MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE, EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 1939

Today's Campus

He Can Read, Too

Journalism instructors really know their literature. At least Norman knows current literature, and that's the same thing. He was questioning his feature writing class yesterday about the magazine they have been reading. Two of the boys admitted they hadn't read any magazines like that since the Atlantic Monthly last fall. One little lad didn't seem to be quite with his class, so he was put to the test. He was asked to read the magazine he had been reading. He had been reading "The Bachelor" magazine.

Rush Call

Osric, State News columnist of the party, has been called several times to appear in a single jacket for his part in the college. He is looking for a better fit. There have been several near fits, but they owners don't feel like taking a chance. Incidentally, he'll be one of the players who will appear on the "Curtain Going Up" program at WKAR this afternoon at 7 p. m. Dan Buell, the director will interview them and present a short review.

Hate Hunters

Although Michigan State's enrollment increased this term over last year, it is due to a decrease in the number of students who are not persons in campus. Several members of the staff of Spartan magazine are said to be secretly going to investigate.

Honor Idea To Be Basis Of Quiz

Student Groups Will Request AWS Fund Allotment

Climaxing efforts of several terms, student organizations interested in furtherance of an "honor system" for Michigan State college will request of A. W. S. at its Tuesday meeting an allotment of funds to make possible an all-campus questionnaire to learn if the majority of students favor the honor system.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

According to members of the Board of Tower Guard Executive and State News, a questionnaire has been drawn up to determine definitely if students favor a delay or continuation of their during examinations and of other actions disfavored by these organizations.

MONEY FROM GROUPS

Money to carry out the project will be solicited from student organizations which receive their revenue from student fees. If A. W. S. and the Student Council offer their aid, other organizations will probably be asked to help.

Women Slate First Tea
