Women! Join SWF*

An opportunity is provided for Spartan women to prove their patriotic mettle. The new Ag course in farm skills, for which credit is offered, has only four enrollees to date, according to Manny Mullen, CDC head, who reports that the class will not be given unless six more coeds are willing to don gloves and dungarees and join the original four registrants. Interested women may inquire of Dean E. L. Anthony for further information about the course, Mullen stated.

Wrong Number

When a student gets into the wrong classroom at the beginning of a term—that's nothing. But when an instructor gets his directions mixed—that's different. A tall blond member of State's alert faculty strolled into 101 Ag hall Wednesday at 3 p. m., removed his overcoat and rubbers, erased the blackboard, sat down at the desk and opened his briefcase. The students gazed quizzically, but nobody recognized him.

Finally, the lanky instructor gazed up from his papers and said, "Well, I imagine this is section 9 of Mathematics 102." A roar of laughter greeted him from the upperclassmen. Finally someone informed him that it was a political science class, and the red-faced math wizard did his best to retreat unobtrusively from the room.

Anthony Seeks to Include Ag Men in WMC College Training Plan

A move to launch formal protest against the War Manpower commission's failure to include agricultural students among men who will receive special college training under the new war education program will be undertaken by E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture at Michigan State college.

Anthony said he planned to write to deans of other land grant colleges, including Ohio State, Purdue, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa State, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Cornell and Penn State, to sound out their sentiment on omission of agricultural students from preferred training lists.

"I know they feel as I do that agriculture needs trained leaders in the war effort as much as industry and perhaps we can arrange a meeting to draft a formal petition for presentation to the manpower commission," he asserted.

UNDER THE WIRE

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Thursday, Jan. 7 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bombers destroyed four anti-aircraft positions and a plane in a raid on the vital Jap New Guinea base of Lae, the noon communiqué reported today.

LANSING, Jan. 6 (AP)—Local draft boards today were ordered by Col. E. M. Rosecrans, state selective service director, to speed classification.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The navy reported today that American bombers had sunk a Japanese cargo ship in Aleutian waters and had scored a direct hit on another ship.

Nazis Reported In Withdrawal From Caucasus

Reds Take 23 More Cities Along Don, Seize Much German Booty

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Red army driving ahead in the middle Don and northern Caucasus has seized at least 23 more towns, including Konstantinovsk, only 65 miles from Rostov, the Soviets announced today in a midnight communique heard here by the Soviet monitor.

Russian troops driving ahead on the Stalingrad front have killed or captured 26,500 Germans since Jan. 1 to boost the total Nazi casualties to 339,156 since the offensive began Nov. 19, another special Moscow communique said.

British observers saw in this list new evidence that the Germans were beating a hasty retreat, moving so fast that they were unable to destroy huge dumps of valuable equipment.

Moscow's army newspaper Red Star said the Germans were in full flight in the central Caucasus because heavy blows southwest of Stalingrad and in the middle Don area were threatening their rear communication pivot and base at Rostov.

In a special bulletin Jan. 19 the Russians announced the Red army had killed 175,000 Nazis and captured 147,650 since Nov. 19 on the Stalingrad front which includes part of the Don river bend.

Tonight's communique spoke of fresh casualties inflicted south and southwest of Stalingrad—20,000 Germans killed and 6,500 captured from Jan. 1 to Jan. 5.

Enrollment to Top 5,600 as ERC Call Discourages Few

Enrollment for the winter term, the last war-time session for many male students, will exceed 5,600 at Michigan State college, Registrar R. S. Linton reported yesterday as classes resumed following the Christmas holiday.

Registration for the new term closed yesterday with 5,540 students enrolled, compared with 5,835 for the same day a year ago and 6,310 at the beginning of the fall term.

College officials expressed gratification at the comparatively slight decrease. It had been generally predicted that between 1,000 and 1,500 students would fail to return to school due to uncertainty resulting from the government's recent announcement that with exception of a few specialized groups, all able-bodied men students would be in uniform before summer and many of them in army camps.

Most of the college's 1,500 army enlisted reserves will be called to duty shortly after the close of the winter term, while between 500 and 1,000 may be inducted into military service during the intervening months.

The Agriculture division reported enrollment in short courses also held up well, with 185 registered compared with 194 a year ago.

OPA Cuts Out Joy Riding in East, Cuts Fuel Oil

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—OPA today banned pleasure driving in the east and slashed the amount of fuel oil that schools, stores, theaters and other non-residential establishments may consume in the 17-state area.

Many such buildings face the possibility of curtailing their hours or days of operations under the order. OPA left it to the school boards, store operators and others in charge of oil-consuming buildings to determine how they will meet the reduced fuel rations.

Amusement places were especially hard hit. The order forbidding pleasure driving in the east specifically banned motor-ing to theaters as well as race tracks.

Use of fuel oil in non-residential establishments in the east was curtailed 25 per cent below present rations, giving them about 45 per cent of normal requirements.

State, National Legislatures Begin 'Victory' Sessions

Rayburn Is Re-elected Governor Kelly Asks to Speakership of House Special Powers for Wartime

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6

(AP)—The 78th congress—dubbed the "victory congress" from the rostrum of the house—met today in a mood for solemn united action to win the war and for sharp insistence upon writing its own laws on domestic issues, regardless of the wishes of the White House.

These two determinations dominated a brief preliminary session of speech-making and of organization for the tragically vital period which lies ahead. They were expressed by ite pub-lean spokesmen, conscious of their greatly reinforced strength. And they came from the Democratic side of the political barrier as well.

Last fall's election, with its wide Republican gains, was reflected at the outset in the closest vote for party control of the house in the last decade. The Democrats won. By 217 to 206, they re-elected Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Immediately, the tension of the situation was broken. Republicans and Democrats alike jumped to their feet in a stormy and prolonged ovation. And when Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the defeated Republican nominee for speaker, said it was particularly appropriate that this honor should go to Rayburn on his 61st birthday, the pandemonium was renewed.

Tomorrow it will meet in joint session to hear President Roosevelt deliver his annual message, making recommendations for congressional action.

Fraternity Pledges Will Be Addressed by Lansing Man

Pledges to Michigan State college's 16 social fraternities will rest briefly from their "Fraternity week" activities tonight at 8 p. m. when the Rev. William Carpenter of Lansing speaks to them in the lecture room of the Horticulture building.

Rev. Carpenter's talk will cover a broader aspect than just fraternities, and will be of interest to both pledges and actives, Ron Heath, men's housing director, said yesterday.

Tomorrow at 7 p. m. in the same room, pledges will take the annual fraternity examination.

Davis Disputes Halsey's '43 Victory Idea

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Elmer Davis, whose job is to keep the nation informed on the war, took exception today to a high-ranking naval officer's flat prediction of victory this year.

Asked for comment on the optimistic view recently expressed by Admiral William F. Halsey, the south Pacific commander, Davis responded:

"I have no information to support such a prediction, although I have been trying to get some."

On the contrary, the director of war information asserted, the Germans, to the best of his knowledge, still are building more submarines than the United Nations are sinking and the toll the U-boats are taking of Allied shipping is creating "heavy losses in ships and in the cargoes that go with them, and sometimes trained men on them."

Although he spoke pessimistically of the "continuing serious submarine menace," Davis said the United Nations, particularly the United States, for "some months" have been building ships faster than the Axis subs were sinking them.

Of the state department's recently-issued white book detailing the efforts of the United States and other United Nations to prevent war in the decade before Pearl Harbor, Davis reported that Axis propagandists apparently were finding the publication hard to answer.

German, Italian and Japanese radios still are showing a great deal of indignation, and for want of a better reply "are telling their people, for instance, that the white book is a 'series of counterfeits.'"

By G. MILTON KELLY
LANSING, Jan. 6 (AP)—

Governor Kelly tonight presented his message to the legislature, a document proposing the enactment of far-reaching laws to cope with the problems of his war-time administration and the post-war years.

Addressing members of the house of representatives and senate in joint convention on the opening day of the 62nd legislature, Kelly asked that he be clothed with extraordinary powers for duration of the war.

Without going into details he commended to the lawmakers the council of state governments' "model" bill which would allow chief executives of the states to suspend laws as need arose in time of emergency.

Kelly blew cold on the feverish rush of some legislators to enact a law in record time seeking to shove Michigan clocks back an hour to the old eastern standard time schedule.

"This legislature should not act hastily on a question as important as this matter of official time," he counseled the members in his text. He urged that either a special committee or the appropriate standing committees of the house and senate fully explore what is at stake.

The message covered a broad field of topics and was his first formal statement of hopes and intentions in office.

Tells State: Buy Bonds

LANSING, Jan. 6 (AP)—Former Governor Murray D. Van Wagener told the Michigan legislature in his exaugural message tonight that a multi-million dollar surplus in the state's general fund should be invested in government bonds and held intact for post-war use.

Van Wagener, whose term as chief executive expired as Gov. Harry F. Kelly succeeded him New Year's day, told the lawmakers he was leaving "a cash surplus of some $27,000,000—the first surplus we have known in 20 years" in the general fund, and that it probably would grow to $35,000,000 by the close of the fiscal year June 30.

No Housing Shortage, But Dorms, Houses Are Reported Full

No repetition of the severe housing shortage of fall term is being experienced at Michigan State this term, according to Ron Heath and Miss Mabel Petersen, housing directors.

Although the situation for women is still overcrowded, it is not as critical as before. All dormitories, co-ops and off campus houses are filled, with between 35 and 40 women in the recreation rooms of Williams and Campbell dormitories.

Added facilities in more off-campus residences eased the shortage of rooms for men to a great extent, Heath said.

Rumors Are False: Women CAN Stay

THE rumor factory starts production anew this week as women students return to school, after hearing reports about almost every college in the nation being closed to women students. The plain facts of the matter are these: The army does not intend to take over any colleges. It will lease certain services of those which meet its requirements and agree to the lease. But it will not step in and bodily stop the running of any college.

From present indications the army will not frown on having women students on the same campus with its soldier trainees. The probability is that if Michigan State is approved as one of the colleges adaptable to the army training program, from 2,000 to 3,000 men will come here. But such an eventuality would not bar women from Michigan State.

So State women will do well to take the advice of President Hannah and Dean Elisabeth Conrad to stay in school and really study. Michigan State will continue to offer all course requirements for women students and for men exempt from military service. The United States government urges all women to finish four years of college training in preparation for taking over the jobs left by men in the armed forces. Especially those women with ability in mathematics, physics, or any kind of research work should continue studies along those lines.

Every woman should feel it her personal responsibility to complete her course. All women trained in any field will be valuable to their country now and in the reconstruction after the final inevitable Allied victory.

Neva Ackerman.

ALONG THE WINDING CEDAR

By Len Barnes

PROPOS of these marrying times is the new line on registration cards to determine all students' marital status. The compilations from this line should make interesting reading when Registrar Robert Linton's crew finishes tabulating them. They just don't want you ever to understand registration, I guess. Members of the class of '43 were beginning to catch on to the system used over in the women's gym. Some of us even had a way figured out to get in and register at any time, and sneak around all the lines you always have to stand at the back end of.

So what do they do? They switch the whole thing to Jensen gym. Now we have to start all over on a new system. You can't win.

The old bromide is still true about the guy who bent over to tie his shoe during registration and in the process a line the length of the gym formed behind him.

You feel sorry for the poor music student who registered in a two credit dairy management class, thinking it a snap course, only to find the first day of class that calculus 303 was a prerequisite.

Aside from the fact that a lot of pledges and actives too are engrossed in defense activities and classes, a rigid set of physical exercises like walking to Okemos and back, or making the individual do 50 consecutive push-ups for fraternity week isn't too bad an idea. Informal initiation should be made more like safety skills courses, not forgetting the safety as initiation chairmen sometimes do. We've heard of a lot of difficult tasks assigned pledges. Most of them involve Okemos. One group had to draw a map of Okemos at night. Another had to count all the reflector lights along the road to that town, while four other men had to count all the railroad ties between Lansing and East Lansing, finishing up by counting the windows in the state capitol building. Where anyone would get correct figures on the totals is a mystery, but announcement of results always brings chastisement—probably on the hypothesis that a pledge is always wrong.

Send us any unusual stunts used by your group, and we'll pass them on to others. The only trouble with these initiations is that too many men with high school minds help to conduct them. Their aim seems to be breaking every bone in the poor pledges' bodies. There really isn't any percentage in it. How can a guy with two broken legs pay his dues?

Defense Work

Women will have an opportunity to sign up for defense courses this week at the CDC defense desk in the Union, according to OSD Chairman Manny Mullen. All of the defense courses, including first aid, home nursing, air raid training, and airplane spotting will be open to women, and they are urged to register for these courses, Mullen said.

A. W. S.

Women's activities for the term got under way with a special meeting of A. W. S. council last night dealing with organization of future plans and programs.

Main question under consideration by the council is the possibility of 1 a. m. permission for Saturdays as well as Fridays for winter term because of the limiting of parties to East Lansing. A committee including Pat Stone, A. S. '44, Ida Mihay, Vet. '44, Shirley Knowlton, H. E. '43, Patty Reddy, L. A. '43, and Jean Oviatt, H. E. '45, was appointed by Pres. Vera Deaner to investigate the plan. The question will be decided at the regular meeting next Wednesday.

Pat Stone, A. S. '44, was appointed as chairman of Freshman elections scheduled for some time in February. Carol Edmondson, L. A. '44, was appointed as head of a committee to arrange the exchange dinner for dormitory officers.

Grace Allen, L. A. '44, and Lorna Jean Ball, H. E. '44, were named as a committee to investigate the new rulings tentatively placed in the A. W. S. handbook this year. If the rules are found acceptable they will be permanently adopted by the council.

Injured List

Victims of accidents are Mrs. Maude Kemp, Kappa Delta house-mother, who hurt her arm in a fall on the ice. Mrs. Emma Appleton, Robinson house hostess, broke her ankle and is in the hospital. Miss Marie Mercier, secretary to Karl McDonel, broke her arm.

Tower Guard

Tower Guard will hold a regular meeting at 7:15 p. m. today in Beaumont tower according to Pres. Ann Bedford.

Consumer's Goods Will Get 15% Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—America's civilian economy won't go down to bedrock this year, but there will be 10 to 15 per cent less goods and services for stay-at-homes to buy. This was the prediction today of Joseph L. Weiner, civilian supply director.

Citing prospects for disappearing metal gadgets, for normal supply of baby carriages and for such substitutes as glass frying pans, Weiner commented:

"The civilian standard of living in this country in 1943 will depend, to a degree, on the fortunes of war. The bedrock civilian economy which has been talked about is not expected to be reached in 1943 except in respect to civilian goods made from critical materials, such as steel and copper.

But how much our civilian economy will be above bedrock will be determined largely by the extent and success of our military operations in 1943."

From a production standpoint, Weiner said, 1943 output for consumers will be at least 15 to 20 per cent less than last year. However, stores and dealers still have fairly large supplies of goods made in previous years, and the amount of goods on the market therefore will drop only 10 to 15 per cent.

Men State Winter Term Sports Kegglers Opening on Friday

Michigan State women will begin annual winter term battle Friday at 5 p. m. Rainbow alleys when Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Alpha Gamma Delta, Williams, and Ewing start the ball rolling.

Three teams are competing this year, with four women on each team. Games will be held every Monday, Tuesday, and Friday.

Place winners last year were Kappa; second place by Alpha Chi Omega; Sigma Kappa took third.

Football season officially January 14, and a practice will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Women's gym. All team entries must be made out, according to Dorothy Parker, physical education instructor.

Swimming meets will be held at 7:30 p. m. January 10, 17, and 24. The second meet will be held January 10, and the third meet, January 17. Any sorority, dorm, or independent women enter a team, with any swimming on a team. Individual practices must be before noon of January 10, according to Jeanne Knight, swimming instructor.

Hermie Says —

LOOKS pretty bad for our basketball team," moaned one disappointed Michigan State fan after the recent Michigan game. This seemed to be the sentiment of most Spartan fans we talked to. They had read reports during the vacation of State's three straight losses and personally saw the "streak" extended to four Monday night.

The picture is truly a gloomy one with plenty of first class clubs looming up on the Spartan card. Coach Ben VanAlstyne will take his men to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station this week-end for the first of two contests with the Bluejackets. Of course the Sailors will be top heavy favorites to take this one, but remember that Great Lakes football game?

As we recall, the Spartan grid club held a rating similar to the one the hoopmen have at present and it wasn't until the Bluejacket affair that the football team really found itself. Maybe the Sailors can help another State team gain its balance.

We personally believe that the Green and White cagemen have the ability, but at present it's just a matter of not being able to get together. When they do, things may begin to look bright again on the East Lansing front.

The University of California has 519 books reduced to microfilm.

Hotel Honorary Plans Annual Bell-Hop, First Formal of Season

Sigma Gamma Upsilon, hotel administration honorary, announced committee chairmen last night for the first formal dance of winter term, the Bell-Hop.

The dance will be held in the Union ballroom on Friday, Jan. 15. The ballroom will be decorated like a cabaret, and music will be provided by Dick Charles' band, according to Paul Hausenbauer, '43.

Hausenbauer announced the following committee chairmen: band and refreshments, Kenneth Teysen, '43; decorations, Ferne Hart, '43; and Dick Stubbs, '44; publicity, Addison Fuller, '43; and Homer Sitner, '43; tickets, Henry Pollard, '43.

Tickets will be sold by Sigma Gamma members and at the Union desk.

Journalism Office Nears Completion

A new journalism office on the basement floor of the Union annex is now nearing completion, Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the department, announced yesterday.

The office is situated across from Publications Row which includes the Wolverine, State News and Spartan office. Prof. Applegate said he expected that he and Dean Kuykendall, instructor in journalism, would move into their new location by the end of next week.

Chet Aubuchon Faces Former Mates in Coming Sailor-Spartan Contest

When the Michigan State basketballers try for victory No. 1 against Great Lakes Saturday they'll have to cope with, among others, their last year's captain and star—Chet Aubuchon. The little cager hasn't seen too much action with the Sailors so far, but he's expected to be in there plenty for the Spartan affair.

Aubuchon is remembered as the lad who came to State as one of the original Gary gang, made all American in his junior year, and then was forced out of action for the 1940-41 season with a blood infection that almost cost him his life.

After the doctors had told him he would never play basketball again or engage in any type of sports, Chet came back to lead one of the greatest teams in Spartan history to a victory-laden season.

He was the favorite of fans with his fancy dribbling, excellent passing and torrid shooting, and these talents made him a marked man on any hardwood the Spartans played. Now "Little Aubie" is going to use his abilities in an attempt to wreck the Spartan chances for their season's first win.

Besides Aubuchon, Ben Van Alstyne and his men will have to deal with several other stars like Bob Davies, Seton Hall all-American, who is said by many to be the greatest basketball player in America today; Northwestern's Dick Klein, one of the two men back from last year's Bluejacket club, and Eddie Raska from Notre Dame.

Great Lakes' only defeat this season was at the hands of Illinois, Big Ten champion of last year.

Celebrity-Laden Lecture Series Will Open With F. P. Adams

Ford Donates Canning Plant to College

Michigan State college will have in operation within a few weeks a complete canning plant and fruit juice bottling works, but not for commercial purposes. The equipment, a gift by Henry Ford to the Michigan State board of agriculture, already is here in part, and the plant will be set up in the old short-course barracks, Pres. John A. Hannah announced recently.

The plant was obtained through the efforts of President Hannah. Organization and operation of the newest MSC addition will be under the direction of Sec. Karl McDonel and Treas. C. O. Wilkins. It was obtained as a further step in the "self-supporting" policy of the college.

Ford presented the plant as an outright gift to the college. It formerly was located in Dearborn, and never was used for commercial production. Ford used it for experimental work until he became interested in soy beans, Hannah said.

When the equipment is installed, and the plant under operation, it will supply dormitories and the Union with canned goods. Canned products will be those grown on Michigan State college farms. Ford also gave the college a large number of tin cans, thus eliminating for the present a tin can "bottleneck" that undoubtedly will arise in the future.

Adventure Series Lists Action Films for Winter Term

By AL BERGLUND

The Michigan State college lecture and entertainment series begins its winter term program Tuesday with famous Franklin "FPA" Adams giving a lecture on "Inside Information Please," the name of the program on which he is a stellar member. The rest of the term's program is equally interesting and offers variety in appeal.

Remaining on the program is the original Don Cossack chorus, directed by Serge Jaroff, which will appear Wednesday, Jan. 20. Thurman Arnold, the "trust-buster," is scheduled for a talk on "Economy Now and After the War."

"My Experiences in the Russian War" is the talk that Erskine Caldwell has prepared for Tuesday, Feb. 16. Persons who haven't heard of Caldwell may have heard about his play "Tobacco Road."

Margaret Webster will speak about the "Adventure of Acting," Thursday, Feb. 25.

Final event of the term will be a war commentary Tuesday, March 9, by Leland Stowe, author and journalist as well as a lecturer.

On the Saturday evening world adventure series, six movie-lectures and three Hollywood productions are on the books for winter term. The pictures are "You'll Never Get Rich," which will be shown this Saturday, and "Stanley and Livingston," and "Drums Along the Mohawk."

The movie-lectures are almost all of a travel nature, in the "Singapore Joe" vein. Movies

25 Smart Spartans Succeed in Getting All-A Grades

Twenty-five Spartan students completed the fall term with three-point averages. Robert S. Linton, registrar, announced yesterday. Of these, 13 were men and 12 women.

According to classes the sophomores topped the list with nine students receiving A grades in all subjects. The seniors followed closely with eight, the freshmen with five and the juniors with two.

Bright People

Those receiving all-A grades were as follows: Mary Jean Armstrong, Dearborn sophomore; Richard F. Bauerle, Lansing senior; Charles M. Bayer, Detroit freshman; Margaret Bedford, Elkton sophomore;

Navigation Course Doubles Winter Term Enrollment

Enrollment in the navigation courses offered by the Mathematics department has doubled since last term, according to Prof. Everett Welmers. Six sections of beginning navigation and one section of celestial navigation are taught.

Work is done mainly with maps which are kept up to date by reports from the navy department. Only prerequisite for the course is trigonometry, according to Prof. Welmers.

with talks are scheduled on Africa, the Polynesian islands, Mexico, and the Himalayas.

Nature movies will finish out the series. "Wild Life in Color" and "Microvarium" are the films.

More Three Pointers
