors, Mary Ann Collinge, Mabel Olive Miles, and Elsie Thrasher. Forty-five percent of Michigan's rural schools benefited from the extension service this year, according to music department estimates.

Speakers at the festivals this year have included Professor Richards, Dean Lloyd C. Emmons, of the Liberal Arts division, and Claire Taylor of the state department of public instruction.

BULLETIN

Senior caps and gowns will be available for distribution from the cafeteria checkroom beginning tomorrow morning, according to President Frank Gaines.

Senior announcements may be obtained at the Union from 12 to 5 o'clock today and tomorrow.

Kappa Sigs Win Sing

1,500 Hear Song Contest Between Eight Fraternities

Kappa Sigma fraternity was awarded the first place trophy in the Interfraternity Sing sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, Tuesday night.

Approximately fifteen hundred students and townspeople saw the inauguration of the new spring term event. Managed by Master of Ceremonies Fred Patton, eight societies presented in turn the most popular of their fraternity. All the contestants joined in singing the Fight Song and the Alma Mater to conclude the program.

Mrs. J. W. Stack and Mrs. W. H. Sheldon were judges. Alpha Phi Omega, as sponsor of the event, has announced that with a start as successful as this, they will continue the Interfraternity sing as one of the annual spring term events on the campus.

8 Hort Grads Have Jobs

Eight of the 19 graduating seniors in the horticultural department will be definitely located after commencement, according to an announcement made today by V. R. Gardner, department head. Four others have offers of jobs and expect to be settled in the near future.

E. H. Adams will return home to go into the florist's business with his father. W. L. Anderson will be a Smith-Hughes agriculture teacher at Imlay City, and George Bird at Shelby.

In the fall E. J. Boell will enter a commercial floriculture establishment. Richard Van Winkle has been employed by a similar agency at Pontiac.

On farms will be J. P. Grams, near East Lansing, and J. C. Poffey in northern Michigan.

E. F. Herrbach will be employed by a commercial canning company with headquarters in Worth, Ohio. He may be in one of the branch offices in Michigan.

Shaw To Speak At Club Breakfast

President Robert S. Shaw will be one of the speakers at the annual Newman club communion breakfast to be held in the main dining room of the Union building Sunday morning, June 5.

Aside from a list of prominent speakers, plans have been completed for a diversified program of entertainment, according to Herbert Sayers, president.

The breakfast is open to all Catholic students. Tickets will go on sale immediately following the regular meeting tonight at 5 p. m. in room 1, home economics building.

Lewis Patterson of White Cloud was elected to succeed Charles Pegg as captain of Pershing Rifles, Company D, 3rd Regt., at a business meeting held last night.

Emil Eschenburg of Mt. Clemens succeeded Eugene Jusko as first lieutenant of the company. Dan Wheeler and Parker Gray will be the second lieutenants and Paul Davis will be the company first sergeant.

All Sororities Will Sing In Contest

Panhellenic to Give Program Tonight; Trophy to be Prize

Every sorority will be represented in the annual Panhellenic Sing which is to be held at 7:30 tonight in the band shell, according to Charlotte Mason, chairman for the affair.

The sorority singing the best selection will be awarded a large silver cup, a traveling trophy, which will belong to the sorority winning it three consecutive times. Miss E. D. Daniel of the physical education department, and Mr. W. Kimmel, instructor in music, have been selected as the judges for the contest.

The committee in charge of the Sing are Charlotte Mason, chairman; Frances McIntyre and Wilma Hanby.

Fund Council Will Meet

Rackham Foundation Trustees Will Hold First Conference

Meeting for the first time, the board of trustees for the administration of the Horace H. Rackham and Mary A. Rackham endowment for agricultural research, today will decide on policies for the use of the fund, according to R. S. Shaw, chairman of the board.

The income from the endowment, amounting to $500,000, will be used for conducting research in the general field of agriculture with special emphasis along chemurgic lines.

The board of trustees consists of President Shaw, V. R. Gardner, director of the college experiment station, Hudson McCarroll, head of the chemical and metallurgical laboratory of the Ford Motor company, Michael A. Gorman, editor of the Flint Journal, and Dexter Horton of Ann Arbor.

It is expected that work will be started in the near future. The first experiments will be conducted for the purpose of finding industrial uses for farm produce other than for human food, reports President Shaw.

Physics Honorary Elects Officers

At the annual Sigma Pi Sigma and physics department faculty picnic held Tuesday night at Grand Ledge, the fraternity officers for the coming year were elected. They are: W. H. Collar, president; T. A. Lapenas, vice-president; A. C. Sinclair, secretary; J. E. Johnson, treasurer; and S. H. Dwight, faculty adviser.

Prof. O. L. Snow and George Chapman were the guests of honor at the picnic. Professor Snow has been granted a year's leave of absence in order that he may do research work. Mr. Chapman is to retire from his position as instrument maker for the physics department.

High School Boy Heads Junior Rotarians

John Pearce, high school senior from East Lansing, was governor of Junior Rotarians at their convention here the first of this week. From the sixty delegates who convened in Lansing, John was chosen as acting head to preside at the meetings held in the Strand theater.

Mathematics club will hold its picnic tonight at Ferguson park, Okemos. Members will meet in front of Morrill hall at 4 p. m. where transportation will be provided.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Zimmer, J. C. Powell, and Miss Bernice Proctor are in charge of the affair.

Frank Gaines Acts Role of Student In Movie

Frank Gaines is acting as the "average student" in a moving picture of Michigan State college campus life being filmed under the supervision of E. V. Swingle of the publications department.

The picture, designed for publicity purposes, depicts the life of a student from the time he reads of the college in the "Winding Cedar" through his college career. Gaines is shown in campus activities and in the classroom.

Large Crowd Hears Band

Concert is Last On Spring Series; Program is Varied

Ending with the overture from "The Roman Carnival," the third and last spring concert was presented last night by the Michigan State college band in the band shell.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed the finale of the annual series. The program consisted of the overture "Phedre" by Massenet, March of the Little Fauns from the opera "Cydalise" by Pierre, the Allegro Moderato movement of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," Mardi Gras, from "Mississippi Suite" by Grotte, and the introduction of Act 3 and bridal chorus "Lohengrin" by Wagner. Singing of the Alma Mater concluded the program.

Service Frat Meets Today

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will hold an open dinner meeting in the Sunset room of the Union today. Fred T. Mitchell, dean of men and William Genne, assistant pastor at Peoples church, will be pledged as honorary members. Fred Heidrich, president, and Eliot Miles, vice-president in charge of pledging, have planned the meeting. Al Brightman will act as toastmaster and Fred Heidrich, president, will perform the pledging ceremony.

Van Dusen Becomes Speech Club Member

Dr. C. R. Van Dusen has been elected associate of the American Speech association, according to information received from Samuel D. Robbins, permanent secretary of the organization.

An article by Doctor Van Dusen entitled "A Speech Adjustment Indicator" is appearing in the current issue of the Speech magazine.

Gripers Razz, Razzers Grip In Hort Club Fun Session

By VADA GRANGER

A razz session that really razzed. A jam session that really jammed. A bull session that really—well, anyway, that was the Hort club's Tuesday night meeting.

This year this once-a-year session really checked. Club members and staff members turned out in full force, and the boys dished it out, while their profs sat by and tried not to glower.

The first boy up sounded his "A" in fine style with "In my freshman year I signed up for the first course in—". All we did that year was make cuttings. My second year I took the next course. We made cuttings and potted plants. My junior year I signed up again, and what do you think we did? We made cuttings!

Hidden dramatic talent showed up when another gave an imitation of one of his teachers, pacing up and down in front of the class "muttering in his beard," and as he put it, "saying nothing we can hear and probably nothing we'd want to hear."

That broke the ice. After that there wasn't enough time for everyone to get in his say. They sprang up as fast as one sat down and how they pitched into 'em. Even the profs had to admit, though, that most of the criticism was constructive. It was louder and more free than last year, but more helpful, too. Criticism ranged from classroom peculiarities of instructors, such as ramblings, to faults in the system of too much required and not enough optional work.

But there was praise, too. Two or three were apparently perfect for all they got were kind words. Or maybe the boys have them for classes this term. About one was said, "Sometimes we're not sure what he's talking about, he's so far ahead of us, but we like it."

Surprisingly enough, the boys liked those men whose staff position is not of the highest, not because of their standing but because they are superior teachers.

Everyone took the "ragging" in good spirit and said one of the men, "It makes us think. After last year's meeting we made changes that did away with a lot of the complaints. This year we have even more to work on and we can eliminate about 50 per cent of the trouble, I think."

Four Faculty Members Honored

Awarded Six-Week Scholarships for Educational Work

Four Michigan State faculty members will attend a progressive educational workshop at Sarah William's college, Bronxville, N. Y., as a result of scholarships announced last night. Only 16 such scholarships were awarded in the United States.

Honored were Prof. A. J. Clark, head of the chemistry department, Dr. C. M. Newlin, professor of English, Dr. S. G. Bergquist, professor of geology, and Miss Jean Tremblay, instructor in English.

According to L. C. Emmons, dean of liberal arts, the scholarships were awarded Michigan State staff members in recognition of the college's interest in progressive education.

Most of the recent methods of presenting subject matter in college courses will be studied at the six weeks workshop.

Mixed Group To Hear Talk

Dr. Irma Gross to Talk to Women, Men on Marriage

Meeting for the first time as a mixed group, the men's and women's marriage course students will hear Dr. Irma Gross at 7:30 tonight in the lecture room of the chemistry building, according to William Carpenter, Student Council member in charge of the meeting.

Doctor Gross will speak on "Economic Adjustments in Marriage."

Senior women and junior and senior men only will be admitted to the lecture, which is co-sponsored by the Student Council and Mortar Board.

A question and answer period will follow Doctor Gross' lecture.

Foundation Elects Richards Head

Lewis Richards, head of the Michigan State college music department, was re-elected director of the Belgian-American Educational foundation at the meeting held in New York city recently.

Mr. Richards has held this position since the foundation's inception in 1920.

International Relations club will have its annual roast tonight. All members, old and new, will meet in front of the Union at 6 p. m.

Freshmen Announce Tropical Theme For Frolic in Union

Sammy Dibert Will Play for Party Friday; Band Background Will Depict Hotel Scene In Coconut Grove on South Sea Island Beach

With Blue Hawaii as a decorative background, the class of 1941 goes tropical for the annual Frolic in the Union ballroom tomorrow night.

Sammy Dibert's swingsters will provide the rhythm for this final all-college party of the year. The party will be informal, with dancing from 9 to 12.

All decorative details at sea island motif. The orchestra background will depict a hotel standing in the midst of a coconut grove on a Hawaiian beach.

Patrons bearing a colorful crop of balloon costumes will line the ballroom. Blue spotlights will play over the balcony.

Programs for the dance are silver with a blue dancing girl on a palm studded beach silhouetted on the front cover.

Dibert, in addition to providing swing music, is noted as a showman. His specialty is an act on telephone. Dibert comes here direct from an engagement at a prominent Detroit night club. For a time he also was master of ceremonies at a theater here.

Patrons for the dance are Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. M. Kuhn.

Botany Trip Announced

Annual Memorial Day Trek Open to All State Students

Plans were announced yesterday by Dr. E. A. Bessey, head of the botany department, for the annual Decoration Day botanical trip, sponsored jointly by the department and the Sen. Bot. graduate botanical seminar.

This year the trip will be made into a sparsely settled, cut-over area about 20 miles north of Grand Rapids.

Any student, regardless of whether or not he is taking botany, or is a member of the department, is invited to go. Students should register with Miss Nina May in the botany department office. According to Doctor Bessey, expenses for student cars will be shared by those who take the trip.

The group will meet in front of the botany building not later than 7:45 a. m. Monday, May 30, equipped with lunches, hiking clothes suitable for wet travel, and a Gray's botany manual.

Play Ticket Sale Opens

Launching a ticket-selling campaign for the all-college spring play "The Merchant of Venice," Shirley Cook yesterday placed 500 tickets on sale.

The play will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, June 8 and 9 at 8:30 p. m. in the band shell.

Rehearsals have been progressing for about two weeks, and the play is rounding into shape, according to W. F. Thompson, director, in spite of the fact that Shakespearean experience is slight among the cast members.

Explosion Kills State Grad

In an explosion at the Dow Chemical company that killed two others and injured three, Fred Reynolds, graduate of Michigan State college, was killed Monday, May 23.

Reynolds graduated in 1927, and took his Master of Science degree in 1929. He was married to Ruth Finbeck, a State graduate in 1931. He is survived by two sons, aged 5 years and 9 months, respectively.

Geology Profs Will Make Field Trip

Five members of the Michigan State college geology department will be among the 90 mid-west geologists who will make a three-day field trip into northern Michigan this week.

Those making the trip are S. G. Bergquist, W. A. Kelly, Justin Zinn, Duncan Stewart, and Fred Foster.

This is the annual field excursion of the geological section of Michigan Academy of Science. The trip has been planned to cover a large number of exposures of limestone and shale in Antrim, Cheboygan, and Presque Isle counties. In addition to rock outcrops and exposures, the trip will also cover a large number of glacial features.

Singers Plan Big Show

Sarle to Sing; Oelen To Arrange Songs

Sinfonia, national music honorary, will furnish all the orchestral music for the men's glee club minstrel show which is to take place Friday evening, June 3, in the band shell.

There will be a fifteen piece orchestra directed by Allen Knoll, a student in the music department, who is also arranging the instrumental music.

Besides numbers by the entire glee club, twelve men selected from the club will swing out on "Revival Days." This group will also furnish background for Beth Sarle who is going to sing "Summertime" and other songs.

Emerson Oelen, music student, is doing all the arrangements for the vocal music in the show, including Miss Sarle's numbers, songs for the whole glee club, quartets, and the group of twelve.

The Student club will hold a hide razz party tomorrow night. The party, beginning at 8 p. m., will be held outdoors, around a campfire. Old clothes will be in order.

An Expert Inspects The State News

You who voted against compulsory subscriptions to the Spartan might well be asking if you are getting full value from money spent for compulsory subscriptions to the State News. To supplement your personal opinions concerning this subject, the State News takes this opportunity to report the opinion of newspaper technicians who criticize annually most college newspapers.

These experts representing the Associated Collegiate Press, of which the State News is a member, returned a verdict of "excellent" with the degree "First Class Honor Rating" to this paper as it appeared last fall under the management of Oha Gelzer, editor, and Robert Reiser, business manager. This rating puts the State News near the top in expert opinion, only five college papers in its class having been given a better score.

Commenting on specific items, the critics said, "news writing is well above the average"—"your campus coverage (representation of all phases of campus life) is good." The sports page was described as "well done."

There is your financial report for the past two terms; three issues a week of technical excellence.

Scratches Bring High Prices

What would you give for a signature by Shakespeare?

A new one has been discovered—the seventh one to date—and authenticated after 19 months of research by Prof. B. Roland Lewis, of the Shakespeare laboratory of the University of Utah. It is reasonable to assume that bidding has already begun for possession of this signature—bidding which will doubtless run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Bidding for what? That a scrap of ancient paper may be gathered into the safe seclusion of some private collection, or some dusty unfrequented museum, there to lie until it is forgotten by all save the collectors who will squabble for its possession?

The signature is not historically significant—does not add one iota to our knowledge of its author—cannot possibly aid in the interpretation of one line in all his works. It cannot provide its ultimate possessor with either material or cultural values evenly remotely commensurate with the purchasing price. The signature is nothing more nor less than a succession of scrawls and scratches without even the redeeming grace of noticeable esthetic quality.

How Shakespeare would have laughed—and wept. He who knew so much of poverty and need, who understood so well the follies of his fellow men, Flagstaff might have spoke a few more lines—had Shakespeare known.

But he never knew. And playwrights will continue to starve until, if ever, they become "successful." America will continue in its ignorance of drama. Potential talent will continue to die, undeveloped, in urban slums or backward bucolic settings.

All because we are such a practical people.—Daily Kansan.

In a textbook used by students in economic geography here at Michigan State college of agriculture and applied science, we find the following definitions: "Sheep are relatively small animals having a very heavy fleece, called wool, to protect themselves from the cold."

"Cattle are relatively large animals and are usually equipped with a pair of sharp horns."

IN THE ROUGH

WITH HARVEY HARRINGTON

Suicide . . .

. . . is where you find it, and several underclassmen have had some close skirmishes with it trying to crash senior dances. Walt Lueck is very effective as a kicker-outer, as George Cully and Jim Cameron will testify. Week ago last night this Cully individual was tossed down the stairs seven times, yet came back for more. Determination without a purpose, we call it.

Faculty men . . .

. . . held a luncheon not long ago at which the Hoffau tri provided the entertainment. Not saying that this trio is lousy, good, or anything, but staid pedagogues are not in the habit of frequenting beer-joints—or are they?

Osric . . .

. . . walks along with the rolling gait of a rotund llama . . . Bob Bruce is a killerdiller with the fiddle . . . Rube Griewe looks the perfect soldier with his hunk haircut and military bearing . . . Jean Summerlee wants it known that she DOESN'T go with Norm Olman any more . . . Frosh Tom Laney is steady- ing with Mary Colton . . . Both seem well satisfied . . . Bob Os- good, pride of Delta Sigma Phi, plans on being a hermit . . . Medrith Hirsch and Bob Recor, though they have no pinning arrangement, don't seem to be worried . . . Chi Omega and Kappa Sigs will hold an exchange-dinner Tuesday . . . A certain little Kappa lass is going to be awfully, awfully disap- pointed after Saturday night.

Congratulations . . .

. . . are in order for all the successful candidates, and we offer them sincerely.

Love Aplenty . . .

. . . has been brewed in the State News office, and this time it was Cupid Seth Anderson who stirred the fateful potion. Ten days ago he introduced Bill Ryan to Jo Clapp. Now Jo is wearing Bill's junior college fraternity pin. Fast worker, indeed!

Stuffnooze . . .

Jane Crowe is now wearing a diamond spangle on the ring finger, thus confirming a contract with Frank Gaines . . . Jerry Krieger and Sally Langdon are sailing along, smooth and satisfied . . . Kay Derby pines for Jack Bullis, who is at Randolph Field in Texas. She walks around with her fingers crossed . . . Kappa Sigmas, after winning the interfraternity sing, and losing an election, have vowed to sing their campaign speeches next year . . . Dave Anderson is a fisherman of the old school . . . Norm Cordon, he of the oscillating affections, now looks at Anita Skrene with eyes illuminated by that mellow glow.

A Maneuver . . .

. . . in fields politic which might have ranked him as one of the greatest strategists of modern times was pulled Monday night by Bill Mansfield when he pledged Beta Kappa, to get votes from the east-end machine, and still get the independent votes which pushed him into the finals.

Personal Nominations . . .

Bety Coed: Betty Blackburn "Mama doll"; Tiffle Tranter. Blondie: Jane Barringer.

Not That . . .

. . . we would plant a geranium on anybody, but our personal observation is that Robert H. D'Arcy is rather fond of Robert H. D'Arcy. Walt Chersack wears the hammer and sickle of the U. S. S. R. on the back of his suede jacket, with the Russian lettering which means "Comrade." Take a look—a genuine Bolshevik! Shirley Nelson has so far successfully evaded her North Williams buddies who would tap her for accepting Ross Martin's Beta Kappa pin—though the sentiment around the dorm is that she can't hold out much longer. The young lady has either sneaked in from South Williams, or slept there, so far, but the vigilantes are ready to pounce.

Collins Ferris rushed around Monday morning looking for a twenty-five buck check he lost and found it where you would expect him to—East Mary Mayo.

The Emblem . . .

. . . of Scabbard and Blade, which formerly belonged to Gale Fitch, is now being worn by Alpha Flea Pat Lourim. She says the date of the ceremony is not yet set.

A "war and peace" library numbering approximately 1,000 volumes has been given to Iowa State college by Carrie Chapman Catt, world famous woman suffragist.

Spartan Shall Carry On Despite Defeat at Polls

Sparty was feeling pretty low yesterday. When I walked into the office Wednesday afternoon, there was the little fellow, tears streaming down his cheeks, bent over the "extra" edition of the State News. The fact that he had the paper upside down and that he couldn't read didn't seem to matter—in some way he had come to the realization he was licked.

POSTPONED

The next meeting of the Independent council will be held Tuesday, May 31, because of the holiday Monday. The meeting will be held, as usual, in Organization room 2 in the Union.

AMENDMENT

Passed by the council Monday night, an amendment to the Independents' constitution to permit the election of officers for any year in the preceding Spring Term was referred to the zone committees for ratification. In past years the lack of officers has forced the organization to remain idle for the first week or two, until new officers for the current school year could be elected. The amendment will make it possible for the new officers to resume the group activities as soon as they return to school. Final passing of the amendment will take place Tuesday night.

COUNCILMEN

Five of the large houses for men elected and sent men to Monday's meeting of the council. Any other houses having at least 10 men residents are invited to elect their representative to the council and to bring up, through him, any plans or opinions on Independent matters they may have.

Newly-elected representatives present at the last meeting were Jack White, 305 E. Grand River, Tom Kent, 226 Haslett; Charles Scribner, 421 Abbot; Mel Gleason, Evergreen Manor; Jim Flynn, Hicks Apartments.

ATHLETICS NOTICE

Because of the holiday Monday, the regular Monday night meeting will be postponed until seven o'clock Tuesday night, May 31.

RETRACTION

Because of a slightly hazy source of information, and because of an unfortunate choice of words on our part, it was stated in this column that the Athenian women would manage a booth in the Ag Carnival for the Ag council. The correct information should have been that the Athenians were to work in the booth as needed. It is impossible for organizations not connected with the Agricultural department to sponsor booths in the Carnival, and we regret creating a contrary impression.

AT LAST

After weeks of correspondence with jewelers around the country, Chairman Bob Zani obtained enough pins suitable for presentation to the council—and a fine collection he had. It was so good that it touched off a half-hour debate on the respective merits of the pins before the final choice was made. The gold pin finally selected has the words, "Independent—Michigan State College" flanking the central symbols, all in raised figures and letters. The pins are to be ordered this week and should be making their first appearance about June 9.

The Readers Speak

Contributions not exceeding 500 words, will be printed if the writer includes his name. Articles in this column are expressions of the individuals who write them and are not necessarily opinions of the State News.

To the Editor:

What I would like to know is why I should buy a ticket to the minstrel show? Or for that matter, any other function that is to take place at our new band shell.

What's to keep me from just walking right in as I do at the band concerts. It isn't that 35 or 50 cents is too much for the show, but I just don't want to be the only one who pays to see it.

Selected Short Subjects

—By GUELDA PIKE

June is nearly on us and it doesn't take the "smoochers" in the Union lobby to point it out either. Just take a look at the titles of the current State theater pictures—"Her Jungle Love," "Romance in the Dark," "Paradise for Three." And finally, to top it all off—"Love Is a Headache."

Now we thoroughly agree with that latter—Love Is a headache. However, all four of these pictures are the sophisticated comedy type, which somewhat relieves the tedium of box-meets-girl. Even so, give us a good "ole meiterdrammer any day—where in the end the girl runs off with the boy's best friend . . . You see, you get to be a cynic in this business.

Still, we're not as bad as Esquire, for instance, who sits in the back row with his dark glasses on, curls up the corner of his mouth and blasphemes everything the movies have to offer. "Esq!" even says that Snow White and her Seven Dwarfs is a milk-and-water "Go along to see" . . . and everyone knows that the Seven Dwarfs are as close to the American hearts as picnics on the Fourth of July.

And now comes Robert Young in "Paradise for Three"—next Wednesday and Thursday . . . Another "In the Alps" scene, reminiscent of "I Met Him in Paris," that delightful Colbert-Young number of a white back

Young has plenty "on the ball" and with Frank Morgan, as a capitalist-disguised-as-a-poor-man, Edna May Oliver and Mary Astor—well, the picture should be a four-star comedy.

Clad only in a sarong (a four-ounce wardrobe draped here and there about one's person), Dorothy Lamour again shows up in a jungle picture. It must be that long hair of hers that makes her such an attractive native. . . . Another technicolor production—this is only more wild western set in the tropics, with an earthquake to boot. Ray Milland, who co-starred with Lamour in "Jungle Princess," plays opposite her in the role of a shipwrecked aviator with his choice of the girl-back-home or a "White Goddess" jungle cutie.

Glady's Swarthout turns up in "Romance in the Dark" singing streamlined opera . . . only the clear melody is left after the hacking of the Hollywood musicians . . . to please the common masses who usually prefer Benny Goodman to "Carmen" . . .

Trojan Nine Girls For Ledgers

Al Gaines Stated For Mound Duty As Preps Travel

Seeking their second win of the season, East Lansing high's baseballers journey to Grand Ledge today. Coach Fred Shaver has indicated that he will start Al Gaines, junior speedball artist, on the mound.

When a last inning rally fell short by one run, the Trojans bowed to Everett, 5 to 4. Tuesday, as the Lansing team avenged an early season trouncing.

East Lansing started off in the late rally when Ron Jean and Don Smith hit successive singles and raced home on errors. However, Duane Baumer, the Everett pitcher, then retired the next three men in order.

Jackie Kobs, who in his last start against Everett set them down with two hits, was the victim of a two run uprising in the fifth which sent the opponents into the lead and him to the showers.

However, Ty Anderson was charged with the loss, as Everett scored the two deciding runs off him after he relieved Kobs.

Don Smith, the Trojan's main power at the plate, banged out three of the five East Lansing hits in his four times at bat.

PTA Petitions List Bailey on Local School Post

Dr. Wilber E. Bailey was today announced by the executive committee of the Central school P. T. A. as their candidate for school board elections next month.

A petition is being circulated for his to represent Central school at the polls, because this group has "not had a voice in board affairs for a year.

According to Mrs. E. B. Harper, Doctor Bailey was chosen because he is vitally interested in the educational affairs of the town and of Central school in particular, since he has a son enrolled there.

Classes Hold Banquet, Prom

Present Annual Formal for Upper Classes June 4

"It's sort of a raw deal for the juniors," said Jack Widdick, general chairman of the high school Senior Prom, today.

"They give us a banquet and then we turn around and charge them the regular 90 cents admission to the prom," he said, referring to the formal dance on June 4 which will be preceded by the Junior-Senior banquet.

An artificial artesian well will be erected in the middle of the gymnasium floor as the first step in making the gym into the inner courtyard of a Spanish hotel. These Spanish decorations are in charge of Weston Gardner and his committee.

As music chairman, Bruce Greenman has chosen Bob Dean's ten-piece orchestra to play from 9-12 p.m. Dean, who comes from Lansing, brings with him a new public address system and vocalists.

A surprise has been promised in the way of refreshments by chairman John Pearce and novel favors in keeping with the Spanish theme, by chairman Mary Lou Dodge. Patrons will include school board members and their wives, faculty members, and parents of committee heads. Jane Francis is patrons chairman.

Other chairmen are Duane Kosht, finance; Judy Crozier, programs; Walter Beardslee, clean-up; and Grace Nahstoll, publicity.

The Spanish theme will be carried out at the Junior-Senior banquet to be held directly before the prom in the social hall of Peoples' north Wintermute ticket chairman.

Inspecting Officers Will Give ROTC Unit Rating

Rating of the college R. O. T. C. will be officially given out by the sixth corps area headquarters in a few weeks, according to Col. S. D. Smith.

The four inspection officers left yesterday after many unofficial compliments on the excellence of the unit. If the unit receives the military rating of "excellent" students will be privileged to wear the blue star on the right sleeve of their uniforms.

8-cylinder ENTHUSIASM

"The quality, service and economy of the De Luxe Ford V-8 are without parallel in any car on the market in the low-price field today."

JOHN W. JACKSON

"This is the sixth V-8 that I have purchased. I buy one each year and want to congratulate you on the fact that each one has been an improvement."

MIRIAM J. FRYE

"For the past ten years I have been driving more expensive cars. I did not know how I would like a lower priced car, but am very pleased at my decision. There is, in my opinion, no car on the market that equals the 1938 De Luxe Ford V-8, either in beauty or comfort, and every one knows of its power."

FRANK CALDER

The De Luxe Ford V-8 is a big, stylish and roomy car—with a large, convenient luggage compartment. Its economy is in keeping with the Ford tradition. In short, everything about this car is as luxurious as its famous V-type 8-cylinder engine. That's why the De Luxe Ford V-8 sets an entirely new standard of quality in the low-price field. One brief spell at the wheel will show you what "V-8 quality" means!

DE LUXE FORD V-8 PRICES INCLUDE THIS EQUIPMENT:

Nine Out to Snap Losing Streak Against California Here Today

State Netters Invade Detroit To Tackle Wayne U. Team

State netmen today play the first of two road games scheduled this week when they trade services this afternoon with the formidable Wayne netters at the Detroit Tennis club.

The Detroiters have lost only one meet in 17 matches this season and State probably will encounter troubles in giving their host its second loss.

These troubles will probably appear in the persons of Jack Schlesinger, No. 1 amateur in Detroit, Irving Blomfield, State novice champion in 1937; and Sam Rotberg and Elmer Sweetina.

Providing State takes today's match, it will go after its ninth victory in 11 starts at Kalamazoo Saturday where it meets the Western State tennis squad.

With Herm Struck still holding No. 1 position through his fine performances, the regular six, Struck, Chester Olson, Len Kositchek, Charles Gibbs, Wendell Foltz, and Seymour Rawitz, will represent State on both trips.

Soph Hurler To Oppose Invaders

By DON ANDERSON

University of California's team, champions of the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association and one of the best teams in the country, meets Michigan State here this afternoon in a game which promises to be the best played here all season.

There is no denying the Bears' strength. They were far and away the class of the Pacific coast teams, finishing on top in a league that is composed of such teams as UCLA, USC, Stanford, Santa Clara and St. Mary's. They have won the league championship five times in six years.

They will carry a team batting average of .316 into the game with State, a mark which any big league team would be proud to boast. They have already played 28 games this year and are now in their post season schedule.

They have an extremely fast team with an infield that is just about tops. An evidence of this fact is shown in that the Bears have executed no less than 31 double plays and three triple plays.

Coach Kobs is undecided as to his pitching choice and will not make a selection until game time. It is likely however that either Ray Dahlstrom or Art Libbers will get the call. Ray has been troubled somewhat with a sore arm and for this reason Libbers may get the assignment.

A happy note was injected into the State drill yesterday when it was learned that both Clyde Randall and Sam Nuznov may break into the line-up. Nuznov's thumb is almost healed while the infection in Randall's jaw has abated somewhat. The return of these two would do much to bolster Spartan chances for victory.

Women Face Title Tilt

Within one victory of the title, the junior-senior team battles the freshmen in the concluding game of the Women's Athletic Association round robin softball tournament, starting at 5 p.m.

A triumph over the yearlings would give the third and fourth year players the championship outright. Should the frosh win, a three-way tie will then exist between the junior-seniors, sophomores and freshmen.

The junior-senior aggregation, with only three players in the line-up, came from behind to whip the sophomores in the opening game Tuesday, 14-9. The sophs struck back at the expense of the freshmen yesterday, winning, 21-8.

Kay Adams, Lieschen Schram and Dorothy Miller composed the winning junior-senior team. Miss Adams with six hits, including a home run, paced the way for the team's victory. The trio batted a cross nine runs in the final inning.

Nan Smith and Lee Young starred for the losing sophomores Tuesday, and they played a prominent part in the team's easy victory yesterday. Miss Young hurled effective ball for the winners, besides sharing hitting honors with Miss Smith and Laurine Endelman. The game wasn't decided until the fourth inning when the sophomores broke out with a rash of base hits, which coupled with four misplays, set the stage for the scoring of 13 runs.

Golfers Seek Two Marks

In the final match of the year next Monday at Columbus, Ohio, State's golf team will be attempting to keep two season records intact.

Not only will Coach Van Alstyne's squad be vying for its eighth straight victory, but will also be striving to keep its record against Western Conference opponents unblemished.

Michigan has already gone down twice before State's sparkling foursome. Northwestern was the second Big Ten victim, and the team is now pointing for Ohio State.

Charley Evans is the boy that the Spartans will probably have trouble with when they face the Buckeyes next week. Evans finished second only to Sid Richardson, Northwestern ace who recaptured his individual Big Ten crown, in the Conference tournament this week.

Sport Interludes

By George Maskin

Ramblings:

They say it takes plenty of courage to pole vault. Well, it must have taken something more than courage for Lodo Habrle to leap to victory in the State Intercollegiate last Saturday.

Habrle, it comes to light, took six of his jumps in the finals with a half-dozen stitches in his right hand. After clearing 12 feet, Habrle's hand struck an iron spike, resulting in a bad gash.

While the other vaulters competed, a doctor sewed up Habrle's bleeding hand. Without missing a turn, Habrle returned to action, and proved himself a REAL champion.

To Bad, Charley!

Across the desk of every college football coach come letters telling of some great prospect whose light has been concealed in a backwoods high school. Charley Bachman gets his share.

The other day Bachman received a note from a teammate of World War days. He wrote about a Mercury-footed fullback, weighing 215 pounds, who could do everything on the football field. The kid was anxious to attend college.

And was Bachman interested. He flashed a reply, asking if the boy was capable of passing college work.

"I don't know about the boy's high school marks," the friend returned, "except he always has a tough time with his reading."

Don't Last Long

Third basemen don't last long on Michigan State's baseball team. One season is the limit, at least in recent seasons.

A couple of years ago, Paul Moyes handled the hot corner. When the 1937 campaign came into the picture, Leroy Schiefer played the post, while Moyes spent his afternoons moving up and down the bench.

Both are on the squad this year, but neither has seen much active service. George Owen, a sophomore, now operates at third.

The position feature is that by the end of this season all will have won their letters at the same position in three years. That's something of a record, according to George Alderton.

Another Blunder

The victory of the junior-senior women's softball team with only four players in the lineup over an opponent using a full nine, goes to show anything will happen when the girls play.

A men's team never would get away with only four players in the lineup. Such a procedure is in direct violation of Rule 16, which specifically states "in no case shall more or less than nine men be allowed to play at one time as regular players."

It's one of those rules frequently violated on the sandlots, and a rule which also cost us five points on one of John Kobs' exams.

Some Differences

The track record books have taken a severe beating during the last 60 years. The top performances in the 1876 I.C.A. meet wouldn't come close to landing a performer among the leaders today.

It took only a jump of 5 feet, 5 inches to win the high jump in the '76 championships. In the coming meet, the winner will clear at least 6 feet, 7 inches and he may endanger the present world record of 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches.

The fellow who won the pole vault in 1876 topped 7 feet, 6 inches. The record today for the event stands at 14 feet, 11 inches.

In the shot put, a throw of 35 feet was good enough in the last century. In the present era, you throw 47 feet or more in major meets to carry off fifth place honors. It now takes upward of 49 feet to win.

Frosh Conclude Season By Defeating Jaycees

Kappa Sigs Nip A. E. Pi

Howie Lehman's Bat Breaks Up Game With Fifth Inning Homer

By DON PHILLIPS

Kappa Sigma turned in its third victory of the season to assure itself of at least a tie for the block 2 title as they nosed out Alpha Epsilon Pi, 10-9, in the best game played in the interfraternity loop this season.

Howie Lehman was the hero of the game. After the AEPis had tied the score in their half of the last inning, he cracked a home run to win the tilt.

Harry Pickens, Kappa Sig hurler, allowed only six hits but suffered from moments of wildness that kept him in hot water most of the time. With a perfect day at bat, Pickens also led his team in the hitting department as he cracked out a double and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Al Nitzberg pitched for the AEPis and gave up only seven hits but received only mediocre support from his teammates. Dave Goldsmith of the losers had three hits.

FarmHouse won its first game of the year Tuesday edging out the Delphics, 8-7. Ken Cavanaugh pitched well for the FarmHouse as he gave up eight hits.

Dick Bearsall hurled for the Delphics and allowed only nine hits but his team's fielding was poor and two costly errors by shortstop Art Howland cost the Delphics the game.

Hesperian defeated Phi Chi Alpha in Tuesday's other game. Al Theiler continued his fine pitching, allowing only two hits to the Phi Chis, and striking out seven.

The Hespies ricked Joe Yabsley for four hits, two of which were garnered by Bill Duthie with a perfect day at the plate.

Manor Gains Block Crown In Softball

Al Ritz hurled no-hit ball as Evergreen Manor beat Barnums, 5-1, to annex the block three title in the Independent Men's softball loop last night.

The only Barnum run came in the last frame, the result of two errors. Marty Cohn's Evergreen boys got three runs in the first on three hits, but Bernie Coggan of Barnums tightened and permitted only one more safety.

Alpha Chi Sigma, with Dick Laramy on the hill, swamped the Hill-toppers, 11-1. Laramy was hit hard but had good support. Alpha Chi took to Dick Minor's pitching freely.

Carr's Kids, scrapping for the block I lead, hooked up with the Ringers, Tuesday night, and lost, 2-1. Wayne Lee gave the Kids two bingles.

Keith Wise allowed only three hits, two of which combined with an error in the third frame, gave the game to the Ringers.

Bill Thiebout turned in another ace pitching performance, as the Dark Horses trimmed the Top-notchers, 7-2. A hit and an error in the last inning ruined Thiebout's no-hitter and his shutout.

Frosh Seek Third Victory in Track

Rain or shine, Michigan State's undefeated freshman track team will conclude its dual meet competition Friday afternoon when the yearlings travel to Ypsilanti to engage the Michigan Normal freshmen thinclands.

A group of 25 athletes will make the Ypsi trip in hopes of chalking up its third dual meet victory in as many starts.

Among the outstanding performers who will make the trip are Starr Keesler, sprinter and pole vaulter; Walter Arrington, high jumper and broad jump performer; Danny Rosenbaum, Anderson, Fred Hauser, Don Lerner, Martin and Fletcher Gibson, capable middle distance runners.

Gordon And Leahy Pace Triumph

By HAL SCHRAM

Displaying a complete reversal of form over its last game, the freshmen baseball team yesterday ended one of its most successful seasons in several years when the Spartan yearlings pounded three Grand Rapids Junior college hurlers for a 17-6 victory.

Playing errorless ball and collecting 17 hits the State frosh concluded its 1938 campaign with a record of seven victories against one defeat.

Dick Leahy and Bobbie (Flash) Gordon led the freshmen offensive attack. Leahy made four singles in five times at bat while Gordon smashed out a double and two singles on four official trips to the platter.

All five Spartan hurlers in uniform saw action. Wendy Lewis started and was touched for five runs and six hits in the two complete innings he toiled.

Jack Griffin retired six consecutive men in order while pitching the third and fourth innings. Chuck Roache and Charlie Butler finished the game on the mound for State. In two innings Roache allowed no runs and no hits while Butler enjoyed the same success in the final stanza.

The yearlings tucked the game away in the first frame when they coupled four bases on balls and one Grand Rapids error with six hits to score 10 runs.

Score by inning:

G. R. Junior	2	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	6
State Frosh	10	7	0	0	0	0	0	0	17

Batteries: Grand Rapids, Carson, Stiefelsson, Nichols and Deveraux; and Michigan State Frosh, Lewis, Griffin, Roache, Butler and Dodge, Baker, and Smith.

Frat Teams Clash In Tennis Finals

Delta Chi and Phi Kappa Phi will clash Tuesday in the finals of the interfraternity tennis schedule.

The Delta Chi team won its place in the finals with a three-set victory over the Electrics, 10-8, 1-6, 6-4, Tuesday.

Clayton Cromer and George Collins played for the Delta Chis while the duo of Don Schantz and Gordon Lippert competed for the losers.

Harold Patzer and Bob Fields paired for the Phi Kappa Phi win Wednesday. They won their first endurance set 12-10, dropped the next 4-6, and rallied to take the deciding one 6-3. Roy Litch and Bob Bucknell teamed for the Sigma Nus.

Trackmen Receive Welcomed Rest

With the high-schools taking over the local track scene Saturday, Michigan State's varsity thinclands will enjoy a welcomed rest this week-end before splitting into two units next week to engage in the I.C.A. and State A.A.U. meets.

Some doubt existed today whether Lodo Habrle, star pole vaulter, will be available for the eastern classic. Habrle injured his right hand in the State Intercollegiate last Saturday.
