Sleep Gently

Drugs and rum will get any man...

Fred Arnold has nothing to say about the rum but he can tell you plenty about the drugs.

Because when Fred got in after driving several hundreds of miles and staying awake all night he decided that an all night sleep would be in order.

After waiting up about 24 hours later, Fred decided that there was still more sleeping to do.

So he dropped a couple of aspirins into a glass of water, stirred them thoroughly, took another sleepy-eyed squint and decided that he had forgotten to drop the aspirins in.

Fourth with Mr. Arnold plunked in two more aspirins, stirred again, added two more for good measure and drank the whole mess.

As he just reported he was still sleeping.

Confidentially

An honorary to end all honors is the motto of the newly formed Zee-Caliber club...

Ten charter members were rapped into the organization on Thursday and four new members will be rapped next Wednesday evening in the band shell.

Zee-Caliber will follow an example set in many other colleges by choosing honoraries in a big way.

As an interesting sidelight on the whole affair comes a report that some of the campus honoraries are planning a dunking party.

The Best Policy

Betty Applegate don't have to evade Douglas's and search through the streets of Athens with a lantern for an honest man.

Her last she has already found one but she doesn't know his name. It happened thusly, Betty, during the mad rush of registration, somehow lost her pocketbook containing some seventy or eighty dollars in hard cash.

Worried she was for several hours until there came a call that said pocketbook had been found and would be returned.

Betty was so excited about the news that she forgot to find out who her benefactor was. And she still wonders.

Amnesia?

And then there's the one about the kid who looked his dumb amazement over at the administration building when, for no reason whatever, an extra ten bucks was handed into his registration fee.

When he found his voice and asked the why and wherefor, he was informed that there is a registration fee of ten dollars for all out-of-state registrants.

That one fished him 'til he took a look at his registration card. There he read that it was from New York and also that he had a different name than he had been answering to all his life.

Somewhere there had been a mix-up on this particular Grand Rapids gentleman had acquired another student's identification card.

He's still trying to avoid that ten-dollar fee until he can find the rightful owner of the bothersome cards.

Gentleman

The age of chivalry has not passed. Yesterday when a crowd walked into an overcrowded criminal law class only to find there wasn't a vacant chair in the room, it was Long George Falkowski, the demagogue of the hardwoods, that came to a gallant rescue.

After the fair lady had looked vainly for a seat and seemed on the verge of giving up finding a gentleman in the crowd, it was George who rose up, tipped his hat with due polish, and hunted up another chair in an adjoining room.

And he wotted not of the immense cheer that greeted his entry with the much needed chair.

IAWS Elects State Grad To Post

Nancy Farley, '38, Named Secretary At National Convo

Nancy Farley, State '38, was elected national executive secretary of the intercollegiate Associated Women Students at the close of the IAWS convention at Lawrence, Kan., Thursday afternoon.

Three representatives of Michigan State chapter of AWS attended the convention. They were: Marion Patton, next year's president; Barbara Stoen, next year's vice-president; and George Ann Shaw, AWS representative.

Miss Farley who has been acting as the director of the Women's Student League at Wayne university since graduation was nominated by the Michigan State group. She was elected by a wide margin.

Michigan State representatives, who returned to East Lansing Thursday evening, made a special study of point systems in the 30 colleges of IAWS as well as keeping much information for their new handbook.

Efforts are being made to bring Dr. Walter Judd, main speaker of the convention, to Michigan State at an early date. Doctor Judd, a Chinese medical missionary, took as his topic, "The Japanese Aggression. The theme of the convention was "Growing Up in a Democracy."

Among the duties that will be performed by Miss Farley as executive secretary are the editing of three new letters a year to go to all affiliated members, control of all finances, attendance at all national and sectional conventions, and acting as advisor to hostess colleges for the national conventions.

SWL to Install Officers

Spartan Women's League will hold an officer installation dinner in the Union hall room at 7 p. m. Thursday, April 20. The following list of officers will be installed: President, Marilyn Holman; vice president, Anna Marie Holmes; recording secretary, Jean McDonald; corresponding secretary, Ruth Kirtz; treasurer, Marie Taft; junior representative, Pat Flippin; sophomore representative, Myrtle Schmidt.

Publicity group chairman, Katherine VanVleet; art group chair, Laura Thomas; dramatic group chairman, Frances Smith; service group chairman, Eva Men Kiplinger; membership group chairman, Dorothy O'Neill; radio group chairman, Katherine Moore.

Council to Make Fireside Plans

Plans to continue the Student-Faculty Firesides will be discussed at a meeting of the Fireside council to be held next week. The council has suggested that the firesides be held outdoors as well as indoors this term.

Any student wishing to organize a fireside group may do so by consulting the list of cooperating faculty members and contacting the desired members of the faculty.

The council requests that any group holding a fireside report it to a council member in order that a record may be kept.

Newmanites Plan For Election

Election of officers for the year is the schedule for the regular business meeting of the Newman club on Tuesday, April 11, at 7:30 p. m. in room 1 of the Home Economics building.

Candidates for the positions were mostly nominated at the last meeting of last term. Candidates for unfilled offices will be nominated from the floor at the meeting.

Tune Titlers Trip Towards Top Tune Titles

It's getting close to the end of the trail for would-be tune-titlers if they would get their melodies accepted in the State News-Nite Fry Tune Title contest.

April 11 is the final deadline for the submission of Tune Titles. A list of five tunes which will call to mind a spring scene must be left at the State News office before that date if they are to be used for the contest.

Dick Nabstoll, Ray Turner, and Jim Kelley will choose the best list of five tunes. The winning melody will be played by Nae Fry and his band at the Union party April 14. A five-dollar cash prize will be presented to the winner at that time.

All contest entries left at the State News office should contain the name and address of the entrant.

League Plans Service

Chicago Man Will Address Students at Sunrise Service

Dr. W. H. Houghton, president of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, will be the speaker at the annual Easter morning sunrise service in the band shell at 6 a. m. tomorrow.

The sunrise service is annually held in various cities under the auspices of the Michigan Young Peoples Fellowship league. The local service will be conducted by the Spartan Christian Fellowship league.

Complete order of service follows: Orchestra prelude, song service, prayer by Rev. E. A. Waldeck, music by the choir of the German-American Baptist church, Lansing, message by Dr. W. H. Houghton, music by the choir, congregational singing, benediction, the song, "Hail Be the Thee That Hinds."

Members of the Spartan Fellowship league will meet in the Union for an Easter breakfast after the service. The breakfast will begin at 8:30. Rev. R. E. Nichols will address members of the league after the breakfast.

In case of inclement weather the services will be held in the Demonstration hall rather than in the band shell.

Judges Named For Contest

Five off-campus judges will consider entries in three classes of the creative writing contest at Michigan State college.

Chairman E. P. Lawrence, of the English department, announced the following choices: short story, Lee L. Ward, Notre Dame university; Prof. A. T. Odell, Furman university; and George Carver, University of Pittsburgh.

For the poetry contest, Prof. E. D. Burkland, University of Michigan; Bernard Young, Grand Rapids; and William C. McCann, East Lansing, were named. For the Lawson Essay contest, M. B. Seagrave, Duke university; Prof. J. C. Amundson, University of Pittsburgh; and Myron M. Golden, were chosen.

Closing date for the contest will be April 29.

Dean Goes To Washington

Dean Marie Dye, of the Home Economics division, left Thursday for Washington, D. C. where she will serve on a national committee studying land grants. Later she will go to Chicago for a committee meeting also studying land grants and education.

Following her Chicago trip, Miss Dye will again return to Washington to serve on the national committee for membership and maintaining standards of the American Association of University Women.

Condition of H. M. Williams, meteorologist at the East Lansing weather bureau, is reported as good by hospital authorities.

Williams has been confined to the Sparrow hospital in Lansing for the past 16 days to undergo an appendectomy and hernia operation.

Spring Play to Present New Faces

Despite a somewhat average title of "Spring Dance," the spring term all-college play will be another case of "New Faces of 1939," according to its faculty director, Don Huest.

With the exception of three actors in the drama, not one has appeared before in a college production. Robert Whitsett, playing the male lead role of Sam Thatcher, appeared in "Lady Precious Stream," presented last term, while Eleanor Jackson, playing the part of Kate McKim, appeared with the Lansing Civic Players in "Stage Door."

Marie Bos, who plays Mildred, is the only other performer to appear in a college production, having appeared in "Another Language" and "Window to the South."

The part of Alex Benson, romantic lead, will be played by Ruth Taylor. Although she has had no college experience, she played in "Smilin' Through," in high school. Other actors with only high school experience include: Leora Horning, as Miss Bratcher, who had the lead in "Absent Minded Bridegroom"; Helen Beattie, playing Mady Platt, who was leading character in "Everybody's Crazy"; Earl K. Brigham, who had the lead role in "Big Hearted Herbert" while in high school; and Myrtle Reeves, appearing as Merritt Reeves, appearing as Merritt Reeves, appearing as Merritt Reeves, appearing as Merritt Reeves.

They Say - - of New System

By JERRY DEWAR

A great deal of discussion and comment has been floating around campus these days concerning the new form of registration recently initiated at this college.

All the comment seems to be from the ranks of the student body who either appear to be indifferent or critical of the new idea. Few students are very enthusiastic about the system which is designed to assist the officials instead of the students.

On the other hand teachers and administration officials were high in their praise of Kermit Smith, the registrar, who conceived the modern idea. They have received accurate reports and are able to handle "drops" and "adds" with little confusion.

In a random interview today students and faculty expressed their opinion on the new registration system. "What do you think of the new registration system," they answered.

W. B. Moffett, assistant professor of English, "We see no bad effects from using the new card system. They seem to be accurate and save a great deal of time."

W. Gilmer, dean of veterinary division, "It's nice to have the new alphabetical system. Everything is without confusion and quite satisfactory."

Arnold Come, Lansing junior, "From the students' point of view it is about the same as the old system."

But from the registrar's point of view it is a lot better. It is much more difficult to "crash" closed sections now, however.

Mary Jane Conchois, Lansing freshman, "I think that with the new system it is a lot easier for the teachers to figure things out but for the students it's an awful mix-up."

Robert Stevenson, Wakefield freshman, "It's all right except that the line is too long at the check-out desk. I think it is slower than the former system."

Marion Knapp, Monroe freshman, "It was much faster except that too many of the sections were closed."

Jean Stofield, Walled Lake freshman, "It's too slow. You have to wait in line too long. Maybe when they know the system better they will be able to work faster."

John Haight, Lansing junior, "I think that it will be a lot faster when everyone gets on to the system of doing it. It saves the students a great deal of time in waiting out the class cards."

That is the way the students and faculty were talking about the modern idea which is an addition to the alphabetical system adopted last year. And from the administrative building came other ideas concerning the plan. Officials believe that reports will be issued sooner at the end of the term and that reports will be possible at any time during the year.

This has a new system been adopted and heavily criticized by both students and faculty.

Flying Cadet Examining Board To Visit MSC This Month

A flying cadet examining board will visit Michigan State college during the latter part of April for the purpose of examining members of the graduating class who wish to apply for training as flying cadets.

Opportunities for enlistment as flying cadets is not limited to members of the ROTC unit but is open to any member of the graduating class. All candidates must be unmarried, male citizens between 20 and 27 years of age.

The Michigan State examination is part of the nationwide canvas of colleges and universities with the purpose of obtaining suitable candidates. It is expected that a new class of approximately 320 men will enter training every six weeks beginning July 1, 1939.

Flying cadets are furnished postpaid transportation from their place of enlistment to Randolph Field, near San Antonio, Texas. Uniforms and living equipment are also furnished. Cadets will receive pay at the rate of $55 per month while training plus a 10 percent allowance of $1 per day. They will be housed in government barracks.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained at the military department. The exact date on which the examining board will visit the college will be announced later.

NBC Official Joins College Speech Staff

Spring term brings an increase in the speech department in the person of L. D. Barnhart, who comes to the college directly from the staff of NBC, where he has been for the past two years, serving as production director. Such well known programs as "Vic and Sade," "Girl Alone," "Story of Mary Martin," and "Lights Out" were under his supervision.

Previous to his connection with NBC, Mr. Barnhart spent thirteen years as a teacher in high schools and colleges, including a four-year stay at the University of Toledo, where he headed the speech department and directed the University Civic theater.

Among his other experiences were those of production manager of the Musical Drama festival at Saratoga Springs, New York, with Charles Coburn; and three years spent directing the Shaker Village Players at Cleveland, Ohio.

His work in the speech department will include classes in radio drama production and radio announcing. He will also direct dramatic productions on WKAR beginning next week with the first of a series of "Dramatic Shows" called "Royal Romances," which will be on the air from 4 o'clock to 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoons.

Mr. Barnhart says that any student in good standing, who has had some dramatic or radio experience, is eligible for participation in these productions.

Those wishing to be tried out can arrange for a radio drama audition by getting in touch with Mr. Barnhart at the speech office.

WKAR to Air Questions

College Station To Answer High School Student Queries

A series of broadcasts to answer high school seniors' questions about planning for college, will be presented over Michigan State college station WKAR during April, May and June.

Broadcast at 3:30 p. m. each Monday, the programs will deal with various phases of college and university life, including finances, housing, registration and student activities. Deans of the six divisions of Michigan State college also will explain the study program of each of the divisions.

President Robert S. Shaw opened the series with a discussion of the essentials of college training. Other speakers and the broadcast schedule follow:

April 10—Robert S. Linton, registrar.

April 17—C. O. Wilkins, treasurer.

April 24—Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, dean of men.

May 1—Elizabeth Conrad, dean of women.

May 8—G. R. Heath, men's housing director, and Miss Marie Peterson, women's housing director.

May 15—E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture.

May 22—H. B. Dicks, dean of engineering.

May 29—Dr. Marie Dye, dean of home economics.

June 5—Ward Gilmer, dean of veterinary science.

June 12—R. C. Huston, dean of applied science.

June 19—L. C. Emmons, dean of liberal arts.

June 26—Robert S. Linton, registrar.

Next week, the second issue of a new theatrical bulletin, "The Call Board," will be mimeographed from the office of Dr. W. F. Thompson, dramatics instructor.

"The Call Board" was published for the first time in March for the benefit of members of the Michigan Association of Non-Profit Societies. It is a publication of the Michigan Association of Non-Profit Societies, which was organized at the suggestion of Doctor Thompson, who is president of the organization for 1938-39.

General news of state little-theater groups, promotion ideas being used for membership drives or publicity, production suggestions, new books in the dramatic field, articles for rent or sale, announcements concerning officers, and statistical information are included in the bulletin.

Weather Man Reported Doing Well at Hospital

Condition of H. M. Williams, meteorologist at the East Lansing weather bureau, is reported as good by hospital authorities.

Williams has been confined to the Sparrow hospital in Lansing for the past 16 days to undergo an appendectomy and hernia operation.

Frolicers Plan Ride Service

Fresh Frolic partygoers will be offered transportation as a part of the party service, it was decided at a committee meeting Thursday evening. This decision arose out of the fact that the party will be held off-campus, in the Masonic temple, this year.

The number of tickets to the affair has been limited to 300. Since some 2,000 members constitute the freshman class, William Dewey, chairman of the ticket committee, predicts an early sellout.

Tickets will go on sale for three weeks, Dewey announced yesterday.

An attempt to gain late permission for coeds will be made at an early date, according to George Williams, general chairman.

Crowe Names Courses for Summer

Bucknell Sociologist Will Teach Two Classes in Marriage

Two three-credit courses in marriage, one open to both juniors and seniors and one open to seniors only, will be offered during the summer school session. S. E. Crowe, summer school director, announced yesterday.

Dr. Meyer F. Nimkoff, visiting professor of sociology from Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, will teach both classes. Dr. Nimkoff is also director of the Institute for Family Guidance at Bucknell university.

He is the former director of the Institute of Family Guidance in Los Angeles, former lecturer at Broadbaker School of Child Research, California, and has done summer teaching at the University of California, St. Lawrence university, and Ball State Teachers College.

The visiting professor has published "The Child," "The Family," "Parent-Child Relationships," and numerous articles in professional journals. He has an A.B. degree from Boston university and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Southern California.

Two courses will be entitled "Marriage and Marriage Clinic." The former open to both juniors and seniors, will deal principally with preparation for marriage and will include such topics as choice of a mate, problems of courtship, the engagement, wedding and honeymoon, problems of the early years of marriage, sex adjustment, marriage and money, and mental hygiene of marriage. Special attention will be given to the pre-marriage problems of college students and actual cases will be used as illustrations.

The Marriage Clinic, open only to seniors, will include an examination of the psychological techniques now in use for affecting adjustments in marital and pre-marital problems. Attention will be given to the growth of marriage since its origin in Europe and America and to the actual operation of these ethics.

Those enrolled in the course will have the privilege of presenting for consideration problems of their own or those of persons in whom they are interested.

YM Will Hold Installation At Meeting

Induction of officers and installation of members on the faculty advisory board, will constitute the business of the regular meeting of the Spartan Y.M.C.A. April 11, at 7:30 p. m.

Officers to be inducted who were elected at the last regular meeting are: President, Bob Johnson; vice president, Herb Pifer; secretary, John Macy; treasurer, Bob Fufford.

Men appointed to fill vacancies on the faculty board are: C. C. Hurd, mathematics; R. S. Linton, registrar; B. T. Ostenson, zoology; and J. C. McMane, economics.

New Y.M.C.A. cabinet appointees are: Program, William Merrill; Christian faith, Sidney Reed; recreation, Glen Yingling; economics, Ed Hudson; campus relations, Larry Ball; publicity, Bill Winston; community relations, Dick Washburn; membership, Robert Sewell; and peace action, James Coffey.

Nash to Conduct Meets in North

C. L. Nash, marketing specialist in the economics department, began a series of meetings in northern Michigan on Thursday.

The "trip," which will continue to April 15, is for the purpose of discussing potato marketing problems with farmers' cooperative marketing associations.

Some 80 county agricultural agents stationed by M. S. C. at county seats, make local arrangements for these talks.

Art Department Shows Exhibit

An exhibition of color painting showing the development of landscape painting from the time of Durer and Patinir in the fifteenth century through Rembrandt, Vermeer, Bruegel, Constable, Monet and Cezanne and the American contemporaries, John Marin and Grant Wood, is being shown in room 400 Morrill hall this week by the art department.

Visiting hours are 3 to 5 week days and 2 to 5 on Saturdays and Sundays. The exhibit will be open until Monday, April 24.

4-H Club Will Elect Officers Tonight

Election of officers will be the main order of business when the 4-H club meets tonight in room 401. A hall, at 8 o'clock.

A dance will follow the business meeting and refreshments will be served at intermission.

Campus Calendar

Full Program Is Set For Freshmen

Scanning the freshmen sports activities we find that:

1. The yearling diamond talent will tote out the bats and bats at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon for their first official practice.
2. That Coach C. D. Wilkins will meet all yearling between 2 1/2 and 3 p. m. Monday in the gym lecture room.
3. That Coach Ben Van Alstyne is still waiting for Old Sid so that his freshmen golf team can tee off.
4. With a mere 112 captives reporting Coach L. E. Frensdorff is beginning to smile when remarks concerning his 1939 baseballers are brought up.
5. The look is not as nice as it might sound however, for within the next three weeks Coach Frensdorff will tell this large squad of freshmen that approximately 20 men will be the yearling invade Comstock for their opening battle May 2.
6. The yearling between here and Comstock, the same situation confronting them as have the yearling baseballers.
7. Wilkins slightly more than three weeks remaining Coach C. D. Wilkins must organize a fresh tennis squad which opens a six-game schedule against Lawrence Tech Wednesday May 2.
8. Preexisting Old Man Weather, smothered Coach Ben Van Alstyne will have considerably time in which to develop a squad of freshmen golfers for their opening meet May 12.

Track Squad To Travel To Both Coasts

Michigan State's outdoor track stars this season will undertake an ambitious schedule that will take them to all sections of the nation.

The East will see the Spartans when they leave for the I. C. A. A. championship at New York City. The West coast will see State competing at the National Collegiate meet at Los Angeles.

Michigan State will also compete in the Pacific States meet at the University of California at Berkeley.

The return to the home state between the two trips will be made by the Spartans in the West Virginia meet at Morgantown.

Plans will be made for the home season April 15, making the season straight continuous home. Freshmen talent will come next with the State meet at Lansing, Michigan.

As usual the outdoor track stars will compete in the Michigan State meet at Lansing, Michigan.

Scoop Says:

By George Maskin

With the Michigan State baseball team home from the South, Michigan fans, whether in the gym, Charles Washington's Senate Shop or Henry Ford's Union Club, have come forth with their own scoop questions.

"How good is this year's team?"

"What they have heard hasn't made sense in your club is it. While you profess to praise the team, as high as you praise it, you are a moment later by telling the team some of the poorest around State in 1939."

To satisfy our own curiosity we ran down the eminent John Herman Kobs, the team's coach, and C. D. Wilkins, a big driver when it comes to the college's finances, who always makes the weather forecasts, in hopes of getting the real low down on the team.

Approaching Kobs when he appeared in a cheerful mood, we tried the question of him.

"Right now the team's not so good," came an immediate reply. "It will be a top notch club until we locate a No. 1 pitcher, or two, before, preferably two."

Glows Over Money Coming In

Without waiting for Kobs to elaborate further on the topic we hurried to the Administration office and discovered Comptroller Wilkins glowing over the money which students were serving up.

"Step right up and pay your money, too, George," smiled Wilkins as we put in an appearance.

After explaining to Wilkins we had other reasons for dropping in on his place of business, the conversation quickly shifted to baseball and forward came the old question.

"Like Kobs, Wilkins wasted no time in responding.

"The team looks fine to me," stated the Comptroller. "John Kobs seems to have plenty of good pitchers, a first-class defensive unit and several good hitters. Yes, sir, they'll be all right this season."

We turned from Wilkins, discouraged and perplexed. We still were in a dither as to how good the team really was.

Greer Called 'Bald'—No Like

The next time Wilbur Greer, State's sensational sprinter, made his appearance he will make it a point to visit the Spartan squad which is expected to travel to Texas before the end of the regular season.

In discussing Greer's visit to the Spartans, the Michigan State coach, Coach Van Alstyne, made the statement:

"When Greer gets that bald," he asked George Maskin, "the only thing you can do is to get a haircut. You can't do anything else."

Michigan State's outdoor track stars this season will undertake an ambitious schedule that will take them to all sections of the nation.

The East will see the Spartans when they leave for the I. C. A. A. championship at New York City. The West coast will see State competing at the National Collegiate meet at Los Angeles.

Michigan State will also compete in the Pacific States meet at the University of California at Berkeley.

The return to the home state between the two trips will be made by the Spartans in the West Virginia meet at Morgantown.

Daubert May See Olympics, Free

INTERLUDE. Take Daubert has been elected first vice president of the National Collegiate Swimming Coaches Association. That probably means he'll be president in 1940 and thus get a free trip to the Olympics.

The Central collegiate indoor track meet is scheduled to take place in the new field house next March. In past years Notre Dame has always played host.

Tennis coach E. D. Ball, Jr., never follows his charges on the road. He stays behind to teach chemistry. Ben Van Alstyne can't make up his mind whether to play Long Island in basketball in Madison Square Garden next winter. Ned Irish, the Garden promoter, wants the game. Syracuse careers will appear here next December 8.

Paul Derrickson uses a piece of tape to keep a funny bone in his pitching arm in place. Keep your eye on Art Harris. He may play left tackle for State next fall. He's been the No. 1 passer on the squad for five years. The Spartan baseball team hit only 236 in the South.

Track Opener Nears For Spartans

The Spartan outdoor track team is preparing for its first meet at Lansing, Michigan, on April 15. The team will be led by Coach Van Alstyne and will include several of the state's top sprinters.

Spartans Win Polo Season Opener

Michigan State college polo fans had a jolly showing of the action needed for this spring when the six members of the Michigan Polo Association performed in a triple-header before a crowd of 500 spectators in Demonstration hall last night.

The Spartan team, appearing in the second game against the Lansing Red Wings, failed to show their form of last year, but by help of a five goal drive in the first chukker, came through with a 10-2 triumph.

State failed to tally in the second period and then added two goals in the third chukker and three in the last to build up their margin. Don Robinson led the Spartans with four goals, while Paul Larson played a sparkling game, including three markers.

The final of the evening stole the spotlight for last action, when the Brookwood Stables of Flint came through with a Frank Merz goal to tip the Ivory Runners of Detroit in an overtime clash 14-13. O. I. Hotelkies led the Spartans in the last minute of the regular playing time, and then the Red Wings, then and back connected in the overtime chukker for three goals, two of which were made in the last 15 seconds.

In the third game the Demagogues, a team composed of R. O. T. C. staff members, bowed to Oakland Hills of Detroit 7-1-0.

All members of the 1938-39 freshman fencing team are to meet Monday at 12:30 on the gym steps for a team picture.

State's Twin Arts To Give Scribes Some Trouble

Two sets of identical twins in Michigan State's freshman ranks may cause a tangle on the sports pages in weeks to come. Leo P. Wilson and Louis P. Wilson were twin swimmers with the yearling swimming team this winter. They hail from Buffalo, N. Y.

Wilson D. Davis and Wymen D. Davis were a pair of lively looking basketballers from Dundee, Mich., last year. And again to be in style with the college matters, even when Coach John Kobs of the women's basketball squad says he has a pair of twins ready to report for the freshmen diamond squad this spring.

A Stylist, Too

So far at least Joe Dummer is doing a fine job of restoring Mike Carlson, Lake the former Spartan coach. However, it's known what's what when it comes to dressing.

Michigan State's wrestling team probably isn't anything in the way of a grand old time yet by electing a pair of sophomore heavyweight wrestlers, Reggie F. Regg and J. J. J. J.

Nine's Showing in South Pleases Kobs; Outfield Is Now His Worry

By Don Anderson

Cold weather forced the Spartan baseballers under the protecting walls of Demonstration hall yesterday, again causing the players to depend on the restricted area of the batting cage to sharpen their hitting eyes.

Although the outfield situation continues as a source of worry to Coach Kobs, he was pleased in general with the team's showing in the south. He pointed out the fact that although the Spartans lost three games, all of them were by close scores. Georgia won 3-2, Duke 3-0, and Wake Forest triumphed 1-0. A break in State's favor might have turned these defeats into victories.

DIETOLD PLEASER

Al Dietold, in right field, is the only outfielder whose work has pleased Kobs. In center and left, Ray Dahlstrom and George Levasogod lack the experience necessary for top-notch garden performances. Dahlstrom is primarily a pitcher, a sore arm being responsible for his absence from the mound. Levasogod was an infielder until late last season. Both these boys are good hitters, but so far have not come through in the expected fashion.

The outfield corps was further weakened when Ray Hall forsook outfielding for pitching. George Keller and Tom Leahy may reach the starting order before the season is over, although both have lacked batting punch. Hope for Keller is probably the best defensive outfielder on the squad.

The catching seems set with Howell Cook clinching the job by his good work in the south. George Stark also turned in a good performance on the trip and will act as Cook's understudy. Both boys have power with the bat.

OWN BETTER

The infield and pitching staff are fairly steady. George Owen, who injured his back in the second game with Georgia, is nearly recovered and should be ready soon to take over his second base job. There is a good possibility that Norm Duncan, sensational sophomore infielder, will be used to shortstop on Owen's return. Owen is a good pitcher.

State Netmen Win From Kentucky

Snapping back into victorious ways after a defeat at the hands of the University of Virginia, the Spartan netmen routed Kentucky at Lexington Thursday.

The score was 8 to 1.

The Spartans returned to East Lansing Friday, after completing a successful southern trip with two wins and one loss.

Leading State to its impressive victory over the Wildcats was Chester Olson who won in straight sets from Boone of Kentucky 7-5, 7-5. Co-captain Charles Gibbs, after a shaky start, defeated Hotchkiss of Kentucky 4-6, 6-0, 6-4. Fred Perkins, State sophomore sensation, won in straight sets from Foster 6-2, 6-1.

The only win for Kentucky came when Co-captain Herman Struck lost to Huber of Kentucky 6-4, 6-3. However, this defeat was more than made up for by the wins of Len Kostichuk and Irving Rawlins. Kostichuk won 6-1, 6-4 and Rawlins 6-2, 6-4.

In the doubles matches Struck and Olson paired for State to beat Huber and Boone in straight sets 6-2, 6-4, while Gibbs and Kostichuk defeated Foster and Boston in three sets 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

The Spartans are taking things easy just now since they haven't another match until April 21 when the University of Cincinnati netmen come to East Lansing for an encounter.

Cagers to Begin Spring Training

"It's a good thing that you basketball players did not put your uniforms in the mothballs, because spring training for the fastest indoor sport begins next Monday."

Coach Ben Van Alstyne made the announcement that anyone not participating in any other sport should come around this includes veterans all the way down to freshmen.

Practice will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.
