Bon Voyage

There is more than one way to speed a friend on a journey. Several chums of a departing state coach went down to the train yesterday to see her depart from her home in Tacoma, Wash. After getting on the train to see her safely settled, the train doors closed before the farewell bids could get off. So the Perc Magnette had several passengers who rode to Grand Lodge and sang songs of their alma mater before getting off.

Wrong Number

It may be hot, but the telephone rang Monday afternoon, an Alpha Gamma member answered by stating the name of her house. The caller said, "Oh, but I'm calling the East Lansing fire department."

Happy New Year

New Year's resolutions were made to be broken, as the young lady who vowed never again to buy gum again. When she got back from her vacation her name was posted on the bulletin board as having received a package, but complications arose when the package was opened to reveal a soldier sent carton of 24 packages of chewing gum.

Petitions must be handed in to the office of the dean of women not later than Jan. 15.

College to Begin Unusual System for Languages

In an experimental plan, conversational instruction in foreign languages, which will enable students to gain practical speaking knowledge within 17 weeks, will be instituted at State next fall. Dean of Liberal Arts, Lloyd E. Emmons, announced yesterday.

After observing the rapid progress ANP language and area students were making in the study of languages by the conversational method, the dean recommended the accelerated system for the regular curriculum. The proposal has been approved by the administrative group and needs only the general faculty to get in the new courses.

French, German, Spanish and Portuguese will be taught in two-year sequences under the suggested plan. Emphasis will be on speaking, but instruction in reading, grammar, and word structure will be continued, Dean Emmons said.

Grammar classes of about 80 students will be split into groups of about 15 students for the conversation work. Conversation classes will meet nine hours weekly while three hours a week will be spent teaching the grammar.

The courses will be offered students as alternates to the present type of instruction. Similar methods of language instruction recently have been offered at the College of the City of New York and the University of California. The Liberal Arts division also has recommended the creation of an evaluation project to measure the relative success of the two systems of teaching foreign languages, the dean remarked.

Aide to Stilwell Appointed

NEW DELHI, Jan. 3 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Daniel Ionescu, 58, who once played football on the same team at West Point with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been appointed deputy commander in chief of U. S. army forces in China, Burma and India under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, it was announced tonight.

He is the first CBI deputy commander.

Ambulatory Clinic Becomes Testing Ground for Vets

The Greeks had a word for it, but the Vets have a way for it. They know how to let the seniors know what is in the world of veterinary reality.

An ambulatory clinic is the solution. Webster says ambulatory means "fitted for walking." And the vets who are "on call" will verify the movable part of the definition.

The purpose of the clinic is to get senior vets into the country for experience under actual conditions. The service, authorized by the State Board of Agriculture, was begun Nov. 1.

Students on Call

All senior students taking in-clinic, stationary clinic on campus, are required to take ambulatory clinic. Two students are on duty for each 24-hour period from 7 a. m. to 7 a. m. These students must also be

Complete Total Not Out as Students Return to Classrooms

First figures on registration indicate that the number of students this term will be almost the same as the enrollment last term, despite a drop in the army, according to Registrar R. S. Linton.

Complete registration for fall term totaled 6,441. Final figures for this term will not be available until after Jan. 10, when registration closes.

Figures indicate that 1943 women have registered, while 1944 men have registered through January in the past year.

In addition to the new system, there are about 100 former ROTC and army cadets, and about 100 former ROTC and army cadets, and about 100 former ROTC and army cadets.

Since the ANP is an afternoon class, the great number of students attending classes is not available. Military men on the campus number from 100 to 150, which decrease in the enrollment have been caused by the departure of some of the ROTC members and by the removal of some of the ANP. The ANP will start their third term Jan. 10.

The leap year dance is sponsored by the Student Board, Tower Guard, Spirit Women's League and Town Girls.

*Ukrainian Towns Fall Before Force of Red Offense

Stalin Announces Capture of German Stronghold of Belaya Tserkov

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Russians captured the stubbornly defended stronghold and railway station of Belaya Tserkov and 20 more Ukrainian towns today, crushing deep into the German's northern flank defenses protecting their hundreds of thousands of troops in the south Ukraine.

To the west of this southward Russian drive, Red army vanguards were smashing into Poland. A Moscow dispatch from Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press correspondent, said that after main Russian forces occupied Novograd Volynsk and Olevsk near that border, advance units passed the center frontier.

In White Russia, a Soviet drive around Nevel, near the Latvian border, pushed north to capture 100 populated places, including Plehkovsk, 20 miles northeast of Nevel, and the rail station of Trocha, 10 miles north of Nevel. The Moscow communiqué, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said that the Nevel-Velike Lutz rail line, 40 miles long, was now cleared of Germans.

Capture of Belaya Tserkov was announced by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin in a special order of the day which revealed that victory culminated a four-day struggle.

This great southward surge, biting into German defenses protecting Dnieper bend forces, was nearing the vulnerable throat through which all supplies to these troops must pass—Zimierinka on the Odessa-Lwow railway.

Spartans at War

By ANNE COWAN

THE list of Spartans in service continues to grow by the hour and recently another name was added to the shorter list of former State men missing in action in battle areas. The latest is Lt. Robert Parker, of Lansing.

Lieutenant Parker was pilot of a fighter plane which has been missing in action over New Guinea since Nov. 15, according to word received by his parents from the war department.

He was previously awarded the distinguished flying cross, the oak leaf cluster and the air medal for meritorious service. He took his training at three air fields in Texas, Kelly, Randolph and Victoria.

Jack Cole, 45, has entered Norwich university, Northfield, Vt., for five months' instruction in the army air force training command leading to an appointment as an aviation cadet.

Lt. Donald Rossi, former varsity quarterback on State's football team in 1936, 1937 and 1938, is a physical training director of the pre-flight school at the cadet center at San Antonio, Texas. Lieutenant Rossi originated the continuity system of calisthenics, now almost universally adopted in army camps throughout the country.

He was the first athlete to be awarded a varsity letter in boxing at MSC. Prior to going to the cadet center as civilian instructor in physical education, he served as assistant football and freshman boxing coach at State in 1932 and 1940. He is now busy with plans for developing a cadet boxing team to be recruited from the ranks of enlisted men.

Recently promoted to the rank of major at Brooks field, Texas, was Robert Stewart, 40, and member of Lambda Chi fraternity. Major Stewart is an assistant director of flying in the central instructors' school at Brooks field.

Pvt. Richard Jankoska, former State student, was among the 13 replacements which reported at the army specialized training unit located at East Texas State Teachers college last week to begin the next 12 week term.

Twelve 1943 State graduates have been commissioned second lieutenants in the army after completing the officer candidate course in the field artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla. Four of the men will remain at Fort Sill with the staff of the field artillery school and the troops serving the school; four have been assigned to Camp Campbell, Ky., and four to Camp Polk, La.

Lt. Ed Kitchen has been assigned to the staff school and faculty for duty with the student regiment, Lt. Edward McDonald to the 193rd field artillery group, Lt. John Nowacki to the 472nd field artillery group and Lt. David Waite to the 401st field artillery group, all at Fort Sill.

Other assignments of the newly appointed officers are: Lt. J. R. Howland, Lt. Charles Latta, Lt. Clare Vanderwest and Lt. George Wilson with the 20th armored division, Camp Campbell; Lt. Michael Kunta, Lt. James Milne and Lt. John Slater, with the 8th armored division, Camp Polk; and Lt. Hershey Watt with the 9th armored division, Camp Polk.

Lawrence Downer, former Spartan, won his navy wings of gold and was commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve recently upon completing the flight training course at the naval air training center, Pensacola, Fla.

Aviation Cadet Pat Peppier, varsity basketball star on State's 1942-43 team, is receiving his flight training at the army air force pilot school at Courtland field, Courtland, Ala. He will attend an advanced school before receiving his wings.

THE LESS SAID...

By NEVA ACKERMAN

MAYBE the vacationing coed's ears didn't burn over the holidays but that doesn't mean she wasn't under discussion and the discussion centered around the so-called "snubbing issue."

The discussion started when it was reported that the soldiers were snubbing the coeds on other campuses and the State Journal contacted the dean of women, the commandant and enlisted men on campus for their opinions on the situation at Michigan State.

Dean of Women Elisabeth Conrad said that such a situation didn't exist here. She further stated that "the women aren't trying to catch a man" but that "they do offer friendship and hospitality to the men and they seem to accept it in just that light."

Col. G. B. Egger, commandant of the 365th S. I., was quoted as saying "The men and the coeds have good times at parties and surely appear to be enjoying one another."

But in general, the opinion of the men stationed on campus was that a schism between soldiers and coeds did exist for various reasons. Apparently they believed that many of them were looking away from the campus for dates and in many cases the coed was the snob.

Maybe the question "who is snubbing who?" Are the soldiers snubbing or being snubbed?

When interviewed, soldiers said that they object to the Friday and Saturday 12:30 a. m. curfew and the lack of homelike atmosphere in the dormitories and for that reason date town women.

Some of the men said that they preferred town girls because "the coeds are too young, the coeds don't have automobiles and they have to be in too early."

Men in AST groups were responsible for the age complaint because their average age is well above that of the college age. Other men said that college girls are more difficult to get acquainted with and one soldier said, "If they'd quit trying to elevate themselves and come down to earth and act natural, the situation would be bettered."

Such a statement that the coed considered herself above the serviceman is a surprise to the coed. When an AST man first came to campus they were welcomed by the students and social activities were at once opened to them. Women's residences sponsored open houses and it appeared that the college women were anxious to have the soldiers like it here and were glad to include them in their activities.

A good many of the men took advantage of this hospitality but it wasn't long according to many coeds before they began abusing this hospitality and some of them acted as if they owned the place.

Many of them didn't return the hospitality. They went down town for their dates. The units began to plan and sponsor their own parties without including all students. The air force, for example, sponsored the first closed party in the auditorium last term.

The coeds aren't happy to hear any of the soldiers say that they don't want to date the coeds. Most of the women on campus aren't deliberately man-chasing but they enjoy the opportunity to have dates with the men. They don't like to be referred to as snobs.

The college woman has upheld a certain standard of conduct in the past and she still does. She has been regarded by other men as good dates and there is no reason why the man in uniform should not think the same.

Some of the persons interviewed for the story said that they felt that college women consider

Navy Identifies Sunk Torpedoed Ships as USS Turner, USS Leary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The navy tonight identified the destroyer sunk by an explosion off Sandy Hook as the 1,700-ton USS Turner, and said another destroyer, torpedoed in the North Atlantic, was the 1,090-ton Leary.

Loss of the ships was announced yesterday, but it withheld their names. The Turner, commissioned only last April, blew up in New York harbor with such violence that her men and guns were hurled into the sea. Little detail was given on the loss of the 34-year-old Leary except that she sank in the North Atlantic after she was torpedoed Christmas eve.

Commanding officers of both vessels are listed. They are Commander Kyes, 37, Seattle, and Commander John J. Cantelero, 37, Cambridgeport, Mass. The Turner's Coast guard crew of 152 enlisted men and officers, the navy said, suffered a terrible blast and two deaths and many injuries. No figures were given for the navy's losses in the loss of the ships, each of which had more than 100 men on board. "Notifications will be made to the next of kin," the navy said.

Fortresses Destroy German Railroad Center of Turin

Roller Bearing Works Smashed in Raid

ALLIED HDQ., ALGIERS, Jan. 4 (AP)—German supply traffic through the big railway bottleneck at Turin in northern Italy was disrupted and a ball and roller bearing works at nearby Villar Perosa shattered by a heavy and accurate onslaught of U. S. Flying Fortresses yesterday, photographs showed today.

A hundred direct hits were scored in the heart of the railroad yards by the raid. Blockading at least temporarily all main lines from France and Spain that converge at Turin to form the principal west coast route down to Genoa and Rome.

Industrial Plant Hit

Simultaneously, two other Flying Fortresses struck in clear, cold weather at the bearing works at Villar Perosa, nestled in the Chisone river valley 23 miles southwest of Turin, and turned it into a shambles.

The huge main building of the plant, which produces 8 per cent of the Nazis' bearings, was blasted by direct hits and near misses, probably knocking the works out of the war for a long time.

Weather Helps Bombing

Twice before American bombers attacked the Villar Perosa works but each time heavy clouds impaired the results. Yesterday it was pinpointed.

While the weather favored heavy bomber activity to the last time in nearly a week, the opposing land armies in Italy remained stalled in heavy snow on the mountains and bogged to the axes in mud near both fronts.

American patrols that probed Nazi defenses around the deserted village of San Vittore on the main inland highway to Rome started up a violent reaction before withdrawing, as did British patrols at other points along fifth army front.

British dispatches said Canadian troops on the Adriatic coast experienced their quietest day since the battle of the Moro began nearly a month ago.

British troops of the eighth army crossed a hill a mile and a half northeast of recently captured Gemase and advanced up the Strada-Miglia Mico road at the Tella. This advance was a result of the Canadians' push to the west.

Political Changes to Be Announced by Polish Leaders

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Polish army advance into old Poland shook the Bulgarian government of Premier Dobri Bozhilov today, while new peace terms were sounded by the Bulgarians and the Poles described the Russian thrust as the "most serious political and moral crisis of the whole war."

The Polish cabinet met today and announced afterwards that the government's attitude on the situation "will be made public in the near future."

There was no confirmation in London circles of reports of a pro-Allied coup d'etat overthrowing the Bulgarian government and the Germans would the story as false.

Important changes in policy have been anticipated from Bulgaria where the peasants as well as many of the rank and file in the army are pro-Russian.

Other reports said many Hungarian leaders were considering unconditional surrender of Hungary to the United Nations.

It was the Polish government newspaper published here that declared the Russian plunge into old Poland was "the most serious political and moral crisis of the war."

Bosses Railroads

MAJ. GEN. CHARLES P. GROSS, chief of the army's transport service, has been placed in charge of operating the railroads for the army. Possession and operation of the roads was taken over by the government because of the threat of a strike by three of the railroad brotherhoods. A presidential order announced the railways had been taken over and their operation placed under the war department.

Germans Believe Hitler to Be Living Under Growing Threat of Death

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Adolf Hitler is living on borrowed time and the loan may soon be foreclosed by his own people.

This is the belief of many persons who know Germany well. They have little doubt that Hitler's fate is early death; their only difference of opinion is about how death will come to him.

On this there are two schools of thought. One, supported by Emil Ludwig, noted German historian and biographer, is that German generals will shortly decide to do away with the man who proclaimed on New Year's day that there can be no victor in World War II.

Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia subscribes to the second school. He believes Hitler will take his own life rather than face the disillusioned people whom he led to disaster with his glittering promises.

The generals are well aware that their Fuehrer's gloomy words will cost him the last enthusiasts of his following. Ludwig declared, predicting that in these days the date of his death will be fixed.

The possibility of Hitler's death in no way implies an end to the war in Europe, however, other sources declared.

Germany, French Invasion Coast Hit in Bombing Raid

Allies Send 2,750 Bombers on Daylight Mission

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Allied heavy, medium and fighter bombers hit northwest Germany and the French invasion coast with more than 3,000 tons of bombs today in a dawn-to-dusk offensive employing probably the war's greatest number of fighting aircraft in a single day.

Allied air officers threw about 2,750 planes at northwest Germany and the French invasion coast in the daylight hours.

Bombers Darken Sky

Approximately 1,500 American heavy bombers and escorting fighters blasted Germany's great submarine-dotted northwest area in a massive attack which blackened the skies.

A Stockholm dispatch said the major target was Kiel, whose U-boat slips and shipbuilding yards have been the objectives of repeated attacks by U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Possible New Attack

American Marauders shuttling across the channel 200 strong, twice during the day pounded military objectives along the French coast for the sixth consecutive day without a loss.

Tonight the German long wave radio left the air abruptly, possibly signaling a new attack on the continent by the RAF.

Yankee Marines Repel Jap Attack on Disputed Base

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., NEW GUINEA, Wednesday, Jan. 5 (AP)—American marines have thrown back a Japanese counter-attack at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, where the leathernecks won the air-drome Dec. 30 after fierce fighting.

Two hundred of the enemy dead were counted after the assault on the marine positions, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said today.

American troops at Saidor, on the north coast of New Guinea, pushed back Japanese patrols as the Yanks extended their hold on the invasion beachhead established in a landing there last Sunday.

The Americans further consolidated their positions at Saidor, and in their advance inland captured enemy supplies.

Spartan Victory Fund to Use New Income Method

In a recent Student council meeting a new plan was presented to obtain additional revenue for the SVLF during the coming term.

The fund already well over the $4,000 mark, was originally founded by Student council last year in order to provide a quick source of loans for returning servicemen. Under the present plan, servicemen may apply for the loan when they return to State, carry the loan through their remaining college years, and then if within a year of graduation, pay back the loan without any interest.

The fact that the government has decided to subsidize servicemen's education after the war in no way detracts from the importance of the SVLF. In such cases the SVLF will sufficiently fill the gap between the beginning of school and the receipt of the subsidy.

The loan fund has already been quite successful, and Student council intends to keep it on the upgrade and devise new uses for it as necessity demands.

The new idea for additional revenue has actually been tried at the University of Michigan, only on a larger scale. All organizations are being asked to contribute 10 cents as a minimum per person attending any kind of social event. This contribution is to be obtained by the contributing organization in any manner desired and will be accepted directly into the loan fund by the council committee.

With all organizations on campus behind the idea, the fund should show a tremendous increase, without any particular organization or group feeling overly pinched.

the uniform synonymous with wolf. In a large number of cases it is the soldier who thinks that he is stepping into wolves' clothing when he gets in uniform, and acts accordingly, so the opinion of the women is not without basis.

Perhaps the 12:30 Friday and Saturday curfew is too early to bring a coed back to her dorm or house, but the soldiers aren't the first males to object to the ruling. It is a long established regulation but it is earlier than the curfew on many other campuses. However, the winter term permissions include 1 a. m. for Friday nights.

The coed may not be able to compete with the town woman so far as "homelike" atmosphere and an "automobile" but they have made an effort to be friendly to the men if the men are willing to accept it.

And a good many of them are glad to accept it, as evidenced by the attendance at dances and other social affairs. A lot of them are dating coeds even if the grass may be greener on the other side of the fence.
