Today's Campus

Sweating It Out

All in all it has been a pretty tough week for some of the former combat vets on campus trying to resume the role of a college student or become one for the first time. After a very trying first time, without success of attempting, without success, naturally, of getting books, naturally, of chow lines, and naturally, of home work, a former infantryman was heard to mutter when questioned by a comrade why he looked so sad, "Well, I'm suffering from combat fatigue."

Six Sins

It seems that John Milton, in a best-seller entitled "Paradise Lost," listed seven deadly sins—of which students in Miss Scholl's 8 o'clock English literature class were able to name only six. After a moment, however, a conscientious student came up with the last one: smoking on the campus.

One Track Mind

Cathy Korick, Seneca senior, was invited into a sorority sister's room at the Alpha Chi house Monday night after a rush party. When she and crackers were in order, Barbara Glassbrook, Seneca senior, politely inquired "do you like anchovy?" to which she absentmindedly replied, "I don't know, I didn't meet her."

Authority on England Prophesies Future of British Empire

Under the auspices of the Institute of International Education, Donald Grant, noted authority and lecturer on British affairs, has been visiting the campus for the past three days to talk with faculty and students on current world problems. Grant has travelled extensively over Europe and visited other parts of the globe as well. A graduate of Edinburgh university, where he took his M.A. in 1911, this Scots-highlander worked with the World Student Service fund from 1919 to 1925 before he went to New Zealand to direct the Student Christian movement. He stayed in New Zealand for five years. Since that time he has been returning in England and America with the expressed purpose of striving to bring about greater understanding of matters that concern both peoples. This is his first visit to the United States. Queried as to the future of Great Britain, Grant responded "I don't think the British empire will break or dissolve because it is not an organization, but only an association of free and equal nations."

Varied Affairs To Hold Sway This Evening

An open house, a radio party, and a semi formal dance make up tonight's social activities.

"Candy Carrousel" is the theme of the semi formal dance which the women of East and West Mary Mayo are giving tonight. Dick Snook and his orchestra will supply the music, which will take place from 9 to 12 in the Union ballroom. Susie Sanderson, Kalamazoo sophomore, and Helen Jackson, Detroit freshman, are the party chairmen, and Prof. and Mrs. Stuart Gallacher will be patrons for the affair.

Open House

Tonight's second group of hostesses will be the coeds of Mason hall who are holding an open house for all men students on campus. Social chairman Doris Baird, Ionia junior, has announced that the evening's program will be comprised of entertainment, dancing and refreshments. The open house will begin at 9 and last until midnight.

A pledge dance will take place over at FarmHouse tonight. Lynn Zimmerman, Fowlerville junior, is in charge of the party, and Dr. and Mrs. K. T. Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Berg will act as chaperons.

Cinderella Spin

Next Friday night the traditional coed bid party, the "Cinderella Spin" will take place in the Union ballroom. Ticket chairman Pat Darr, Detroit senior, has announced that tickets for the affair are now on sale in all dormitories, sorority houses, and at the Union desk.

Dean S. E. Crowe has announced that the college is sponsoring an all-college stag-drag dance on Jan. 25. It will take place in the auditorium from 9 to 12, and students will be admitted by their activity coupons.

Eisenhower To Face Congress Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — The army and navy agreed today to send Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to a senate-house meeting Tuesday in the demobilization furor.

The army reacted, too, by cutting the training period for troops to replace veterans overseas and deciding to let some long-service men out of the air force regardless of the need for specially qualified personnel.

Museum Inmates Rise to Register

By BOB BYERLY

Do animals register in college? While modern science has no record of an activity in animal society outside of an entire salmon population battling up a two-foot-wide stream or ducks flying south during the vacation rush, which is quite like an MSC registration, there is some reason to suppose that it has happened. In the college museum are a number of stuffed individuals who have the earmarks of going through it.

For instance, the "American Wapiti, male" just to the right of the door has the unmistakable look of frustration of one who knows what it is to have a name at the end of the alphabet when the line begins with "A." Although how he got there is something of a mystery, it is believed that he became lost trying to get into a closed section of psychology 101.

Juniors Set Date For College J-Hop; Choose Chairmen

After a two-year wartime absence from the MSC campus, the J-Hop will return this term in prewar style. The junior class officers meeting with Glen O. Stewart, class advisor and director of alumni relationships, set the date for Feb. 1.

John Kobs, East Lansing, has been chosen general chairman of the dance, according to Robert Carrier, president of the junior class from Detroit. Other chairmen and committees will be announced early next week, Carrier added.

The dance will be held in College auditorium and dancing will be from 9 p.m. until 3 a.m. Plans concerning the orchestra will be revealed at a later date.

Brown Lectures On Literature

John Mason Brown, teacher, author, lecturer and critic, and associate editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, delivered an entertaining and enlightening lecture in College auditorium last night.

Discussing the effect of the war, he said that the perils of the time we are now entering shall be more difficult than those of the war years. "No one has adequately dramatized the perils of peace as was done during the war," he declared.

Brown bemoaned the "tragic lack of leadership in the world today. We are at the present moment spiritually, as well as mechanically, demobilized," he maintained. "Never have people so needed to mobilize their positive instincts," he asserted.

The meat of the speaker's address was a bright analysis and estimation of current literature and drama. His smart, quipic descriptions were put across with a delightful flair, in an authentic, critic's style.

In conclusion, Brown stated: "We have been given a second chance. If we do not take advantage of it now, all of us deserve to be doomed." —M. S.

Strike Paralyzes Wires

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — America's vast long distance telephone system was virtually paralyzed tonight and a government official and seizure of the industry might be recommended if the strike situation became more acute.

Steel Walkout To Begin

Negotiations Fail; Philip Murray Announces 800,000 Workers To Begin Strike Monday

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Negotiations to avert a walkout by 800,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) broke down tonight and Philip Murray, CIO president, said the strike would begin as scheduled at 12:01 a.m. (EST) Monday.

Lecturer to Talk On South Africa

AUSTEN WEST

Beginning the world adventure series for this term will be Austen West, recently released from active duty with the South African army.

motion picture-lecture given tonight by West in College auditorium at 8:15.

West, born in Natal, South Africa, of English parentage, studied to be a lawyer. He became a sheep rancher because he liked the outdoors and took up photography first as a hobby and later as a career. While in the army West served as a lieutenant in the intelligence division.

The films show Capetown, with its famous Table Mountain, the gold mines of Johannesburg, farming and ranching in South Africa, the natives of the warrior nation of Zululand, and the huge game sanctuary of Kruger national park, nearly the size of Minnesota. One sequence of the color film reveals the coming-of-age ceremony for young men in the Kafir village.

they couldn't remember some of the information required. One forgot his mother's maiden name, while the other was unable to recall his shirt size. They died on the spot.

A Goat's Troubles

A mountain goat of a peculiar variety was, as it turned out, no better off than the squirrels. He became self-conscious about the spelling of his name before registration started and kept shifting backward in line continually until exhausted. An unknown benefactor placed him gently in the glass case in which he still stands.

Perhaps the most interesting case in the museum is that of an intellectual-looking owl, a transfer student from night school. Unlike his associates, he did not fall prey to the common pitfalls of college registration. Instead he went through in a hurry and got just what he wanted—all evening classes. But the poor fellow died from a heart condition brought about by shock.

BULLETIN

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP) — General Motors corporation today announced that the report of the presidential fact finding committee was not acceptable to it. The announcement was signed by C. E. Wilson, GM president.

The corporation announcement said the fact finders' recommendations for a 19½ cents an hour wage increase and the reinstatement of its contract with the CIO United Automobile workers was unacceptable "in whole or in part."

duced its wage demands from 25 cents an hour to 20 cents which he said "we believe to be reasonable," but he said the corporation offered only 15 cents an hour increase which the union considers "wholly inadequate."

The CIO chief, also president of the steelworkers, said his conferences with Fairless and "Big Steel" representatives were "now breaking up with no reasonable hope of settlement in the offing."

The strike, which would be the largest in the nation's history, would affect virtually the entire steel industry as well as other manufacturing plants whose workers are represented by the steel workers' union.

Returned Vets Enroll In Advanced ROTC

The advanced ROTC course, which is being reinstated at Michigan State, has proved popular, and approximately 30 veterans are now enrolled, according to Lt. Col. Gerald Peterson of the military department.

These men are taking advantage of the opportunity to receive a regular monthly income and to earn a commission in the reserve army.

The course is open to all returned veterans on campus, and those enrolled will receive three academic credits for five hours of class work per week. In addition, they will receive the complete army officer's uniform, including overcoat and shoes, and a monthly income equivalent to the garrison ration. This allowance is in addition to the GI bill of rights.

All veterans who are interested in the course are asked to contact Colonel Peterson at Demonstration hall.

Weekly Letter to Men in the Service

Jan. 12, 1946

DEAREST Johnny,
When I got that phone call from you collect, last night, I had to be revived by my buddies and they propped me up so I could talk to you. Wonderful invention the telephone. And I really don't mind that you talked for 15 minutes. Am writing you this last letter so you'll have something to read while you're home buying your civvies so you can take MSC by storm.
And just to give you a short briefing before you enter next term, I'll tell you that the ratio is slowly swinging back to the good 'ole 3-2. Right now it's one and one so competition is sluffing off.
Bring your pup tent because you'll probably have to pitch it somewhere on campus until they get the housing situation ironed out. Right now they have men hanging from the rafters anyplace where there's a roof to cover them. But you won't mind I know, because MSC is still the same and you'll get back into the swing of things soon enough.
Told you about the night classes so you shouldn't get killed in the evening rush. It's a boom town all right with an AA priority on tables in the grill.
Elections in the dorms and co-ops have gotten underway with a whole new flock of executives, and the lecture concert series is steaming along again; and I shouldn't forget to mention the Party-Party schedule which takes up every weekend. In other words, a good time will be had by all.
All the returned vets are starting things off at a fast rate, and from the looks of the happy coed faces, that pace is a good inspiration.
Now that you're home I'm letting my membership lapse in the Out-of-Circulation club, and I must say that I'm happy because dues were getting a little high.
Enough for now, Mr. Civilian.
It's been nice writing you, but it will be nicer knowing you.
Love,
DEE

Architect Takes Audience On Tour Of Future World

An imaginary tour through a community of the year 2000 was experienced by the capacity audience which heard Alden B. Dow, noted architect, speak in the Music auditorium Thursday evening.
Man's purpose of being creative will mold sculpturing, painting, glazing, and landscape gardening into homes and communities of beauty and neatness, Dow stated.
"It's not the nature of a human being to live in a home just like everybody else's," he said, urging variety in homes. Colored movies of Dow-designed homes in Midland showed large windows blending gardens and interiors into one.
He advocated extensive use of glass and saw the time coming when building exteriors will be lighted at night as a result of glass ceilings and walls.
"We're going to see buildings and houses that have never been dreamed of before," Dow emphasized. —T. N.

Center Reveals Plans Of Sunday Programs

International Center's Sunday evening programs for January will be centered around the study of college life in foreign countries. The first program will be held this Sunday night at 8 when Oley Coachman will speak about college life in Brazil.
On Jan. 20, Mikko Simonen and S. M. K. Kineshi will describe the life of a typical college student in Finland. College life in India will be explained by Lyla and Miriam Ghose and G. K. Chugani on January 27.

Daubert to Head Fraternity Advisors' Group

The Fraternity Advisors association held election of officers at the end of fall term, and the following officers were elected: president, R. B. Daubert; Lambda Chi; vice president, Carl Wright, FarmHouse; secretary and treasurer, L. A. Smith, Kappa Sig; and member at large, Harold Davis, Phi Delta Theta.
The first meeting of the Fraternity Advisors association will be January 15 in the Sunporch of the Union. Tom King, dean of men, will give a report at that time on the national Interfraternity council meeting held in December.

Senior proofs of pictures taken on Tuesday are ready. They may be picked up at the Wolverine office, according to Dorothy Englehardt, editor. It is important that all seniors who have not made appointments do so before Monday.

1946 MSC Tank Squad Rated One of Best In Spartan History

With one of the finest swimming squads he has ever coached, Coach Charles McCaffree, Jr. has lined up an array of meets to provide some of the toughest competition in the nation for his Michigan State natators.

With the squad composed of three members of last summer's national championship squad and a host of returning veterans, Coach McCaffree has plenty of material with which to work.

From Summer Team

In the sprint department, John DeMond and Jim Quigley, both members of last summer's squad, combine with Bob Allwardt, Zig Indyke, and Jim Thomas, while Abel Gilbert, Ecuadorian champion, Harland Dodge, Chuck Howie, Marv Johnson and Dean Waters will ride the waves in the distance free style events.

The backstroke field is led by Howard Patterson, runner-up in the NAAU, while Roger Brown and Harry Cooley add strength to this event. Paul Seibold, Tom Bolenbough, and John McGrath round out the team in the breast-stroke. Don Dunbar and Ross Kenyon handle the diving.

Northwestern Easy for MSC

The first meet with Northwestern proved an easy affair with the Spartan squad coming home from Evanston holding a 51 to 33 decision. The coming tilt with Illinois on Jan. 19 should not be too difficult for the Spartan natators.

Following the Illinois meet, Purdue will arrive on the Spartan campus on Feb. 25. The Boilermakers always have a fine squad and have not had any serious competition yet this season. U. of M. Will Prove Test

A week later the Spartans will get a severe test of the power they possess. Mat Mann and his University of Michigan squad will be their guests in a dual meet Feb. 2. Michigan is the top team in the Big Ten and ranks about third in the nation.

Having power in every event,

Charles McCaffree, Jr.

it will be anybody's meet when the two powerful squads clash in the Jenison gymnasium pool. Badgers Also On Card

Embarking on Wisconsin the swimmers will take on Wisconsin in its pool on Feb. 9. Immediately after this meet all the Spartan stars will join other outstanding swimmers from the state of Michigan, high school and college, in the annual AAU affair in Detroit on Feb. 16.

Another road meet will be with Ohio State on Feb. 21. Ohio State, rated close to Michigan, is expected to be bolstered by the return of many of the former stars of the nation.

If these men do return, Ohio State will easily be a top contender for all national titles. Sailors Have Powerhouse

Not giving his swimmers a moment's rest, Coach McCaffree has also lined up one of the top teams of the nation, Great Lakes. State nosed out the sailors this summer to win the national title, but since then the navy has been reinforced by Walter Ris, the only man ever to beat Alan Ford, the world's fastest swimmer. Ris and the rest of the team defeated Michigan last week, 43-41.

With Great Lakes the dual meet season is completed. On March 8 and 9 State will be host to the Central Collegiate championships.

Standout of this swim-fest will be the return of Bill Prew, former world's record holder of the 100-yard free style, toiling for Wayne university.

Another AAU Affair

Another AAU meet in Detroit on March 15 will wind up the season with the exception of the national meets.

The National Collegiate championships will be held at Annapolis, where talent from all over the nation will gather for a two-day affair beginning on March 29.

Spartan Cage Men Aiming At Fourth Straight Win Tonight

Michigan State's basketball quintet will probably run into no little trouble in trying for its fourth straight win tonight at 8 on the Jenison fieldhouse hardwood when the Spartans meet the University of Kentucky.

The Wildcat aggregation

has always been a national hardwood standout and last winter Coach Rudolph Rupp's lads went through three rounds of the Madison Square Garden invitational tournament after compiling a season of 22 wins and only four losses.

Twice last winter the Spartans and Cats met, with each club winning on its home floor. When Ben Van Alstyne's hoopmen pulled that 66-50 victory out of the hat in 1945 it was listed as one of sports biggest upsets of the year.

Split Six Times

In the six other times the quints tangled each won on its home floor. So according to this the Vanmen should be favored, but only in such a left-handed way of picking a winner could State be considered to end up on top this evening.

Van Alstyne will most likely have his five high scorers of Sam Fortino, Robin Roberts, Matt Mazza, Ollie White and Don Waldron go the majority of the contest in an attempt to keep pace with the 61 per-game point averaging Wildcats.

Coach Rupp will open with Jack Tingle and Bill Schu at forwards, Wah-Wan Jones, center, and Captain Jack Parkinson and Cap Beard at guards. All have been scoring very consistently in the Wildcat action so far this year, which saw them lose only to Temple.

Got 293 Points Last Year

Tingle hit for 293 tallies during the 1944-45 season and this season and this year he has been averaging between 10 and 15 tallies per game in monotonous regularity.

Most outstanding of the Cat newcomers is frosh star, Wah-Wan Jones, the boy with the name, who was such a sensation in Kentucky prep school ball the past four years. Mazza will watch the 6 feet 4 inch Jones and this will probably prove one of the toughest defensive assignments "The Man" has handled.

Next Tuesday the Spartans will journey to Detroit to meet Wayne university in their first of two home-and-home contests.

State Wrestlers Oppose Wheaton This Afternoon

By KEN CLARK

In the opening meet of the Michigan State varsity wrestling season Coach Fendley Collins' Spartan grapplers will tangle with Wheaton university's mat squad on the Jenison fieldhouse basketball court at 3 this afternoon.

Led by Gale Mikles, returning 145 pound NAAU champ, the Spartans promise to give Wheaton a busy afternoon. Jim Fraser, leading participant for the visiting grapplers at 136 pounds, will provide a real test for MSC's Gordon Cole.

Cole, greatly improved over last year, expects to avenge last year's pair of setbacks suffered at the hands of Fraser.

Wrestling for the Spartans for the first time since being discharged, are several former lettermen. Chief among these returned veterans are Jack Orr, 175 pound monogram winner, who served over four years in the navy and Iggie Konrad, 145 pound letterman, who fought with the 104th infantry division.

Both Orr and Konrad carry a lot of experience into Saturday's fray and are favored in their respective matches.

Hannah Explains Much Discussed Athletic Policy

Ever since Michigan State President, Dr. John Hannah delivered his recent speech condemning "commercialization" among college athletic programs, State students have been wondering what effect, if any, Hannah's ideas might have on the present Spartan sports setup.

Of particular interest is the question of post-season football bowl games and whether or not State's team, if asked in some future season, might accept. When this was asked of Hannah he stated: "State will cross that bridge when it comes to it."

Hannah's blast at the bowl games was directed at the schools which built their schedule in such a manner that their grid teams will surely get bids for the "jackpot" contests on New Year's day and thus help fill the institution's coffers.

This means certain "picked" opponents would have to appear on the card with only one or two real ball games each year. Michigan State could never be accused of following this sort of policy.

In regard to scholarships and subsidization, the MSC president explains that athletes at State are treated in the same way as students receiving free tuition for outstanding scholastic work. Of this the president said:

"Our record and policy will substantiate that State long ago placed the athletic scholarships in the hands of the same faculty committee that handles similar awards for non-athletes.

"The Jenison program provides for approximately 80 scholarships each year that allows the athlete tuition and living funds that is equal to that of any other State student on scholarship," President Hannah explained.

It's not hard to assume that college officials, athletic directors and coaches all over the United States will think often of President Hannah's vital message. A few may attempt to remodel their policy, but many more can't afford to make his suggested changes because of their already long-term contracts with "commercialized athletes."

Four Track Team Candidates Hold Purple Heart Medal

Among the many ex-servicemen who are candidates for MSC's indoor track team this winter are four wearers of the purple heart, and Coach Karl Schlademan claims that the former soldiers, sailors and marines are among the hardest working of his squad.

None of those men who were wounded display any disability from their injuries and are plugging away to get back into running shape. The former combat vets bandy humorous war stories around as they used to talk about their high school days while track candidates before the war.

was awarded the purple heart for wounds received after bailing out of a plane over Germany. He was taken prisoner and spent six months in a PW camp.

Another member of the cinder team "Purple Heart Club" is Walter Mack, distance runner, who was "hit" while fighting with the 1st marine division in the Southwest Pacific.

The club is rounded out by former lettermen Bob Carrier and Wayne Finkbeiner, hurdles and broad jump, respectively, who were both wounded while serving with the army air forces in the Pacific theater of operation.

Schlademan also has some other servicemen who were more fortunate in their "travels," by not running into any German or Jap bullets. This group includes Jack Dodge, who set the State varsity hurdle record before joining the marines; James Barbour, a letter man in the broad jump, also of the marines; Bob Carr and Bill Maskill of the army air forces ground crew.

Other veterans are Walt Beardley and Stew Mathias, both former Spartan stars who were with the air corps, and Ted Wonch, leading State pole vaulter in 1942 and '43 and one-time marine pilot.

BULLETIN

Reports in a Detroit paper quote Pete Dendrino, 235-pound tackle on the 1944 MSC football squad and now serving in the army, as saying that he will resume his studies and collegiate football career at the University of Michigan and not Michigan State, when he is released from service.

Dendrino can make this move legally as the Big Ten eligibility rules still are in a wartime status which has no one-year residence clause. However, it is expected that by next September the regular rulings will be resumed.

Up until press-time last night Coach Charlie Bachman could not be reached for a statement on the Detroit release, but it is believed the former Spartan lineman has not notified Bachman of his plans.

Michigan State is one of the few colleges in the United States that sponsor night intramural football.

Two State Coaches Due Back From Navy

A reunion is expected here for three State athletic coaches who went to war.

Lt. Albert Kawal, Lt. Edmund S. Pogor, who returned to the campus last week, and Lt. Francis Dittich, Jr., all entered the navy as commissioned officers, all saw service overseas and all returned to this country from Japan, their last station outside the United States.
