

All-Star Poll Awakens Gridiron Interest

Today's Campus

Union Cleanup

Undergoing a thorough cleaning at the hands of the "B and G-men" are the walls in the Union building. Throughout the building the men work, stripped to the waist for comfort, on large wooden scaffolds. Canvas protects the floors from the tri-sodium solution used in scrubbing.

That is only one bit of the work being done by 111 students who are spending part of their vacation working for the buildings and grounds department, according to Ralph Bremer from Superintendent W. A. Davenport's office.

Sleep?

"Nine-fifteen!" Professor C. J. Hoffer announced to his principles of sociology class Monday morning. "If you folks don't hurry up, you won't get any sleep during this class," he warned.

Fresh Paint!

Football fans coming to Macklin Field next fall will find the stadium dressed up in a new coat of paint.

Six men started the work this week of applying two coats of paint to the seats. It will take approximately five weeks to apply the one hundred gallons of paint necessary and to stencil the numbers on the seats. The press box, score board, and yard markers are also to receive a fresh coat of paint.

Turned Tables

After locking their car with the keys inside, Kappa Sigma Quentin Ewert and Jack Gauntlett spent Wednesday morning looking for the campus police for aid.

Cokes Cause Grill Rush

A "coke" consuming campus! Approximately two hundred "cokes" a day are sold across the bar in the Union grill every day, according to attendants. But summer session "coke" sales are small in comparison to the regular school year when over a thousand are sold every day. Ice cream cones rate next to cokes in popularity.

Sportsmen?

Time: 10 o'clock p. m.
Place: Near Wells Hall.
Heard: Lusty squawks resembling those of a duck or ducks, then quiet.

Seen: Three figures slink surreptitiously from behind the dorm with canoe paddles over shoulders and something under arm.

To Show Travelog

A travelog based on technical colored pictures taken in the Grand Canyon and Yosemite National park will be a feature of the moving pictures sponsored by the education department, which will be held on Thursday, July 21, in the chemistry lecture room at 8:30 p. m.

Seven State Stars Named In Balloting

Fans to Select Collegians To Play Pro Champs In Annual Game.

Porter Will Play For Dance Tonight

Tonight the third summer school dance will be held in the Union at 9:00, with Bill Porter playing. The final dance will be next Friday, July 22.

The last of the educational motion sound pictures will be shown Thursday, July 21. The program includes "Dixie Jubilee Singers", "Flowers at Work", "Symphony Orchestra", "Conservation of Resources", and a travel picture of "The Rockies". Mrs. Raymond A. Matz, a Chicago high school faculty member, will explain them.

Ending the summer programs, the summer session play, "The Perfect Alibi", will be presented by the speech and dramatics department in the band shell Tuesday and Wednesday, July 26 and 27.

Treasurer's receipts will admit summer session students, and others may purchase tickets at the door.

"The Development of Music Notation" is the title given to the music department display in Abbot hall, collected by Dr. L. Ellinwood and Mr. W. Kimmel, music department instructors. It is located on the first floor and will remain there all summer.

200 Teachers To Meet Here In Conference

Vocational Agriculture to Be Subject of Meeting.

Teachers of vocational agriculture will hold their twentieth annual summer conference here July 18-23, H. M. Byram, associate professor of education, announces.

Approximately 200 of the 227 vocational agriculture teachers of Michigan are expected to attend. The conference program will emphasize the planning of community programs and the adoption of classroom instruction to individual pupil needs, Byram says.

Four out-of-state specialists, as well as Michigan State college faculty members, will speak at the various meetings. They include Dr. Z. M. Smith, Indiana state supervisor of agricultural education; Dr. W. F. Stewart, head of agricultural education at Ohio State university; J. H. Pearson, regional agent of the North Central states division of vocational education of the United States office of education, and W. A. Ross, national executive secretary of the Future Farmers of America.

The Michigan State college department of education, the state department of public instruction, the division of agriculture, and the short course officers are cooperating in the presentation of the program.

'B and G' to Hold Picnic Tomorrow At Pleasant Lake

Over six hundred are expected to attend the annual building and grounds department picnic tomorrow at Pleasant lake near Jackson, according to Ed Shipley, assistant cleaning foreman and chairman of the picnic. Other departments outside of buildings and grounds have been invited to attend this year, as well as guests of the workers.

Busses will leave the power house at 9 a. m. A pot luck lunch will be served.

Included in the scheduled events are a softball game, tug 'o war between the buildings crew and the groundskeepers, foot races and a dance in the evening.

Horses Are Available

Experienced riders may obtain passes to ride at the college R. O. T. C. stables by passing a riding test, according to the military department. Those who have passes may ride from 9:30 to 1:30 a. m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. The only charge made is a groom's fee of 25 cents. About a dozen of the R. O. T. C. cavalry troop's horses will remain here for the summer and are available for riding.

Detroit Students To See Movies Of MSC

Colored movies depicting life at Michigan State college will be shown for the first time July 21 before a selected audience of 350 Detroit high school students at radio station WWJ's non-broadcasting auditorium. They will form part of a "college day" program directed by Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary.

Mr. Stewart will speak, telling "All About M. S. C."

In addition to the movies there will be a pictorial exhibit of enlarged photographs descriptive of college life. Shown in the exhibit will be scenes of hotel administration training, police administration training, medical biology, the discovery and cure of undulant fever, farm animals, and typical examples of work done by the art department. Athletic trophies will also be included in the exhibit.

Assisting Stewart will be B. R. Proulx, director of the Union building, and Ray Heydrick, who will be in charge of the exhibits.

WWJ's college day for M. S. C. is one of a series of such programs sponsored by the station which also issues invitations to high school students selected to attend.

'Seeing Eye' Dog To Perform Here

Lady Luck, a dog trained to lead the blind, will perform before summer school students in the Union ballroom Tuesday, July 19, at 8:30 p. m. under the direction of Roselle Brewer, her blind mistress.

This 'Seeing Eye' dog, a German police trained especially for this work at the Seeing Eye school at Morristown, New Jersey, protects and guides her mistress at all times.

Miss Brewer, who, trained at this school before she was permitted to purchase her dog, will perform with Lady Luck. She also will tell how these dogs remove the tragedy of perpetual darkness from the minds of hundreds of men and women in America today.

Summer Session Adds Extra Hours

Closes Five Hours Later Than Scheduled Time.

"Summer session will end July 29 at five o'clock rather than at noon as printed in the catalog," says S. E. Crowe, summer school director.

Mr. Crowe gives as reasons that the Fourth of July holiday took one recitation from Monday, Wednesday, and Friday classes. If the original schedule were adhered to, Friday afternoon classes would lose another lecture.

Request More Firemen, New Equipment

Petitions are being circulated in East Lansing demanding adequate fire protection for property owners. The petition was started Wednesday night by a group headed by Clarence Robert, 425 West Grand River ave., after the city of Lansing had served notice that it would discontinue fire-fighting assistance to East Lansing.

The petition which is gaining signers rapidly, requests the council to hire five additional firemen, to institute a two-platoon system of working hours and to purchase a service truck, equipped with life nets, inhalators and adequate ladders.

Under the present setup, only two men are on duty at any time and the equipment is inadequate, petitioners claim. No volunteer system is organized.

Chief Merle Croy, while refusing to commit himself on the proposed expansion, said yesterday that a volunteer system would be impractical. It has been tried, he said, but has proved a failure.

Sales Crusade Gains Support

Lansing and East Lansing Stores Cooperate

The Sales Crusade is gathering momentum as it receives the support of stores in both the Lansing and East Lansing area.

Developed into an efficiently managed caravan by Charles Bachman and Jim Brakeman, it has enlisted every store in East Lansing and the greater per cent of Lansing's business establishments.

Concentration in the East Lansing area is capitalized by urging East Lansing residents to support their local merchants.

"Some people have the idea that when the college closes, the merchants of East Lansing automatically relax and await the arrival of the next school year," according to Brakeman. "Because of this, residents of East Lansing take their business elsewhere, forcing the stores in town to realize trade for but nine months out of the year. The crusade is our fight to keep East Lansing business in East Lansing," he says.

Brakeman is assistant to Charles Bachman, and is in charge of the crusade in East Lansing.

Trio Will Begin Season

The Stulberg trio will leave Friday for its fifth season at the Belvedere hotel in Charlevoix, where it will appear daily.

David Pratt, cellist, will be replaced by Alexander Goldfield of Pittsburgh, Pa. Pratt is going to New York to study this summer.

Fire Protection

By TOM MERCY

East Lansing is a growing city. Take a drive around some evening and see at the new buildings, houses being renovated, streets being built and repaired. Everywhere, it seems, some improvement is being made, or has recently been made.

The assessed valuation of East Lansing has increased approximately $500,000 within the last year and approximately $1,500,000 within the last two years. Astounding figures these, considering the times.

East Lansing residents will remember how comparatively small the city was ten years ago. All indications are that the city will continue its rapid growth, for it has a permanent and useful commodity to offer, an education at Michigan State college. The enrollment in the college has doubled within the last ten years. It may keep growing. Optimists are sure it will.

East Lansing is a splendid college town. It offers fine police and health service, good streets and lights. Now when Lansing has withdrawn its unwritten agreement to assist in fighting fires too large for the east Lansing force to combat, the city becomes conscious of its inadequacy in that department.

Housed in the same building with the fire department is the police department. It was re-organized and expanded last fall. It seems feasible that the fire department should now be expanded. However, to weigh against the added expense of an increased staff, there is the much more sound and logical point of the necessity to protect an increasing property valuation and the growing population. Property is valuable, human life is more valuable. A progressing city, such as East Lansing, should and likely will provide the necessary changes to give sufficient fire protection for a growing community.

Football Poll

Will Michigan State college be represented on the College All-American football team which will attempt to retain collegiate supremacy over the Washington Redskins at Soldier's Field, Chicago, on August 31?

The team is being selected by a national poll conducted by the Chicago Tribune. First appearance of the results includes seven Michigan State players. They have a chance to be on the "dream team."

You can do your part in placing Michigan State men on the squad by filing in your choices on the convenient ballot and depositing it in the box in the Union lobby.

A sample ballot is included in this issue. The votes will be sent to the Chicago Tribune each Saturday.

Study Growth Of the E. R. A.

Sociology Department Is Conducting Survey

Conclusions drawn from a relief investigation project being conducted this summer by the sociology department may foretell the result of the referendum measure to create a Michigan Public Assistance department, which will be voted on in November. A field crew of seven, under the direction of Graduate Assistant Arthur Anderson, is making study of the growth of the Emergency Relief administration.

Two percent of the adult population of Van Buren and Kalamazoo counties are being interviewed in an effort to determine the efficiency of the E. R. A. and its growth from an organization into an institution.

Dean Requests Housing Room For M. S. C. Coeds This Fall

More rooms for Michigan State college women students in East Lansing homes are expected to be available this fall with the opening of Stevens T. Mason hall, releasing rooms in private homes which ordinarily would have been occupied by men students, college housing officials said today.

Unless there is a marked increase in enrollment, from 50 to 80 fewer homes will be needed for men students this fall, it was explained, and because a shortage for women's rooms already exists, housing officials urge these homes be made available to women students. Already all available dormitory rooms for women are taken, and 114 room applications have been received which can not be filled.

Four hundred forty men will live in Mason hall, which is nearing completion, and with plans under way for a second new men's dormitory, probably to be ready for occupancy in another year, there will be still less demand for men's rooms in East Lansing homes.

Probably not more than 25 rooms for women students are available in East Lansing at the present time, it was said. Only 40 homes are approved for women students, while 460 are on the list of approved rooms for men.

Asking that East Lansing residents who formerly kept men students help relieve the women's housing problem by keeping women, college officials pointed to several advantages in having rooms occupied by women students.

Rooms which rent at $2.50 per person for two persons for men would be priced at $3 to 3.50 per student for women. This cost difference, it was explained, is to offset extra duties imposed upon landlords keeping women, and for difference in room care. Women students also furnish their own linens, while landlords in most cases furnish linens for men roomers.

Women students generally are believed to cause less wear on their rooms and its furnishings, another advantage to home owners, it was explained.

According to Miss Elisabeth Conrad, dean of women, the demand for women's room is as great now as in middle August of last year.

Work on Dorm To Start Soon

State Ag Board Promises Early Action on Housing Unit.

Assurance that construction of a second new men's dormitory at Michigan State college will begin not later than August 19—the deadline set by PWA—was given yesterday by college officials.

Final steps in arrangements with the Public Works Administration were taken at a recent special meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, which adopted resolutions accepting a $202,500 PWA grant.

At the same meeting, approval was given an arrangement with the Ann Arbor Trust Co. for a bond issue to cover the state's portion of construction costs of $300,000. The half-million dollar Stevens T. Mason dormitory also will be re-financed by a new bond issue of $800,000 which will include costs of both the new dormitory and Mason hall.

New dormitory specifications and plans are nearly completed, officials said, and advertisements for bids will be ordered before August 1. Two weeks will elapse after bids are advertised before the construction contract may be let.

Although other PWA building plans are pending, the board took no other action at Saturday's meeting. An $81,500 grant for construction of a hospital has been approved by PWA, but the college has made an additional request for a total of $112,500 because of revised plans calling for a larger building.

Kamluk Succumbs To Long Illness

Private first class, Daniel Kamluk, a member of the regular army detachment on duty with the R. O. T. C. at Michigan State college, died at Fitzsimons general hospital, Denver, Colorado, on July 10, 1938, after an illness of about three months.

Private Kamluk enlisted in the army in 1920 and was transferred to the college detachment in 1928.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. July 15, at the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home, 900 East Michigan avenue, Lansing.

Burial will take place in Evergreen cemetery.

Council Meet Held Monday

In a session which lasted until 1:30 Tuesday morning, the city council passed the annual appropriation ordinance, heard complaints from numerous taxpayers who appeared to protest against proposed new sidewalks, and took up other city affairs.

City attorney, Harry Hubbard, was instructed to take up with the city of Lansing the matter of insurance requirements for fire protection for East Lansing. Herman Henkel, an insurance man, appeared and presented his proposition for the special protection.

City Clerk Harry Lott and city engineer, Fred Dodge, were authorized to go to Chicago last this week to contact PWA officials in an effort to secure a 45 per cent grant to assist in enlarging the sewage disposal and water softener plants. One unit of the water plant will be reconditioned immediately.

L. C. Emmons, dean of the Liberal Arts division, has been in Chicago during the past week. He left East Lansing July 9, and will return to his office July 13.

Englander Asks Facts About Visual Aids

Sturry's Central School, Breadlands Lane, Sturry, Canterbury, England.

That is the return address of a letter received by E. L. Austin, head of the education department. The letter requested information about the visual aids used in Michigan State college adult education last year.

The authorities of the English school saw the reports of the project in a publication of the United States office of education, Professor Austin believes.

The project was carried on in summer school last year, and used a series of display posters and other visual aids in an attempt to show what was being done where there are adult education programs.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that bids for installing a stoker in the city fire station will be received at the regular meeting of the Common Council on July 25, 1938. The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Here and there in a big city. The paying customers at Briggs Stadium have been mumbling in their beards of late over the continued presence of Rudolph Proctor York in the Tiger lineup. It seems most of the fans would rather see Budie Dobbins or Ray Hecworth catch in preference to Rudy.

If you think outstaves are "nuts" about the Tigers, you haven't seen anything. Drop around IN town sometime, especially when the Yanks or Indians are in town, and take a look for yourself.

The Gombis Wayne's football coach must feel a little uneasy these days with any number of State students enrolled in summer classes. One of the pupils is Francis Dietrich of our coaching staff.

Leaders Meet In Feature Monday

Evangelical Manor and RAE softball teams, leaders in the summer league, will meet Monday in a game which may decide the ultimate winner of the circuit. Both teams have gone undefeated in four games.

RAE had a difficult time in winning its two games this week. New support given Exlor, RAE twister, forced the team into two consecutive extra inning encounters. The Vets forced them to six innings Monday before going down 4 to 2. Wednesday, the Vets led them by one run going into the last inning. The RAE boys tied it up in this frame and went on to win 6 to 3 after two extra innings.

Evangelical's Tom Cate dropped from the undefeated class by losing to Evangelical Manor Tuesday 5 to 1. At Ritz, Manor twister, let the Cate down with two hits.

The Vets split even in two games, winning from Ritts Muffs Tuesday on a forfeit and losing to RAE after seven innings Wednesday.

The Vets lost two games after winning its only start prior to this week's play.

East Lansing Adams Shuts Out Holt 11-0

Kemp Pitches His Second No-Hit-No-Run Game; Tische Hits Homer.

East Lansing Adams started their second round play in the Tri-County league with a smashing 11-0 win over Holt at the Marble school last Friday.

Bill Kemp pitched his second no hit no run game of the season for East Lansing. His performance was marred only by four bases on balls, but he set down seven by the strokeout route. Holt, winners of the first round championship in the western division, have been the victims of both his perfect games.

East Lansing started off with a six-run splurge in the first inning, aided by sloppy fielding on the part of Holt. Art Dyer, however, was no problem for the gossamer-men, and they hit his offerings at will. Hank Tische, East Lansing's right fielder, hit for the circuit with one on base.

In a game played at Mason Wednesday with Miller Road, East Lansing's batting power was stopped cold, the final score being 2-0 in favor of Miller Road. Sherwood pitched steady ball for the winners, allowing but three hits. Harry Schultz went the distance for East Lansing.

A Ballot for the selection of the All American Football team appears on page 2. You may fill it out and leave it in the ballot box provided in the Union lobby. The State News will mail the ballots to the voters.

ing in which 20,000 votes were counted the first day.

Although many of these will no doubt fall by the wayside in the heavy voting expected during the remaining two weeks that the poll is open, at least one or two of the former Spartans are deserving of a place on the select squad.

Speelman, who turned down a contract with the Cleveland Rams to accept a coaching position at Redford high school, is considered by local sports enthusiasts State's best bet to finish among the leaders.

The former "five chief" received the most valuable player's award from the Governor last season, and was regarded as one of the outstanding tackles in this section of the country.

Schroeder, who played guard and tackle equally well, was one of the mainstays of Coach Chaley Bachman's 1937 front wall, and would also be a valuable asset to any all-star team.

If any one of the seven is selected to line up against Sammie Raugh's Redskins, it will mark the fourth straight year the Spartans have been represented in this colorful football pageant.

honored in the last three years. Last fall Al Agett and Jake Dablgren played a big part in helping to chalk up the college stars' first victory over their professional rivals.

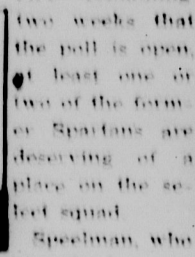

In 1936, Leon Zava played for the all-stars, while Russ Reynolds and Ed K. Lewicki saw service in the 1935 classic.

In the 1935 game, Michigan State was also represented on the coaching staff of the Tribune's team. Coach Bachman's nation wide popularity resulted in his being chosen as the first assistant to Frank Thomas of Alabama, and when Thomas was confined to a sick bed before the game, Charlie took over the head coaching duties.

The poll to select this year's coach will immediately follow the close of the players' poll on July 24.
