Increase in Local Population Noted

Postmaster E. E. Young was visited by his father from Wooster, Ohio, over the week-end. A reception and tea in honor of new officers will be given by the East Lansing Child Study club tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock in the Women's parlors of Peoples church. Approximations as to the increase in population of the city of East Lansing have been obtained from the city clerk, Harry Lott, states that the 1930 census, which was the last taken, showed a population of 4,320. Recent estimations show that the average yearly increase from then on has been slightly over 200, raising the present population to slightly over 6,000. So far this year it has been estimated that there has been an increase of about 100 new homes and 200 permanent residents.

Local Woman Is Killed Sunday

Body Lies Unfound In Roadside Ditch While Engine Cools

Mrs. Alice Harriet Ridenour, 28, of Route 2, Lansing, wife of Donald C. Ridenour, 30, an employee of the college, was instantly killed early Sunday morning when the car in which she was riding, driven by her husband, went off the pavement and crashed into a tree on Forest road, one mile south of Mt. Hope road. Norman Olman, East Lansing police scout car driver, who was cruising in the vicinity, discovered the accident. He found Ridenour pinned under the car and the body of his wife lying a few feet away, where she had been thrown by the impact. Olman said that the accident had occurred some time before he discovered them, because the engine of the car was cold when he arrived. State police said the couple were returning from Okemos when the accident occurred. Ridenour said that he remembered nothing after his car hit a pole in the road. The car is said to have skidded about 100 feet on the pavement, then about 60 feet down the ditch where it crashed into a tree. The car was completely wrecked. Examination of Mrs. Ridenour's body showed that she had suffered fractures of both arms and legs, a compound skull fracture, and internal injuries. Ridenour was taken to Edward W. Sparrow hospital where he was treated for shock. He was released Sunday. Funeral services will be held at the Ertel-Coxley funeral home at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Thomas Taylor will officiate. Interment will be in DeWitt cemetery. Mrs. Ridenour is survived by her husband, two sons, Ronald Lee and Robert J., the latter, 12, and Mrs. John Farrier, a sister, Jean Ione Farrier of Clinton county, and a grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Foley of St. Louis.

Five Officials Seek Renomination

MAYOR L. L. FRIDMOLDIG

The mayor, two aldermen, the city treasurer, and the justice of the peace are up for renomination at the citizens' caucus, which will be held Wednesday at the Central school at 7:30 o'clock. Mayor L. L. Fridmoldig, up for renomination, has served the city of East Lansing since 1930, when he was elected to the city council. At the resignation of B. A. Faunce, he was appointed mayor to fill the vacancy. In November of 1933, he was elected mayor, an office that time, he has served in that capacity. Alderman O. R. Adams was named to succeed Fridmoldig when the latter was appointed mayor. Mr. Adams was elected councilman in 1934. Alderman C. G. Card succeeded S. G. Berquist as councilman in 1931. Since 1932, when he was elected councilman, he has served continuously in that position. City Treasurer Agatha Amell and Justice of the Peace Sidney Whittemore are also seeking renomination. Jacob Schepers and A. R. Sawyer are seeking office as township supervisors.

Council Opens Bond Bids

Many Companies Are Represented

There were 14 bids opened last night at the special council meeting called for opening the bids on the $70,000 bond issue. The usual number ranges from three to five, depending on the size of the issue. Companies from Toledo, Chicago, Detroit, Grand Rapids, and Lansing were represented in the number opened. The highest bid was by the John Nuyven Co. of Chicago, who offered $3,352 as their quotation. The second highest bid was from the Crouse Co. of Detroit, for $2,847. First of Michigan Corporation of Detroit offered $2,846.27, and Paine Webster Co. of Grand Rapids, offered $2,881.25. Other bids ranged from a low of $753 to $2,708. Although the advertisement for the sale of the bonds stated that only 3 per cent bonds would be accepted, there were several bids for 2 1/2 per cent, and for split bonds. It was decided after the opening by the city clerk that there would be no split bids or bids for less than 3 per cent accepted for consideration by the council. The bonds bid on will be serial bonds maturing progressively. The first of them will mature in 1940, and others will mature annually until the issue is retired. Interest on the bonds will fall due semi-annually. A motion was made that the council should keep the three highest bids for consideration by the city attorney. The motion was passed unanimously. An adjournment of Monday night's meeting will be held tonight to decide on the final acceptance of the bids.

Death Takes Local Woman Sunday

Mrs. Carrie Gilman, 44, of 207 Milford street, died Sunday morning after a short illness. Services will be held at the home at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Funeral services will be held from the Palmer-O'Donnell funeral home to the Church of the Resurrection Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Burial will be at Sutton's Bay. Mrs. Gilman is survived by her husband, her mother, three sisters, and a brother.

Lansing Writers' Group To Meet Monday

GLADYS BRADSHAW PERRY

WILLIAM A. BAKER JR.

Gladys Bradshaw Perry, well-known East Lansing author, and William A. Baker, Jr., newspaperman and publicist writer, will be in charge of the Lansing writers' group which will meet for the first time on October 10 at Central high school. Mrs. Perry has had short stories, poems, and articles published in various magazines. Her short stories have especially won for her the commendation of famous authors. William Baker, Jr., who also has sold manuscripts to magazines, has been a feature writer for the New York Sun, the Detroit Free Press, and other newspapers. Some 50 men and women are expected to continue in specialized fields of writing at this free public evening school sponsored by the city board of education. Work will include the writing of short stories, feature articles, essays, news copy, poetry, publicity releases, and children's stories. Several members of the group have sold manuscripts which were read and criticized in the class last year. In addition to instruction and criticism, the course includes special lectures by authors and editors. There will be a class on Monday evenings for beginners and one on Tuesdays for experienced writers. No tuition will be charged, but a small registration fee will be assessed each member.

We Personalize Local News

Dear Mr. and Mrs. East Lansing: Last spring an attempt was made by the State News to devote one page of each issue to East Lansing news. A advanced reporting class of journalism students was designated to cover the city, and an East Lansing editor was appointed to handle the local news. Stories were well-reported and well-written, but the backbone of a small town newspaper, the personal columns, was missing. This fall the State News is again attempting to turn over page three of each issue to East Lansing news. A select staff and an East Lansing editor are again ready to set you. However, the State News is depending on you, Mr. and Mrs. East Lansing, to aid in gathering personal items if you visit in another city, if you entertain, if you have out-of-town company, if there is an illness in your family then East Lansing citizens want to know about it. They are interested in you. May the State News be your agent of communication. Won't you call 5-9113 and ask for State News on Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 9 a. m. and 12 noon, and report your activities? East Lansing and the State News will appreciate it. Sincerely, The State News—W. J. I.

Frats to Start Grid Season

The Greek letter boys commence their annual battling tonight at 7 o'clock when the Inter-Fraternity touch football league season opens with two games.

The Lambda Chi, who went as far as the semi-finals last year, meet the Phi Kappa Phi seven in the opener. With several men from last year's team back and some promising new men the Lambda Chi will be making a serious bid for the league championship.

Co-champions last year, the Epsilon, make their first title defense against the Theta Nu at 8 o'clock. A playoff was scheduled between the Theta and the Sigma but due to several injuries of stars on the field last November, the teams had to be satisfied with sharing the title.

Defeat Will Prove Beneficial to Spartan Eleven

Scoop Says:

By George Maslin

Michigan State's football team benefited Saturday by losing to Michigan at Ann Arbor. It was one of the cases in sports where a defeat will prove advantageous, rather than a heavy smudge on the conqueror's team record.

The setback Saturday almost was inevitable. Winning teams sooner or later are stopped by the law of averages, and it was in the books for the Spartans to take a beating against Michigan.

Michigan was primed by victory, State 12-0. The Spartans met the same Wolverine Detroit Tigers and other big league clubs have smashed into after capturing a pennant two or three years in a row.

The Tigers fell in 1936 with almost the same lineup they carried Detroit to the American league flag and then the World championship the previous season. What accounted for the fall.

Winning Combinations Crack

Your guess is as good as the next fellow.

Winning combinations crack under the strain of too frequent triumphs. Victories become boring, players listless and a feeling of superiority commences to prevail.

In State's case doubtless many of the same factors led to the defeat at Ann Arbor. Beating Michigan four years in a row was a mark treasured by only two other teams in modern football annals—Minnesota and Ohio State.

Despite the apparent importance of the game, the Spartans didn't get all hot and bothered about it. They went into it not taking Michigan as another opponent, figuring too much stress on the one game would result in future catastrophe.

The Spartans, along with the department and most the student body, figured they could beat

Michigan. All erred, but that doesn't mean State is headed for the down grade in football this fall. With the pressure off, we venture to predict the Spartans will get back on the victory trail next Saturday against Illinois Wesleyan. It will take a great team to knock them off that road.

Santa Clara, Syracuse, Temple, Missouri and the others will have to show something to whip State. What combination of "luckiness" which has been in hand with the victor was left on the turf of the Ann Arbor stadium.

Line Decided Outcome

In all fairness, it must be said, the best team won Saturday, more precisely the team with the No. 1 line. Michigan's front wall continually was on the alert smothering up State's threats and paving the way for its own back to four through the Spartans.

The Wolverine line outcharged State's. That Michigan was penalized three times for off side and State none in convincing evidence the Spartans lacked the necessary "umph."

Michigan showed several signs of life in Pittsburgh, Tennessee, Krome, Phillips and Harmon, none so the equal to State's Johnny Pingel, however.

Observers in the press box, save in a couple of instances, praised Pingel as the cream of the team. Although Pingel didn't do very much running the ball, he rarely had the chance.

Michigan invaded except through the State line with the passing of the ball from center. They outplayed Pingel and his colleagues in State backfield before each had a chance to get going.

Although rushed all afternoon, Pingel put on a sparkling performance, completing 13 out of an attempt, averaging close to 34 yards per punt.

It was an All-American performance by an All-American back.

Spring's in Air State Baseball Men Practice

With spring in the air, Michigan State baseball players work out on Old College Field daily.

Among those on hand were Glen Backen veteran pitcher and George Owen, upper infielder. Both of them were members of the Detroit Alton team which last week won the National Amateur championship.

Coach John Kohn is approached baseball players desiring to take part in practice and get some.

How Spartan Foes Fared

Michigan State's 1938 grid season, combined a record of six victories and three defeats in Saturday football play.

Santa Clara 22, Stanford 0. The Broncos gave State coaches and fans a glimpse of a more hairy fate by sweeping Stanford their football rival and one of the state's best and most formidable opponents.

Syracuse 27, Clarkson 0. The Orange had little trouble defeating ing an unchallenged Charles, eleven with their mascot, the orange and blue line.

West Virginia U. 38, West Virginia Wesleyan 6. The Mountaineers, who last year won the Big Ten championship, dominated the Spartans at the home of the mighty Pittsburgh team the week previous to crush Wesleyan with a versatile attack.

Missouri U. 30, Colorado 7. The Tigers crushed up a sorry lot in their first game by gaining a one touchdown advantage over Colorado.

Wayne 16, Akron U. 0. The Tigers to push over two touchdowns and kick a field goal. A completed pass and an intercepted pass and an intercepted pass set the stage for both markers.

Illinois Wesleyan 9, Cincinnati U. 6. The Methodists fell short in last quarter spurt to bow to Cincinnati. They had the ball on the two-yard line, first down, and goal to go when the gun sounded.

Marquette 0, Wisconsin 27. The Hilltoppers were unable to match the reserve strength of the bruising Badgers after holding them on even terms during most of the first half.

Temple 6, Pittsburgh 28. The Owls could put up only a feeble defense against the power of the Pitt line and backfield. Temple outscored the Panthers in first downs, 14 to 12.

Independent Men Open Grid Season

With a promise that there will be more action on than in the past, the Independent Men's touch football league makes its bow on Wednesday night with three games.

Beaumont battles the Sleeping Beauties in the first game. Immediately following this the Bakerboro team will play the W. Hamilton gridgers, and at 9 p. m. Snyder's Corners takes on Albotta.

With the outlook bright for several strong teams, the Independents are looking forward with a great deal of anxiety to meeting the winners of the Fraternity league so that for once and for all the superiority of the two leagues can be settled.

Harriers Prime For Butler

In preparation for their initial meet of the season, with Butler University at Indianapolis Friday, Cross Country Coach Lauren P. Brown is pushing his charges through extensive workouts. Last night the harriers took to the hills for further conditioning.

Faced with the task of picking an almost new line-up to face a veteran team, Brown is giving all candidates a thorough sifting. Conditions are not the same as last year when the Spartan veteran team blanked the Bulldogs with a perfect score here. Not only will Butler send out an experienced team but they will have Sophomores came to the front this week as a result of the fall-out of Captain Harry Butler to show the form that carried him to the ICA championship teams.

Michigan Stops Streak, 14-0

By DON ANDERSON

Michigan State's football team, its chances for an undefeated season smashed asunder by Michigan's resuscitated squad, today brushed all thoughts of the defeat aside and went into active preparation for the game with Illinois Wesleyan here Saturday. Needless to say the 14-0 beating by Michigan was anything but gratifying to coaches and players.

NETTERS START

Play in the All-College fall tennis tourney starts tomorrow. Pairings and schedules are posted on the gymnasium bulletin board.

They all feel that they were not at their best, but are offering no alibis, giving the Wolverines all the credit for having a great team.

To the spectators it was evident from the start that State was not at the usual peak reached for a Michigan game. The team appeared listless and the blocking and tackling was anything but sharp.

Its running game stopped cold, State resorted to passes with singular success only to have interceptions ruin their hopes when nearing the Michigan goal. The complete collapse of the Spartans' ground attack can be seen in the fact that they only gained 25 yards by rushing.

Michigan's line outcharged the men of State throughout the game and therein lies the story of the defeat. The Wolverines boast fine backs in Krome, Purucker and Harmon, Krome particularly prying himself a thorn in the Spartans' side with his great speed and drive.

In spite of the defeat, Johnny Pingel caused the Wolverines no end of trouble with his passes and walked off with the punting honors by a large margin, his average being 49 yards to 33 for Purucker, the Wolverine booter. Pingel played very well considering the fact that he was out all day Friday with a cold that shot his temperature up over the one hundred mark.

Ron Alling at center played a fine defensive game for the Spartans, as did Alex Ketzko and Mike Kinek. Captain Fred Jaska played well for Michigan, ably assisted by the entire Wolverine line.
