Victory Rally Slated For Tomorrow

Pep Meeting, Fire, Street Dance On Pre-Game Program

As a result of the freshman pep meeting called last night by the Student Council a pep meeting, victory fire and street dance will be held tomorrow night, it was announced by Sam Yeiter, head cheer leader.

Meeting in front of the gym at 8 p. m. the entire student body will take part in a mass pep meeting. At 8:30 the crowd will proceed in the form of a parade to the parade field north of the tennis courts. There the pep meeting and dance will be held in front of the gym.

Today's Campus

The rains came Monday night, one faculty member, even though the weather was clear and bright.

During the informal mixer between inmates of Wells and Mason halls, Dr. L. J. Laker, resident advisor of Mason, ventured aside to pour a little oil on the turbulent situation.

Some enthusiastic Mason resident seeing the surging Wells crowd below, but not recognizing Laker, filled his waste basket with water and hurled the contents out of the window. Laker suffered the full benefit of the misguided attempt.

Do-o-h-h! "Do you smoke cigars?" inquired Elmer White of Frosh Jim White. (Jim lives in the same house with White.)

"Oh sure, I smoke lots of 'em," Jim replied. (Jim probably never smoked a cigar in his life.) "Then have one," said White. (Jim was cornered, so he took it.)

Twenty minutes later White and Larry Myers carried Jim to his room and gently laid him on the bed. The cigar that gave Bill queer notions inside was one White pilfered from Len Westrate, editor of this issue of the State News, the married Bunny Barlow last Saturday.)

Car's End Around Nearly Takes Pearce Out

Eddie Pearce, star right half-back on the varsity football squad, escaped injury early last night when the auto in which he was riding overturned in a collision with another car at the corner of Michigan avenue and Clifford street.

Driver of the car, Joseph Gerard, Mason hall, suffered minor bruises. He was admitted to the college hospital for a checkup, but was immediately released.

Traveling west on Michigan, Gerard's car was struck in the rear tender by a car driven by Sam Thuma, 705 Downer street, Lansing. Occupants of Thuma's car, which was headed north on Clifford, escaped without injury.

Landscaping Of Campus in Full Swing

In addition to many new buildings which have been added to the campus in the past year or are in the process of erection, there are several landscaping projects, prepared and directed by Mr. T. G. Phillips, Detroit landscape architect and State alumnus, which will be completed in the near future.

Mr. Clary, landscape foreman of the Building and Grounds department, estimates that nearly four thousand feet of new sidewalks have been added. There is now a walk between the Veterinary and Anatomy buildings, about fifteen hundred feet of walk in front of new Abbot hall, and a long stretch of concrete from Farm Lane just south of the Veterinary building to Mason hall, following the route of the new road.

Grading and seeding about Abbot hall have been completed and shrubs and trees will be set out soon. Between Abbot and Mason halls, on the north side, there is to be a garden surrounded by hedges with a flagstone walk and stone seats.

Winners of the Spartan World's Fair contest were announced yesterday, by George Cape, manager, with first prize being won by Bob Cook, Applied Science sophomore.

Having sold the greatest number of subscriptions to the Spartan, Cook will receive a free trip to the New York World's Fair via the American Airlines. His trip will include transportation, hotel, meals, and a ticket to the Fair. He will leave October 21.

Other winners and their prizes were: Sally Denman, Applied Science junior, choice of a dress featured by the Style Shop; Bob Riordan, Liberal Arts senior, radio; Janice Murdoch, Home Economics sophomore, cocktail table; Anne Hamilton, Applied Science sophomore, stationary.

There was a three-way tie for sixth prize, large caricatures in wood by Ozz Warbach, among Margaret Landan, Virginia Hansen, and Bob Gay. The latter three will be given an additional three days of subscription sales before final winner will be chosen.

Faculty Meets To Discuss Student Problems, Policy

Michigan State college faculty went to school last night in the Union ballroom to discuss college policy and student problems and their relationship to the faculty.

First speaker was Fred T. Mitchell, dean of men, who discussed brief problems of freshman orientation, and of men students. Elisabeth Conrad, dean of women, explained the big sister system and problems of adjustment of women students to college life.

Dr. C. F. Holland described improvements in the new hospital and the wider range of service which is now available to students free of charge.

CHAIRMAN REPORTS Prof. J. W. Stack, chairman of faculty advisers, reported on the activities of the 175 faculty advisers of freshman and sophomore students.

John A. Hannah, college secretary, told of the building program at Michigan State. "Enrollment at Michigan State has increased 100 per cent in the last five years," he said. "This has necessitated a 60 per cent increase in faculty during the same length of time."

"This tremendous increase in enrollment has resulted in the building program not because we wanted to do so, but because we had to."

FINANCING EXPLAINED Hannah explained the financing of each of the new buildings which have risen on the campus in the last eight years. Mary Mayo and Sarah Williams, girls' dormitories, and Mason hall, men's dorm, were not financed through governmental agencies, contrary to common belief, Mr. Hannah stated.

President Shaw, in his brief address, reviewed Michigan State's future policy in regard to student-faculty relations when he stated that "from now on, expansion by land purchases is a thing of the past. Our job now is greater efficiency and care in education."

Student Opinion at U of M Predicts Grid Victory

By Perry Tenny

Now that the plans for the State game rally and riot are well under way, and the band is beginning to get itself all tied up in knots trying to look like a Billy Rose spectacle, feeling and spirit are getting very verbal about the coming football season. Getting people to talk is as hard as giving away free cigarettes.

In fact, school spirit is running so high in "bull sessions" that the outcome of the game this weekend seems as inevitable to local partisans as the riot for the night before. Here is what a few of them have to say.

Tom Harmon, 40, Gary (you know Tom). "With the break we will take State and have a very successful season."

Bob Ferris, 40, Houghton. "Michigan will start an undefeated season by rolling over State by three touchdowns. If it were not for the easy schedule we would be national champions."

Elisabeth Conrad, dean of women, explained the big sister system and problems of adjustment of women students to college life. Dr. C. F. Holland described improvements in the new hospital and the wider range of service which is now available to students free of charge.

Coed Carnival Has Cruise Theme

15 Organizations Make Plans For World Tour Oct. 11

From the southern part of the United States around the world and back to Hollywood on the SS. A. W. S.—that's the route of the tour which Michigan State women will take at the Co-ed carnival, October 11, in the ballroom of Demonstration hall.

Fifteen organizations whose membership is open to women will carry out the cruise theme in their booths. The State News will issue passports and send out inquiring reporters among the cruise passengers, and Wolverine representatives are providing pictures for the passports.

TO VISIT SOUTH Before the boat leaves, members of the cruise will visit the southern part of the United States, as depicted by the Y. W. C. A. Other organizations and the countries they represent include: Green Splash, Hawaii; Semitar, France; Theta Alpha Phi, England; S. W. L. Greece; Orchesis, Cuba; Campus 4-H, Student Grange, Athens, Norway and Sweden; Spartan, a party in Hollywood.

MEMBERSHIP BOOTH To prevent congestion, women will sign up for membership in the various organizations at a special booth. Previously, students registered at the individual exhibits.

Betty Stauffer is general chairman of the co-ed carnival. Committee chairmen include: Marian Pugsley, contact; Helen Basler, business; Eloise Crell, arrangements.

Club Promises New and Early Directory

Early publication of the college student and faculty directory, published by N. W. S., professional journalism fraternity, was announced yesterday by Len Westrate, president of the organization.

A staff appointed last spring term, headed by Robert Riordan as editor and Jack Sinclair as business manager, has been doing preliminary work during the summer.

Several changes are being made in this year's directory. The size is being increased slightly less than an inch to make the book 5 by 7 inches.

Accuracy of the highest possible degree is assured in this year's directory, as names and other information are being prepared by the college tabulating department on the same machines used in registration.

A new course code of numbers instead of division abbreviations will be used this year, to conform with official usage adopted since the new tabulating equipment was put in use.

Student Club Plans Gridiron Party

A gridiron pow-wow preceding the Michigan game will be sponsored by the Student Club Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the student parlors of the Peoples Church.

Spirit May Decide Outcome of Grid Fray Saturday

Wolves Have Backfield Advantage

By SNELDON MOYER

Aggressiveness and spirit will be the deciding factors when Michigan State and Michigan hook up in their annual grid spectacle Saturday at Ann Arbor.

On paper the Wolverines and the Spartans appear to have equal strength in their forward walls, but the Michigan backfield holds a decided edge in power.

The only way that the Spartan ball carriers will be able to contract this margin is by playing inspired football. Possibly this inspiration will have to come from an outside force, but when and if it does come, the real battle will be on.

Game Sales Hold Level

Structure of 'M' Stadium Limits Good Seats

With two days to go, ticket sales for the State-Michigan football game next Saturday are holding even with that of last year.

As has been the practice in the past, Michigan State has been allotted 18,000 tickets for distribution in this section. The college receives all seats on the east side of the Michigan stadium one way from the 50-yard line to the end.

Band to Parade at U. of M. Game

State's 100-piece military band is drilling every afternoon this week preparing its program for Saturday's Ann Arbor game.

Although he declined to describe any of the band's proposed formations for the game, Leonard Falcone, director of the band, said yesterday, "The band will do its part during the half."

Deprived for the week of the duties of Major Mark Doty, drillmaster, the band's formations are being prepared under the supervision of Mr. Falcone and Eldon Rosegrant, drum major. Major Doty is expected back on the job next week.

Before the game, State's band will combine with the band of the University of Michigan for the playing of the national anthem at flag raising ceremonies.

Under the Wire

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Vincenzo Bellini's words of continued opposition to Adolf Hitler were re-echoed in the French House of Deputies today when Premier Daladier insisted that "France cannot have lasting peace until the threats of past several years are removed."

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Adolf Hitler will propose a peace offering to the Allied forces when he addresses the Reichstag Friday.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Heavy movements of men and artillery are being made toward the Western Front where German troops will halber the fortified line. Long tank convoys are moving westward from all parts of Germany, it is reported.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today: "Arrangements will be made to keep their activities outside the national limits as set up by countries of North and South America."

Too Much Play . . .

In recent nights the class of '39 has been having a great time in serenading the dormitories and marching down the streets of this city and raising a general rumpus. Apparently the frosh are oblivious to study habits.

Too, only three weeks remain before mid-terms. That is the time every year when freshmen are forced to leave school because of inferior work. Consensus of opinion among upperclassmen shows that the first six weeks of freshman year are the most difficult. The reason for this is simple. During the first term every freshman has to make adjustments to his new surroundings.

Here, the student finds no instructor chasing him when he does not get his work in on time as his old high school teacher did. Unless the frosh takes the initiative to ask his instructors in regards to his progress, six weeks may pass without the student knowing his status.

Many freshmen are for the first time out on their own. No parental domination, no close watching, and no one to make their decisions. The young men may feel their freedom is too much to control but it is well to remember that pride goeth before the fall. And fall they will if the frosh do not study.

Some freshmen say "it is too difficult to acquire the right study habits," others say "I want to study but don't seem to have the will power." But this is all the more reason why the freshmen should study hard. It is far more important to settle down and obtain good marks; after all this is the prime purpose of coming to State.

So, if the freshmen find themselves having difficulty to study, the thing to do is not to go out singing and shouting but dig in and stay at the books.

Remember mid-terms make or break hundreds of freshmen every year.

SIGMA NU—

Brothers will attend a big reunion at the Sigma Nu house in Ann Arbor Saturday before and after the State-Michigan game.

Johnny Pingel, alum, and Howey Weiss, of the Detroit Lions, visited the house this week between practice games.

ALPHA PHI—

Another one for the books—Carter Gould is now wearing Jack Dodd's Kappa Sig pin—it all happened last Saturday night.

Barbara Smith, who is now teaching in Dearborn high school, was here for the week-end.

Gordon Adams, Jim Church, Norwood Hubbell, Al Trager, and Pete Van Valien were formally initiated Sunday.

It was old home week-end at the Hespie house when alums Jack Hutton, Johnny Brown, Johnny Cook, Dick Phillips, Cort Cromwell, Bob Refor, Dick Power, and B. D. Eames all came back for the Wayne game.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA—

Bev Bendall was married last Saturday to Phi Delt Don Harmer.

Alums back for the week-end were Carmen Mains, now a teacher in Grand Rapids, Ann Green, who will soon be enrolled at Wayne to take graduate work, and Mrs. Dorothy Taylor Graff.

PHI CHI ALPHA—

Tony Buser is grooming the house football team for a stiff campaign this fall.

Patrons for the radio party Friday night will be Dr. and Mrs. H. Darlington, Prof. and Mrs. C. S. Wilson, and Prof. and Mrs. Donald Cation.

ALPHA OMICRON PI—

Nancy Brown, chapter president, is still talking about the A. O. P. national convention which she attended in Pasadena, Calif., last week.

Dorothy Pickett, former Pan-Hellenic president, became Mrs. Ray Suchner on June 23 in Detroit and many of the Detroit sisters attended the reception.

Betty McCrea, Janet Englehardt, and Annabelle Pink were initiated last week.

Gerry Keelin, who recently received a diamond from Everett Acker, is beginning her internship as assistant dietitian at Grasslands Memorial hospital in Valhalla, N. Y.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA—

George Des Jardines, who is teaching school in Flint, and Bruce Pepper, who is a member of the Marshall high school faculty, were back for the week-end.

Eleanor Cram and Jane Hagen have brand new Hespie pins from Johnny Brown and Ted Caldwell.

SIGMA KAPPA

Mrs. Bernard Donnelly, traveling secretary of the Sigma Kappa sorority, is visiting the Alpha Tau chapter on October 4, 5 and 6. The purpose of her visit is to incorporate results of the fifth international convention of the Sigma Kappas into use in active and alumnae chapters.

She will be present at the initiation of Betty Jo Driver, Midland, and Miriam Phelps, Grosse Pointe, both sophomores. Mrs. Donnelly is from Berkeley, California.

College Bulletin

Notice: Bulletins to be included in this column or "Campus Calendar" may be brought or phoned into the State News office before noon of the day preceding publication.

All football ushers are to meet in the lecture room of the gym Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 5 p. m.

Registrar's office requests that all students who did not know their addresses and telephone numbers when registering, or who have changed them since registration report to the registrar's office at once for inclusion in the Student Directory.

Coach of TCU Says Pass Is Safest

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—The football pass is less dangerous and treacherous than ground plays, in the opinion of L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, coach of the undefeated 1938 football team at Texas Christian University.

In most parts of the southwest, Meyer said today in an article in the Saturday Evening Post, the pass is a normal part of the offense "not a dangerous maneuver to be used sparingly and in faint hope," and he backs that up with the figures that in 1938 the Frogs passed 229 times and in 11 games lost the ball only seven times by interception, but 17 times by fumbles.

"Throughout 1938 pass plays were the safest thing we tried," Meyer says in the article.

"Only two things are necessary to unhinder the bombers: One is to have a team on the field. The other is to have possession of the leather anywhere on the field.

"Mind you I do not contend that a team can get out there and play catch all afternoon. Many an enemy outfit, with a fast and smart defense, will have you eating passes before quitting time if you can't do anything but peg to second base."

Voices Out of Dorm Rooms

MASON HALL—

Charles Austin, one of last year's precinct four boys, plighted his troth September 9 to a Benton Harbor nurse, Helen Ann Hagenbarth. Two days after the wedding Charlie began work at his new job as an assistant sales analyst for the Kellogg company.

Arthur Bond, Charlie's Mason hall roommate, is working as graduate assistant in the University of Michigan chemistry department this year.

Also at the University this year is Jim Davis, counsellor of precinct five last year, as well as president of Union board. Jim's specialty is law.

Another of last year's Mason counsellors, Bill Hasselback, is taking an army post in Puerto Rico.

MSC Bulletins Go to Other Nations

To many foreign countries go the pamphlets and bulletins that may be found in the bulletin room located in the basement of Agriculture hall.

This room has proved helpful to freshmen and upperclassmen since it contains stacks of pamphlets and bulletins on such subjects as agriculture, fruit farming, machinery, insecticides, community relationships of rural families, housing facilities, making rugs, reseating chairs, how to buy horses, supplies and methods of the modern laundry, leisure time activities and other topics.

With the exception of a few special works to which a small charge is attached, all material is available without cost to any student seeking information.

Plan to Augment Union Cafeteria Service Announced

Dining Room Adjunct May Be Installed To Alleviate Crush

Double Serving Line Also Proposed

By Marjorie Alkire

As an almost direct answer to the State News' editorial of last week on the problem of outsiders in the Union cafeteria came the announcement yesterday by Miss Katherine Hart, cafeteria manager, that a service dining room is expected to be put into operation on the second floor of the Union building some time next month.

The State News yesterday asked Miss Hart to reply to the editorial which condemned the practice of allowing outsiders to eat in the cafeteria and thus overcrowding the room that students must wait from 30 to 35 minutes before being served.

Miss Hart admitted the inadequacy of the present cafeteria facilities and stated the Union building is a student union and that students should be given preference. Food is served to students at a low cost, she explained, but outsiders are charged somewhat more than netting a profit which is turned back into the business to the benefit of students.

Whether or not the practice of admitting outsiders is continued in view of present conditions is up to the Union council, policy-making body for the Union, composed of Secretary John Hannah, Comptroller C. O. Wilkins, Deans Fred Mitchell, Elizabeth Conrad, and Miss Doe, and Union manager Bernard Prolix.

The ideal solution to the problem would be the expansion of the cafeteria quarters to include a double serving line, Miss Hart added. The anticipated new service dining room in the main dining room of the Union is, however, expected to relieve the situation for the present.

The new dining room would be open to both students and faculty. At present it would be operated only at noon, but service might be extended to the dinner hour also if the plan worked successfully. Food would be the same as that served in the cafeteria and a service charge of a few cents would be added to the price of the meal.

Union Manager Prolix stated that as soon as the new plan is approved by college officials equipment will be purchased preparatory to the opening of the dining room.

Band to Make Debut Friday

East Lansing high school's 30-piece band will make its initial appearance as a marching unit Friday afternoon when it takes the field between halves of the East Lansing-Albion football game.

The band, directed by Miss Frances Ayres, has been drilled for the occasion by Elton Rosegart, drum major of the Michigan State college band.

The band was organized several years ago as a musical group, and its marching debut Friday will mark another "first" in the high school's history.

New uniforms have been provided for the band out of receipts from an alumni orchestra concert held last winter.

Booklet of New Traffic Laws Is Ready

"What Every Driver Must Know," a booklet telling in brief form the many changes in the traffic law which went into effect Friday, is now ready for distribution by Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state.

Thousands of letters are pouring into the Department of State asking for information regarding the new traffic laws.

To expedite the handling of this correspondence, all departments of the Motor Vehicle Division have gone on double schedule and the mailing division is now handling over 10,000 outgoing letters a day.

You may secure one of these booklets, "What Every Driver Must Know," by sending a card or letter to Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, Lansing.

Contract Let For Yearbook

Franklin De-Kleine company of Lansing was awarded the printing contract for the 1940 Wolverine, Elmer E. Wolfe, editor, said yesterday. This completes letting of contracts for this year's book.

The Lansing firm has printed two Wolverines in the past, the more recent in 1933. The 1940 book will be printed in two colors, in addition to black. The cover will be silver or copper plated, White said. Printing will start early in January.

The cover contract has been awarded to the David J. Molloy plant of S. K. Smith Company, Chicago. Engravings for the book will be made by the Indianapolis Engraving company, Indianapolis. Both of these firms had the same contracts for the 1939 yearbook.

A new photographer to take individual class pictures and organization photos has been signed for this year. Crane photo-graphers of Detroit is the new firm.

Taking of pictures will begin October 16. The residence at 344 Evergreen has been remodeled and will be used by the Crane company for a Wolverine photographic studio.

Student is Fined For Speeding

David A. Guyon, Mason hall, was arrested by East Lansing police early yesterday afternoon for speeding.

Guyon, according to the police report, was traveling east on East Grand River avenue between Charles and Hallett streets, a 35-mile per hour zone, at the rate of 60 miles per hour. He pleaded guilty before Justice Whittemore of East Lansing, and paid a fine of $15 and costs.

Since the first of the month, 14 arrests have been made by East Lansing police on speeding charges. Chief Harold Haun warned speeders today that more drastic measures would have to be taken if the current wave does not subside immediately.

Women's Society Holds Coffee

Norwegian atmosphere prevailed at Peoples church Wednesday when the Contributor's group of the Women's society held their semi-annual meeting. Mrs. H. J. Stateth, dressed in the national costume of Norway, poured Norwegian coffee at a table decorated to resemble a miniature Norwegian landscape.

Mrs. Orion Ulrey, who spent a year ago last summer traveling in Norway and their costumes, Norwegian music was offered by Mrs. Edward H. Graper.

Acting as chairman of the event was Mrs. U. Brooks Williams, assisted by Mrs. Stateth and Miss Margaret Beaumont.

Albion Meets East Lansing In Conference Opener

A formidable Albion eleven invades East Lansing tomorrow afternoon to square off with the Trojans in the initial Twin Valley conference tilt for both teams in the 1939 season.

Leading the Albion aggregation to the local gridiron is Paul Moon, a hard runner and accurate drop-kicker. In the Michigan Center game last Friday, Moon's kicks split the uprights for two field goals in the 32 to 0 Albion victory. During this clash, the Albion first team remained in the game only a fraction of the third period. Besides Moon, Albion boasts three other dangerous ball-carriers. On the line, the identical forward wall that was instrumental in holding the Trojans to a 13 to 13 tie last year makes another appearance.

As to the Trojan line of attack, Coach Cuddy Shaver was silent. Throughout the week, Shaver has been drilling his charges on defense and smoothing the defects which appeared in the scrimmages.

"An East Lansing victory," declared the Blue and White mentor, "will depend largely on the ability of our boys to put up a stiff defense. However, when the right moment arrives, we'll have something that'll rock Albion on their heels."

News of the good and bad variety arrived from the East Lansing camp early this week. Bill Helbrook, regular tackle, became the Trojans' first casualty of the season Tuesday afternoon. While charging a blocking sled, Helbrook split his right ear to the extent of several stitches. It is doubtful if he will be ready for Friday.

On the bright side, Jack Kobs reported for practice Monday to bolster the right halfback post which has been weak all season. Kobs, a junior, has been on the squad for two years.

Library Group Plans Training

East Lansing high school's library club will again this year aid students in library problems.

The club meets alternate Wednesday to discuss any problems that the students have concerning their work and any suggestions they may have concerning the methods or materials used in the library.

Each member of the club gets practical experience in library work. They are taught to classify and catalogue books, to use the card catalogue, and to care for and mend books.

Members for this year are Lois Ann Watkins, Marcia Jane Stanford, Susan Moore, Betsy Rosecrans, Neva Longnecker, Vera Pennington, Barbara Lee Amundson, Shirley Ann White, Emily Hiller, Helen Muncie, Jayne Van Alstyne, Bob Cardwell and Jane Scammon, Librarian and club adviser is Miss Dooley.

Duties of each member is to assist students in finding books, checking books in and out, filing, taking care of magazine and shelves and giving information on library conditions. Each member spends two to three hours a week in the library.

Wolverines Round Out Drills For Saturday's Battle

Michigan Coaches Forced to Fight Over-Confidence

By BOB HATTON

Michigan's supposedly mighty grid machine is looking on the State game as a breather this year, according to reports from the Wolverine camp.

In spite of Coach Fritz Crisler's efforts to fight off the stigma of over-confidence, the Maize and Blue gridders seem to be fairly certain of victory over the inexperienced Spartan outfit.

With the story of the Wayne game in their minds the Wolves cannot help but believe that State is not the State of old.

Nevertheless Michigan coaches know that the Spartan line is not to be sneered at and are fearful that perhaps even if the State offense fails to click that maybe the Michigan attack isn't going anywhere against the Green and White forward wall.

HARMON NEEDS DRILL

Next to over-confidence, the greatest problem that is hampering Crisler is the weakness of pass defense on his squad. One of the most glaring offenders is All-American contender Tom Harmon, who is so fast that he overruns the receiver in attempting to beat down passes.

Sophomore Fullback Bob Westfall also looks bad on aerial defense and Crisler has used sophomore Don Zimmerman and junior Ed Christy in the fullback slot this week in an effort to correct this weakness.

Biggest blow to Wolverine supporters Wednesday was the announcement that Halback Fred Trosko was ineligible and would be unable to play in Saturday's game unless he could complete some work in psychology before game time.

Trosko, former All-State back at Flint Northern, ranked third among Michigan's halfbacks.

Crisler's plans now call for starting an all-veteran eleven with the backfield composed of Harmon and Kromer at the halves, Evashevski at quarter, and Christy at full. Nicholson and Frutig will probably hold down the flank positions with Smith and Savilla at tackles, Fritz and Olds at guards and Archie Kodros at center.

Harmon's Mate

Paul Kromer will team with Tom Harmon at the halfback posts for Michigan Saturday. Kromer was a thorn in State's side last year.

Netters Enter Third Round

Michigan State's all-college tennis tournament will go into the third round Friday with 16 contestants still battling for the crown.

Second round play is to be completed tonight. Already in the third round brackets at the end of Wednesday's play were 11 of the original 64 entries. They are Morris Drilling, John Porteous, Vincent Whitney, Rowland Leutzinger, Alton Hoover, Bill Maxwell, Don Hine, Len Gardner, Irv Davidson, Ken Merzalk, and Frank Beeman.

Chet Olson, varsity tennis star, is in charge of the tourney which is slated to be completed late next week.

Side by side with the net battles is State's all-college golf tournament, run by varsity linksman Stan Kowal.

The entry list closed Tuesday with 46 contestants on file. The next few days will be reserved for qualifying rounds over the Lansing Grosseck course. Sixteen low qualifiers will arise from the entire group to compete in championship match play.

Dorm Gridders Fight It Out

The Dorm league got into its third series of games last night with three exciting contests. A great deal of ability in passing and running was exhibited during the night.

The Mason Four team outmaneuvered the Abbot Thirtens with a smashing 13 point splurge in the first two quarters. It was an easy victory from there on in. The Abbot men came close to scoring, but were stopped by the superior Mason.

A close game was witnessed between the Mason Six and Wells 17 teams. Up to the fourth period not a single point was scored. On a long pass Key Hemming, physical Ed major for the Masons, intercepted the ball and made a brilliant run for the only and deciding score. The extra point was missed and the final count was 6-0.

FOOTBALL

Croschwaite's punting has been surpassed only by that of Stan McRae, towering end, whose long spiraling kicks have been nothing short of sensational.

The Spartans polished off their running attack with a light scrimmage yesterday. Today they will concentrate on a defense against the Wolverines' passing attack.

Three veteran linemen watched the workout from the sidelines. Ron Alling, stellar center, was not in uniform because of a knee injury sustained in the Wayne game. Ralph Bennett was nursing a bad ankle and George Handler was resting a strained shoulder. Alling is a doubtful starter, while the latter two are expected to be ready for action today.

Several other members of the squad including Casey Klewick and Wyman Davis were bothered by slight leg injuries, but participated in the practice session.

LEAVE FRIDAY

Two more workouts will be held here before the Spartans depart for Dearborn Inn Friday evening. State officials have revived the old practice of taking the squad out of town on the eve of the battle with the Wolverine because of the rowdy road conditions which have been present in recent years.

Coach Charley Bachman will take a squad of 55 players for the game. After spending the night at Dearborn Inn, they will leave for Ann Arbor shortly before game time.

The Breaks, The Breaks, We Need The Breaks

Mr. McOrie Crashes Thru With Another Exclusive Interview

By Henry McOrie

"If we get the breaks of the game and the breaks of the game aren't against us, we'll give State a real battle—if our sophomores and our veterans, and the officials are in shape, and the breaks of the game are with us.

"In fact, I think we might beat State again this year—providing of course State doesn't beat us—if our veterans and our new men really produce and the breaks of the game come our way. It all depends on the breaks of the game.

"In fact I don't care to go out on a limb this early in the week and say anything at all. I have no opinion whatsoever on the outcome.

GET THE IDEA?

"Although I don't mind pointing out that with the breaks of the game it will be anyone's game, with one of us having an edge—providing the experienced players and the newcomers come through."

These were the challenging words of Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan coach, when I interviewed him yesterday. Of course these were not his exact words, he told me much of the record that couldn't be printed, but the meat of a written statement I secured by breaking into his house—and holding his blotters up to the mirror.

But challenging words they were indeed. Challenging to the fighting spirit of the Spartans, challenging to that old go-in-and-eat-'em-up-State attitude, challenging to any attempt to get any common sense from them.

I interviewed Crisler as he sat in the front seat of his beige sedan ten miles south of Ann Arbor in an abandoned cemetery. The Michigan squad was in the luggage compartment holding secret signal drill.

Coach Crisler smiled pleasantly at me through his sun glasses as I questioned him.

"What shift are you using this year, Coach?" I asked again. "I tromped heavily on the portion of Evashevski that was protruding from the luggage compartment.

"The gear shift, of course," replied Crisler, throwing it into high in an attempt to dislodge me from the roof.

I coughed heavily. "I was referring to football, Mr. Crisler." I pointed out with deep sarcasm. "Will you use the Warner system, the Notre Dame system, or the old Michigan system?"

AN OLD SMOOTHIE

Again Crisler smiled. He pointed to the name on the dashboard. "We'll use the Chrysler system, of course. It has a smooth pick-up, plenty of speed, the power to pass, and a quick getaway. And it's only $690.70 a Flint."

Desparingly, I tried again. "How's your line this year?"

The coach smiled quietly. "Mrs. Crisler has put up with it for twenty years. But we're having trouble with the guards and if you'll step around in front of the car I'll tell you about it."

"Which guards?" I questioned eagerly.

"The midguards," roared Fritz, nearly choking with laughter. Then he gave her the gun and roared away.

As they went past, Fielding Yost stuck his head out of the back window and tossed me a fifty-cent piece. "Here's half a buck for your ride home, son," he waved gaily.

Not to be outdone, I picked up Evashevski, who had dropped out of the luggage compartment, and threw him after the disappearing automobile.

"And here's your quarterback, Mr. Yost."
