Monkey Business

The joke was on Betty Jane and Marvin Polm the other night.

It happened thusly: Betty Jean and Marvin are playing main parts in the coming all-college production, "Lady Precious Stream." During rehearsal last night they decided to change while away a few spare moments by playing wick-wag with a pair of monkeys that Doc Thompson had brought for props.

Everything went along great except for the fact that the rest of the cast became so amused that general confusion was the result. Now confusion and play rehearsal are two things that don't mix and the cast were soon made aware of the fact in no uncertain terms.

But Mary smoothed things over by explaining in his best stage manner that it is a universal custom in China (the setting of the play) to converse with tans. That fixed everything beautifully.

At least it did until Felix Chen, Chinese student who is acting as technical adviser, vainly suggested that the prevalent idea about Chinese use fans as semaphores is entirely inaccurate.

AND THAT did fix things beautifully.

Calling All Cars!

Calling all cars! Calling all cars! Be on the lookout for a dark Ford coupe with Illinois license plates enroute to Detroit from East Lansing; driver is held secretary for the Delta Chi fraternity at Michigan State college.

This went the report over the State Police radio station early in the morn'g. However, Eric Larson, the man in the car, had done nothing. The only crime he had committed was to leave his billiard at the Delta Chi house when he left for other parts. The boys wanted to the law to get Larson and his billiard together again.

Heady "Hedy"

Some imaginative cool in H. W. Glassen's business law class sized her name as "Hedy Larson" on a sheet of paper which was being passed around.

Mr. Glassen requested that "Hedy" stop at the desk after class so that they could talk over some other scenes in "Fanny." He also invited her to entertain some ruses which he was expecting that evening.

We're Sorry

It was Thursday night of the 14th News the home of Mary Asman was omitted from the list of Home Economics students who are teaching in out-of-town schools. The State News regrets this mistake, and offers its apologies to Miss Asman and the Home Economics division.

There will be an important meeting of the Outing Club tonight at 7:30 o'clock in room 138 Morrill Hall to make final plans for the winter carnival.

Dates Make History, Say Heads of Bureau

By Tom Molloy

Dates that make history! There are many in the record book of the United States; but there are even more in the record book of the date bureau.

Approximately 100 dates have been arranged by the bureau since it started functioning this year about a month after school opened.

Phyllis Quirk, Jerry Centilla and Bernice Goding, who are the heads behind the phone, say they have averaged 15 dates a weekend since winter term has begun.

Among the more noteworthy arrangements of "The bureau is lined the gaining of one customer: who was made use of the facilities of the bureau for eight consecutive weeks.

On the other hand, losing several customers is the proud boast of bureau heads, for many of the dates which they have arranged have proved satisfactory to the point of causing young love to flame in the hearts of the parties concerned.

Further date data reveals that every week there is an average of five persons who are coming back to the bureau for at least a second time.

Records of the bureau also put the blast on the popular misconception that the girl of today is neither modest nor shy, for it is only when phone service (extension 24, girls) has been offered,

Farm Boys Combine Work and Study

The boys maintain their own quarters, making beds, sweeping floors, and helping the cook. Work is mixed with play as the boys have organized athletic games in the gymnasium at night and have special study periods late in the evening.

These youths are hand-picked from hundreds of applicants and are paid $25 a month for their work. Their quarters are run on a cooperative basis and each must pay his share of the expenses of running the house. Fees for their courses and college facilities are paid individually.

This correlation of work, play, and study has proved very successful since its inception and it is believed that the boys will return to their homes at the end of the period well prepared to handle a farm in such a manner as to gain a living from the soil.

Ground Hog Holds Winter's Future In Shadow

To stay or not to stay. That is the question which the groundhog must answer today. And just in case you've forgotten the significance of this little animal's actions on February 2, let us recall that if he sees his shadow, he will go back into his burrow and we'll have six more weeks of winter. If he doesn't see his shadow, he will stay out, and we'll have an early spring.

Officials Say Casteel Keeps State Fever Scare Not Yet Found; Follow Vacation

An unusual number of undulant fever cases in East Lansing was reported yesterday by college officials. The exact number of cases had not been determined because of the difficulty in diagnosis.

All but two of the cases were said to have responded readily to treatment. One of the two cases was said to have been severe but not fatal. The one patient who was vitally ill with the infection has passed the critical stage.

Officials said the undulant fever cases developed after Michigan State college students returned from throughout the state following Christmas vacation. The source of the disease has not been determined, according to Dr. F. E. Huddison, college research professor in bacteriology and world authority on undulant fever.

Dr. Huddison said yesterday that possible sources of undulant fever in the state are being studied. Investigations in undulant fever diagnosis and treatment are centered at Michigan State college, where Doctor Huddison has carried on his research.

No new cases in East Lansing have been reported in the last several days. No case of recent origin have been reported in college dormitories or in college eating clubs, and no cases of recent origin have been traced to any food supplied Lansing or East Lansing.

And we'd be disgusted.

Ship Docks in Remodeled Kindergarten House

Girl Scout Mariner Ship Moves Into Finished Valley Court House

By JUDY CROZIER

Land-locked East Lansing has a Mariner ship.

The Girl Scout Mariner ship has its own diligent laborers. Through their own efforts, and the generosity of others, have been built their own, complete Mariner ship, with a wheel and sea chest.

During the winter of 1935, the Girl Scouts of East Lansing, led by Mrs. Helen Grimes and Mrs. Helen Adams, began organizing a Mariner ship.

At first, the progress was slow because there was no place to dock and funds were very scarce. The group was fortunate in finding a Mariner from a Chicago ship, Nanette Smith, who had been greatly in getting their Mariner ship.

As a necessary part of the program to have a permanent meeting place, because of the program deals with the construction of model boats, charts, etc., that will help the others about sailing. So every Mariner was a permanent home for the Mariner.

the manual labor of mending the walls, furnace, windows, and the floors.

So, in the fall of 1938, the Mariner house in Valley court began to take shape. In order to redecorate the inside, more funds were needed. The mothers of the Mariners then organized a club, and gave a benefit bridge party in the East Lansing high school gym.

They raised about $100, enough to pay for the materials used in redecorating, if the Mariners themselves did the work.

Today, the Mariner house is completely finished, with the walls painted a neutral grey, blue window casings, and hand-blacked curtains in nautical patterns. Besides all this, there is a beautiful sea mural done by Mary Alice Leath's, covering one wall.

The Mariner hold their meetings each Monday night at the little house in Valley court. Mrs. Detlers is the present "Skipper," and Mary Alice Leath's and Nanette Smith are her assistants.

Don Smith's long tom, Central, led by Chambers and George Nicholas, a negro forward, continued to pile up a lead and were out in front at halftime, 24-13.

The Trojans started the second half with a bang, scoring two rapid fire baskets in the first ten minutes of play. The Big Reds settled down however, and from then on until the last quarter, it was all Central. They scored 15 points this period while they were leading the hapless Trojans to only five. Central led 38-18 at this point.

In the last quarter, Pregulman and Chambers again came into the game and Central was off to the races. Pregulman scored four baskets in the big second and Chambers contributed two. Nichols also did his part adding four points. Meanwhile the Trojans were managing to score 12 points on the sharpshooting of Bonnie Jean, Roy Deger, and Tom King. # Scoop Says:

By George Maskin

A column in short pants, Darwin Dudley, who gave up track to devote more time to football only to pass most of his senior year sliding up and down the bench, will try his hand at boxing in the All College tournament. Dudley hopes to square into the lightweight division. When the meet ends he will return to the track where he still holds the country indoor record for the quarter-mile.

Michigan State again has landed the National Collegiate cross country championship. The event will come off next November 27. To stage the classic, which had its inaugural at State last fall, Athletic Director Ralph H. Young had to get an okay from W. B. Owens, president of the N. C. A. A.

Most unpredictable of the country's top notch high jumpers, Eddie Burke, will appear here when Marquette university's track team faces State February 25. Burke has been known to soar 6 feet, 9 1/2 inches one week and then follow with a poor showing of 5 feet, 10 inches the next.

It's not likely Glen Rankin would have helped State's baseball team in the spring even had he passed over the opportunity to sign with the Cleveland Indians. At the time of quitting school, Rankin was ineligible and his chances of regaining the playing requirements were anything but hopeful.

The 1940 basketball schedule, which already is taking shape, currently lists games with College of Washington from Pullman and Tennessee, among others, for the field house court. Ben Van Alstyne is seeking to arrange two eastern tourists, one of which would pit State against Fordham in New York's Madison Square Garden.

There's some talk around the gym the shortened spring vacations starting next year may force abandonment of the annual southern baseball trip. According to Coach John Kohn, however, such gossip has no basis. "We can still go. The only difference will be the boss will miss the two days of school the first week," says Kohn.

Upperclassmen who remember the great play of Harry Spearman and Howdy Swartz in State football uniforms will get a chance to see Spearman and Swartz playing for the Spartans in 1939. It would be the same Spearman and Swartz, but brothers. Jack Spearman will hunt an end with while Leonard Swartz works at tackle, the same spot where his brother starred.

Speaking of brothers, Johnny Fingel enthusiastically predicts his kid brother, Jimmy, "will be better than I ever was." Jimmy has played regularly at MI. Clemens high for the last three years and has received some first-class tutoring from Johnny each summer.

All signs point to Russell Dabert's putting out a good showing among freshmen in the 100-yard dash. The principal reason for Dabert's optimism is the freshie recently defeated the varsity in a practice meet. Another sign of hope is the fact that Dabert will have one of an unorthodox extra swimming pool.

Sophomores Claim A Slight Lead In Inter-Class Meet

Second-Year Men are Hard Pressed by Seniors With Nine Points; Juniors Third, While Frosh are Scoreless

By JOE SIMKE
After polishing off the freshmen last week in the fresh-soph meet the sophomores have grabbed a slight lead in the interclass races which will see all four classes in action. With only two events run off the sophomores have copped one-half of the possible 22 points but are hard pressed by the seniors who have nine points. Juniors came through for two counters but the freshmen as yet have not been able to crash into the scoring column.

The two events completed are the 40 yard dash and the 40 yard low hurdles. Both were featured by close finishes between senior Gayle Robinson and sophomore Walt Arrington.

NOSSES OUT RIVAL

Tuesday night Arrington nosed out his senior rival in the dash, but last night the veteran triumphed in the low sticks. The soph further dominated the dash as Rudy Eaker and William (Boh) Webster tied for third and fourth. Webster's fine showing was the best performance he has shown here. The winning time was 47 seconds.

The hurdle final was close all the way with Robinson winning by a hair in the last time of 2:1 seconds. John Seales came through for third place for the junior's only points. Rudy Yovanovitch added to the seniors total with a fourth.

Farmers' Week activities have kindred the thin-limbed in training space and due to the heavy training of events for the week-end the meet will be extended to Monday when the two mile will wind up the activities.

OUTCOME TO COUNT

Spartan coaches are anxious to get a line on the material for only a little more than a week remains to whip the squad into shape for the Notre Dame meet at South Bend Feb. 10. They will scarcely have time to return before they will have to be ready to take on Michigan's powerful aggression on Oct. 14th.

Because results of the interclass meet will have considerable bearing on the lineup for the two big meets, competition for the rest of the week promises to be close. The seniors will try to take advantage of afternoon hours as the strongest contenders but the soph with their all-around ability and the juniors with their distance stars also look good.

Although shaping up well, most of the soph the yearlings did not rate as score heavy. Joe Mine will try to break his tie with Arrington for high jump tonight. Mine equaled Arrington's freshman record of six feet three and three-eighths inches.

Schedule for week

Tuesday—270-yard dash
Wednesday—40-yard dash
Thursday—40-yard low hurdles
Friday—2 mile
Saturday—44-22 mile over a week end.

Cagemen Leave Tomorrow For Wisconsin Game

Michigan State's varsity basketball team is ready for action and will leave for a victory over the University of Wisconsin during the current season when they return for Madison, Wis., tomorrow morning.

The Badger quartet, Bill in the Western conference face, already have played several games over the University of Wisconsin and the University of Detroit. Saturday night they will be going for their third in a row over Michigan opponents when the Spartans, in strong, invade the Wisconsin court.

Diamond Practice Is Halted

Farmers' Week activities have put a momentary cramp in the operations of the Spartan baseball candidates. With their eyes on the spring campaign, some dozen aspiring battermen have been working out daily for the past few weeks under the eagle eye of Coach John Kohn. This week, however, Demonstration Hall, which has been the scene of the pre-season practice sessions has been given over to Farmers' Week exhibits.

Next week infielders and outfielders are expected to start practice as the drills as far as have been more or less limited to pitchers and catchers. Some of the veteran hurlers who have been working out are Art Libbers, Pete DalPonte, Ray Dahlstrom, George Motrow and Bill Miller. Among the newcomers who are trying out is Al Yarn, star twirler in the interfraternity league last year.

Team Player Entries Slow For Fight Tourney

CHUCK HENRY

Chuck Henry is known among his mates as a team player. He sacrifices his individual score for the teamwork and plays a steady game at guard.

Lambda Chis Take Frat Pin Title

Lambda Chi Alpha has been announced as the winners of the inter-fraternity bowling crown by L. L. Fremding, assistant director of athletics.

The Lambda club rolled a three-game score of 2,444 in the play-off in each defeat Phi Kappa Tau, second place, with 2,386 pins. Phi Chi Alpha was third with 2,368, eight pins behind the Phi Tau. Alpha Gamma Rho placed fourth with a 2,347 total.

Women Bowlers Improve Scores

Women of the Interfraternity and dormitory bowling league again improved their scores in their efforts to meet the challenge posed by the Rainbow Bowling Alley.

Fencers to Go On Road Trip

After losing their second conference meet, this time Saturday at Lawrence Tech, 1937, the fencers are preparing for some intensive training before going on their road trip.

February 10 the Spartans meet Marquette at Milwaukee and on the 11th they have a triangular meet at Madison with Wisconsin and Purdue.

One bright light which showed up in Detroit Saturday was the prowess of Bill Russell and George Ormear. They each won a bout in the 145 and 165 pound weight divisions in doing so.

Another highlight of the meet was the victory of Oswald over the State novice champion, Bill Chis, in 1937. This showing of Oswald makes the rope team one of Oswald and Bousie, probably the strongest representatives State has had in some time.

No Floor Available So Frosh Study

Farmers' Week activities in Demonstration hall have shoved Michigan State freshman basketball practice into almost complete oblivion.

With large displays of all sorts of farm produce occupying all available space, the usual large basketball court looks like a huge display pavilion at some county fair.

Coach Tom King's yearlings ended this week's practice sessions with a long stiff scrimmage on the East Lansing high school court and were given the rest of the week off to prepare for their forthcoming mid-terms.

'39 Freshman Teams Boast Unimposing Mark to Date

By HAL SCHRAM
With one month of actual competition behind them, Michigan State freshman athletic teams are enjoying a none too prosperous 1939.

With eleven events already completed on the winter sports program, State squads can show but a meager three victories and one tie against seven losses.

No squad has over a 500 percentage while two of the five active freshmen teams have yet to break into the win column.

Lighter Varsity Weights Worry Coach Burhans

By NED DUTTON
With the opening of the boxing tournament less than two weeks away, entries are coming in very slowly and Coach "Brock" Burhans asks anyone who is intending to participate to sign up immediately. Meanwhile Burhans is devoting most of his time to whipping the varsity squad into shape.

All entries for the tournament, which begins February 12, must be in by February 11. Any one who wishes to sign may do so on the bulletin board in the gym or by seeing Burhans in his office.

WAGNER IMPROVES

The hard hitting Clint Braidwood veteran of last year's squad, is holding down the lights tonight. Between Terry Rizzardi and Don Wagner the 145 and 155 pound classes will be split. Wagner, who is in his second year of varsity competition has shown a great deal of improvement. Rizzardi is a durable fighter who carries a good punch in either hand.

Southern Scribes Marvel at Fal's Unique Style

Coach Johnny Mauer showed the true southern gentlemanly spirit after his University of Tennessee team had dropped a close and surprising game to the Spartans last Monday by stating, "The Michigan group played as well as I ever saw a team play. We feel proud to have come so close to winning from them."

Matmen To Meet Case

The Spartan matmen will attempt to get off their collective backs on Saturday night against the Case grapplers in the last home meet of the season.

Although the team is potentially one of the strongest to represent State in several years, they have had trouble getting started. After winning the opener against Wheaton they have dropped their last two meets by large margins.

The main source of trouble has been in the 135-pound division. In Bill Martin and Levit Russo. Coach Collins has two excellent grapplers but both of them have had difficulty making weight.

This week Russell, who is getting into good shape, will take over while Bill Martin rests. If Russell finds that he can make the weight without losing too much strength, Martin will move back up to the 145 pounds, his best weight and Bill Russo will then probably go up to the middle weight spot now held by Cliff Freiberger.

Charles Hilton, who did not get started until late in the season, is rounding into better form and should soon start clicking at 165 pounds.

Yearling Fencers Gird for Olivet

All is quiet this week along the freshman athletics front with the exception of Coach Bill Hammond's yearling fencers who resume hostilities Saturday afternoon against Olivet college.

Chuck Hamilton and Francis Thakken, who have thus far carried the bulk of State's scoring punch, will be greatly strengthened by the improved showing of Joe Johnston, Don Way and Ken MacPherson.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority soft ball team defeated the Sigma Chi fraternity team at the University of New Mexico.

Frosh Fencers Beaten Twice

Old man defeat which stalked the footsteps of Coach Bill Hammond and his freshman fencers thus far this season kept them from breaking into the victory column while losing their first three meets. Hammond expresses the belief, however, that his freshman swordsmen will soon find themselves and start placing the results on the right side of the ledger.

Bringing up the rear in fifth place is Manager Bill Hammond's yearling fencers who have failed to break into the victory column while losing their first three meets. Hammond expresses the belief, however, that his freshman swordsmen will soon find themselves and start placing the results on the right side of the ledger.

Chuck Hamilton, State yearling, was the only one to find any success whatsoever against Highland Park's undefeated swordsmen. Hamilton succeeded in scoring both, foil events to capture the only two points for the Spartan fencers. In the Lawrence Tech meet of Saturday afternoon the yearlings showed better form in dropping a close 9 to 7 decision to the host club. Chuck Hamilton and Francis Thakken led the State attack with two victories in the foil events, while Joe Johnston.
