Whichever side of the fence you're on...

... this telephone idea can help you

WHILE you're in college, you're on the consumer side of the fence. There you'll find the "Where to Buy It" section of your Telephone Directory a quick, easy way to discover who sells what you want.

After graduation, you may be on the other side of the fence, too—the seller's side. As a manufacturer or distributor of an advertised product you will find classified telephone directory listings a most effective and economical way to direct buyers to the dealers handling your product.

This directory service, tying up the national advertiser with the local distributor of his product, is just one of many Bell System ideas that help to increase the value of your telephone.

Trojans Will Play Grand Ledge in Tourney Tilt

By DON PHILLIPS

Friday night East Lansing high school begins its quest for another district high school basketball title.

Last year the Trojans entered the tourney with a crackerjack of a ball team and breezed through to the finals to meet Grand Ledge, a team they had beaten twice before during the regular season and of whom they expected little opposition. The Ledges felt differently about things, however, and rose to mighty heights and when the game was over they, and not East Lansing, were on the top end of the score.

This year some of that same story may be repeated. East Lansing has entered the tournament without a crackerjack of a ball team and on the contrary they have shown themselves to be only a mediocre team with hidden possibilities but as yet they have to come to the fore.

Also this year Grand Ledge is their opponent, only this time it will be in the final game instead of the first. What the outcome will be nobody can yet tell but the Trojans will certainly be out to avenge last year's inglorious defeat.

Another parallel to last year's episode is the fact that the Trojans have again defeated the Ledges twice during the regular season and each time by decisive scores.

Will the Trojans make it through tonight and go into the district finals or will they again be the underdog? Well, all of these questions will be answered soon, for Friday night the Trojans and the Ledges meet and the results should bear watching.

East Lansing has been drilling diligently this week. Coach Shaver has headed out a few new players, the withdrawal of the Ledges and East Lansing is again who the Trojans expect and trained for the contest.

So far this week, Shaver has seen some West and Jewell at the guard positions, with Steve Weaver and Jim Crozier working in the forward and Ray Bryant, George White, Thomas King and Jack King at wing and full. The back court will have prominent roles in any case with the regulars left over to see play in reserve positions.

Ledge is capable of scoring 40 points in a game. The Trojans depend on the growing dependability of the outside players. Shaver has little to offer in the way of a new team. We suspect the Trojans should have plenty of extra talent on their list of tryouts for Friday night.

Parents Party Scheduled

A "Mother and Dad" card party and informal dance will be given Monday evening in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. E. K. Worth is general chairman of the party. She will be assisted by the following committees: publicity, Mrs. George Alderton and Mrs. John Kuba; tickets, Mrs. M. M. Brundage; Mrs. Ben VanAalstine; Mrs. E. L. Draper; Mrs. Howard Ingeborn; Mrs. Robert McCarty; Mrs. F. W. Falkow; Mrs. D. C. Mosher; Mrs. H. H. Mowbray; Mrs. E. J. Harper; Mrs. H. L. Clark; and Mrs. Morris Baker.

Card committee will be Mrs. R. P. Hubbard, Mrs. William Buchanan, Mrs. S. G. Bergquist and Mr. H. L. Clark. Those in charge of refreshments are Mrs. L. J. Heikkilä, Mrs. C. M. Hale and Mrs. A. G. Colburn.

The party will be held from 7 to 12 Monday evening, March 13. Music will be by Ed Parker. There will be a social hour, a program, and will be a slight admission charge.

Dog Quarantine Now in Effect

East Lansing dogs were technically robbed of their freedom yesterday when the dog quarantine was supposed to become effective in all of Ingham county. Street enforcement was, however, expected to be suspended until further notice has been placed in prominent places informing the public of the quarantine, which is to expire September 1.

Terms of the quarantine are that all dogs shall be under the control of the owner at all times, and that all stray dogs be picked up and taken to an animal shelter. All dogs should be licensed and the owner's identity may be established in case the animal is placed in the shelter.

It is not at all necessary to know anything about candy making. All that is required is about $7,000.00 and hustle. Formulae for making go with the business and my present candy maker could be your candy maker. Some able father could start his son with profit for both. If interested write to me. Call 25124.

Randall to Report To Dallas Club

Clyde (Red) Randall, former Michigan State catcher now working out with the Spartans in Demonstration hall, will leave here Friday to join the Dallas club of the Texas League in spring training.

American League Rated Tops

The American League is smarter than the National League. That statement comes from Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, in a special article in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

According to MacPhail, most of the American League teams, including the Yankees, Red Sox, Tigers, and Browns, are always looking forward to the future. In the National League, the Cards and Reds were the only teams that considered the future until MacPhail went to work at Brooklyn.

Named Captains

Leo Callahan and Charley Henry, a pair of veteran guards and the only seniors on the 12-man Michigan State basketball team, were named by their teammates yesterday and named honorary captains of the 1938-39 team. Callahan has been a regular for all three years and has won three letters. He was in the Spartans starting lineup for every game this season. He is a former Schenectady, N. Y., high school and independent star.

Although he has not played as a regular, Henry has won two letters as a reserve with his fiery and consistent play. His home is Huntington, Ind.

Nine Schools Entered In Carnival

By JOE SIMER

Track stars from nine Michigan colleges will compete here Saturday in the Nineteenth Annual Michigan State College Indoor Track Carnival.

The meet, which will be an all-day affair, will have more than 150 individual entries. The afternoon program includes trials and semi-finals in varsity and freshman hurdles, the 40-yard dash, finals in the 330-yard dash, and the medley relay. The short-put will be held in Demonstration hall.

The evening schedule is crammed with exciting attractions of which the highlights are the 12 matched and open relays. Also the hurdle and dash finals, pole vault, high jump, and two-mile will be run off.

All of State's big victims, with the exception of Bill Greer, are back in harness, gradually rounding back in shape to bolster the Spartan chances of winning some of the individual prizes.

Greer is the only returning champion, but it is doubted if he will defend his 100-yard Saturday. The only second prize winner is Dewarson, Michigan Normal, high jumper.

The high jump will be one of the feature events of the carnival with Perry Simmons, Wayne's sensational sophomore who has bettered six feet, six inches, as the favorite. Boose, Washington of Western State and Spartan Walt Armstrong will also be strong contenders.

Wayne university, with a crew of speed merchants in two short races, promises plenty of action in these events. Michigan Normal is sending a well-rounded squad and Western State looks strong. East Hill, certain distance runners, will be their hope in the tentative line-up.

Matmen Get Fat; Coach In Dither

Catch Freddie Collins is faced with the problem of finding a 135-pounder, and the elimination of four good welterweights for the final wrestling meet of the year next Saturday at West Virginia.

Bill Ketchum and Ernest Russell, who have shared the welterweight titles this season find that it takes less punch energy to move the weight limit now they have moved up to the 145 pound spot. At present Russell weighs 148 pounds and Martin a little less.

Already in his weight are Bronny Riggs, who has alternated between 145 and 155, and Ted Crowe, but not a variety fighterweight who has been out most of the season with a sinus infection.

One solution Collins may use is to shift Dale Bell up to the 135 pound spot. Bob Frank up to 128 pounds, and put Dick Kinney in at 124 pounds.

Answers to the lineup will stay the same with Cliff Freilinger at 135 pounds, Charley Hutton, at 165 pounds, Capt. Steve Szerek at 175, and Dale Stephenson, heavy-weight.

Big Ernie Dunn, who showed what he really can do when he got in the mood last week at Syracuse will again fight in the unlimited class.

In order to handle the expected crowd the scene of the match has been shifted from the gym to Demonstration hall. A crowd of 5,000 is expected.

Scoop Says

By George Maskin

No Noise!

Had Athletic Director Ralph H. Young given the question more thought a few months ago, Michigan State's physical education department this term might have offered a one credit course titled, "How the Spectators should act at college boxing matches."

It may sound silly and absurd to show concern over the manner in which a crowd will control itself, but Director Young nevertheless has his doubts whether the fans who turn out for the coming fights here will adhere to the intercollegiate regulations.

Unless the crowd co-operates full heartedly Young fears boxing, as far as Michigan State is concerned, won't clear the hump and essentially rival football, basketball from an interest and popularity standpoint.

The college fight fan enjoys few of the privileges boasted by spectators at other sporting attractions. Chief differences centers around the item of cheering. Whereas the football or basketball fan may yell himself hoarse, the fight fan supposedly must remain mute during the progress of a fight.

Obviously it would be illegal for the boxing boards to pass direct legislation contrary to the first amendment to the United States Constitution which specifically prohibits Congress, or any other body, from banning "Freedom of Speech."

By some scheme however, those who put together the collegiate boxing code have indirectly snuk in a clause aimed at silencing the fans. It appears under rule H which states the referee shall immediately disqualify a contestant for one of the reasons:

Here is the section in question: "Applause, or demonstration by the spectators, when in the opinion of the Referee and Judges, the occasion warrants."

Following the clause is attached the note: "The referee shall announce or cause to be announced that no applause or demonstration of any kind will be allowed during the progress of a round."

As this department sees the matter the rule is unconstitutional. If we choose to cheer or applaud, we see no reason why our man should be penalized.

It's difficult to comprehend a crowd of 5,000 refraining from uttering a sound during a bout.

comparable to the recent one staged between Bill Morgan and Bob Chapman in the All-College finals. Such things don't happen in sports.

Besides schooling spectators in the art of sitting quietly, Director Young also would like to instruct them in "how and when points are scored."

Ten many times, the spectators feel the man who is strongest at the finish, should be crowned the winner. Young contends, "when in reality the contestee who is the more tired out of the two, has piled up the greatest number of points, and thus rightfully deserves the victory."

With an eye on possibly clearing up a point or two or quite the following:

Rule 11—Ten points shall be allotted to the winner of each round. The loser in each round shall be allotted any number of points below 10.

Rule 12—Points shall be given for attack and defense.

(1) Points shall be given for aggressiveness.

(2) Points shall be deducted for major infractions of rules. They may be deducted for minor infractions.

Rule 13—Points shall be deducted for:

(1) Hitting in a clinch.

(2) Failing to step back and break clean after a clinch.

(3) Points may be deducted for covering up with hands so that the opponent is not in a position to hit.

(4) Points shall be deducted for all infractions of rules listed in Rule 14: fouls, hitting an opponent when down, sweating liberately with the inside of hand, wrist or elbow, delivering a clubbing blow at the back of neck, coughing from side-lines and crowd noises whether indicated or overlooked by the referee when disqualification is not imposed.

With the above in mind, no unpopular decisions should result. We'll sure 'em (at least we should) following the same system used by the referee and two judges.

Baseball '9' Practices In Two Shifts

35 Infielders Vie For Positions on 1939 State Nine

By DON PHILLIPS

The crack of a bat against a ball and the thud of a baseball glove are again ushering in the baseball season here at State. These are familiar sounds over in Demonstration hall where today John Kots and his 1939 contingent of diamond hopefuls are working out nightly.

Workouts have progressed rapidly by since the middle of January when the battermen practicing began loosening up their arms. Now Kots has from 30 to 35 infielders going through the paces along with an outfield team of about twenty rambling about the squares of the ball every day.

ALL GET CHANCE

Kots has the boys working in shifts in an effort to get every one an equal chance of limbering up and sharpening their batting eyes. The infielders, pitchers, and catchers report to other afternoon for their workouts while the outfielders take their 6:30 or 7 o'clock.

So far action has been limited to batting in the huge main ring, and smashes of infield practice. Tuesday and Wednesday Kots laid out a diamond of regulation size and gave the boys a touch of real base-running and hitting.

LOTS OF RUNNING

Among the new faces in the baseball followers are those who on the 1939 team are Mike Kowalek, Chuck Kiewski, and Tom Kovacs, all of football fame. Tom Lee and Roger Kramer are All are out for baseball for the first time here at State except Lee and Kovacs, both of whom are out for freshman baseball.

Three Block 3 Teams Play Off This Week

A three-way tie in Block 3 of the Mason-Wells hall basketball league is to be played off this week to determine the block winner which will go on to play in the finals.

Joe Halinger, newly appointed assistant football coach will make his debut in the Spartan athletic stage this month. Present duties as basketball coach at the University of Dayton, will keep him there until just before spring break practice, which starts here on the opening of next term.
