$70,000 Bond Issue To Be Up For Vote

UP Main Street AND DOWN

Add Oddities

Leta Jane Vixby, 417 Spring street, Lansing, was rushed to Sparrow hospital late last night after a pinch bug had lodged in her ear. She was removed immediately from the hospital after surgeons succeeded in removing the insect. She was at an Okemow drug store when the unhappy incident occurred.

Caught!

William E. Jensen, WPA worker from Round Lake, pled guilty to a charge of simple larceny before Justice Whittemore Wednesday. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and $3.35 costs.

Jensen was apprehended at 10:25 p. m. last Saturday night by officer Charles Pegg, in the act of stealing gasoline from a tractor used on the WPA polo field project.

The officer confiscated a syphon and a five gallon can partly filled with stolen gasoline, which Jensen was filling from a tractor used on a campus WPA project.

Beat Heat

The ducks were confused and squawking. Passers-by were puzzled and gaping. And undisturbed by the publicity several big fellows from the barracks continued their calm perusing of book-lore as they sat in the middle of the Red Cedar.

Study conditions being too hot for comfort in the barracks, the boys had dragged a handy picnic table and bench into the middle of the stream of swiftly flowing water on top of the dam. They then continued their studies from this vantage point as the shallow water swirled around grateful feet and ankles.

Westward Ho!

Gone to California is our news editor, Charles Wells. He and Tom Butters left Monday driving cars for dealers from Detroit. Charles expects to visit his parents who are spending the summer in Los Angeles. His father is a mathematics instructor at Williams college, Williamston, Mass.

No Relief

Yesterday's "cool wave", with a high temperature of 85.5 degrees, will be short lived, the East Lansing weather bureau predicted last night. Fair and somewhat warmer today and Saturday is the forecast. The season's high temperature—91.1 degrees—was reached Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Doris Tunny and Edward H. Nash announce August 13 as the date of their marriage. The ceremony will be performed in the McCune Chapel of the Peoples church by the Reverend H. G. Gaige and the wedding breakfast will be given at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. Walter G. Glines, 212 River street, East Lansing.

Lawn Service To Be Held At Capitol

Peoples church will be one of 15 churches represented at the Capitol Lawn service scheduled for Sunday evening on the Capitol lawn, Lansing. Rabbi Leon Fram of Beth El temple, Detroit, will be the main speaker. His subject will be "Frightful Peace."

The Peoples church quartet, composed of Mrs. Helen Dodge Stack, soprano; Mrs. D. Detweiler, contralto; Lowell Orbison, baritone; and G. Harold Crawford, bass, will sing "Softly Now the Light of Day." Mrs. Stack will also sing a solo. Community singing will be directed by Hubert Brown.

Preceding the meeting the Lansing Peoples' Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Frederick Lewis, will play a regular concert.

Rev. Thomas Toy, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist church, who will be chairman of the meeting, announces that in case of rain the services will be held in the Plymouth Congregational church.

De Waele-Ingleson Wedding Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Waele of Roscommon announced the engagement of their daughter Margaret, to William G. Ingleson of Rochelle, Ill., today. The wedding will take place August 24 in Lansing. After the marriage the couple will live in Chicago.

Miss DeWaele was a student at Michigan State college and is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. Mr. Ingleson was graduated with the class of '38. He was editor of the Wolverine, college yearbook, last year and is a member of Theta Kappa Nu fraternity.

Building Bids To Be Received Until Aug. 23

Bids for the construction contract for a second new men's dormitory will be received at the secretary's office until 2 p. m., August 23, Secretary John A. Hannah said yesterday.

Further approval by PWA officials of college requests for funds for construction of a hospital, auditorium and other buildings is expected this month, and a special meeting of the state board of agriculture may be called this month, if such approvals are announced.

PWA approval has been given the men's dormitory, and the state board has approved a self-liquidating bond issue to cover the college's portion of the half-million dollar building. PWA funds allotted for the building total $205,000, and the college will pay about $300,000.

Initial construction on the new Federal poultry laboratory on a 50-acre site donated by the college is under way on Harrison road. The first set of buildings, which will serve poultrymen of 22 northeastern states, is to be erected at a cost of $110,000.

The first group of buildings will include a central laboratory, two large brooder houses with two-story centers and one story wings, and two other houses designed for special research on the fowl paralysis problem.

Additional buildings are being planned for further construction.

James Brakeman of 624 Lenawee, Lansing, went to New York on business Thursday. He is expected to return Monday.

George Thompson, employee of the Rex Camera shop, is vacationing at Harbor Springs. He will return August 16.

Firemen Enjoy Fireless Days

East Lansing firemen have been having an easy time of it for the past two months with but one automobile fire since commencement last June. According to Murlie V. Croy, city fire chief, several factors have lessened fire losses here. With the extensive building program in East Lansing during recent years have come many new improvements in heating systems. Automatic devices have closed the doors of furnaces and people have had to find other means of disposing of their rubbish. Thus they do not allow it to accumulate in cellar corners but burn it more regularly in fireplaces or incinerators, Croy said.

The lack of grass fires is attributed to the rainy spring and damp early summer.

Business Men To Hear Otto

C. W. Otto, secretary of Lansing Chamber of Commerce, will address the East Lansing Business Men's club Tuesday evening at Hunt's Food shop.

His talk will be based on returns of questionnaires which were sent to residents of East Lansing last month. The questionnaires dealt with relationship of townspeople to merchants, and gave them an opportunity to make any suggestions they might wish concerning ways for local merchants to increase their service.

The regular Saturday morning story hour will be held at 10 a. m. Pioneer stories will be featured.

City Heads Apply For Federal Loan

By Elmer E. White

East Lansing property owners will vote on a proposed $70,000 bond issue at a special election held in conjunction with the regular primary, September 13. Money derived from sales of the bonds will be combined with government funds, making a total of $185,000 for an extensive improvement plan which proposes to enlarge the water system and sewage disposal plant in East Lansing.

Harry A. Lott, city clerk, and Frank Dodge, engineer, have been delegated by the city council to apply to the federal government for a loan of $120,000 and it has been informally reported that the appropriation will be granted.

Thirty-six thousand dollars of bond money will be appropriated for the new water-works, the remainder coming from the coffers of the P. W. A. The plant is to be situated on Saginaw street just off North Harrison avenue. Members of the council feel a need for this improvement because pressure is dangerously low in the west side of town, particularly during the summer months when the college pumps are shut down. The new plant will be located on the west side to keep pressure up in that district and insure residents of fire protection.

The college will be expected to contribute between 40 and 50 per cent of the cost for the sewage disposal plant. This money, in addition to $34,000 of the bond money, will be applied to this project. Any surplus will be supplied by W. P. A. funds.

The present sewage disposal facilities are inadequate because of the growth of the college and the city. As a result the Red Cedar river is being polluted. An agreement similar to the one now in effect will be drawn up between local authorities and the college in regard to joint control of the new sewage disposal plant, Dodge said.

Stulberg Writes Adult Violin Text

Prompted by his belief that nothing has been written for the adult player, who has a knowledge of music and wishes to have a general survey of the violin to stimulate his interest, Julius Stulberg, violin instructor and violinist of the Stulberg trio, has prepared a book entitled "Violin Methods for Adult Beginners."

"I mean, above all, to do away with drudgery for beginning adult students," said Stulberg in an interview regarding his book. "In my nine years of teaching I have been collecting the material that is most useful to the adult player. All of the exercises suggested are original and have been tried by my students."

Claude Benedict of Lake Lansing is leaving for a vacation.

Introducing 'Frim', Your Mayor

By Clarence Pierce

Twenty-five years ago this fall a strapping youth from Calumet entered Michigan Agricultural college unheard of among the few hundred other students.

During his freshman year this fellow played regularly on the varsity basketball and baseball teams. (Those were the days before the freshman rule which prohibits freshmen from competing on varsity teams).

In his sophomore year he was a member of the same teams and in addition he won a reserve letter in football. His junior and senior years found him playing regularly in all three sports. Upon graduation he had earned a total of 10 major letters. That total established a record which still stands at Michigan State.

The person referred to is none other than the present mayor of East Lansing, L. L. Frimodig. He now holds the position of associate professor of physical education and assistant director of athletics at Michigan State. He is also at the head of all intramural athletics sponsored by the college. He has been connected with the athletic department of the school since 1919.

After graduation from the institution in 1917, Mr. Frimodig became principal and coach of the Escanaba, Michigan, high school. He held this position for nearly one season, resigning near the end of the year to enlist in the United States army. He was in the service until January, 1919. Upon his release he came directly to Michigan State as coach of all freshman athletics.

"Frim," as he is known to all of his friends, entered city politics in 1930, becoming a member of the city council. As president of that body in 1933 it became his duty, to fill an unexpired term as mayor, the former executive having left the city. He was elected to that office in his own right in 1934. He was re-elected in 1936 and comes up for re-election again this fall.

The mayor's favorite summer game is golf. He is a charter member of a local golf club. His favorite winter sports are billiards and bowling.

Besides his various other duties he has served as president of the Lions club for the past year.

Home Protection

East Lansing's system of "home protection" offered by the city police is being enjoyed by at least 50 families now enjoying lake cottages or seashore trips with confidence that their home belongings are safe. This welcome service is given by the city at no cost to all who ask it at any time during the year.

All you have to do is to phone the city hall, leave your name, address, date of departure, and length of time you will be gone.

During his nightly tour of the city the officer on duty makes inspection of each house on the list. He checks the front door, back door, garage door, and all windows to see that they are all secure. He pokes around with his flashlight in search of fire, prowlers, or any other lurking danger. In short, he gives your home a good once-over every twenty-four hours.

If you are going away for a month or for a week-end, just phone the city hall and enjoy this free inspection service for your own home.—B. F.

High Enrollment
For Next Year
Indicated

Applications for admission accepted by the registrar's office for the fall term this week totaled 1,431—206 more than for this date last year—it was announced yesterday.

The increase may indicate a larger enrollment of new students this fall, it was explained, or it may indicate only a trend to file applications for admission earlier than in previous years.

Not before the middle of August will it be possible to accurately predict this fall's new student enrollment, officials said. Last fall's new student enrollment, including freshman and transfers from other schools, totaled 2,287, the largest new student enrollment in the college's history.

Keep Dogs In,
Chief Warns

Several Cases of Rabies
Reported; Hot Days
Cause, Haun Says.

Chief of Police Harold Haun has asked dog owners to keep their dogs closely confined to their own premises during the summer, following an unusually large number of cases of rabies in this locality. Hot weather is especially conducive to the growth and spread of rabies, he says.

The police are cooperating with state officials in an attempt to curb the already widespread epidemic of rabies, the worst the state has experienced in many years.

A considerable number of people, victims of bites from rabid dogs, have been given the Pasteur treatment here this year.

City Busses
Change Stops

Stop at Bank Building
Going West. Across
From Union, East.

City busses are stepping in front of the State bank instead of the College Drug store, and, on the east side of the college entrance instead of in front of the music center, in accordance with a city council ruling.

The city council directed the chief of police to erect the necessary signs at the corners. This was on recommendation of Chairman V. J. DeCamp of the traffic commission.

Blue Goose busses will encircle the intersection at the traffic light and stop in front of the bank instead of loading passengers at the east side of the college entrance. This intersection turn will be on trial for thirty days.

Miss Mildred Jones, instructor in institution administration, is spending part of August in Harbor Springs, Michigan, and the remainder in her home town in Kentucky.

College Library Is Collecting
Data on M. S. C., Present, Past

Michigan State is frequently adding to her store of historical data concerning the college and is ever on the lookout for any material relating to the M. S. C. of the past.

In 1932 the extensive research of former President Frank Kedzie, consisting of 5,826 items, came to the library. This collection constitutes a large proportion of the total present data but is far from being an inexhaustible reservoir. Consequently, new sources of information are constantly in need of investigation by Mr. Jackson E. Towne and the library staff. All contributions to the original collection are welcomed.

Preliminary steps have been

Regular Term's Editor Tells History
Of Local Journalism: 'Bubble' to 'State News'

By Ray Turner

Eleven years after the founding of M. A. C. in 1855 the embryo city of East Lansing saw its first newspaper, the "Bubble." Since that time newspapers have come and gone, their gradual growth closely paralleling that of the college and town.

The "Bubble" made little attempt to publish news as news is known today. Instead it sailed forth from the blowpipes of its editors as a sheet designed mainly as an "escape valve" for the publishers, all members of a college society who called themselves the "Stocial Pen Yankers."

This pioneer newspaper held its ground for seven monthly issues which were well supported by both students and faculty of the college. But the bubble broke, never to be repaired, when its managing editor, "Hezekiah Solemnstyle," was graduated without providing for the paper's continuation.

Then in 1890 came the "Eagle," a weekly newspaper edited by Roscoe Kedzie, 10, youngest editor in the country, and grandson of Dr. R. C. Kedzie, professor of chemistry for 39 years at M. A. C. The "Eagle" had a small beginning, as its first editions were but two inches square, and sold for one cent a copy.

Publishing local news, it grew and prospered until its youthful editor went off to college, leaving the "Eagle" to roost permanently.

Again in 1908 journalism shifted back to the campus itself where students started publishing the "Holcad," a newspaper which grew from a bi-weekly to a weekly, concerning itself primarily with college news, and later metamorphosed into the "Michigan State News."

Next to take up the cause of East Lansing journalism was J.

S. Baker, another lad of 10 who was the grandson of Dr. W. J. Beal, early professor of botany and the first professor of forestry in Michigan. Baker published a weekly paper three by four inches in size which boasted occasionally of two-page editions.

In the meantime the "Holcad" steadily increased its size. But not until 1937 was it destined to find space to print news items concerning the city of East Lansing.

Feeling the need for a paper of their own, business men and private citizens started a weekly newspaper bearing the title "East Lansing Community Life" which was later changed to "East Lansing Press." From 1918 to September of 1937 this paper dispensed news throughout the city.

When in the fall of 1937 the "Michigan State News" increased its publications to three times a week, its editors found they had ample space to print East Lansing community news as well as campus events.

So it was that the "East Lansing Press" discontinued publication, and the city has since been served thrice weekly by accounts of its happenings, during the summer by a weekly edition of the Michigan State News.

Hauer and Sons
To Build Addition

G. Hauer and Sons at 1101 East Grand River are building an addition to their store. Extending 16 feet to the rear of the present grocery establishment, it will allow added floor space necessary because of increased business.

Next door to the grocery store, a building 27x84 is being built which will house a modern drug store and soda bar.

Contract calls for completion of the structure August 15, according to G. Hauer.

Library Sets
July Record

Mrs. E. T. Crossman, East Lansing librarian, announces that a new circulation record was set during the month of July. Of the 3451 books which were read, 1738 were adult fiction and 973 were non-fiction. Seven hundred and forty juvenile fiction books were given out.

The library expresses appreciation for the books and current magazines which have been donated.

Seventeen new books will be available tomorrow.

New adult books include: Baldwin & Randall, Civil Liberties and Industrial Conflict; Barnard, Eagle Forgotten; Bisson, Japan in China; Burton, Man With the Tattooed Face; Doust, Manual on Drawing and Painting Children; Ertz, No Hearts to Break; Gilpatrick, The Compleat Goggler; Gordon, Postscript to Adventure;

Hawes, Fashion is Spinach; Henry, How to Organize and Conduct a Meeting; Matschat, Suwannee River; Smart, R. F. D.; and Walling, Marooned With Murder.

New juvenile books are: Allen, The Little American Girl; Ditmars, Insect Oddities; Petersham, Stories from the Old Testament; and Rains, Lazy Lisa Lizard.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Duncan, 709 East Grand River, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sherman at Stoney lake in western Michigan.

Foster-Adams Wedding to Be Tomorrow

Service To Be Held In East Lansing

By Goldie Renz

Miss Olive Marie Foster, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Foster of 214 Albert avenue, will become the bride of O. Rollo Adams, East Lansing, tomorrow afternoon at 4. They will be married in the auditorium of the Peoples church by the Rev. William E. Foster, pastor of the Waldron Methodist church. Reverend Foster is a nephew of the bride.

Miss Foster has been with the Michigan State College Book store for 16 years. Mr. Adams is owner of the Adams Grocery store.

Attending the couple will be the matron of honor, Mrs. Stewart Patterson of Lansing, and four bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Foster, Miss Isabell Taylor, Miss Kathryn Weber, and Mrs. George Whitson. Miss Ann Foster of East Lansing, a niece of the bride, will be the flower girl and Miss Margaret Ellen Foster of Plymouth will be the ring-bearer. Mr. Lloyd Adams of Wyandotte will be the best man.

Ushers for the ceremony will be Walter J. Foster of Marshall, Theodore R. Foster of Plymouth, brothers of the bride, Vern Leonard of Ann Arbor, and Stanley Krentel of East Lansing.

A reception will take place for the 500 guests expected in the parlors of the church following the wedding. Serving refreshments will be Betty and Normaday Foster of Hudson, Ardis, Jack, and Ard Foster, Jr., all of East Lansing, Elizabeth and Mary Foster from Lansing, and Foster Jonas of Royal Oak. All are nieces and nephews of the bride.

Out-of-town guests are attending the wedding from Kansas City, Mo.; Manhattan, Kan.; Miami, Fla.; Houghton, N. Y.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Detroit, Hudson, Marshall, Plymouth, Birmingham, Owosso and DeWitt.

The couple will leave for a trip to Bermuda via New York City and Quebec. They will be at home after September 1 on Cowley street in East Lansing.

Many lovely pre-nuptial affairs have taken place for the bride. Mrs. M. J. Dickenson will give the rehearsal dinner tonight at her home on Beal avenue.

New Alpha Phi House Begun

Preliminary construction work on the new $45,000 home of Alpha Phi sorority was started yesterday, and will be completed by December 1.

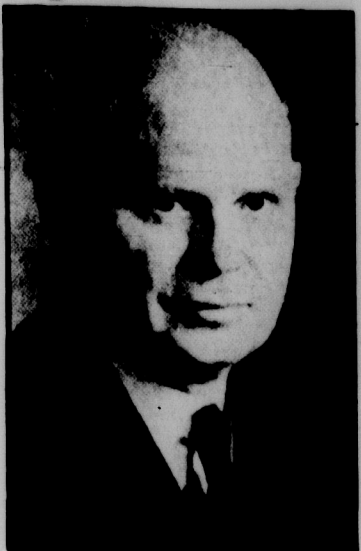

The house, of formal French architecture and brick construction, will be built at the corner of Beech street and M. A. C. avenue, East Lansing. Accommodations for 30 girls will be provided.

The general construction contract was awarded to Krueger-Finn, Inc., of Detroit. Lee Black and Kenneth C. Black, Lansing architects, drew the plans.

Sub-contracts were awarded to the Dail Steel Products company, heating; F. D. Hayes Electric company, electric wiring and appliances, and Ross Belyea, plumbing. All are Lansing firms.

Mrs. Gifford Patch, Jr., East Lansing, is the Alpha Phi building committee chairman.

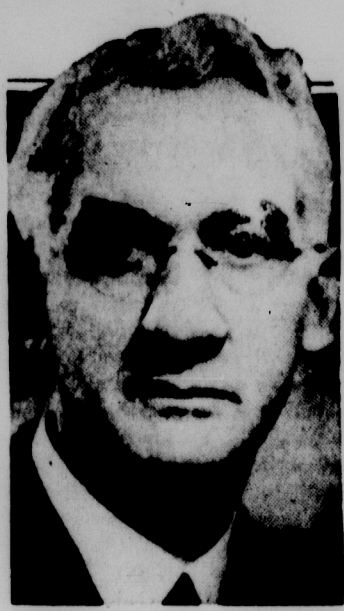

Speak at Dedication of 4-H Building

Pres. Robert S. Shaw, E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, and R. J. Baldwin, extension division director, yesterday spoke at Chatham, Mich., at ceremonies dedicating a new 4-H Club building.

Built by the college, the new structure will serve as 4-H Club headquarters for the Upper Peninsula.

Pres. R. S. Shaw

Director Baldwin reviewed the 20 years of 4-H Club work in Upper Michigan, and President Shaw formally dedicated the building, presenting it to the college. Dean

R. J. Baldwin

Anthony made the acceptance speech.

Other speakers on the dedication program included G. E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, and R. A. Turner, senior agriculturist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Muck Farmers To Study Plots At Farms Here

Members of the Michigan Muck Farmers' association will inspect the Michigan State college muck farms south of the campus when they hold their annual summer meeting here today.

P. M. Harmer, M. S. C. extension specialist in soils, will represent the college as host to the visitors. Mr. Harmer also is secretary of the muck farmers' association.

The muck plot will be opened for inspection beginning at 8:30 a. m., and a picnic dinner will be held in the grove adjacent to the farms at noon. Short talks and discussions of muck farm problems will follow the dinner.

Among the various experiments which the muck farmers will see is a series of plots, each one of which receives a mixture of phosphate and potash different from any other plots of the series. Both special and general crops are being grown on these plots.

Several other experiments are under way at the college's 14 acres of muck plots, and all of them will be open for inspection.

Community Personals

Dr. and Mrs. Fred T. Mitchell and Fred Jr., are vacationing at Ford lake, Fountain, during August.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fuller, 418 Division street, and their daughter, Virginia, are leaving for Newberry Monday morning. They are expected to be gone one week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Powell and family, 137 Bogue street, intend to vacation at the home of Mrs. Powell's parents at Grandville, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. William Black and family, Okemos, have returned from a five-weeks' trip through western Canada. The Blacks covered 6,300 miles.

Mrs. Herman Gentry and her daughter Edna Earle of 309 Center street, are touring Indiana, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Jenkins. There are expected to return in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Twichell and their baby daughter have spent the week fishing at White Cloud. They will return Monday.

G. R. Sicotte, manager of the State theatre, will visit Chicago, Grand Haven, and Detroit during his vacation, two weeks following August 14.

Donald Bremer, superintendent of the police administration department, has returned from a trip to California.

Doctor Sales, associate professor of surgery, is vacationing in the upper peninsula.

Lloyd Geil, journalism instructor, and Mrs. Geil are spending August at Crystal lake, Mich., and in Kitchener, Ontario.

Reed Milligan, proprietor of Jewett's flower shop, suffered a broken foot when he fell off the porch of his home recently. The foot is mending satisfactorily and Mr. Milligan is attending to his work again on crutches.

Dr. N. A. McCune, pastor of People's church, left Monday on his vacation. He is taking a week's pastorate course at the University of Chicago. From there he plans to go to Estes Park, Colo. He will meet Mrs. McCune, who is touring Europe this summer, in Quebec, Canada. She is returning on the Empress of Britain, September 8.

Rev. Eugene M. Osten, pastor of the Canandaigua, N. Y., Baptist church, will deliver the sermon Sunday at People's church, in the absence of Rev. N. A. McCune.

The Friendly Bible class will hold its picnic Saturday afternoon, August 13, in Moores park, Lansing. George McMullen is in charge of the events, which include a picnic supper at 5 p. m.

Miss Cornelia Ledyard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ledyard, of 144 N. Harrison avenue, is leaving today for Fort Wayne, Indiana. She will be a bridesmaid at her cousin's wedding Sunday. She will remain until September 15.

Scobop Says:

By George Maskin

DETROIT, Aug. 5—The football season can't be very far behind, now that George Alderton has gone to mailing out dope sheets to members of the sport writing fraternity.

The Detroit Lions start to work on August 17, but it'll be two more weeks after that before Charley Bachman assembles his Spartan gridders on Old College field.

Bachman, as we understand, is due back from the North country within a week to lay plans for the opening of practice. According to the available information, Bachman probably will invite around 50 candidates to the early drills.

Long, Long Road

With the Tigers hot again, maybe we should say hot for the first time this year, the local bugs have stopped criticizing and now are talking in terms "of maybe Detroit will win the pennant yet."

But, it's a long, long road to the top of the American League chase, at least for the Tigers. Only a miracle, or something of the kind, will put the Tigers in first place by World Series time.

Aren't Same Mint

The Tigers aren't the same old team since Manager Cochrane shipped Baron Boots Poffenberger to Toledo on a 24-hour option.

The Baron was quite a character in a Tiger uniform. He was a sensation as a pitcher a year ago, but something went haywire with his stuff this season.

Puffy, those who keep pretty close tab on the Tigers will tell you, will be back with the Tigers at the latest next spring. The additional seasoning he will get at Toledo should make him a great pitcher.

He's still pretty young, as big leaguers go. Puffy recently passed his twenty-third milestone.

East Lansing Scores Fifth League Win

East Lansing Adams staged their regular first-inning rally to defeat Mason 5-2 at Mason Wednesday night. It was their fifth victory of the round in the Tri-County softball loop.

Adams scored three of their runs in the first on a double by Kletke and successive singles by Leo and Wayne Parish, and Chuck Kent, Bill Kemp, pitching for East Lansing, lost his control temporarily in the second inning, and allowed Mason two runs on one hit and four bases on balls. But this was all the scoring done by the lads from the county seat.

In the sixth inning, East Lansing netted two more scores on an error and hits by Kent and Scales.

East Lansing outhit Mason 10-4, and Kemp sent 14 men down on strikeouts.

In a game played at Williamston last Friday, however, Adams took a 2-1 beating, being held to three hits. Williamston took an early lead, but East Lansing managed to tie the score in the seventh by scoring a run on doubles by Leo Parish and McMahon. Schultz, East Lansing pitcher, was the victim of sudden wildness in Williamston's half of the seventh, and allowed a hit followed by three successive walks to force in the winning run. Swan pitched all the way for Williamston.

East Lansing winds up their second round schedule tonight at the Marble school field against Valley Farms. The game will start at 6:30.

Dr. Irma H. Gross, professor of home management, is travelling to the west coast this summer. She will drive to Lake Louise, Banff, Spartan Gridders Work Hard to Keep in Shape.

By Dave Tefft

HE leaves have not yet begun to fall, the corn is not yet in the shock, and the weather man has not as yet released any of that clear, crisp, weather that is traditionally associated with football. But the first game is less than two months away, Charley Bachman is getting pessimistic again, and preliminary reverberations from the much talked State-Michigan game are coming this way. So perhaps it wouldn't go amiss to sort of check up on next year's hopefuls and see just what they are doing to keep in shape for the long grind that is to come.

Walter (Ole) Nelson, State's pass-catcher deluxe, is keeping himself mentally alert by boning on summer-session Spanish and is keeping his muscles in shape the while by laboring for Vincent Vanderburg on cement construction work. He'll be ready.

Mike Kinek, who is quite likely to be Ole's running mate most of the time next fall is following in Nelson's footsteps, going to summer school and working for Vanderburg.

You are likely to meet "Rocky" Rockenbach any time of the day wheeling around the campus carrying an electricians tool-box that weighs anywhere from 50 to 75 pounds. And he looks just as rocky as he sounds. He ought to be Bachman's immovable object in that Spartan line this year.

Gene Ciolek has just returned from Camp Custer and is doing surveying work on the campus. Tom McShannock is a life guard at Muskegon. George Kovacich is working on Grounds. Edmund Pogor belongs to Vanderburg's construction crew. Micky Masney works in a grocery store at Arlington Heights. John Pingel is on the road demonstrating automobiles.

And so it goes. Nearly everyone of the boys that you will be yelling yourself hoarse for next October is in shape right now and rarin' to go after that mythical collegiatae—championship. Better get ready for a big season.

and Victoria. At Seattle, Washington, she will visit Miss Louise Clemens, former manager of the Union cafeteria, who is ill. Later Doctor Gross will go to San Francisco to visit relatives.

In New Role

Bachman

Head football coach Charley Bachman appeared in a new role Wednesday. For one inning he was the official sportscaster for the Tiger-Yankee fracas at Briggs stadium, Detroit.

"Bach" sounded a little scared and his usually steady mike presence deserted him at times when the going got heavy. But he just put his head down and ploughed right through in the manner of a Bachman-coached fullback.

And he had a hearty chuckle left when Harry Heilmann thanked him and gravely assured him that he would be down to lend a helping hand in this fall's coaching duties.

State Netters Coming Here For Jousta

An open tournament for tennis players residing in the state will be held here August 25 to 28. The tournament is sponsored by the Lansing Tennis club which is a member of the Western division of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The tournament was held here last year running for the first time in several years. It is expected to attract a large entry of college players, according to C. D. Ball, Michigan State tennis coach.

Entries may be made up to the day before the meet. They will be accepted by Dean Thompson at Van's Sport Shop in Lansing.

Mrs. Mabelle S. Ehlers, associate professor of institution administration, is vacationing in Canada during August.
