MSC Student Wins Essay Contest

John Thomas First State Man to Win Livestock Award

Outstanding honor to a Michigan State college sophomore from Dowagiac, John M. Thomas, colors the announcement of Chicago that his livestock essay submitted in competition with 116 others from 13 colleges obtained the top or first medal rating. Title of his work is "Livestock as a Factor in the Solution of the Farmers' New Labor Problem."

Seven Fined On Larceny Charges

Arrest of seven Michigan State college students on charges of simple larceny committed against Yuletide decorations was announced by Police Chief Harold Haun yesterday.

Ron J. Nugent, 20, soph; Arland H. Decker, 18, soph; Richard J. Wooley, 17, frosh; Francis B. Kubeck, 18, frosh; Robert G. Young, 19, soph; Robert R. Finch, 18, soph; and George G. Schuler, 19, all of the third floor of Mason hall, pleaded guilty before Judge S. G. Whittemore and were fined $20 and costs of $3.20 each.

Today's Campus

Paradise Renamed

During a discussion of Milton's "Paradise Lost," C. G. Fulkerson, assistant professor of English, asked Robert Boyd to describe Hell. "Like a flash, Boyd responded, 'It looked like hell.'"

Second Down!

Eighteen times out of 20 is a football record, especially when the record refers to years. That record set by Jack Heppner, captain of Michigan State football team, each year for 20 years. Heppner was injured at his senior year and missed a game. He had failed only once. Last night his record was spoiled by the second time. He gave his opponent but not at his home because of the illness of his wife.

Student Club Party to Feature 'Jingle Bells'

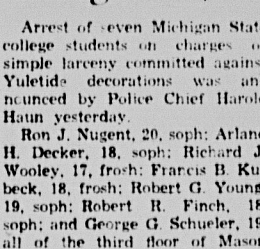

Student club party Friday, December 8, will feature a "Jingle Bells" theme. It will be held in the Student Parlors beginning at 7:30 p. m. Each guest is requested to bring a "white elephant" gift, well wrapped and with a four-line note attached. Gifts will be placed on the Christmas tree. Donald Farmer will be in charge of arrangements.

NWS to Present Editor at Open House Tonight

Thomas Baird, state editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, will speak before the annual N.W.S. open house tonight at 7:30. The meeting will be held in room 108, Union annex, and will be open to all college students. Refreshments will be served.

Coming from the South Bend Chronicle in 1936, Baird has served as state editor of the Herald for the past three years. Previously he edited several smaller Michigan daily papers and a magazine sponsored by a Detroit firm.

Looking In On Grid Croix-de-Guerre

Jean Bedford, Elton, left, and Rosemary Lee, Linsburg, right, Economic seniors and two of Michigan State's most outstanding women students, look on as Glen Stewart, center, alumni secretary and chairman of the 20th annual football banquet, admires the gold watch to be awarded to the most valuable football player of the 1939 season. Sixth girls are prominent in campus activities, and are members of Mortar Board, women's service honorarium, of which Miss Lee is president.

Governor Will Make Most Valuable Player Award

Michigan State college's most valuable football player for 1939 will be named when Gov. Luren Dickinson opens a sealed envelope at the 20th annual football banquet Saturday at 6 p. m. in the men's gymnasium. A Gruen watch will be the presentation of Croix de Guerre for American achievement which the governor will make.

MSC Orators To Compete

College oratorical contests will be held this week in the historical lecture room, the women's contest at 7:30 p. m. Thursday and the men's contest at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Speakers in the women's oratorical contest will be Chetels Raymond, Anita Skere, Charlotte Whitten, Jean Fietland, Kathryn Weygan, and Mary Elton Child.

Scherma Scott To Meet Tonight

Twenty-five coeds will compete in a fencing tournament in the dance studio at 7:30 p. m. today, according to Ruth Jubb, fencing manager. There will be two meets, one for beginners, and one for the active members of Scherma Scott.

Club Will Discuss Snow Train Trip

With the aim of arousing interest in winter sports and the running of a snow train to Grayling, members of the M.S.C. Outing club will meet in room 130 Morrill hall at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Council Sets Up Forensic Board

Seven Members To Administer Fund From Student Fees

A seven-man board was set up by Student Council at a special meeting late yesterday to control the student-financed forensic fund. The board was formed at request of Pi Kappa Delta, speech honorary.

Four students and three faculty members will compose the board. One faculty member will represent activities of debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking, and one student member and one student will represent activities of prose and poetry reading, discussion groups, speakers' bureau, and radio.

SPEECH HEAD INCLUDED

Also included on the board are head of the speech department, president of Pi Kappa Delta, Student Council president, and another representative from Student Council.

Council's action provided that president of Student Council will serve as chairman of the new board, and head of the speech department will issue all requisitions on the forensic fund, in accordance with policies determined by the board.

The new board was voted to go into operation at the beginning of winter term.

Peace Group To Sponsor Lecture

"They Die in Vain" will be the subject of the second lecture sponsored by United Students Peace Committee when Dorrel Brady, world traveler and lecturer, appears tonight at 7:30 in the auditorium of the music building.

Crops Judger Places High

Ben Westrate, senior agriculture student from Cooperville, scored fifth highest in the international crops contest held in conjunction with the International Livestock show in Chicago last week.

Matrix to Add New Members

Matrix, women's journalism honorary, will initiate nine pledges in a candlelight ceremony at 7 p. m. today in organization room 1 of the Union. Lottie Lee Lawson, Roberta Applegate, and Louisa Hueston are in charge of arrangements.

Knavery Is Hand-me-down From Medieval Ancestors

Coming Santa Clauses and reindeer and such trival things as football brawls and river dousings are not recent inventions of the 20th century college frat. In fact—similar tactics were a very common occurrence in the Latin Quarter of Paris University 700 years before Michigan State college campus had Mason hall insects instead of swamp mosquitoes.

Club Will Discuss Snow Train Trip

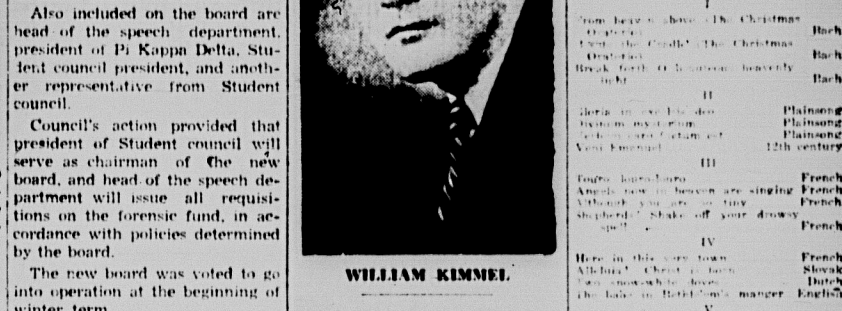

With the aim of arousing interest in winter sports and the running of a snow train to Grayling, members of the M.S.C. Outing club will meet in room 130 Morrill hall at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Carol Concert to Open College Christmas Season Friday

Michigan State college department of music will inaugurate the college's Christmas season Friday with its annual Christmas carol concert, to be given in connection with the traditional tree-lighting ceremony. The concert, which is open to the public without admission charge, will take place at the men's gymnasium at 8 p. m.

Directs Chorus

The concert will present the Michigan State college chorus, women's glee club, men's glee club and a cappella choir. The women's glee club is directed by Miss Josephine Kaeley, and the chorus, men's glee club and a cappella choir are under direction of William Kimmel.

Plans Forming For Careers Conference

Plans for the college Vocations Conference to be held early next spring are progressing rapidly, the conference committee announced yesterday.

Dean Conrad Calls For AWS Reports

AWS council members have been asked to present suggestions for winter term projects before December 11, according to Marion Patch, president of the organization. These reports will be received at the dean of women's office.

'Tis Bad When Fad Rules Undergrad,' Says Dean

Attempting to follow a fad rather than allowing her own personal taste to dictate the style of her clothes often causes a girl to misrepresent herself, according to Dean Elisabeth Conrad. Miss Mabel Petersen, housing director, and Miss Emma Sater, adviser of the YWCA, expressed similar opinions when questioned about style trends at Michigan State college.

Spartan to Have New Features

A center spread of Christmas cartoons, candid snapshots, and a department of human relations will be featured in the December issue of the Spartan, magazine which comes out Friday, December 8, according to George Coe, business manager.

Drank Then, Too

Drinking bouts and feasts of song in taverns were frequent, as they are today, and as also is true, colleges created official days to get "soused on" comparable to our football games and homecomings. "Let there be decent and moderate beer drinking for those beginning the first course in the Bible and the third on the Sentences" reads a Paris statute for theology students, which gives us the inkling that similar to the battle that issued

Makes Rural Study
Miss Emma Jane Kleinhaus, a graduate student, has been making a study of rural communities. The material she has gathered has been used in a recent book on rural community organization, by Dwight Sanderson and R. E. Polson. Miss Kleinhaus was a sociology major and graduated last June.

Where Was Safety?

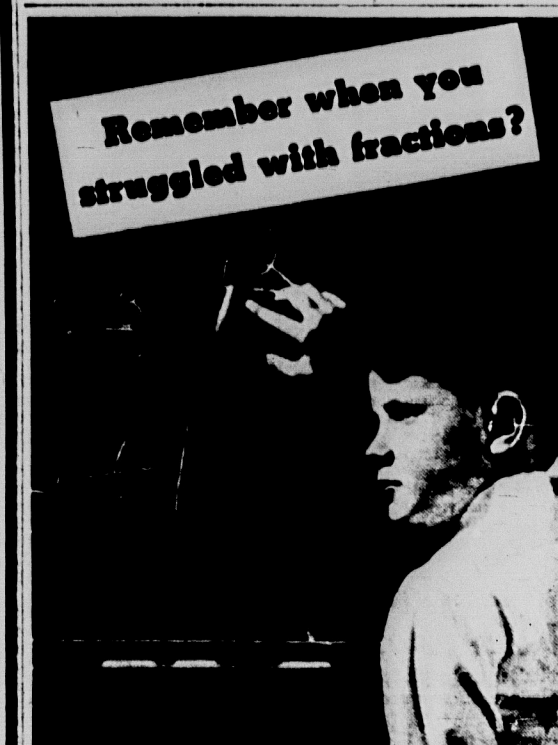

Whoever was responsible for the erection of the temporary bleachers in Demonstration hall for Ballet Russe last Tuesday night did not have safety in mind when trying to make more choice seats available. Some 1,500 spectators were jammed into the bleachers without a single aisle. Any attempt to leave the temporary stands resulted in confusion. But more important is the possibility of a serious accident had any one of a number of things occurred. In front of the bleachers were extra chairs to accommodate early patrons, which made crowded conditions worse since the chairs were placed right against the first row of the temporary stands, blocking off that avenue of escape. In case of fire or any other emergency what would have happened to those people in the bleachers? Perhaps students would have evacuated the stands in an orderly fashion but the odds would be against it simply because no aisles existed in which to walk down normally. Those who say that this is conjecture have never seen a crowd under extraordinary conditions. Fires and bleacher cave-ins are common-place enough and usually scores of people are injured, many seriously. The important thing to remember is that with ordinary precautions accidents can be avoided. Space for roped off aisles in the temporary stands will alleviate confusion and panic, accelerate orderly evacuation in case of an emergency.

Student Opinion Column

To the Editor:
Infants gurgle at new sensations. Small children tend to laugh when strange experiences arise. All through our formative years we face new and strange experiences—of which we are ignorant—with tittering and scoffing. But gawky, blushing adolescence passes, and we learn to face new situations intelligently and open mindedly. Only stupid or retarded adults lose self-control when they are ignorant about the matter at hand. So it is surprising that supposedly "enlightened" college students should have resorted to laughing and prattling through the preliminary music of the Russian Ballet Tuesday night, and to unrestrained giggling and snacking during some of the entrances and scenes. That most of us were experiencing ballet dancing for the first time is not surprising, but that so many of us shouted our unfamiliarity with this important form of art is appalling. We may all be proud to belong to a college in which agriculture and domestic science has made tremendous progress. But when students begin to act like hicks and country bumpkins we must all share in the shame. Let's hide our ignorance next time.

Remember when you struggled with fractions?
You'd be surprised how telephone engineers put them to work for you
How to put more and more wires into a telephone cable without increasing its diameter is an ever present problem at Western Electric—manufacturing unit of the Bell System. Existing ducts beneath city streets limit both the number and the diameter of cables—but demand for telephone service continues to grow. Until recently, the largest cable contained 3636 wires in a diameter of 2 1/2 inches. Years of study led to an entirely new insulating process that saved 3,100 of an inch per wire. Multiply this tiny fraction of an inch by 3636, and you provide enough space to place 606 more wires, in the same size cable—a total of 4242. With such resourcefulness, Bell System engineers meet countless problems. Result: you can talk to almost any one, anywhere—quickly, at low cost.

Washington, Dec. 7—Herbert Hoover's demand that Roosevelt withdraw the American ambassador from Russia has put the present incumbent of the White House on an amusing and paradoxical spot. Inside fact is that FDR seriously considered recalling Ambassador Steinhardt some time ago, but the State department opposed. And now that Mr. Hoover has decided to do some coaching from the sidelines, Roosevelt is not so likely to follow the advice. For one sure way of not getting something done around the White House is to have Mr. Herbert Hoover urge it. Not many people knew it at the time, but Roosevelt was very much irked at Moscow during the seizure of the City of Flint. At that time, Ambassador Steinhardt suffered all sorts of indignities. When he tried to telephone Captain Gannard, commander of the vessel, the connection was cut. When he tried to see Foreign Minister Molotov, he was kept cooling his heels for ten hours. When he went any place outside the embassy, he was shadowed. It is a long established rule of international law that an ambassador can see the president or king of any country immediately. An ambassador represents the person of his chief. An insult to him is an insult to the head of his state.

DZVs Pace Selection Of Independents

3 Teams Place Man on All-Stars

By Warde Bower

With the end of another highly successful independent touch football season, the State News sports staff, in collaboration with game officials, presents its choice for an all-star independent team.

FIRST TEAM	Pos.	SECOND TEAM
Nick Novosel, DZV	LE	M. Cohn, Evergreen Manor
Leo Callahan, DZV	C	R. Dingman, Hamilton House
John Kiljan, Bakersboro	RE	P. C. Hawrylew, Eagles
Frank Burrows, DZV	QB	"Doc" Manion, DZV
N. Kincaid, Louise Campbell	HB	John Fabian, Bealton
Dale Kaulitz, Wolverine	HB	J. C. Nora, Bakersboro
Charles Carey, Bealton	FB	Peter Rasch, DZV

HONORABLE MENTION

Stephen Jakubowski, Hamilton House; George Owen, DZV; Lynn Hupp, Carr's Kids; Frank Merrifield, Lansing Independents; Bill Hogan, U. P.; Alton Hoover, Carr's Kids; Shaheen Harey, Bealton; Mike Milewich, DZV; Laurence Faler, Eagles; Carl Thompson and Chet Aubuchon, DZV.

One of the toughest seasons seen in independent play revealed numerous outstanding performers. From 24 teams, only three, DZV, Wolverines, and Bealton emerged undefeated from the regular season of play.

The DZV athletic brotherhood, three times all-college champs and unscathed upon throughout the present season, placed three men on the first team, two on the second, and four more in the honorable mention column.

Besides the trio chosen from the championship gridmen for first team, Bakerboro, Bealton, Louise Campbell, and Wolverines each placed one candidate on the honor team.

At left end in the all star line is Nick Novosel, fast and quick thinking gridder from DZV, who proved his value on many occasions. Leo Callahan, holding down the center position, is named captain because of his experience and level-headedness under fire. The right end position goes to John Kiljan of Bakersboro for his unflinching ability to catch passes. Kiljan also carries speed and deceptive qualities making him a valuable open field runner. The backfield boasts an aggregation highly skilled in offensive and defensive play. Each player is a triple threat man.

Cagers Polish Game For Michigan

Seven members of Michigan State's national collegiate champion cross country team were awarded major letters and miniature gold track shoes in an announcement made by Athletic Director Ralph H. Young Tuesday.

Those receiving awards are: Senior, Captain Dick Frey, Roy Fern, Bill Mansfield, and George Kellen; Juniors Ed Mills, Al Mangano, and Warren Anderson.

Minor letters went to Wilson Seales, Dave Cowden, Al Wetzel, and Walt Boardman of the junior varsity.

Wednesday noon, freshman numeral winners elected Jerry Paze and Ralph Monroe honorary freshman captains. Monroe was the early season leader until a leg injury slowed him down and then Paze came up to set the pace.

Other numeral winners were: Larry Falconer, Ken Finlayson, Ed Leonard, Howard Maloy, Don Merritt, Bill Scott, Frank Simanton, and Charles Sullivan.

A major S went to Manager Bill Cressman and numerals to George Campbell and Denton Smith.

State will be after its first victory in two years over Michigan. The last Van Alstyne squad to do the trick was in the 1937-38 season. What would make a victory even more enjoyable is that the Spartans haven't beaten Michigan on their home court in years.

Van Alstyne will probably put the same lineup on the floor that opened Monday's game. Marty Hutt and Bob Phillips or Bob Morris will be at forward, Max Hindman will be at center, and Chet Aubuchon and Max Dalrymple at guard.

SPARTAN SPORTFOLIO

By DON ANDERSON

Things don't look quite so rosy for Michigan State's basketball team as they did at the end of last season. At that time it was pretty well conceded that the Spartans would be one of the teams to watch in the mid-west this winter.

In the main, the five that finished the schedule for State last season was a young team. Led by the "Gary Gang," three out of the probable starting line-up were sophomores. In addition, there was plenty of veteran material on hand to bolster these likely looking second year men. So, the word was: "Watch the Spartans in '40!"

That was a bad beginning right there. Falkowski was one of the high scorers of the squad while Shidler was a team player of the sort that every coach likes to have around. Their loss put the burden directly on five men.

We say five because it amounts to that in the final analysis. Outside of Max Dalrymple, Marty Hutt, Chet Aubuchon, Bob Phillips, and Max Hindman, there is nothing but unknown quantities: Bob Morris and Joe Gerard, of the Ben VanAlstyne will have a good team this year. He always does. But he won't have the team figured on a year ago, simply because the men don't make a basketball team in these days. Just for fun though, we'd like to see "Van" and his boys prove us wrong.

With the Spartans eliminated, four teams still remain in the original five-way tie for runner-up: the Detroit Ivory Rangers, the Detroit Demagogues, Flint Eagles, Flint Shamrocks, and the West Michiganans trio beat M.S.U. 15-7 in the first game.

Falling short in its last-minute drive by a margin of two goals, Michigan State's polo team was defeated, 15 to 13, by the Lansing Red Wings Wednesday night in the first game of the second playoff in the Michigan Polo association.

WHY DOESN'T AN AIRLINE PILOT WRITE A NOVEL ABOUT FLYING?

Well, one just did!

The Story: Take away today's lighted airways; take away radio beams and you're back in the "20's ... with the hard-shelled pilots who flew the mail "by the seat of their pants." Here's a novel of one reckless flyer who inherited a bankrupt airline, a handful of insubordinate pilots, and a girl manager who predicted he'd have to grow up—or crack up.

The Author: When an expert flyer is also an expert writer—that's Leland Jamieson! Millions of Post readers know his short stories. His first full-length novel is part autobiography, part fiction—all superb entertainment. Right now, as High Frontier hops off, Capt. Jamieson is at the wheel of a DC-3 somewhere between Miami and New York, where he regularly flies day and night runs.
