Fish Story?

Due to the mid-afternoon lull in business, Bob Haule and another gags station attendant in Lansing decided to indulge in a bit of "pitching pennies." As he was reaching his true form and his eye was getting exceptionally good, Haule pitched one of the coppers directly into the crack in the sidewalk and the penny stood on its edge, just then along flew an enterprising sparrow, neatly picked the penny out of the crack with its bill, and speedily flew away. If you don't believe Haule, just ask him.

Here We Come!

Three well meaning summer school students had an extremely difficult time studying for their final exams. No doubt anyone would if they had a trip to California to look forward to the Sunday following the end of the term. Three happy-go-lucky outs, Chuck Foster, Walt Rathbun, and Chuck Hopkins will leave for Los Angeles early Sunday morning.

Wandering Poet

Merlin Valleau, unshaven, wandering 77-year-old poet, who fasted 33 days twelve years ago, was in East Lansing yesterday. He sells a pamphlet containing his poetry. The booklet, entitled "The Kingdom of God is at Hand," helps him tour the country and keeps him off relief, he said.

Weighing 110 pounds and dressed in white trousers and armless shirt and wearing shoes cut into sandals, he tours the country selling poems, lecturing and posing for art classes. He came to East Lansing from Saugatuck by bus, he said. He disapproves of hitchhiking.

Off to Europe

Professor Walter Morofsky of the entomology department is sailing from Quebec Saturday afternoon on the Empress of Britain for a month in Europe.

In the museums of Paris, Budapest, and Berlin, Professor Morofsky will study insect collections. From August 15-20 he plans to attend the International Congress of Entomology in Berlin.

Cafeteria, Grill Close

The Union will go into a state of semi-hibernation this Saturday when the cafeteria and the grill close for the summer. The desk will be open only until 6 at night. The new Union grill, which is now under construction, will be completed when the Union reopens completely on the day after Labor day.

Donald P. Appling, State grad of 1937, is listed among the graduates of the Naval Air training school at Pensacola, Fla. While in school Appling was captain of the varsity fencing team.

Violin Instructor

Francis Aranyi

Francis Aranyi, Hungarian violinist, will replace Michael Press this fall. Arriving on campus September 19, Mr. Aranyi will give auditions to incoming students and will conduct the violin classes and the sonata.

A native of Budapest, Mr. Aranyi made a successful debut in New York Town hall October 13, 1937. He made his soloist debut in Vienna and has made concert appearances in Holland, Scandinavia, Poland, Rumania, Austria, Germany, Finland and France. After serving as concertmaster on the Wiesbaden orchestra and the Stockholm Concert society he came to the United States in 1935 as professor of violin at the Duquesne university.

Robbers Loot Local Houses

Chief of Police Issues Warning Against Burglars.

Following two breaking and entering cases last weekend, Chief of Police Harold Haun again warned East Lansing residents to guard against burglary during absence from their homes in the summer.

A nine-piece set of Priscilla pattern sterling silverware was stolen from 335 Kensington Road, and five dollars and two children's banks were taken from a house at 825 West Grand River.

Both offenses occurred Friday night when there was no one at home. The burglars, believed to have been the same in each instance, reached inside and unlocked the door, after breaking the glass with a small stone.

Art Exhibit Extended

The art exhibit of the advanced and graduate classes under E. B. Brauner, which has drawn many students to room 304 in the Union annex, will be continued until Monday. East Lansing residents are invited to visit the exhibit, which has proved popular in its first presentation at summer school here.

7 E. Lansing Students Get Degrees Today

Approximately 200 students are expected to be enrolled during the three weeks' summer session to open Monday, according to Director S. E. Crow.

Seventy-two students who complete undergraduate work today are listed as candidates for degrees by the registrar's office.

All six college divisions are represented on the list. The 72 names will be added to the total for the 1938-39 school year.

Following is the list of graduates as announced by the registrar's office:

From East Lansing: Aline Brauner, liberal arts; Barbara Jane Strable, liberal arts; John Vincent Slyker, landscape architecture; John William Cunkelman, veterinary medicine; Alice Caroline Lee, home economics; Martha Delphine Lee, home economics; and Roger Edward Woodcock, engineering.

From Lansing: June Caroline Dean, liberal arts; Betty Marjorie Hay, liberal arts; and Marjorie Anita Lovering, home economics.

City's Librarian Lists New Books

Several new books for adult reading, and four suited to the juvenile taste have been added to the East Lansing public library this week.

Among the adult books are Sheehan's "A Day of Battle"; Armstrong's "We Too Are the People" and Arlitt's "The Adolescent."

The books will be available later Saturday, July 30.

Student Explains Background Of Dr. I. F. Huddleson's Work

(By David Ruhe)

Editor's Note: This guest feature was prepared by David Ruhe, Michigan State college graduate and student in Temple Medical school. He is working this summer in the bacteriology department and wishes to express appreciation for cooperation of the department in furnishing information.

Michigan State college has been, for twenty odd years, the site of a mushrooming research project in bacteriology. The studies upon infectious abortion (Bang's disease of cattle) and human undulant fever have been the life work of the campus' most distinguished research science professor, Dr. I. Forest Huddleson.

At present Doctor Huddleson is on the island of Malta in the Mediterranean, studying the undulant fever endemic there. The

Farm Families Are on Campus

Farmers and their families throughout the state are today attending the annual Farmers' Day program on campus.

Opening at 9:30 a. m. is a program of demonstrating methods of preventing livestock losses. At 1 o'clock research programs and demonstrations are to be staged by the agricultural departments of goats of the island are generally infected with the bacteria which, upon transmission to man, cause the "Malta Fever." Historically, the famed Sir David Bruce first identified the Brucella organism which produces the disease. Doctor Huddleson's immediate project is to demonstrate to the British medical authorities the accuracy of his diagnostic and curative methods following the demonstrations of his previous two trips.

This internationalizing of American research work is sponsored by the Horace H. and Mary A. Rackham Fund of Ann Arbor, whose executors support fruitful research projects such as this one.

Special Vote May Be Held On Bond Issue

Possibility of a special election to vote a bond issue to raise money for enlarged water and sewage disposal plants appeared this week after the city council discussed the matter at the regular meeting Monday night.

If voted on, the bond issue would amount to approximately $60,000. This amount would be supplemented by a $70,000 grant which has already been earmarked for the purpose by PWA officials.

In a resolution, the council instructed Mayor L. L. Frimodig and City Clerk Harry Lott to prepare data to determine what amount would be necessary to make needed improvements, and to file an application with PWA for the grant.

As soon as the grant is officially approved, the special election will be held.

The council approved the insurance contract with Lloyds of London, negotiated by Herman Henkel of Lansing, in a special meeting last week.

The Lansing city council is expected to accept the contract at its meeting Monday night.

When the agreement is finally in effect, the Lansing fire force will make emergency runs to East Lansing in cases of very serious fires.

The insurance will protect the city of Lansing against loss of life or injury to Lansing firemen while in action here.

The Lansing fire department was called to this city only once last year and twice the year before. The city council considers East Lansing present equipment adequate to control all but really large fires, City Clerk Harry Lott said.

With Lansing cooperating in the event of serious fires, there is no need for a greatly enlarged department here, he believes.

Your Paper

The Michigan State News will continue to appear each Friday morning throughout the summer. It will go to every home in East Lansing as before.

Because of the close of the regular summer session today, more emphasis can be placed on East Lansing news. Until now, because of space limitation, the paper has been unable to serve adequately as a community newspaper.

From now on it shall be the policy of the State News to place increased emphasis on East Lansing coverage. Any news contributions, or indirect contributions in the form of criticism, will be greatly appreciated.

Big Nickle's Worth

Prof. C. H. Nickle, who directed the summer term play, "The Perfect Alibi," is deserving of recognition for the way in which the actors he coached presented the play. With only a short time in which to rehearse and a limited number from which to select a cast, the play was surprisingly well given.

To the summer motorist, the gas war that is now in evidence in Lansing, East Lansing, Detroit and Grand Rapids, means cheaper transportation for his weekend trips. However, to those in the gasoline distribution business, fluctuation in price means a corresponding fluctuation in profits.

mitted type of Brucella disease, named after Bruce, the discoverer, is common throughout all the Mediterranean coasts. Acceptance of the methods developed and proven here by Doctor Huddleson will without doubt increase the number of cases identified, and will effect a vast number of cures of this stubborn chronic ailment.

Recent letters from Doctor Huddleson in Malta indicate that not only is he getting excellent results with his agents, but that British physicians are enthusiastic in their cooperation.

Undulant fever is becoming recognized increasingly by men of medicine as being a disease somewhat like tuberculosis. It tends to be chronic, to cause obscure illnesses that puzzle physicians sorely. It may attack almost any organ of the body, and in its typical form shows an up and down temperature chart to earn its name "undulant fever."

In over 22 years of work here at this college, Doctor Huddleson has pioneered in the study of the Brucella organisms. Brucellosis in both man and animals has been his constant application. He has developed methods for growing the bacterium from any suspected material. He has developed ways for differentiating between the various species of Brucella bacteria. He has developed the rapid agglutination test for Bang's disease that veterinarians use to identify the disease in a herd of cattle. He is in the process of perfecting diagnostic methods for undulant fever in man, and has had remarkable success with an allergic skin test combined with a phyco-cytic test for body resistance to the disease.

In conjunction with Dr. A. D. Hershey, Dr. R. B. Pennell and W. H. Stahl, he has been probing into the chemical nature of these bacteria, and has been contributing to knowledge of immunology and immuno-chemistry. Finally, he has produced Brucellin, a biologic agent that in 85 per cent of cases markedly aids in recovery from the disease.

In cattle the infection is called Bang's Infectious Abortion. Ten to fifteen per cent of the huge American cattle population have been estimated to have the disease in some one of its forms. Goats and pigs have similar diseases caused by closely related bacteria; but horses, sheep, dogs, cats, fowl and wild animals have also been found to be infected. Man contracts the disease principally through handling the infected animals, but may become exposed through unpasteurized

John McAvoy, the Deke from Yale who has been industriously lending collegiate atmosphere to our campus since last September with the aid of his dashing roadster, has finally decided to stop kidding the gals and admit he's engaged to a girl in Iowa. He may get some ideas for facing his feminine following after finishing his role in "The Perfect Alibi" . . . Things are still progressing satisfactorily in the Vera Jane Mindsam Ketchman affair for which we've been plugging so hard—we'll make something of it yet. Our deepest bow from the waist goes to the coed from Ann Arbor who rang the Mayo firebell and managed to persuade the housemother it was an accident, thereby getting out of a $5 fine. That's better than we could do. Walt Rathbun is off to California come next week. Have fun, chum. If I don't see you again this summer, dear reader, let me wish you good luck on the finals. Don't strain to get through though, there aren't enough gas pumps to be tended by college grads.

milk and milk products. Dr. E. E. Hamann is studying in the field the success of vaccines produced here in the Central Brucella Station. Results have been very promising, and it is hoped that successful vaccination will produce a slow eradication of the disease without the costly "stamping out" procedures that have been used on many other diseases of domestic animals in this country.

The research work upon Brucella disease being done here is without parallel in this country or abroad. In addition to the main projects, hematologist Mrs. Myrtle R. Munger is studying blood changes, and W. B. Ardrey is working with culture media problems. Nothing worth the attack is left undone. A truly first class piece of research work is being done on the campus. Its implications, direct or indirect, strike everyone in this country and the world.

White Attracts Large Crowd To Lecture on Chinese Art

By Mary Jo Stephens

"All that is great and grand shall pass away. And if the arts of gods cannot prevail, Shall man's poor handiwork escape decay?" With this bit of Chinese philosophy, Herbert C. White concluded the lecture on Chinese art, architecture, and poetry which he and his brother, J. Henry White, gave in the college gymnasium before a large group of farm women and college students Monday evening, July 25.

of the imperial palaces, and Chinese landscapes and peoples were shown on the large screen and explained along with inter-sidelights.

Mr. White stressed the fact that the Chinese are as a race essentially a peace loving people. Gardens, statues, and temples were given peace denoting names and even the court of the emperor himself was called the Court of Perfect Harmony.

Because of the emperor's refusal to allow opium smoking to be introduced into China the imperial palace was destroyed by the British and the French about 50 years ago. Prior to this time the Chinese were innocent of the use of the narcotic but because of European greed for monetary gains the country is now overrun with opium addicts.

Council Proceedings

East Lansing, Mich., July 22, 1938.

Special meeting called to order by Mayor Frimodig.

Present: Ald. Maher, Adams, Card and Barnhart.

Special meeting called to consider a fire department agreement with the city of Lansing.

City Attorney Harry Hubbard presented an agreement from the city of Lansing providing for assistance in extraordinary cases where fires are beyond the control of the local department.

Resolution by Ald. Maher:

"WHEREAS, the City of East Lansing in past years has received the assistance of the fire department of the city of Lansing in extraordinary cases where the fire is beyond the control of the fire department of the city of East Lansing to handle, and

WHEREAS, the city of Lansing as a conditioned precedent to extending this assistance to the city of East Lansing in the future, desires to be properly protected with respect to damage to its property and injuries to its workmen and others, and to this end has caused to be prepared a certain contract providing for the city of East Lansing to take out certain insurance policies covering certain elements of risk mentioned in said contract, and

WHEREAS, the contract as submitted by the city of Lansing is agreeable to the members of the common council of the city of East Lansing,

THEREFORE, be it resolved by the members of the common council of the city of East Lansing that the contract with respect to the arrangement regarding the extension of the Lansing fire department's assistance to the city of East Lansing be and hereby is approved, and the mayor and city clerk of the said city of East Lansing are hereby authorized to sign the same for and on behalf of the city of East Lansing."

Supported by Ald. Barnhart and carried.

Seven Leave, Bailey, Central Get One Extra

Nine new teachers will begin their duties September 12 when the East Lansing public school system reopens, according to Donald O'Hara, superintendent.

One new teacher will be added at both Bailey and Central schools because of increased enrollment. The others are being added to replace former teachers who have been married or have taken other positions.

The new teachers are:

Madelyn Grapes, art supervisor, University of Michigan graduate from Greenville; Edward Graper, high school biology, Oakland City college graduate from Wakefield; Bernice Hofacker, second grade at Bailey school, Western State Teachers college graduate from Muskegon; Faye Bretschneider, third grade at Bailey school, Western State Teachers college graduate from Three Rivers; Harriet Beale, second grade at Central school, Northern State Teachers college graduate from Saginaw; Elizabeth Hosking, third grade at Central school, educated at Northern State Teachers college and University of Michigan, from Ann Arbor; Maude Lougheed, fourth grade at Central school, Central State Teachers college graduate from Jackson; Virginia Kooker, sixth grade (half day at each school) Hope college graduate from Holland, and Sally Olson, sixth grade at Central school, Western State Teachers college graduate from St. Johns.

The withdrawal of college practice teachers is expected to lighten the teaching load for each instructor who formerly gave attention and time to the student teachers, according to O'Hara.

The children's story hour will be held as usual at the city library at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Novice Autoists Have Another Opportunity

Twelve beginners will be safer drivers.

The twelve are laboratory subjects of students today completing the course in high school traffic education, a course designed for training high school driving instructors.

The beginners were taught the fundamentals in driving by students as part of the course work.

Persons interested either in taking the course or learning to drive during the post session are invited to contact Harold Hann, East Lansing chief of police, who instructs the course.

A small fee will be charged persons who receive driving instruction while students taking the regular course to become instructors will receive credit from the college.

This offer is open to East Lansing residents as well as college students.

Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Applegate and family are leaving today on a month's vacation. They will visit South Dakota's Black Hills, Winnipeg, Canada, and will return by way of the upper peninsula.

Flowers Wins State Amateur Tourney

Scoop Says:

By George Maskin

DETROIT, July 29—A week ago we were wondering what Eddie Flowers would do on the golf course once he got going.

Eddie didn't keep us in suspense very long, shooting sub-par golf to capture the State Amateur at Gull Lake. That victory was just a starter for Eddie in his bid for national recognition.

The big fellow today has every requisite of a great golfer, with the lone exception of experience. He can knock the ball a mile off the tee, get the most out of every iron shot, and he doesn't waste any strokes on the greens.

Eddie'll be up there in the golfing world—and it won't be long.

According to those on the know, Mickey Cochrane won't catch for the Tigers this season, although Boss Briggs has granted Mike permission to go behind the bat.

They reveal Mike not only isn't in shape to assume a regular position in the lineup, but also doctors have advised him to direct the team from the bench in his own interests.

Hankus Pankus Greenberg, if no one else on the team, certainly is keeping Tiger interest up these days with his four base clouts.

Despite his frequent four-base smashes, Hank still has a long way to go to better Babe Ruth's record of 60. But at his present clip, big Henry may do it. He's even now

Realizing with this issue the summer session ends, the old scooper turns sentimental long enough to hope you'll take it easy the rest of the summer.

And to Jerry, and the other seniors who wind up their college days today, we'll be pulling for you to make good.

Meantime, prepare yourselves for a couple of good football games with Wayne and Michigan, because both Joe Gembs and Fritz Crisler prognosticate strong clubs.

More Harvard university seniors selected business as their profession than any other line of endeavor.

Ex-State Star Gains Title by Dropping Harbert 4-3 in Final Match.

Big Ed Flowers, Michigan State linksman from Grand Rapids, added a new laurel to his growing trophy chest this week. Last Sunday he was crowned state amateur golf champion at the Gull Lake Country club at Kalamazoo. Flowers won 4 and 3 in the final over Melvin (Chick) Harbert.

Edward Flowers

also of Grand Rapids. He went out in front early in the match, dropping an 18-foot putt for a burdie three on the second hole after the first had been halved.

Harbert, who, until this year, was considered the longest-driving amateur in the state, found himself consistently outdriven by the tall Stater. On 11 of the 15 holes where full drives were required the new champion outdrove his opponent with shots ranging from 275 yards upwards. The only hole of the final match that Harbert won was the 355-yard seventh. He took it with a burdie three.

In the semi-final match Flowers defeated Bill Barclay of Flint, 3-1. Harbert won from Brink, 2-1.

He has belonged to Lansing Country club for the past two years.

Flowers shot his best golf of the year in last week's tournament, being 7 under par for 91 holes.

State Entrants Lose Out in Squad Poll

Avril Andy Farkas, former University of Detroit halfback, will be the only Michigan player on the All-American collegiate football squad when the Stars and the Washington Redskins line up at Soldier's field, Chicago, August 31. Harry Speelman and Frank Gaines, who received over 10,000 votes in East Lansing, did not earn squad positions on the Chicago Tribune poll to select the team to appear in the charity classic.

Speelman remained among the leading contenders for squad positions throughout the entire poll, which closed last Saturday at midnight. He received a total of 132,462 votes. Gaines was not listed. Farkas received 813,925 votes to place 6th in the halfback position race.

In the coaches' poll which will close August 7, Harry Kipke, until last spring head football coach at the University of Michigan, was fourth yesterday. Coach Charley Bachman was also listed among those who have already polled votes.

East Lansing Bats Boom in Fourth Win

Combining steady hitting with effective pitching, East Lansing Adams smashed their way to a 13-5 victory over Miller Road at Mason Monday night. It was Adams' fourth victory of the round in the eastern division of the Tri-County softball league.

East Lansing started off in the first inning by combining two hits and two walks off Sherwood for four runs. They scored in every inning, and were never threatened

Summer Softball League Closes Season With 5-Game Playoff.

Evergreen Manor won the summer softball title by defeating the Wooz Wednesday, 12 to 0 in the finals of the championship play off. The Wooz contributed to their own downfall by committing 10 errors. This combined with the heavy hitting of the Evergreen team accounted for the top heavy score.

The Wooz won their way to the finals by defeating the Wolverines Monday 10 to 5 and the Vets Tuesday 2 to 1.

The Manor boys drew a bye through the first round and defeated the Fertig Tom Cats in the second round in a hard fought game. The score was 4 to 1.

The Wooz gained in strength as the season progressed. At one time their record showed one victory and three defeats. Their record for the last two weeks of the campaign was five straight victories before the team cracked under the attack of the champions.

S. A. E., one of the early leaders of the league, dropped out Monday on a forfeit to the Vets.

by Miller Road, the division leaders.

Mason also fell victims to the East Lansing machine at Marble school field last Friday, 2-1. East Lansing scored both runs in the first on a single by Noble and a triple by Leo Parish. Kester's seventh-inning homer accounted for Mason's only marker. Harry Schultz pitched all the way for East Lansing, allowing but four hits.

In an exhibition game at Ypsilanti last Sunday, Adams dropped a decision to Schaeffer's, a triple-A team, 5-2. Clemens, Ypsilanti twirler, held East Lansing to three hits, all of them coming in the fourth inning when both runs were scored. Kemp went the route for East Lansing, and gave up six hits.

State Sprint Star Sails for Europe

Wilbur Greer, State's premier sprint ace, sailed from New York Tuesday night with a contingent of A. A. U. track stars for a two-day meet at Berlin on August 13 and 14. There they will meet the outstanding German track men.

In the final tune-up Tuesday before sailing, Greer participated in a meet sponsored by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He continued his year-old feud with Moez Ellerbee of Tuskegee Institute, but could place no better than second in both the 100- and 220-yard dashes.

Greer will compete only in the 100-meter dash abroad. Included on the same touring team is Bill Watson, star and captain-elect of the University of Michigan track team.
