UP Main Street AND DOWN

Guess Who?

City police report the theft of the reflecting stop sign from the corner of Evergreen and Grand River avenues.

Not only is the loss of the sign an expense to East Lansing, but until replaced it creates a traffic hazard, Chief Harold Haun says.

Since a stop sign can be of no practical use to an individual authorities will appreciate and expect its early return.

WKAR Presents

Broadcasting traffic lessons from the front seat of a moving automobile is indeed an unusual situation, but it was done Wednesday afternoon and will be repeated again today at 3:30 over WKAR.

Today's broadcast will be made from the scene of the practice driving grounds which are located on the road that surrounds Demonstration hall. WKAR portable short-wave sounding truck is present and announcer Curtis Patton sits in the front seat with the Chief while the latter gives instructions. The car is limited in its movements as it is necessary that wires remain connected between it and the station truck.

To produce safety conscious drivers is the purpose of the course which Chief of Police H. E. Haun is teaching to ten students. This is a two credit course consisting of a one hour lecture period five days a week and an hour of laboratory weekly.

The lectures are based on safety precautions, traffic laws, and the theory of forming correct driving habits. The laboratory consists of each student teaching beginning drivers the right method of driving a motor car.

This course is sponsored by the A. A. A. and the car used is donated by the Pontiac Motor Co. and equipped with dual controls.

Chief Haun is well satisfied with the results of the new course and states that it will be offered again next year.

This type of course was first started at Pennsylvania State college by Amos E. Neyhart. Dean R. C. Huston and Chief Haun became interested and arranged for a similar course to be offered at State.

Students who pass this course will be fitted to teach high school students to drive. There are driving courses required in Wisconsin and Indiana. Chief Haun believes that a similar law will be required in Michigan by next year.

Two of a Kind

An artist at plain and fancy roller skating is Larry Hogan, Okemos. He visited the Skateland Wednesday night and performed German crosses, grapevines and dance steps. He has spent 35 years skating professionally, but has now retired, giving Babe Ruth's reason: "The old legs aren't what they used to be."

Intensive training for Michigan park custodians, foremen, and others employed on park, roadside, street tree, and recreational land projects will be provided in a new eight-weeks' short course to be offered by Michigan State college, next year, according to John A. Hannah, college secretary.

Student Lecture Course To Have Cosmopolitan Trend

Eight nationally-known speakers, representing the arts, politics, travel, exploration and education, will appear before Michigan State college students during the 1938-39 school year on the twenty-sixth annual lecture series.

East Lansing residents may also take advantage of the series at a small admission charge, according to the lecture course committee.

Congressman Maury Maverick, of Texas, will open the series on Tuesday evening, October 18, speaking on "Responsibility of Democracy."

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and former minister to Denmark, will speak on Monday evening, November 21, on "The Co-operative Movement in the Scandinavian Countries."

Other speakers, their subjects and dates of appearance, are: Tony Sarg, artist and author, "Lightning Sketches, Impersonations and Amusing Events," on December 8; Sydney Montague, former Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer, "Under Northern Lights," on January 9; Carl C. Mose, sculptor, "How a Sculptor Works," on January 24.

Max Gene Nohl, explorer, "Exploring New Sea Depths With Man-Made Air," on February 14; Dr. George Earl Raiguel, authority on international relations, "United States in World Affairs," on February 28, and the Hon. Aubrey Williams, NYA national executive director, "Education and Economic Rehabilitation of Our Unemployed Youth," on March 14.

The M. S. C. lecture committee includes Prof. C. P. Halligan, of the landscape architecture department, chairman; Prof. S. E. Crowe, summer session director, secretary-treasurer; Charles Davis, '39, and Marjory Tribe, '39.

Claims Trade Necessary To U.S. Prosperity

Trade agreements hold definite promise of benefitting Michigan agriculture and industry.

In a survey of trade agreement effects, Dr. M. C. Gay, department of economics of Michigan State college, finds exports and imports go hand in hand, that this country cannot be widely prosperous as a self sufficient unit and that Michigan especially would be affected by arbitrary blocking of trade channels in foreign markets.

Dr. Gay points to the Canadian trade agreement as particularly important to Michigan. In 1936, he found that exports to Canada increased almost $61,000,000 over 1935, an increase of 18 per cent, while imports from Canada gained $81,000,000. The drought gets the blame for this, for in the first nine months of 1937 we sent an increase of 38 per cent in exports to Canada while imports increased but 18 per cent.

Michigan livestock income jumped from 91 millions in 1933 to 142 millions in 1937. Dairy interests find the trade agreement has not held back better prices. Imports of cream increased in 1937, yet prices in Michigan were higher and the Canadians exercised only 10 per cent of their quota.

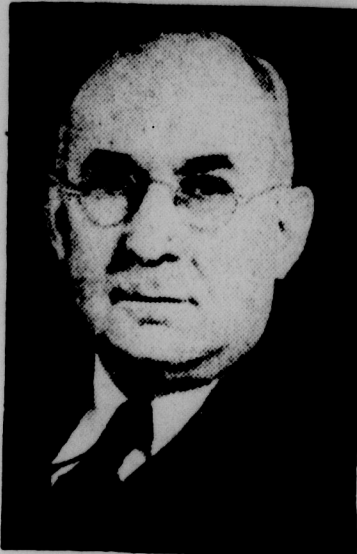

"Our economy is so geared as to require a large foreign trade to maintain its smooth operation," says Dr. Gay. A large import and export trade means greater production, greater consumption, more employment, more purchasing power and, in general, a higher standard of living. His explanations are printed more fully in the current issue of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station Quarterly Bulletin dated August.

Union to Have Larger Grill

A new and modern grill is being installed in the men's lounge this summer. Increases in enrollment have made the present grill inadequate, according to B. R. Proulx, Union building head.

The old grill room will be converted into a lounge.

Electrification Speaker

Prof. H. H. Musselman

Dodge Family Known Locally

Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson, of Rochester, Mich., whose son Daniel Dodge, died following a dynamite explosion at the Dodge summer camp near Little Current, Ont., Monday night, is a former member of the State Board of Agriculture.

Mrs. Wilson attended her last board meeting at the college in December, when her term expired. She has many friends in Lansing and East Lansing.

Veatch Conducts Water Soil Study

Under the supervision of Professor J. O. Veatch of the Soil Conservation Institute, and in cooperation with the Institute of Fisheries of the State Conservation department, a study of water soils is being made. Graduate student Eugene W. Rocklows, zoology assistant, is in charge of the field supervision.

This study, which has never been done before, is a result of finding under-size fish in some lakes. The soils of the lake bottoms are not productive enough to furnish sufficient plant life for the fish. The aim of the project is to find out the cause for the difference in the lake soils and to see what can be done for the poorer soils.

Two Meetings Are Scheduled

Two meetings are scheduled on the Michigan State college campus next week, the Michigan Seed Dealers meeting Wednesday and vegetable growers coming Thursday to inspect the horticulture department's experimental plots.

Prof. H. C. Rathier, of the farm crops department; H. L. Seaton and Prof. A. E. Yeager, of the horticulture department, will speak before the seed dealers' meeting, and in the afternoon the group will visit the farm crops experimental plots.

Vegetable growers will inspect the horticulture department's experimental vegetable plots on the Pinetum road Thursday, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. The annual field day is being arranged by Mr. Seaton and Prof. Yeager.

Gunson Tells of Beginnings Of Beal Garden, Conservation

"NOT EVEN THE PRESIDENT WOULD DARE PICK ONE OF THESE FLOWERS." That's what Dr. Beal put on the sign in the garden. Mr. Thomas Gunson, who spent twenty-three years of his forty-seven years of residence on the campus in teaching horticulture, chuckled reminiscently. "He wanted to impress folks not to pick the flowers."

"One day, a young wag took the sign and put it on the front of the girls' dormitory. Those girls might have forgotten their mathematics and their languages, but do you think they ever forgot that sign?"

"Dr. Beal lived right next to me from 1891 to 1910," Mr. Gunson continued. "The idea of the Beal gardens and Pinetum were Beal's, of course; he was the botanist. But there's another man who deserves a good share of the credit. That was Charles W. Garfield. He was a student of Beal's, and after he was graduated he served on the State Board of Agriculture for 18 years. He fanned the idea into a flame.

"Mr. Garfield was one of the biggest men in Michigan. He was the one that started conservation." Mr. Gunson was warming to his subject. He won't talk about himself, but trees and flowers—that's different.

"When Garfield first introduced the idea of conservation into the legislature," he continued, "no one would pay any attention. Everyone was cutting trees and the legislature didn't see fit to stop it. But say, pretty soon some women's clubs got behind Garfield's plan, and believe me, it went through the legislature. I'll tell you, these women have a way," he grinned.

Fair to See Dedication Of Monument

Dedication of a monument commemorating the beginnings of planned electrification in Michigan will be a feature of the Ingham County Centennial Fair, to be held in Mason, Aug. 24-27.

It was eleven and a half years ago that a switch was thrown which sent electricity through the Mason-Dansville experimental line for the first time. The line had been built through the cooperation of Michigan State college, farm organizations and Consumers Power company as a means of testing the usefulness of electricity on the farm.

At the time only 4,000 Michigan farms had electric service, and many of these had it merely because they happened to be situated on the route of a transmission line between two communities. In other cases, farmers were required to pay construction costs which often amounted to hundreds of dollars. Farm rates were so high that even those farmers to whom electricity was available used it little more than lighting.

A barbecue will be a feature of the dedicatory ceremonies, scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 25. G. H. Reitz, agricultural engineer of the General Electric Co., will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include Prof. H. H. Musselman, head of the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State; R. J. Baldwin, Michigan State's extension director, and H. J. Gallagher, farm service supervisor of Consumers Power Co. Walter Carven, another of the 12 farmers who originally contracted for service, will be chairman.

College Float To be Portion Of Fair Parade

A float representing Michigan State college will be a part of the Ingham county fair parade, to be staged at 4 p. m. Tuesday in downtown Lansing. More than 35 floats will be entered and several musical groups will participate.

The parade will serve locally as advance notice of the Ingham fair which opens Wednesday in Mason. "On Wings of the Century," a historical pageant to be staged each evening, Wednesday through Saturday, will be a fair highlight.

The college float for the Lansing parade will be mounted on a show wagon, which will be drawn by a double span of horses, and which will carry the message, "Michigan State college is dedicated to serve the people of Michigan through education and research."

Ralph Tenny, director of short courses; J. A. Hannah, secretary; H. H. Musselman, of the agricultural engineering department, and Ray Heydrick, paint shop foreman, designed the float for the college.

Two East Lansing men, Judge John McClellan, 527 Forest, and F. F. Musselman, 140 Oakhill, are serving on general committees for the annual fair.

Charlevoix Tour

Words and pictures fall far short of describing the varied and interesting resort spots in the upper part of lower Michigan, according to James I. Herndon, manager of the Lansing division of the Automobile Club of Michigan, who recommends a tour of the scenic shore drive and surrounding territory to East Lansing readers this week.

"Thousands of tourists travel hundreds of miles from every state in the Union to see the wonders of our state which many of us fail to see even though it is practically in our own front yards," Mr. Herndon commented.

"The beautiful Round Lake harbor at Charlevoix, studded with boats of every size and description from small rowboats to sleek two-masted sailboats, polished and shining in the sun, are an everyday sight from Charlevoix's main street during the summer months. You haven't seen Michigan until you've driven along the Lake Michigan shore line and gazed into the crystal clear water at Harbor Springs or stood at the top of the wooded bluffs and watched the sun set over the water."

Towers Thrilling

A real thrill awaits those who will take the trouble to climb one of the Michigan state conservation department's fire towers, where visitors are always welcome.

Located at strategic points throughout the district, these towers command an excellent view of the rolling hills and bays of the favorite vacation land of more than a million tourists. Make it a slow, easy trip. Explore the side roads. They aren't all paved, but there is very little dust and the sights will more than offset any slight inconvenience for traffic is comparatively light."

No 'Wrong Way' About Doug's Cousin, Ed Flowers Complains

Big Ed Flowers, he of the size 14 shoes and the Michigan State amateur golf championship, returned, Monday from Syracuse N. Y., where he participated in the Syracuse Yacht and Country club invitational golf tournament.

In East Lansing Wednesday, Ed said: "They paired me off with a cousin to 'Wrong-Way' Corrigan, who hailed from Quebec, Canada. There was nothing wrong about this Corrigan for he was really hot and beat me."

He says he has travelled over 4,000 miles this summer playing golf. Most of his travelling has been with Barclay, former U. of M. star.

Every day he gets in plenty of practice because he is gunning for the National Amateur tournament, Oakmont, scheduled for September 12-18. Sectional tryouts will be on Aug. 30, at Oakland Hills.

When he left here Wednesday evening he was undecided as to whether he would enter the Grand Rapids city tournament.

Nancy Wyngarden, daughter of Prof. Wyngarden of 809 Stuart street, underwent an appendicitis operation Tuesday night. She is doing well, but will remain in the hospital for at least two weeks.

State Sprinter Member of Crack AAU Relay Team

America's touring team of track and field stars again established their supremacy over the cream of the German crop in a two-day meet at the Berlin Olympic stadium this week.

Of chief interest to local track followers was the fact that Michigan State's star dashman, Wilbur Greer, was a member of the crack American relay team which missed beating the 400 meters world's record by only .3 of a second. Both teams were under the old German mark of 40.6 with the American quartette making the distance in 40 seconds flat over a wet track. Mozel Ellerbe, Clyde Jerrey, and Ben Johnson are Greer's running mates.

Early Tickets Now on Sale

Fall Term Reservations Should be Made Soon

Announcement of ticket sales for the 1938 football season is being made in letters from L. L. Frimodig, ticket manager, to 15,000 Michigan State college alumni and other gridiron enthusiasts.

Because the football season opens unusually early this year, with the initial game against Wayne University scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 24, Mr. Frimodig urges that ticket reservations be made correspondingly early.

State's home schedule includes five games, besides the annual clash with the Wolverines at Ann Arbor, which is considered part of the Spartan home program.

Besides the Wayne-State game on Sept. 24, Mackin field this fall will be the scene of games with Illinois Wesleyan, on Oct. 8; Syracuse University, on Oct. 22; University of Santa Clara (California), on Oct. 29; and Temple University on Nov. 19.

The away-from-home schedule calls for games at Ann Arbor on Oct. 1; with West Virginia University at Morgantown, on Oct. 15; with the University of Missouri at Columbia, on Nov. 5; and with Marquette University at Milwaukee, on Nov. 12.

Ticket reservations may be made by writing to L. L. Frimodig, ticket manager, Michigan State College. Letters to alumni and others will contain ticket reservation blanks, and for convenience their use is urged.

Sunday School to Picnic

The Sunday school classes of the Peoples church will hold a picnic at Moores River Drive park Saturday, August 13. A pot-luck supper will be served at 5:30 o'clock.

Large Entry Expected For Net Tourney

Struck, Kovacich, Norris Early State Entrants; Rau Also Files Entry

At least three faces familiar to Spartan tennis fans will be seen in the Michigan closed tennis tournament scheduled to start on the college courts next Thursday.

Rex Norris, who made tennis history at State a few years back has filed his entry and has been drilling daily. Herman Struck, next year's captain-elect, and George Kovacich have also declared themselves in and both are reported in good shape for the grind.

Robert Rau is one of the other early entrants. Rau is the Midland star who already has won two major tournaments this summer. He came out on top in the Western Michigan and the Northern Ohio championships and was runner-up in the Great Lakes tournament.

Others who have already filed their entries are Buck Shane, undefeated in college competition the past spring and Buck Burgess, Flint star.

The tournament committee anticipates the strongest field to gather for a Michigan net crown in years, according to George Arbaugh, Lansing Tennis club officer.

Shovel Swinger

GEORGE KOVACICH

One of the 1937 regulars whom Coach Charlie Bachman will depend on for a lot of backfielding this season is "Jumping" George Kovacich. Big George is employed on the campus this summer and to see the vim and vigor with which he wields pick and shovel there should be no doubt that he will be in shape for a tough siege of football in October and November.

All-Stars to Play Night Tilt Aug. 24

The College All-Stars, State's unofficial summer baseball team, will play a night game at Sturgis, Wednesday, Aug. 24. No game has been scheduled for this Sunday.

Last Sunday the All-Stars defeated Portland by a score of 10 to 2. George Monroe and Art Libbers shared the pitching duties for the campus club.

Faculty Members Go to Conference

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Berg, 427 Grove St.; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hill of the Marilyn Apts.; Clyde May, 320 Oakhill St., and John Donnet are leaving today for McDonald college in Canada.
