No. 83

Today's Campus So Shut Up!

As far as the public is concerned, Bill Hasselback, of Beechnut, has run into a post. For the past several days he's been carrying a black cat over one eye and advancing no explanation of his mysterious silence.

Slanguirts Note

Three professors of the English department, E. P. Lawrence, J. W. Shirley, and R. I. David are sending out a call for help.

Needs a Rowboat

The fishing season opened a couple of weeks ago, but as Al Kline can't be quoted, we will assume he went to bag a trout Saturday. After being properly baited in the technique of casting, he found the Red Cedar alone.

She'll Sparkle

Would you be surprised if the express man came to your door with a package insured for $1,800? That's what happened to Bill Ryan yesterday, but he wasn't surprised.

You Try It

Professors DeHaan and Schaefer have had the knowledge of mathematics in several quantitative experiments offered. One of the experiments that of Margaret DeHaan's kappa senior who defined the experiment as "What you have left over a billion."

Big Success

Last week Harold Collins' roommate decided that Harold wasn't having enough dates while he was in college. So de Haan Harold's protest he called on Cynthia Conrad, who should have been paying attention to sports to see what she could do.

Lost is Found

Alert foresters discovered their "shading sign" last Monday night just 24 hours after they had lost it.

Appropriate?

That John Rovick's talents are appreciated by his fraternity brothers was very evident Tuesday morning when the greater majority of the Kappa Sig brothers "trapped" over to the Little Theater to witness John's performance in a one-act Studio Theater production.

Honor System Gets Student Approval

More Favor Plan Than Believe it Practical for Use

Michigan State college students are in favor of introducing an honor system at Michigan State, according to returns received last night from tabulations of the honor system questionnaire circulated among the students Monday and Tuesday of last week.

To the question "Would you favor the introduction of an honor system if the details were worked out to your satisfaction?" 723 students voted "yes," while 218 voted "no." However, only 530 thought that the system would be practical. Some of the questions on the questionnaire were not answered.

The students also proved to be in favor of doing away with the making system and building up a campus tradition against cheating. According to the questionnaire there were twice as many who believed that honesty is the best policy, and 905 students against 490 voted that cheating is usually wrong.

One of the points of the questionnaire which will apparently hinder the introduction of the honor system on this campus is the fact that only 48 students would report a case of "cheating" if they saw it.

Expulsion from school is favored by most students as an effective means of doing away with the practice of cheating. They think that expulsions are after the cause of cheating by practices of trick questions and forms of antagonism. Punishments to be commonly used for more than half of the students who answered the questionnaire admitted that they had used them. Only a third of the students could honestly say that they had never cheated.

Men May Get Orientation Course

Motion picture is a feature presentation system for the new maximum of the field will be passed by the committee. After several preliminary meetings, including a discussion of the meeting in the Union.

Ten Will Join Drama Club

Ten students will be initiated into Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity, at its initiation ceremonies which will take the form of a formal dinner at 5 p. m. and a banquet.

Job at Golf Course

An all-summer job at a golf course will be open this summer to some Michigan State student, it was announced by L. C. Emmons, dean of the Liberal Arts division this week.

Appropriate?

That John Rovick's talents are appreciated by his fraternity brothers was very evident Tuesday morning when the greater majority of the Kappa Sig brothers "trapped" over to the Little Theater to witness John's performance in a one-act Studio Theater production.

Hail to Michigan's Governor

Art Exhibit Shocks Classicists, But Modernists Approve

Like a blow in the face for the worshipper of classic paintings, but a haven for the lover of modern art is the "The Prospectors" art show which is now in Morrill Hall.

This striking exhibit is representative of five artists who live in Boulder, Colorado "near ghost cities of great mining days," mountains, Indians, and miners.

A professor will discuss public welfare. The professor will discuss the importance of public welfare in the community.

Curriculum Convo Gets Good Start

Students Display Interest Demands Of Professions

Green Helmet's Curriculum Guidance conference got off to a favorable start Tuesday night with meetings of five groups.

Students seemed especially interested in that which each department trained students for and what professions or vocations could be entered with that training.

Other meetings held in the Union annex were in farm management with Prof. Brown, horticulture with E. K. Russell and geology with M. Stewart.

Discussions continued through the night and are as follows: day, room 107 Union annex, Prof. Weaver, landscape architecture, room 107 Union annex, Prof. Weaver, landscape architecture, room 107 Union annex, Prof. Weaver, landscape architecture.

Pick Fifty-five Nominees For Class Offices Open In Spring Elections

Knox, Leighton, Howland, Abdo, and Williams to Run for Junior President; Beukema, Hutt, Scales and Bennett Will Vie for Prexy in Senior Voting

Fifty-five candidates will run in the spring term primary elections as a result of nomination meetings for the three classes held last night.

Five candidates were nominated to run for junior class president. These included: William Knox, Charles Leighton, Arthur Howland, Edward Abdo, and Peter Williams.

Independent Party Platform

For the first time in the history of the college, a group of candidates has banded together to run on a single platform. The candidates have proposed the Independent Party to carry out the plans of their platform.

The Independent Party favors complete abolishment of the long camp list, because of its use at certain recent formal parties. The short camp list shall be retained, but kept strictly within designated limits and efficiently enforced.

We favor the establishment of a health insurance plan to cover cost of emergency operations incurred by students while attending school. Such a plan could be put in effect with each student paying a small sum per term, which would offset actual cost of the operation and hospitalization of patients.

We favor the establishment of cooperative houses for men, under the authority of college officials. Such a plan would cut living costs to approximately $5 per week.

We favor a fair distribution of coal late permitting for class formal parties. Such a plan would allow limited permission for each of the class formal parties, rather than offer on the night of the J-Hop.

22 Home Ecs To Get Jobs As Teachers

Twenty-two Home Economics graduates will get jobs as teachers. The graduates will be employed by various schools in the area.

Tower Guard To Sell Candy

The tower guard will be selling candy. The candy will be sold to raise funds for the tower guard.

Criminology Class Visits Prison

The criminology class visited the prison. The class was led by a professor and visited the prison to learn more about the criminal justice system.

I a little bit INDEPENDENT THRU Smoked Glasses

By PAUL GIGAN

You All Know
... that it's going to be a cabaret party. You all know that Art Howell will furnish the music. You all know that it's going to be held tomorrow night in the Union ballroom. So we won't have to tell you that it's the I. M. L. spring dance we're talking about.

If You Can't Shout,
... then you'd better stay away from the all-college political rally to be held Monday night, seven o'clock, by the Union bldg. The Independent rally will be merged with the all-college rally and we'll see you there.

The Frolic of the Air
... has a hand! If you don't believe it listen in Saturday afternoon. The program will be held at the usual time over the usual station with an increased cast and an increased audience, and we mean it.

The Evergreen Manor Float
... that is to be entered in the Water Carnival has "Quest for Wealth" as its theme. The Manor float will be the Independents' entry. The Evergreen boys have started "questing" already; one of them found a penny on the office floor.

Student Club to Hold Scavenger Hunt
... Scavenger hunt will be held tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. for members of the Students' club of the Peoples church.

They Used to Pay
... thirty-five cents for a hair shave in the old days but Johnnie Houghton got a small sized haircut for nothing the other evening. Bob Reardon, Peoples' gift to Wee Wee, was the accessory to the fact. His hands got cold and there was no fire. A note applied to Johnnie's razor locked the trick. General of that "hair shave" Johnnie.

The Night Had Eyes
... and they found Don, Dorrick, Sprague, Klain, and in his respect, of chairman of the IML dance coming on Friday next, that a State News society reporter that the lighting would be "dark enough" to be interesting but not dark.

She May Not Be
... the sweetheart of Sigma Chi but if Charlotte Mason's current spring jacket is any indication, the good old modern Greeks find high favor in her estimation. It's a black and white affair bedecked with the symbol of every known fraternity. Wonder what Bill Hasselback, ex-independent here, thinks about the whole thing.

Why Has Bill Frank
... Wolverine business manager, gone over into the enemy camp (the Spartan office) all of a sudden? A soft-eyed lovely named Mary Jo Stephens wouldn't be the answer, would it? We're just asking.

Another Ringing
... comes to our ears. It's Catherine Messenger who's taken on a finger halo from Bill Newth. Bill's not in school.

Our Profuse Apologies
... should be directed to someone but we're not quite sure to whom. Any way there exists a note saying that Norma Jacobs, Masonite, pinned Betty Harrington from New York state and not Betty Harrington as we casually commented. There's no such girl in the directory but one such sign out at St. Williams. Viddy sorry Norma and Betty and Betty.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO—
The pledges are getting their whack at the actives this Saturday after which they will entertain with a radio party. "Hog" Smith's pin has migrated to Linden where it is in the possession of a village queen.

ZETA TAU ALPHA—
Saturday morning 11 Zetas from Beta Phi chapter journeyed to Flint to attend the annual Michigan Zeta day. After the convention Dorothea Smith, Elizabeth Ann Benner, Laura Thomas, and Leila Gunnison were week-end guests of Joyce Conklin at her home in Corunna.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA—
For those who wonder, Frankie McIntyre, Kay Burk, Jane Jones, and Arlan Chanter didn't lose any money on the Derby. The Kappas remain undefeated in intra-collegiate baseball with Betty "Sluggo" Nonseppner as captain. There will be a Mother's Day luncheon Saturday.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA—
Eleanor Lise, Mary Lagenbacker, Barbara Mabie, and Dorothy Field were initiated Tuesday night. Marion Nichols has Howard Lapanoff, Kappa Sig pin. The Theta will entertain their mothers Saturday.

ALPHA PHI—
The Alpha Phis held a picnic Wednesday night. There will be a Mother's Day luncheon Saturday.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA—
New pledges include Ruth and Wilma Fritz.

KAPPA SIGMA—
Johanne Rovick was presented with a magnificent bouquet of dandelions after a brilliant performance in the Little Theater play His Fraternity brothers occupied the front row in the vain hope of making him blow up in his lines. There will be a kid party at the house Friday. The lawn party given last Saturday to plow up the yard and plant the grass seed was a huge success. Altho the Kappa Sig don't let much grass grow under their feet, there is some out in front now.

Turn and turn about is fair play. But students are not getting a turn and turn chance from the music department as far as tickets to next year's concert series is concerned.

Next year, as has been done in some former years, students will be required to present their student books, at an office to be designated by the department, before the concert if they are to have seats reserved for them.

However, if students fail to reserve auditorium seats for the concert before a certain date the department will have the right to sell these seats to outsiders at regular prices.

But, if a student finds after he has reserved a seat that he will be unable to attend the concert he is barred by college ruling from selling his ticket.

In view of the fact that the music department has made plans to sell an unestablished number of season tickets to outsiders and in view of the fact that the maximum capacity of the new auditorium is only 5000 seats (too few to accommodate the entire student body) it would seem only fair that the student be allowed to protect himself by selling student tickets that he cannot use.

The fault lies in a lack of cooperation between college officials and the music department. If the music department must protect itself by selling seats to outsiders, students should have the privilege of protecting their right to tickets when they have already paid for but are unable to use.—D. Thinclads Swamp Eaton Rapids; Nine Routs Lansing Central

Baseballers Will Meet St. Mary's

Fresh from a rousing 11-7 victory over Lansing Central's Big Reds Tuesday, East Lansing high school's baseball team today sights its guns for the Lansing St. Mary's nine which it will oppose tomorrow afternoon.

Big Alvin Gaines, a right hander, was the hero of the Trojan victory at the expense of Central. Gaines mowed the opposition down with seven hits as he pitched a steady brand of ball from start to finish.

Meantime, the Trojan sluggers pounded a pair of Central pitchers for 11 safeties. Two of the clouts were home runs, one by Ron Jean, the first, and the other by Don Smith in the fourth. None was in either case.

Jean, incidentally, was the game's big man with the bat. The Trojan shortstop came up with two singles in addition to his thunderbolt to give him three for three. Crozier, East Lansing's best baseman, collected a pair of safeties.

East Lansing exploded with a six-run rally in the third after getting one run in the first. Then the Trojans followed it up by scoring once in the fourth and three more in the fifth.

Jack Kobs will pitch tomorrow's game against St. Mary's.

Music Patronesses Pick Mrs. Snyder As President

Mrs. L. M. Snyder will serve as president of the patronesses of the music department for the coming year as the result of elections held Monday in the Union, at the annual luncheon meeting of the organization.

Following the luncheon yearly reports were read and plans were made for establishing a scholarship fund for the outstanding Ma Phi Epsilon student in scholastic and musical ability in 1940.

Jack Everett Will Command Legionnaires

Jack Everett, 619 Division, will serve as commander-elect of the William Baker Johnson post No. 205 of East Lansing, following his election at the bi-monthly meeting last Tuesday.

Other officers named include: vice-commander, H. B. Pettigrew; adjutant, Reginald Holbrook; finance officer, Walter Whitmore; retiring commander, J. H. Smith; Norman Kunkel, historian; Lloyd Cleveland, and sergeant-at-arms, James H. Atchison.

The new officers will be installed early next fall.

Commander Whitehouse reports that the East Lansing post is busy on several projects, including the "War Relief" money drive.

In cooperation with the Lansing Yacht Club, the 49th R. S. will be held at the Lansing Yacht Club on the Grand River, the first of May.

That, believe it or not, is the advice that used to be given to State students and East Lansingites when they left for Lansing before the turn of the century, according to stories told by James O. Taylor in his book, "History of East Lansing, Town, one of the earliest residents in the city, lived in Berkeley, California, at the time his book was prepared for use in 1912.

Grand River avenue, the center of the city, was a main thoroughfare, connecting a series of small scattered farms, the main link of the Red Deer river.

Only in 1941 was Lansing recognized on a map under the name of Grand River Road. Park parking was completed in 1912 under the auspices of the Lansing Central Public Road company, which surfaced the entire road from Lansing to Howell.

Each station erected at four to six mile intervals, were authorized to collect fees from travelers. It was the custom for both state and federal tax collectors to attempt to run the gates after daylight.

Early Agnes who lived in the city, girls at M. C. G. A. Female Seminary, a private school located at the present site of the school for the blind, took great delight in driving past the very well-tended.

After a few years, the oak planks began to rot and the lower rails, and were gradually replaced by gravel. In 1880, all remaining planks were removed, and the station was abandoned.

Although Lansing Central Park Road company was chartered to lay other plans, funds contributed only the original one from Lansing to Howell.

Annual early road travel was conducted only the original one from Lansing to Howell.

High School Will Take TB Tests

East Lansing high school seniors and freshmen will take a skin test for tuberculosis today, Leonard Grand, public relations counsel in the school announces. Juniors and sophomores will take the test later.

The skin test will be followed by an x-ray examination for those reacting. Both tests are sponsored by the Michigan Tuberculosis association and will be administered by local doctors, F. Morse Cooke, principal of the high school, states.

In six months, Theodore J. Werle, secretary of the association, said more than 200 cases of primary tuberculosis infection have been revealed on X-ray films taken with the portable X-ray equipment of the Michigan Tuberculosis association.

Teaching forty members, the association, with the cooperation of various county health departments, has X-rayed 11,726 residents of the state in the past six months. Mr. Werle reported, "Of the 1,526 films which have already been interpreted by tuberculosis specialists, 204 revealed the childhood type of the disease, a primary infection of tuberculosis, germ. This stage can be kept from a further development with a few health precautions."

Almost impossible to detect without X-ray is early tuberculosis, Mr. Werle explained. Not only is the early stage, in well advanced cases, but the tubercle bacillus gives false warning of its presence, as pointed out.

Most important in combating tuberculosis is the discovery of the disease in its beginning stages. Every case found early means a better chance of curing the disease, Mr. Werle emphasized.

One State Tuberculosis center has organized a personal approach with plans to teach correct diet and habits.

That, believe it or not, is the advice that used to be given to State students and East Lansingites when they left for Lansing before the turn of the century, according to stories told by James O. Taylor in his book, "History of East Lansing, Town, one of the earliest residents in the city, lived in Berkeley, California, at the time his book was prepared for use in 1912.

Grand River avenue, the center of the city, was a main thoroughfare, connecting a series of small scattered farms, the main link of the Red Deer river.

Only in 1941 was Lansing recognized on a map under the name of Grand River Road. Park parking was completed in 1912 under the auspices of the Lansing Central Public Road company, which surfaced the entire road from Lansing to Howell.

Each station erected at four to six mile intervals, were authorized to collect fees from travelers. It was the custom for both state and federal tax collectors to attempt to run the gates after daylight.

Early Agnes who lived in the city, girls at M. C. G. A. Female Seminary, a private school located at the present site of the school for the blind, took great delight in driving past the very well-tended.

After a few years, the oak planks began to rot and the lower rails, and were gradually replaced by gravel. In 1880, all remaining planks were removed, and the station was abandoned.

Although Lansing Central Park Road company was chartered to lay other plans, funds contributed only the original one from Lansing to Howell.

Annual early road travel was conducted only the original one from Lansing to Howell.

Track Squad Eyes Albion Invitational

In what proved to be nothing more than a warmup for its participation in the Albion College invitational tomorrow and Saturday, East Lansing high school track team smothered Eaton Rapids on the college track yesterday, 87 1/2 to 67 1/2.

The Trojans monopolized every event with the exception of the pole vault and the shot put in their march to a second consecutive decisive victory in as many.

Whatever glory Eaton Rapids gained came in the two field events through a tie for the top place in the pole vault and an outright victory in the shot put in the pole vault.

East Lansing' slammed two events, the high hurdles and half-mile in addition to finishing one-two in seven others. The one-ness occurred despite Coach L. C. Adams' loss to the most part of second stringers.

Kim Mead, East Lansing state champion sprinter, was kept out of the games yesterday, opening only in the 50-yard relay. He managed the quarter in an early triumph in the good time of 1:31.4. Mead, Mead, Dodge, Graham and Morris took the relay.

In starting the high hurdles, East Lansing sent Freeman across the line winner in 1:12 seconds with Shary and Dodge right on his heels. Mead, on the Trojan team, was in the middle.

Honor System CURRICULUM

(Continued from page 1) According to the returns on the questionnaire, the difficulty of reporting "sneaking" may be overcome by introduction of a pledge course to have neither given, or received help on this exam. Students state that they would feel themselves bound to such a pledge.

As to the form of government or judging of this system, the plan of a mixed jury of students and faculty with a majority of students is favored.

This tabulation is not complete. It includes only about one-third of the questions.

These meetings are open to all students who may wish to attend although the freshmen and sophomores have more problems to discuss the material presented is of interest to any man or woman student considering the profession.
