

Today's Campus

... Worse, worser

The arrival of some 250 ASTRs and the prospect of 250 more in August has given campus life a new boost. The boys, too, are apparently glad to get here, for two coeds were New overheard on Grand Faces River saying: "They're worse than the air force, they're even worse than Boys' State." This is highly doubtful, but for better or for worse—welcome.

... Slight Mistake

Windy Holden, Phi Delt, went to the Union desk for a package of cigarettes last week only to be refused by the clerk. "Sorry, can't sell cigarettes to 4-H club boys." And Windy is a seasoned Spartan of two years, being a sophomore from Detroit.

Meeting to Open Monday for Ag Vocationalists

With approximately 185 Michigan agricultural teachers expected to attend, the 25th annual conference for teachers of vocational education will begin Monday at 8:30 a. m. and continue until Friday, Dr. Harold M. Bryam, professor of ag education and conference chairman, announced.

Developing the food production war training program will be one of the features of the conference which is being sponsored by the state board of control for vocational education, in cooperation with State and the Michigan association of teachers of vocational agriculture.

Superintendents of schools maintaining departments of vocational agriculture will also meet Thursday morning. Conference chairman will be Harry E. Nesman, chief of the division of vocational agriculture of the state board of control for vocational education.

Delegates to the conference will live in Williams dorm and meetings will take place in rooms in Ag hall, the music auditorium, and other campus buildings and shops.

Supervised practiced and related instruction groups will meet each morning with specialists on the college faculty. Means for strengthening local future farmers of America programs will also be discussed by delegates.

Local Theaters Cooperate in Fifth War Loan Drive

In cooperation with the fifth war loan drive, all Lansing and East Lansing theaters are holding bond day today. Persons may attend performances of any movie in town with the purchase of a bond, which will serve as their ticket.

Those planning to take advantage of the opportunity must place an order for a bond of any denomination at the theater of their choice and they will be admitted without purchasing a ticket.

Air Force Reserves Arrive at MSC

German Prisoners Leaving the Front

A wounded German soldier, his injured leg propped up in a perambulator towed by two companions, makes his exit from the war in Cherbourg, France. Next stop is an Allied prison camp.

AST Property Officer Will Inspect Aircrew Headquarters 'Tomorrow

Orders have not been received yet for Col. Paul Johnson, commandant until last week, of the 2690th base unit of the army air forces, which left campus Thursday, according to a report from him yesterday.

From present indications and the rate at which the work of closing out the unit is progressing, Colonel Johnson assumed that he would remain in East Lansing for another two weeks before being transferred.

All property is being inventoried and classified in preparation for a visit tomorrow from the Sixth Service command army specialized training property officer who will take over.

In addition to Colonel Johnson, only Captain Limbacher and Lieutenant Caminar remain of the officers formerly with the unit. Six enlisted men of the permanent party are also here. No orders have been received for any of them yet.

All the trainees in the base unit formerly known as the 310th College Training Detachment, were shipped from Michigan State early last Thursday morning under orders from the central flying command that the program be discontinued by June 30.

Those who are left will go to various fields for special "on the line" training in which they will learn about the planes they will fly later during their training.

Professor's Wife Dies

Mrs. Grace Pettigrove, wife of H. R. Pettigrove, assistant professor of farm crops at MSC, died at the home east of Okemos Tuesday morning.

She had been a resident of East Lansing and vicinity for the past 22 years and was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Funeral services were held at the Estes Leadley chapel this morning with burial at Hart.

AST Electrical Engineers Ship Out; Changes Made In Military Staff

Approximately 260 ASTRs, 17 year olds in the air forces enlisted reserve corps, have arrived on campus for college training under the army program before being sent into actual air force training, Col. G. B. Egger, commandant of the army units at Michigan State, revealed yesterday.

Adventure Series Will Give Movie of Manhattan

"Tales of Manhattan" will be the presentation of the World Adventure series this Saturday, according to Dean S. E. Crowe, chairman of the lecture series. Two performances of the film will be shown at Fairchild theater at 7 and 9 p. m.

Among the large group of stars featured in the cast are Paul Robeson, Edward G. Robinson, and Charles Boyer.

Students will be admitted by their treasurer's receipt.

Highlight of the summer lecture series will be the presentation of Alec Templeton, blind pianist, Saturday, July 15. Templeton will present a concert in College auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Student tickets for the concert are ready for distribution. Students must present their summer school treasurer's receipt at the accounting office ticket window to obtain their ticket. There will be no extra charge. Servicemen in uniform may obtain a free ticket.

WKAR Will Present Interlochen Music

WKAR's exclusive presentation of the series of broadcasts from Interlochen, national music camp, will begin today at 7 p. m., according to Robert J. Coleman, director of WKAR. The programs will be given for one hour on every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, until Aug. 26, a period of eight weeks.

The programs are expected to include the camp's choral group, the string orchestra, the national high school orchestra, and the band. Among the well-known guest directors will be Percy Grainger, Ferde Grofe, Guy Fraser Harrison, and Joseph Maddy.

The camp enrollment this summer numbers approximately 650 student musicians.

IFC Will Hold Smoker for Independents Tuesday Evening

Given especially for entering freshmen, the interfraternity council will sponsor an open smoker Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Union. The smoker is open to all college men interested in joining a fraternity.

Refreshments and entertainment will be offered. The room has not been selected yet and will be posted on the Union calendar.

Fraternity Holds Dance

Men of Sigma Chi will hold an open house for members of other fraternities and their dates Friday at the chapter house.

Speaker for Home Ec Conference Foretells of Research Results

Further confirmation of the future of chemical research came yesterday from Gertrude Dieken, home economics consultant for the DuPont company, of Wilmington, Del., who said, "Chemical research will bring notable changes in automatic lighting, air transport trains, screens with wire and shoes with leather.

Miss Dieken's statement came at the institute on textiles and clothing sponsored by the division of Home Economics. Bringing registrants from 14 states, the 3-week institute will continue until July 15.

Miss Dieken said that many new things may be anticipated for the post-war home. "But don't expect overnight a brand new world paved with plastics," she added. Much of the test-tube triumph will result in unseen gains, like stronger textile yarns, new fabric finishes, and lighter-weight equipment.

"What will matter more to the homemaker than the fact that her house is pre-fabricated are the little things that will lighten the routine of housekeeping and leave more time for homemaking," she remarked.

She explained in detail some of the wartime tasks being performed by familiar goods which the consumer is now foregoing. She asked that these wartime duties be born in mind when the consumer came to purchase unavailable goods.

ROMANCE still seems to be tearing along at its usual fast clip and from the looks of things this week there won't be a let up for a long time to come. Marriages have the lead on anything else, but engagements follow in a close second.

Shirley Springer, Sigma Kappa, became the wife of Bob Azelton, SAE, June 23. The bride's bouquet was caught by Beverly Smith, Sigma Kappa, who now wears a ring from Mel Bunting of the navy medical corps.

The most recent marriage is that of Nancy Shepherd, Alpha Phi and former writer of this column who became the bride of Dave Giltner, Sigma Nu '45, Friday afternoon at the Alpha Phi house.

Wedding bells rang for Mary Jean Corbishley and Pvt. Harry Hedges, both of Lansing, on June 14. Both are former students of Michigan State. Mary Jean is a member of Chi Omega and Harry is an SAE.

Theta lips were smiling when Nina Lou Gannon became the bride of Pfc. Robert (R. E.) Miller, Hesperian '45, in Detroit recently.

St. Mary's Franciscan monastery in Phoenix, Ariz., was the scene of the wedding May 19 of Jane Dillon to Lt. Clifford Couchois, former Delta Sig at MSC. Lieutenant Dillon is a member of the army air forces.

Pvt. Ralph Bigelow, Vet student at State, was married recently to Fern Fleetham of Sunfield, and Doris Weeks, of Battle Creek, became the bride of Corp. Irving Davis, former State student who has been convalescing at Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek.

The marriages never stop, it seems, and there is news of four more at present. Lee Hall, Theta, was married June 25 to Roland Leutzinger, '42. The lucky couple will live in California.

Beverly Mott of Lansing, and Bill Johnson, Sigma Chi, said "I do's" June 18, and the Monday before that Eugenia Manahan, Alpha Chi, was married to Charles Breedlove of Romeo, a graduate of Purdue university and member of Triangle fraternity.

William Stitt, '44 graduate of MSC, combined marriage with a diploma, because he was scarcely graduated when he was married to Nina Lawrence, of Lansing, a former student at Western State Teacher's college.

The engagements are fewer and farther between but of no less significance, because they all give promise of weddings in the not too distant future.

The first one concerns Betsey Hartsuch, student at the U. of M. and daughter of Prof. B. E. Hartsuch, of the MSC chemistry department, who will marry Jon Sube, former State student, Monday, July 24. Jon is taking medical training at Michigan, but took his pre-med at MSC.

For Mary Eleanor Ritenour, Alpha Phi, the date will be July 15 if all goes well, for her and John Blanchard, ATO, who will receive his commission in the army engineers at that time.

Eleanore VanSickle, Alpha Gam, '43, recently received a ring from Lt. Tom McGrain, of the ferry command. They will

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

By BARBARA DENNISON

THIS WEEK the United States of America celebrated its 168th anniversary as an independent nation. Perhaps celebrate isn't the proper word during wartime, but at least the day was observed in various ways all over the country, and in many corners of the world by Americans and non-Americans alike.

The American way of life is an indescribable something that most citizens seem to take for granted until something comes along which may possibly alter the situation and then they see it more clearly.

It would have been interesting to have lived in the days of the writers of the declaration of independence, but perhaps it is more interesting to be living now and view the past in retrospect to see how the laws made by our forefathers are being applied to events today.

Since the United States entered the war almost three years ago, the familiar custom of celebrating Armistice day has been more or less abandoned because the things for which the armistice stood have been shattered.

Whatever the course of wars in the world, the ideal of American independence is one institution that will live on as long as the nation itself lives. The American people themselves, 130 million strong, believe that, and this is one case where believing will make it so.

It is not only believing, however, because as the American people believe in their way of life, and what the United States of America stand for, so are they willing to fight for those ideals. Believing in American independence is a will and a determination which will make the country live.

The phrase United States of America is another thing which many are apt to take for granted. If the term is thought of not as a title concerned with proper nouns, but as a group of 48 united states comprising the country of America, their understanding is stronger.

Spartans At War

IF A census could be taken of Michigan State men in all the army camps, naval stations and marine bases in this country and on all the fighting fronts throughout the world, it probably would not surprise anyone to find at least one Spartan, and probably several at each point.

Since that is impossible, the best means available is to spot a few at a time in their various camps and on the battle fronts.

Professor Kuykendall Awarded Prize for Humane Ed Thesis

Prof. Dean W. Kuykendall, of the journalism department, was recently awarded a prize of $50 by the American Humane Education society for his thesis on humane education.

Professor Kuykendall's award was given in the nature of a second place recognition in national humane key contest sponsored by the education branch of the Massachusetts SPCA.

The contest, the first of its kind ever sponsored by any humane society in the country, was open to all educators for contributions of humane plays, theses and original ideas with relation to the furtherance of humane education. More than 100 entries were received from all parts of the nation.

Art Loan Extended to Include Faculty

Famed reproductions of famous paintings will be offered to faculty members by the art department with the cooperation of the Union, under a new faculty loan plan announced by Prof. Albert Christ-Janer, head of the department. Members of the faculty may select paintings to be hung in their offices, studios, and class rooms at 215 Union annex.

Pictures in the collection range from the Renaissance masterpieces of Holbein, Rubens, Titian through the work of Van Gogh, Renoir, Monet to modern pieces such as the paintings of Rivers, Sheets, Kroll and Grant Wood. The reproductions were selected by a representative group of the faculty.

University of North Carolina's college of war training has the same relative position in the university as any other academic school.

First Summer Show Will Go To Custer

Servicemen to Be Hosts of Spartans at Two Performances

Army men at the Red Cross recreation center and service club number one at Fort Custer will be hosts to approximately 10 State students and faculty when the first summer entertainment group from Michigan State takes to the road Wednesday afternoon.

Included in the first performance will be several musical numbers, a magician's act, dancing and singing. Additional shows are planned for the remainder of the summer, Don Buell, director, announced yesterday.

Two Piano Team

Nancy Blue, Detroit senior, of "Gunga Din like it's never been din before" fame, will be mistress of ceremonies for the servicemen's show.

A two piano team, composed of Lenore Huddleson, East Lansing junior, and Cynthia Pirnie, Battle Creek freshman, will present some selections, and Freddie McKenzie Roberts, Detroit senior, will sing with Miss Huddleson accompanying.

Dinner at Hospital

Also included on the program will be a musician's act performed by Bob Edgell, Elmira, N. Y., senior, and a dance by Mary Slucter, Lansing senior. One or two other acts not decided on yet will also be included in the show.

Members of the group who will go next week will have dinner at the officer's mess at Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek. Buell expressed a need for accordionists and some instruments for his future shows.

Col. Augustus Thorndike, on leave from Harvard medical school, is directing a reconditioning program in United States army hospitals.

QUARTERS

(Continued from Page 2) be married as soon as the army permits. Tom returned from active service with the army air forces in Italy a short time ago.

Still another quite recent ring-link links the futures of Shirley Millet, Grand Rapids freshman, and William Strouse, stationed in Washington with the navy.

July 29 is the date which Jean Barnum, Theta '44, has set for her marriage to Keith Seaton, AGR, whose pin was one of the last ones to be passed spring term.

Indefinite but in the near future is the motto of Suzanne Corry, former Alpha Gam pledge, who will marry Aviation Cadet Tony Rhodes, State student in 1941-42. Tony will get his commission soon at Pensacola, Fla. and after that the wedding bells will ring.

It is incredible that anything short of a sling could keep Chi O Lois French's left hand off the ground with the added weight of a beautiful diamond ring given her by Dean Brunson, AGR, who is now stationed with the marines at Parris Island.

The faculty breaks through with some news of marriages to be. Early September has been set for the wedding of Hazel Master, of Lansing to Howard Winters, chemistry instructor at State.

The only engagement without definite plans for an immediate wedding is that of Marilyn Hill, Theta, who received a ring a short time ago from Lt. William Duncan, of Hammond, Ind.

One lone pinning rears its head for this week's column and is absolutely the last one of spring term that has been heard of yet. It concerns a Delta Chi pin belonging to Jerry Kenney, Detroit sophomore, now being worn next to the Alpha Gam pin of Betty Jo Cornish, Standish senior.

Three more man-sized Psi U proudly since a couple weeks ago by actives Joe Beye, Detroit sophomore; Joe Haegany, Saginaw freshman and Milt Henderson, East Lansing freshman.

Recent Psi U elections resulted in Bob Edgell and John Hickey being chosen president and secretary respectively.

SPEAKING

(Continued from Page 2) the 1944 version of July 4 recently pointed out that one thing which made America strong in the early days of its colorful history, was that 13 individual states trusted each other and had enough faith in each other to make a success of their precarious existence.

From such a small but influential beginning as the original 13 states, the United States of America has grown to almost five times that many.

No other country in the world has a constitution that has been in operation for the last 168 years with as little change as has been made in the federal constitution of the United States of America.

Probably at no other time of the year do so many diversified thoughts become aroused concerning this vast country as on the birthday of American independence.

The incident took place July 4, 1943, at a sun-baked (140 in the shade) flying field in southern Arabia at which few Americans and Britishers were stationed. On that particular day some of the Americans were recalling July 4th celebrations of past years. A Britisher came over and announced that a party was scheduled for that night to celebrate American Independence day. One Yank began, "The day we . . ." and thought better of it.

That's America.

A new series of studies on protein metabolism is to be undertaken at the Wayne university college of medicine.
