Dean Announces New Faculty Members

Today's Campus

Swing It!

The final summer school dance will be held in the Union ball room Friday, July 22, beginning at 9:00 p. m. Bill Porter and his band will render the music. A treasurer's receipt will admit summer session students.

Fishermen?

For instructors of the pathology department the beginning of August marks the opening of fishing season as well as the close of summer sessions.

Doctor Shall will spend three weeks at Lake Charlevoix. Doctor Clark will go north to Mantulla Lake, Canada, and Doctor Hallman says he will go to Florida.

Timber!

Danger lurks in the trees for the unwary passer-by who crosses our campus these perilous days.

The B & G has taken to the trees, and firewood by the cord comes tumbling out of the lofty branches where the B & G men are now roosting instead of the usual quota of birds and squirrels.

Thanks, Major!

All right, all right! Major Bowes, he of the Amateur Hour fame, gave MSC a plug on his program last night which had the city of Lansing as its honor city.

He mentioned, among other points of interest about Lansing, that Michigan State college, the oldest land grant college in the United States, held forth here at East Lansing.

Murder!!

Murdered on an average of nine times a week—that is Bill Butts' record as Arthur Ludgrove, victim in "The Perfect Alibi," the outdoor play to be given in the Band Shell next week Tuesday and Wednesday.

Plan Two-Day Art Exhibit

A two-day exhibit of the work of advanced and graduate students of the art department will begin Wednesday in room 304, Union annex, according to E. B. Brauner, instructor. This is the first summer during which graduate students have studied at Michigan State college.

English Mystery Will be Given July 28, 29

What would you do if you suddenly found you had revealed to the wrong person the manner in which you had a gang sent up? Would you pay him off or skip the country? At any rate life after that wouldn't be very comfortable, would it?

This incident and the consequent events comprise the core of "Perfect Alibi," the English mystery play which a cast directed by Professor C. E. Nickle will present Thursday and Friday, July 28 and 29, at 8:30 p. m. in the Band Shell.

200 Teachers End Meeting

Two hundred teachers of vocational agriculture will leave the Michigan State college campus when the twentieth annual summer conference for teachers of vocational agriculture closes tomorrow noon.

New officers of the association, elected yesterday afternoon, include O. E. Dumckel, Manchester, president; Lynn Healy, Midland, vice-president. The secretary-treasurer will be appointed by the board of directors.

The new board of directors includes nine members. They are Donald Shepherd, Olivet; Watson Fowler, Traverse City; Claude Shufelt, Morrice; Clyde Allen, Dansville; Harold Putnam, Mendon; W. C. Proctor, Walled Lake; Walter Rawson, Hillsdale; Leo Stanley, Benton Harbor; R. M. Clark, Okemos. Lyle Abel, Sault Ste. Marie, represents the upper peninsula on the board of directors.

Adeline Dunn, Maid of Honor, Describes Cherry Festival

By Adeline Dunn

Editor's Note: Adeline Dunn, Michigan State college liberal arts sophomore, was selected attendant to the queen for the recent Traverse City Cherry festival. Below she tells her story.

The experiences of the Queen's court are rather insignificant compared to those of the Queen. However, I, as first lady in waiting, and Madeline Heirehy, maid of honor, accompanied the Queen to all the main events with the exception of her trip to Washington.

For three days we three were escorted to the various events by two motorcycle police. The first morning of the festival we were driven to Northport, where we boarded the boat "Escanaba," and returned after a three hour journey, to Traverse City.

The next important event was Senator Vandenburg's speech at the fair grounds. Following the Outside Speakers, Classes Arranged for Delegates to Annual Program.

Approximately 800 Michigan farm women representing 40,000 enrolled in home economics extension courses are expected to arrive here Sunday for the 12th annual Farm Women's week.

A program including four outside speakers and classes taught by Michigan State faculty members has been arranged for the delegates. According to Miss Marie Dye, dean of home economics, the program is designed to be both educational and entertaining.

Delegates will be housed in dormitories on campus and private homes in East Lansing. Meals will be served in Mary Mayo and Sarah Williams dormitories.

Through ideas gathered here by the delegates and carried home to their study groups, the department hopes to increase both the efficiency and enjoyment of rural life.

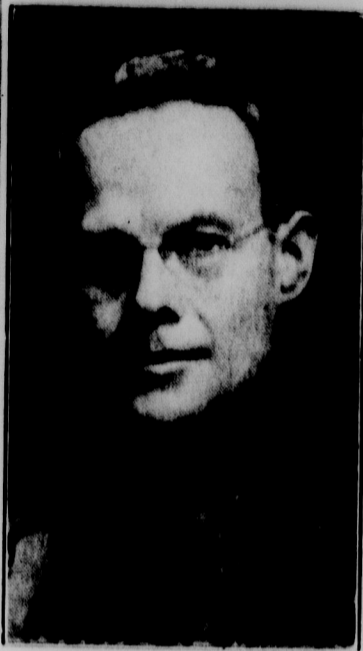

Hannahs Return From Alaska Trip

Secretary and Mrs. J. A. Hannah returned yesterday from their honeymoon trip to Alaska.

The couple left here June 22, going by train to Seattle and from there by boat to Alaska. While there they visited Seward and Juneau.

They are at home at 915 Rosewood avenue.

Will Appear Here

HERBERT C. WHITE

An exhibit of Chinese "Camera Paintings" and a lecture on Chinese art, architecture, and poetry will be given by the White Brothers in the gymnasium Monday, July 25, both afternoon and evening.

The lecture, which begins at 8 p. m., is illustrated with colored slides, and will present picturesque phases of Chinese life and culture. J. Henry White and Herbert C. White, who bring the exhibit to East Lansing, have spent many years in China acquiring a broad background for this subject.

Crowe Names Post Courses

A three-weeks' summer session to open August 1 at Michigan State college was announced Thursday by Director S. E. Crowe. Eighteen different subjects will be offered, and additional classes will be scheduled if there is sufficient demand.

Classes already scheduled, Director Crowe said, will include work in botany, economics, education, English, geography, history, political science, mathematics, medicine, psychology and traffic education.

The post-session teaching staff will include Prof. Richard de-Zeeuw and H. L. R. Chapman in botany; Prof. J. C. Davis, economics; Prof. G. H. Hill; Prof. L. J. Inker and Prof. E. L. Austin, education; E. P. Lawrence and R. P. Adams, English; M. W. Myers and Prof. E. C. Prophet, geography; Prof. J. T. Caswell and Prof. H. H. Kimber, history and political science; Prof. J. E. Powell and J. W. Sheedy, mathematics; Allen Winter, medicine; S. H. Newman, psychology, and H. E. Haun, traffic education.

The regular summer session will close with final examinations on Friday, July 29, and the post session will open on Monday morning, August 1, closing on Friday, August 19.

Arts Division Will Add New Men to Staff

Eight appointments to the faculty of the liberal arts division were announced Thursday by Dean Lloyd C. Emmons.

Two of the appointments will fill vacancies created by retirement of Dr. Eben Mumford, professor of sociology, and E. L. Grover, associate professor of education.

The appointments include Dr. Paul Honigheim, now professor of sociology, University of Panama, as associate professor of sociology, and Dr. Victor H. Noll, now head of the Rhode Island State college education department, as associate professor of education.

Other appointments announced by Dean Emmons include Dr. Denzel C. Cline, now assistant professor of economics at Princeton university, as associate professor of economics, and Dr. William H. Combs, now at the University of Tennessee, as assistant professor in history and political science.

Harris G. Warren, instructor in history at Northwestern university, was given an instructorship in history, and Paul Bagwell, graduate of Akron and Wisconsin universities, will replace G. F. Fischer as instructor in speech. Mr. Fischer will enroll at the University of Michigan this fall.

Additional appointments include Miss Mary Lee Hurt as supervising teacher in home economics to replace Miss Ruth Williamston in the Williamston school, where M. S. C. students do practice teaching.

Dr. George B. Van Schaack, who holds a Ph.D. degree from Harvard university, will serve as instructor in mathematics for one year during the leave of absence of P. L. Dressel, who will study at the university of Michigan.

Bids are Received For Boiler-Stoker

Bids will be received Monday, July 25, by Michigan State college for the purchase and installation of a new 1000 horsepower boiler and stoker.

The need for more heat is a result of the new men's dormitory which is being constructed this summer. The new boiler will supply enough steam to heat the second new men's dormitory that is being planned.

Preliminaries in a series of elimination debates will be held in the Woodshop next Monday evening to decide the six best debaters in teams composed of high school students of Lansing and East Lansing. The question to be debated is: That the United States and Great Britain should form a military alliance.

Beal Gardens Have But Small Summer Crowd This Year

Summer Students Do Not Know About Wide Plant Varieties.

Beloved in song and legend by State students for the last 60 years, Beal Botanic gardens have not been attracting as many students this summer as is usual, according to H. L. Chapman, superintendent of the gardens.

"The Beal gardens annually attract about forty thousand out-of-town visitors," said Mr. Chapman, who believes that many summer session students have not visited the gardens because they have not known about them.

As all regular students know, the Beal gardens were started by the late Dr. W. J. Beal, who originally planned for them to contain only plants native to Michigan. Later, plants from other states and countries were added and at present there are about 3,000 species and varieties of plants from all over the world.

The collection of plants to be found in the pool is particularly interesting, as it contains not only native water lilies but also a specimen of the sacred pink lotus from India, and an Egyptian papyrus plant, which is so delicate it cannot be taken out of the greenhouse until the beginning of July.

Of special interest to the nocturnal visitor is a red tropical lily which blooms only at night.

Hannah Addresses Meet

Secretary John A. Hannah spoke Tuesday before the International Baby Chick association convention in St. Paul, Minn. Dr. H. J. Stafseth of the bacteriology department also was scheduled as a speaker. Hannah is an executive director of the organization.

Library Collection Contains Many Volumes

At an Antwerp press in the year 1578 a collection of the letters of St. Jerome was found in a volume. Today in 1938, 360 years later, the M. S. C. library houses this treasure.

And yet this is but one of the rare collections of books to which State lays claim, says Jackson E. Towne, Michigan State college librarian. Of the entire collection one-half are famous books on ornithology, the works of Audubon and Wilson being outstanding.

Towne says: "I am kept busy filing, collecting, classifying, judging, and designating literature for historical collections, rare-book rooms, and 101 other destinations."

The addition of a 1,768 page translation of Webster's dictionary into Chinese which was given to the college recently by a former Chinese student, T. M. Wang, greatly increased the value of the collection.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Biebesheimer

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Biebesheimer were held Tuesday at the Okemos community church. Rev. S. Thever conducted the services. Burial took place at the Glendale cemetery.

Mrs. Biebesheimer was 59 years old and lived on Hagadorn road. She had been a life-long resident of Ingham county.

The third in a series of children's story hours will be held at the city library at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Stories of animals will be featured by a crayon-illustrated story of "Walter the Lazy Mouse," given by Jean Chandler.

Dr. Huddleson Demonstrates His Fever Cure

Dr. I. F. Huddleson, Michigan State college bacteriology research professor who left for the island of Malta June 22, arrived July 4 to find 30 undulant fever victims. The supply of "brucellin," the only known cure for the disease was nearly exhausted.

Island doctors had found the medicine which Doctor Huddleson left last year nearly perfect, according to a letter received by the bacteriology department.

Huddleson is on his fifth visit to the island to study the disease. He is working in cooperation with English governmental authorities to demonstrate the effectiveness of his diagnostic methods and his curative substance "brucellin," upon the Malta fever prevalent in the island.

Before he returns to this country he will attend the thirteenth international Veterinary congress in Vienna, where he will deliver a paper for Dean Ward Giltner, head of the Michigan State college bacteriological department.

Those students interested in field geography which is to be given in the three-weeks post session should make arrangements with the instructor, Mr. Prophet, this week. Mr. Prophet's office is in the basement of Morrill hall.

Few tackles in the college football world can play alongside this fellow. At least that's what followers of Michigan State College teams think. Known as the "Fire Chief" because of his peppery speeches in the head of the game, Speelman is an inspiration to his teammates. He goes close to 200 pounds and really hustles. Scoop Says:

By George Maskin

DETROIT, July 22—If we know Eddie Flowers, he must be plenty sore at himself, despite his copping seventh place in the Michigan Open at Grand Rapids this week.

Eddie insists "I'm not playing the golf I can" which gets us wondering just what Eddie will do on the links once he starts clicking.

Bumped into Clyde (Red) Randall, our fiery catcher the other day—but Red wasn't feeling any too hot. It seems his batting has fallen off since joining the E. and B. team in Class A of the Detroit Baseball Federation.

Red has gone to bat nine times, and has yet to hit safely, although he has belted several long drives. Randall, incidentally, will be in school fall term, and then head for the White Sox training camp at Dallas in February.

Randall and Bob (Lefty) Miller, whose wildness kept him from taking his turn on the pitching slab for State last season, both will perform in Briggs Stadium Sunday during the annual Amateur Day program.

Big Bob now is doing a swell job of mound work for the Class B Four-Leaf Clover team, and recently knocked off Vlasic, the defending champion in the loop.

George Owen and Glen Rankin also are seeing service on the Detroit sandlots in Class A company. Sam Nuzov is teaching the kids in Dearborn how to swim and playing Class A ball in the Dearborn League.

Tom McShannock and Art Cramer are life guards in Muskegon, so Victor Spaniolo reports. Bill Greer is slated to sail for foreign shores next week. Howdy Schaefer, a Flint boy who recently won the Junior District golf title, probably will be back in school in the fall.

Your guess is as good as ours

Spartan Stars Gain Support

Campus Backs Speelman, Gaines in All-Star Poll.

Balloting, sponsored by the State News, for Frank Gaines and Harry Speelman in an effort to get them positions on the Chicago Tribune All-Star team, has been progressing at a rapid pace.

The ballots, placed in business establishments in the city and in the Union last Friday, are being signed by hundreds of persons daily. Ballots will be picked up next week and mailed to Arch Ward, who is in charge of arrangements for the game, and then will be credited to Gaines and Speelman in the national voting.

Speelman in Shape

Harry Speelman is spending the summer months on Torch Lake as a counselor at Camp Hay-o-went-a, the State YMCA camp, where he is acting as athletic director and instructor in football fundamentals. Swimming and open air activities have served to keep Harry in top form and he is hopefully awaiting the outcome of the voting.

Gaines Too

Frank Gaines is likewise spending his summer working in the outdoors. Frank has a position as an engineer in the Tulsa, Oklahoma oilfields. Here he keeps in condition by doing hard work and spending plenty of time in the open air and under the hot southwestern sun.

as to what's wrong with the Tigers. Right now we like the Daffy Dodgers, who certainly have made things tough for the National League leaders. Somehow or other we'll string along with the Yanks and Pirates for the 1938 world series. Cleveland may be there but we doubt if they have the all-around class boasted by the New Yorkers.

Evergreen Manor Takes League Lead

Evergreen Manor is now in possession of first place, having added two more games to its total this week. Monday evening the Manor team won from the SAE, 10-1, in a contest that was billed as the feature game of the season. The winners turned the SAE boys back with apparent ease, however. Wednesday the Wolverines were victims of the pitching of Aubuchon, new Evergreen hurler, who let them down without a hit or a run. It was the first no-hit no-run game of the summer season. The final score was 9-0.

Fertig's Tom Cats dropped two games this week after winning three of their first four games in league play. Tuesday the Woos defeated them, 7-2. SAE dropped them Wednesday by scoring two runs in the last half of the fifth inning. The score was 6-5.

The Wolverines chalked up their second victory by defeating the Vets Monday, 1-0.

The Woos gave the Vets their second defeat of the week Thursday by downing them, 7-4. The victory placed the Woos in third place in the summer league with four victories and three defeats.

Central Juniors Vanquish Bailey in Hard Fought Contest

The Bailey playground softball team, after dropping a hard-fought game Monday night to the Central team, is still leading the summer playground softball league with nine games won and six lost.

The 15th game of the summer series was won by a score of 11 to 9 by the Central juniors. Batteries for the two teams were: Bailey, Card and White; Central, Emmons, Rule and W. Holbrook.

Tennis, croquet, and hopscotch tournaments are also under way at the present time at both the Central and Bailey playgrounds.

30-Pound Turtle Stops Darlene Beckman

Imagine bumping into a 30-pound turtle in East Lansing.

That is just what Darlene Beckman did last Thursday morning. Darlene had stepped out of her home at 325 Grove street and had started to cross the street when she was confronted with a turtle, about one foot across the shell, slowly ambling toward her, its big head with its popping eyes gazing at her, its six inch tail dragging behind it.

Darlene ran back to the house and called the people living there to see if they saw what she saw. They captured the beast and called the city zoo to come and get the prize.

No one knows where it came from or where it was going, but it looked as if it had come a long way. Its back was covered with dried mud and dirty moss.
