Americans Close In On Metz From Three Sides

Today's Campus

So She Speaks

When answering a question it is best to make sure that one knows the exact question asked. Billie Morley, New Troy senior, was surprised to find a look of horror on her face as she answered the question "who did you eat breakfast with?" with the reply "my roommate". Seems that the instructor had asked her what she ate for breakfast.

Original Hair

Proving the professor wrong is not usually a good way to impress him, but one of Arnold Blanche's art classes is doing just that. Blanche stated definitely the other day in class that college girls lacked originality. That they were stereotyped models. But wrong he was, for the next day his feminine class appeared in remarkable hair styles. Dorothy Benjamin's, Croswell minor, for example, was a big spiral top knot with a bow around it and others were equally astonishing.

Jaszbereny Falls To Reds Driving For Budapest

Nov. 15 (AP)—Russian forces, in a battering of stepped-up attacks, captured more than 50 Hungarian communities today as they drove the Germans into a hasty retreat on a 100-mile stretch northeast from the environs of Budapest to the city of Miskolc.

The biggest prize in the day's fighting was Jaszbereny, a railway center 35 miles west of the Hungarian capital. The Germans were recorded right in line from the railway station at Mende, only 12 miles west of Budapest, up to Keszthely and a group of other communities nesting 10 miles below the Hungarian center of Miskolc.

The Germans themselves announced their withdrawal from Jaszbereny before its occupation was reported by the Soviet night command broadcast from Moscow and reported by the Soviet monitoring service.

The Russian communique, however, said Jaszbereny fell in combat rather than by evacuation. Moscow dispatches said the city was clear today, permitting the Red Air force to celebrate strong attacks on the receding Hungarian front.

Student Draft Problems Cared for by Rodney

Questions having to do with deferment of students, members of the faculty, and other college employees are now being handled by Col. Rodney. Head of the school of Business and Public Service.

Within the capacity of administrative coordinator between the college and the government, Col. Rodney takes care of the matters that are to be sent to the selective service.

Yank Squeeze On Leyte Nips Gets Tighter

Jap Forces Near Limon Cut Off; 24th Circles to Rear of Enemy

MACARTHUR'S HDQ., Nov. 16, (AP)—Units of the American 24th division have "practically severed the Ormoc road," by a double envelopment movement which carried them to the rear of enemy positions, headquarters reported today.

The envelopment move cut off Japanese forces, estimated at a regiment's strength, near Limon, American-held village approximately four miles south of Carigara bay.

Elements of the 1st cavalry division, driving west and southwest from Jaro, seized three strategic hills east of the road after overcoming numerous Japanese defensive positions.

The 7th division, forming the third arm of the squeeze encircling Japanese forces around Ormoc, "bloodily" repulsed an enemy counterattack 10 miles south of Ormoc on the coast road.

College Radio to Carry Feature Program on Veterans' Problems

The second of two plays dealing with the problems of returning servicemen will be presented by the radio workshop this afternoon at 4 p.m. over WKAR college radio station.

The play, one of a tentative series, entitled "Johnny Come Home," was written by Prof. Joe Callaway of the speech department, and Frederic Reeve of the department of written and spoken English.

This show is a sequel to last Thursday's show, "Troop Train," and follows the adventures of one of the men on the "Train" when he returns to civilian life and college.

It is directed by Callaway, and presents Dick Schubel, Lansing junior, in the leading role. The cast includes Barbara Chandler, Muskegon sophomore; Dick Henderson, Detroit sophomore; Bob Kamins, Lansing senior; Dave Lang, Harold Greenberg, John Swank and Prof. Joseph D. Menchhofer of the department of speech.

Preparations for the term play, "Kind Lady" are definitely reaching the completion stage with the final dress rehearsal scheduled for tonight. The prop crew has secured the necessary Ming horse, and everything is well set for the opening performance tomorrow night at 8:15.

Cast Listed

Others are: Paul Geisenhof of the department of speech and Dramatics; Lois Banzet, East Lansing junior; Joe Davidson, Dumas, Texas sophomore; Wil-

Convo Will Be Held For Basic College Students Today

The long-awaited Basic College convocation will be held today in College auditorium at 4 p.m. for the benefit of all Basic College students, who will be excused from classes to attend. Its purpose is to acquaint the students with the nature and purpose of the Basic College and the way in which it functions, Dean Howard Rather said.

In addition to fulfilling this purpose, Rather hoped that the convocation will serve to clear up misconceptions concerning the Basic College, to label rumors true or false and to make the entire program more understandable.

Rather will open the meeting with an explanation of the goals and objectives of the Basic College program and the manner in which it is to be conducted.

S. E. Crowe, dean of students, will speak at the meeting, as will P. L. Dressel, chairman of the board of examiners and director of counseling. Also on hand will be all of the department heads in the Basic College.

Stern Allied Peace Policy Developing

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Development of a stern United Nations policy toward neutrals who were indifferent to the Allied cause emerged today with the disclosure that Spain—long pro-Axis—would be barred from the peace table.

It seemed clear, however, that the policy would affect Argentina and Eire as well as Spain.

A meeting will be held today at 5 p.m. for all members of the Wolverine advertising staff in the yearbook office in the Union annex. All salesmen are requested to be present by advertising manager Hank Reniger, East Lansing sophomore.

It left at least four other countries—Sweden, Switzerland, Portugal and Turkey—up in the air.

Turkey went part of the way toward restoring herself an Allied good graces by belatedly breaking diplomatic and economic relations with Germany—but only after Prime Minister Churchill declared on May 24 that the Turks could have obtained a stronger voice by a more active role.

British Advance In Holland As Whole Western Front Takes Offensive

SHAEF, PARIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—American doughboys by-passed bloody Fort Driant today and boiled in close to the suburbs of Metz from three sides, clamping the great fortress city in a death grip.

In the north British troops drove five miles through the boglands of eastern Holland to within 37 miles of the key German industrial center of Duisburg.

Nazis Order New Party Education

HERMANN GOERING
... army leader ...

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—A significant new step in the Nazification of the back-to-the-wall German army—with the apparent intent of making it a "never-surrender" force to fight on as Guerrillas after defeat—was announced today by Berlin.

A new decree ordered all German officers and non-coms who are members of the Nazi party to "educate their men in the Nazi philosophy" both on duty and off "in order to form a closer link-up between the armed force and the party." This movement has taken the effect, also, of apparently giving army leaders including Marshal Hermann Goering more power.

(A dispatch direct from the field said the French first army also had launched an attack, advancing four to five miles on a 25-mile front covering both banks of the Dubs river on the approaches to the Belfort gap on the easternmost part of the front.

Other Groups Advance

(The American seventh army, with which the French first is teamed as the sixth army group, already was in action in the Vosges mountains.

The Allies now are on the offensive on a large-scale from Holland to Switzerland, with the exception of the American first army sector which has been comparatively quiet since the fall of Aachen.)

Both Fort Driant and Fort Jean D'Arc—two of the nine major bastions ringed Metz—were neutralized by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 95th division, which captured two smaller forts, Hubert and Jussy, as it smashed toward the outskirts of the city from the west.

Abandonment Possible

Driant's guns, which backed spasmodically yesterday when the Yanks began pushing past it on the north, were silent today, suggesting that the Germans had abandoned the mighty mile-and-a-half-long structure on the west bank of the Moselle river.

Due south of Metz the American fifth division inched forward to within little more than a mile of the city while beating off some of the most determined counterattacks the Nazis have raised since Patton's forces opened their winter assault eight days ago.

Peltre, two and a half miles southeast of Metz, was cleared of the enemy, and German counterattacks were beaten off along nearby Pouilly ridge, from which American guns command the enemy's main escape route from Metz eastward to the Saar frontier.

Science Group Will Hold First Meeting Today

Sigma Xi, science honor society at State, will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:30 p.m. today in the Music auditorium.

Speakers will be Dr. Margaret A. Ohlson, head of the department of foods and nutrition, and Dr. C. F. Huffman, professor of dairy husbandry. They will discuss "Recent Developments in Animal Nutrition" and "Recent Developments in Human Nutrition."

Staff members, students, and the public are invited.

FACULTY ROUND TABLE

By PAUL BAGWELL
Written and Spoken English Head

WHEN the average Michigan State college student turns out his dorm light and says, "Good Night" to his roommate, he speaks words number 29,999 and 30,000 to complete the average number of words everyone uses each day of his life.

Besides these 30,000 words he has written a letter home persuading his folks to send more money, he has written to a friend informing him of latest campus developments; he has written a note to a girl friend, he has written papers to fulfill class assignments, he has left a note on the prof's desk along with that back assignment.

To use up his quota of 30,000 words, the average student has recited in class, aired his views at a bull session, made a date for Saturday night, griped about life, mid-terms, and the election results. The BMOC has presided over a business meeting, out-talked a committee, and given directions to his fellow workers.

And yet, never before has the average MSC student had an opportunity given him equal to the one this year to learn the skills of writing and speaking so that all this talking and writing that he does every day of his life might be made the most effective and get the best results for him.

It was to fill this lack in the average college curriculum that a required course in written and spoken English was included in the Basic College when it was established this year.

In actuality, it is a course in communication which out-steps the older concepts of teaching speech and writing as two separate arts. In the new course they are combined as practical methods in the practical art of getting our ideas across and of understanding the other fellow-communication.

The practicality of combining the two skills is brought out when we hear, as I have heard so often, a highly trained business or professional man say, "Why, if I could just see the board to explain my ideas I'm sure they'd agree with me, but I simply can't write up a report."

And even when these men who find expressing their knowledge and convictions on paper so difficult, are given an opportunity to address the board, they find themselves unnecessarily long-winded, verbose and consequently confusing. For writing out our ideas is the best means of organizing and condensing them.

Furthermore, knowing a technical field thoroughly and being considered an expert at it, is not enough for today's world. How many times have you heard, "Well, I guess he knows his subject because he's written so many books, but he sure can't get the information across in class."

This point has been very forcibly brought to my attention because prominent leaders in government, business, and medicine as well as other professional groups have demanded assistance in oral and written communication.

A survey of the adult education centers the country over will reveal that the most popular courses are those that offer training in effective speaking and writing. Just last week I learned that many labor and farm groups in Michigan are planning courses in speech for their members.

One of the most tragic pictures imaginable is that of an intelligent person who has information of real value to society, his business, or profession locked up inside his own mind. I know of an outstanding surgeon in this country who became inarticulate, red-faced, breathy and flustered when asked to say something to members of his own profession.

Yet that same surgeon had published numerous articles on new methods of surgery, diagnosis and treatment of the ill of man. He could perform an operation where a slip of a hundredth of an inch would mean death or possible injury to his patient.

And so it has been with all students. They have been given instruction in diverse fields of knowledge, but have been unable to make the best use of their knowledge, because methods of expressing their ideas and spreading their knowledge were strange to them.

Beginning with this present fall term, freshmen will be instructed in writing, speaking, listening, and reading with as much actual practice in each as the schedule number of hours permits.

The purpose of which will be to develop a reasonable level of proficiency in the art of communication, thus opening the whole field of knowledge to those who can read intelligently, comprehend spoken discourse and effectively express their thinking in writing and speaking.

Too often in the past the engineer with an "A" record has lost his job, not because he didn't know the work but because he misinterpreted written instructions; the top notch advertising man with novel ideas has been able to sell none of them because he couldn't explain them in a clear cut lively way; the more highly trained business man has not received the promotion because he isn't as interesting a conversationalist as a man who doesn't know as many facts.

The new course in written and spoken English is designed to make these unfortunate but frequent stories, ancient history as far as MSC students are concerned.

In Campus Quarters

By LEONE SEASTROM and DOROTHY LA MONT

MICHIGAN weather is enough to make most anyone feel as low as the proverbial bottom man on the totem pole. However, peering from said totem pole beneath umbrella, raincoat and what not, we think there appears on the horizon something resembling a bright gleam. Is it the sun or is it Superman? Or could it be a cold flashing her left hand with a dazzling diamond? It's the latter.

This time it's Detroit freshman, Doris Gale from Wells Hall, who keeps these rainy days bright with a little added weight to the third finger in the way of a diamond. The fellow responsible is Pvt. Jack Goodner also from Detroit.

Delving somewhat into the past, but still of much interest to many is the news of the marriage of Tom Connelly, U.S.N. Phi Tau of '42 and former Student council president, to Harriet Carpenter, '42, Alpha Chi. The couple were married Nov. 3 and are now living in San Diego, Calif., where Tom is stationed.

The Phi Taus are also gathering en masse under closed windows to warble a bit of appreciated harmony. The same goes for Theta Chis and FarmHouse men. The latter received fruits of their efforts last night when they were entertained for dinner by coeds now occupying their onetime intersanctum.

More news from the hearts and flowers department reveals the engagement of Billie Green, Detroit junior, to Ensign Joe Lancaster, former Hespie of the navy air corps. Billie received her ring last weekend.

Getting the jump on cupid is the announcement of the marriage of Lillian Askew, former Monroe sophomore, to T. Sel. Harold E. Dohn of the air force. The couple will exchange 'I do's' Saturday night in Monroe.

Taking the same vows on the same night will be Theta Jean Lumsden, aged Sigma Nu Jim Vardane with their supporting cast including Thetas Wanda Awrey Carrier and Evelyn Berg, Straight Phi Delt Dick Straight and Sigma Nu Lt. Bob Carrier. Several Thetas and Sigma Nus will be heading Detroit way this weekend to attend the wedding.

The AOPs were on the move last weekend but with different ends. Pres. Doris Baguley and Norma MacRae journeyed to Toledo, Ohio to assist in the installation of a new AOP chapter. Baby Theta Psi was installed at the University of Toledo.

Last in the list of weddings this week concerns one past rather than one in the future. A S. Thomas Cardinal, Phi Tau, made things definite on Nov. 4 with wedding services in New Mexico. The bride is Margaret Jeanne Krause, from Grand Rapids. The student bombardier and his bride are living at the Carlisle army air field in New Mexico.

MID-TERMS are over and finals way off in the distance. Three weeks, at least. And so, theoretically, here is a breathing spell, a time for doing all those hundreds of things put off. Here's a chance, for instance, to put your house in order. Stop envying the room next door, get out your thank-you raps and get to work.

A letter to Santa might bring you an all-wood State blanket to top off your bed. He buys them at Gard's for $19.95 in MSC green with a big white S. A bright pink one to the wife might send him to The Ink Pot for a pillow to match. That is, you furnish the pillow, they've got the covers. They're standard size, dark green wool felt, and patterned MSC in white, $3.50 the piece.

Kittens are fun, but unlike Mary's family, they can't come to school. Exception: A sleepy white kitty we found at the Pig N Whistle. He's tagged $3.00, so you see he isn't the mongrel variety. He's full-grown, has soft woolly fur, the usual green eyes, and ink felt paws.

If you're cramped for drawer space, Pig N Whistle has a flowered chintz suggestion, a miniature set of five drawers, about three feet high, one-and-a-half feet wide. It's made of composition, and priced $4.50 or, with slightly wider drawers, $5.25.

Campus Book Store received a supply of large, colorful world maps, portions of the entire world, and just right legiate-looking room.

They're the perfect that large empty wall you might even buy and pin them when friends are. The mass $3.50.

Dogs, the Lowly, the Humpty Dumpty, the born little mules, the dolls with yellow, the Marjorie Dee Shop has priced $1.00 and up. Little Black Mandy, dressed, is all young, still prone to bear, sweet, pink fur, to capture your heart.

15 Schools Will Send Teams Here for Four-Mile Meet

NCAA Event to Be Held on Spartan Course

More than 15 universities and colleges will send cross country teams to East Lansing for the sixth annual National collegiate athletic association cross country run Saturday, Nov. 25, Ralph H. Young, athletic director, announced yesterday.

A war time casualty last year, the number of entries for this year assures that the meet will be held. Indiana university and Pennsylvania State college tied for first place in the 1942 meet.

Participants Listed

Indiana is among the schools planning to compete this year, Young said. Deadline for filing entries to the meet is Saturday. State athletic department is sponsoring the meet as it has done every year since its inception.

The school listed as participating in the meet include: Albion, Cornell, Illinois, Iowa, Miami, Notre Dame, Oberlin, Ohio State, Purdue, Wayne, Wheaton, Wisconsin and Wisconsin State Teachers college at Milwaukee and State.

Coaches to Meet

Twenty other schools are being considered as possible entries for the meet. They are: Drake, Rhode Island and the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

In conjunction with the affair, the annual meeting of the NCAA cross country coaches association will be held Friday night, on the eve of the meet.

NCAA Rules to Hold

Regular NCAA meet rules will govern the event. Students enrolled in schools that are NCAA members are eligible to compete and their runner must be classified as undergraduate, amateur and academically eligible.

The race will be run over a 4.0 mile cross country course. Record for the course is 23 minutes and 18 seconds, set by Gene Hunter of Notre Dame in the 1942 meet.

Football Feast Will End Year For Spartans

Most Valuable Player Will Get Recognition at Banquet

With the annual football banquet Friday night the last note of the gridiron season will be sounded. The banquet will start at 6:30 p.m. and all awards to the team and individual players will be made then. The banquet will be the 24th annual affair.

The Spartans usually play host to about 350 high-school athletes who represent the all-state prep teams, but because of war-time restrictions on food and transportation this part of the banquet will be done away with. The banquet will be limited to 350 persons of the immediate vicinity of the college.

Awards to Be Presented

The players will be awarded their varsity letter, and also the team captain, the most valuable player, and the best blocker on the team will be presented with awards. The names of the award winners will not be known until the night of the feast.

Principal speaker of the banquet will be Jimmie Conzelman, assistant to the president of the St. Louis Browns baseball club, and former football mentor of Washington university, and the Chicago Cardinals professional football team. The theme of Conzelman's speech is not yet known.

Held in Union

The Spartans came through the season with an impressive record of six victories and one defeat.

The banquet will be held in the Union ballroom. The prizes awarded to the individual player are not known, but in recent years, the most valuable player has received a watch from the governor.

British Advance On Italian Front

ROME, Nov. 15 (AP)—The British eighth army, advancing from small bridgeheads established across the Montone river west of Forli, drove forward to a general line two miles north of a loop of the river and made good progress elsewhere along the eastern sector of the Italian front, the Allied command announced today.

After crossing the Montone eighth army units seized a foothold on broad highway nine, leading to Bologna, at a point two miles northwest of Forli, capturing Monte Poggiolo and the village of Villagrappa south of the road.

Resistance generally seemed to slacken in the hills below highway nine.
