Enough's Enough

When the advanced military class went to Fort Custer to take their physical, they encountered another group of young men in the waiting room whom they thought were there for the same reason. When later on it was revealed that the others were there for their physical for induction into the army, the men from state immediately read all the papers three times, and their right hands were conspicuously kept in their pockets.

Packing 'Em In

Professor J. W. Shirley apologized to his class for the suit he was forced to wear because his wife kept packing his clothes in preparation for a trip abroad. He warned them not to be surprised if he should appear in his bathrobe some morning. One of his more liberal-minded students piped, "Oh, that's all right, but be careful she doesn't pack the bathrobe."

Name It

Well, there's name-calling and then there's naming. The Bud Smiths hailing from Dearborn, seem to go in for the latter in the family. Bud goes by the John Henry of "Smitty." The dog has the tale of "Duffy" and the baby's handle is "Snuffy."

Navy Announces More Personnel Point Cuts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The navy announced tonight further cuts in point scores for discharge.

Effective March 15 and again on April 2, the latest changes are expected to make an additional 14,700 officers and 176,000 enlisted personnel eligible for release.

The critical score for enlisted men, last set at 32 points for release after March 2, is reduced to 31 points effective March 15 and 30 points effective April 2, the navy statement said.

For make commissioned and warrant officers, the March 2 score of 39 is dropped to 38 after March 15 and 37 after April 2.

Rule Changes Congress Hits Two Features In Truman Bill CIO Asks Tool Die Makers To Halt Work

Changes in rules governing removal of grades "X" (condition) or "I" (incomplete) have been announced by the registrar's office. Grades of "X" or "I" may be removed without charge by completing required work or by examination, providing it is done before the end of the next term in attendance.

If not removed within this time, an "X" will become an "F" and an "I" will become an "N" (No Grade). To receive credit, a course marked "N" must be repeated in class.

Students need no longer apply at the Registrar's record office for permits to remove an "X" or an "I". They may make arrangements with the department concerned, which will in turn report the grade to the Registrar's record office on the "Special Report" form.

Congress Hits Two Features In Truman Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The House labor committee pulled two teeth from President's fact-finding bill today and shoved it to the floor for early consideration.

President Truman wanted action. But he also wanted the fact-finding boards empowered to examine company records and unions barred from striking during the process.

These two features were missing from the bill which the committee approved. Mr. Truman has said he thinks the measure will be useless without them.

Restore Features

There was general expectation among the congressmen, however, that efforts would be made to restore them in the form of amendments when the House takes it up. Some of the committeemen, in fact, said they voted for the measure with this expectation. See CONGRESS, Page 4

Army Vacates

More Rooms For Men Available After Feb. 1

The ASTRP unit at Michigan State will vacate Wells hall Saturday, and Wells hall will be available for housing an additional 211 men about Feb. 1, according to Tom King, counselor for men.

There are now 200 men living in Jensen fieldhouse, and about 110 in the Union. The Office of Veterans Affairs will consider these men first for rooms in Wells hall.

About 114 civilian men are now living in Wells hall, and after Feb. 1 the total number will reach 325. Three men are assigned to each room.

It is planned that an additional 50 trailers, part of the trailer camp located at Harrison and Kalamazoo roads, will be available for married veterans by the same date.

The availability of Abbot hall, which now houses 600 men, and Wells hall will relieve the housing problem somewhat. However, an additional 250 veterans have already made application to enroll at the second registration for this term on Feb. 4.

The Office of Veterans Affairs in Demonstration hall handles housing problems for only veterans, King added.

97 New Scholarships Offered To Eligible Graduate Students

Graduate students at MSC who can meet the requirements will be offered 97 new scholarships and fellowships ranging from $400 to $2,400 a year, according to Dean Ralph C. Huston, of the School of Graduate Studies.

Assistantships will be available in practically every department of the college. Twenty graduate students will give exemption from college fees and pay a stipend of $300 for the academic year.

Those interested should contact Dean Huston, 200 Kedzie Chemical laboratory.

Harold Stassen to Lecture

MSC to Hear Former Minnesota Governor

Captain Harold E. Stassen, aide to Admiral Halsey in the Pacific phase of the war, and former governor of Minnesota, will speak on the lecture-concert series Feb. 6, Dean S. E. Crowe, director, announced yesterday.

"Responsibilities of Victory" will be Captain Stassen's subject—a subject on which he should be qualified to speak as a result of his work at the San Francisco conference.

As governor of Minnesota following his election in 1938, Stassen's administration of labor-management relations and other state affairs won commendation as a model of executive skill and good government.

Born into a pioneer family, Stassen was reared on a farm near St. Paul, and at 16 entered the University of Minnesota, where he worked his way through school by doing odd jobs. He was active in student activities, as well. After getting his BA degree in 1927, he was graduated from the Law school in 1929.

Captain Stassen has been president of the Council of State Governments, chairman of the governor's conference, and has been honored by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, the International Society of Christian Endeavor, and the Academy of Social Science.

DETROIT, Jan. 22 (AP)—The CIO United Automobile Workers' union advised President Truman today it had withdrawn its acceptance of a compromise 17½ per cent wage increase in its dispute with General Motors corporation and reinstated its original 30 per cent increase demand.

At the same time the union called on tool and die workers in the Detroit area to halt all work for General Motors next Monday.

The latter action was taken, a union spokesman said, because "we have waited in vain for GM to join with us in acceptance of recommendations of the President's fact-finding board."

Deadline Set

The union had set today as the deadline for General Motors to reconsider its rejection of the fact-finders' recommendations. A company spokesman said it was standing on its last offer of approximately 12 per cent increase.

"The General Motors corporation," said the union in a letter to the President, "is in open revolt against the American government and the people and is in a conspiracy to destroy organized labor."

"Forces allied with General Motors are ready and willing to bring about a total paralysis of American industry in order to resist equitable wage increases; to set us on the road to inflation through higher prices and to wipe off the statute books every piece of construction social legislation enacted in the last 15 years," it added.

Advocate Policies

"The policies they advocate," the letter continued, "are directly contrary to the policies of the government; they are contrary to the wishes of the overwhelming majority of the American people; they are an outright betrayal of the ideals and principles for which we fought a costly and bloody war."

There was no immediate comment from General Motors.

Involved in the tool and die stoppage would be approximately 3,000 workers in the Detroit district. Additional thousands of such workers are employed outside Detroit.

Stoppage Effect

Just what effect the stoppage would have on GM plants already closed for 53 days was not immediately explained by union spokesmen. One of them said:

"We have been reluctant to bring this weapon to bear on the corporation because we hoped a satisfactory settlement could be reached without tying up essential tool and die work needed for reconversion, but we have waited in vain for General Motors to join with us in acceptance of recommendations of the President's fact-finding board."

Strike Notice

Such a strike, growing out of a dispute over a 30 per cent wage rate demand, would involve approximately 10,000 skilled workers, Hammond said.

Must The People Suffer?

Our country faces its greatest economic crisis in history: 1,650,000 workers have gone out on strike throughout the nation, 126,000 in Michigan alone.

Steel production has stopped. This means that 40 per cent of all workers in the nation's industries will shortly be idle. They cannot work without their basic material — steel.

Hardly less important, but surely more urgent, is the meat strike. Unless measures are taken to put the major packing plants back into operation, the American people will face a scarcity of meat more severe than at any time during wartime rationing.

To date, more than $100,000,000 in wages has already been lost in the major strikes now in progress. How many more millions will be lost is yet unknown.

Labor and management struggle for the upper hand, while the public, at the mercy of both, looks to the White House for action. What is going to be done?

In his message to Congress Monday, President Truman declared that "the government, acting on behalf of all the people, must assume the ultimate responsibility for the economic health of the nation."

With this promise, why, then, are not immediate steps taken by the government toward settling industrial disputes and keeping the gears of our economic life in mesh?

The people's faith in the Truman administration hangs in the balance. Now or never, Mr. Truman!

That Does It

By MARION BECKEL

SOMEONE should do something about it. That's the good stock phrase usually used to designate any situation which needs correcting, but you have to know what the score is before you can start making suggestions. This is the case with the Michigan State college Student Council.

Frequently last term, and several times already this term, the council has been in the limelight. Invariably each time, the question comes up as to just what is this Student Council, what does it do and why.

Just what it is is a comparatively simple matter. It's the top student organization on campus whose purpose, to quote the Council's constitution, "shall be to enable the study body, through representatives, to so direct those student affairs and student organizations as best to promote the welfare of the institution and the student body."

Membership on the Council has been much disputed through the years. In 1932, for example, it included nine active members, six from the classes, with three seniors, two juniors and one sophomore, and the three upper class presidents.

Four more students attended the meetings as ex-officio members, the managing editor of the State News, the freshman class president, a Varsity club representative and a representative from IFC. These latter students could not hold office, and had no vote.

In June of 1936, the late James T. Caswell, political science professor at State who guided constitutional difficulties for many years prior to his death this summer, rewrote the constitution. His revisions allowed for specific means for filling vacancies in elective positions by installing the next eligible candidate of the last election.

Along about November of 1937 representation and membership to this body came up for more discussion. When the shouting and noise cleared away, there was a 17-member council with the divisions of the college serving as basis for election.

Two students from the liberal arts division were in, with one from each of the other five college divisions. All four class presidents were given active membership position. Besides the three ex-officio members of the former set-up, the presidents of AWS, men's council, religious council and Union board were added along with the senior and junior vice presidents.

All of the divisional members of the Council were elected to their positions sometime during winter term, and held them for one year.

This was the case until the war came to MSC and took away the men, and the bulk of enrollment. During the 41-42 year, a provisional constitution was put into effect which arranged for six divisional representatives who were chosen by the Council from petitions submitted.

This did away with the elections, it also permitted the group's officers to be elected from any of the members except the representatives of AWS, CDC, PanHel and State News.

Today's Council, still under the provisional constitution until adequate corrections are made, consist of these six divisional members, ten ex-officio members — representatives from AWS, CDC, PanHel, State News, Union board, women's dorms and co-ops, IFC, the Interfaith council and American Legion, plus the junior and senior class officers.

These students are a representation of the campus, but several major changes have outmoded the method by which they were selected. (a) Increases in the enrollment, (b) The Basic college system, which has gained ground over the divisional procedure, are the two chief situations which no longer make the Council a completely fair representation of student enrollment.

The proposed revision for the student governing body's constitution. See THAT DOES IT, Page 8.

MSC Military Department Holds Interesting Army History Record

By DON BALL

Little known to the average student on campus is the fact that some of the oldest instructors on campus are officers and men in the military department.

That department was first activated in 1884, and the present ROTC was a direct product of the National Defense act of 1920, and MSC was among the first to inaugurate the present setup.

Among the first to arrive were Captain Atchinson and S/Sgt. Ralph Porter in 1919, who are still on campus. At that time there were only three branches, including infantry, coast artillery, and cavalry.

The armory was in the present site of the old half of the Music building, and the drill field has since been turned into what is now the intramural sport field in front of the Women's gym.

Beaumont Replaces Garage
Beaumont tower was non-existent and the coast artillery garage stood there. The college buildings then consisted of those buildings that now stand on the loop with the exception of the library, Beaumont tower, Union and new Music hall.

The cavalry stables stood at the present location of the police barracks, and students of that branch were no doubt housed in the stables.

Cavalry Stands First

The cavalry unit has been the years stood at the head of the class throughout the history, with a stable of horses numbering as high as 78 in 1919.

S. Sgt. Joseph Lee, who was in charge of the stables, died, and has worked there since his arrival in 1932.

With 1,800 students in 1932, the organization reached its peak in 1942 with 2,500 cadets enrolled in basic and advanced.

The field artillery was added in 1937 and when the program moved out there were six units, including the quartermaster and signal corps. The detachment includes eight officers, 100 enlisted men, and one unit of the WAC.

New Course: Students Offered Textiles Program

Both two year and four year retailing majors will be required to take a new three credit course now offered in the school of home economics. The course is titled Textiles, Clothing and Related Arts 276.

The course is called non-textiles and is offered to both men and women students.

In a recent interview, Miss Dorothy Benson, assistant professor of textiles, clothing and related arts, said that the new course will cover such areas as fabrics, dyes, glassware and jewelry.

Some of these areas have been lightly touched upon in other home economics courses, but it has been thought for some time that a more thorough study was advisable for retailing majors.

Plans for the course include several trips to Lansing and East Lansing stores in order to become more familiar with trends and qualities of merchandise. Such trips should also serve to familiarize the student with the merchant's viewpoint.

During the term each student will give a sales demonstration in one article connected with the course, using actual merchandise.

Two sections of the course are underway this term and although students from freshman to senior standing are now enrolled, it has been recommended that it be taken in the retailing major's freshman or sophomore year.

Prerequisites for the course are H&E 115 for Home Economics students or TC&E 175 for two year students majoring in merchandising.

Club Names Officers

The Michigan State Amateur Radio Club has announced the following officers who were elected recently: chairman, Dick Hedges; Jackson, freshman; and secretary, Richard Pennington, East Lansing sophomore. The club's treasurer, Howard G. Giddens, is a sophomore.

Shopping Sortie

By PAT DELAHUNTE

THE situation at State being almost as it used to be, way back before the war, gals are getting out their charm garb, and returning guys are beating paths to the stores, in hopes of finding a shirt or two that the coeds haven't taken for their own.

So it's time to go back to feminine wear, and with plans for future dates and fun, many gals will be looking for a sharp black job. A dress that's pretty but not gaudy is required, and Jacobson's is showing a dream number in black crepe, with slim lines, a low V neck, and a black batiste peplum with just the right swish. The shoulder interest is a bow knot on each cap sleeve. The price, $39.95.

Another date-bait item for all coeds who love to be lovely are the gold or silver plated chokers, at $1.25 and $2.25, shown at Swain's.

There's going to be a wild race for the nifty McGregor all wool shirts at Small's. They come in a variety of mad plaids, for $9.50, and are wonderful for winter weather, for guys or gals.

The newest sportswear shown this winter in the east are corduroy pedal pushers, long shorts with a double button front, ideally suited to outdoor action or just lounging around. The Style Shop has this winning assignment in sporty togs, in green, black, aqua and orange, at $5.95.

Every coed will agree that the find of the week is the versatile Hylander sandal when she sees the wedge heel and platform sole, which make this shoe suitable for dress up dates, or dream dancing. Shepard's are showing them in black or brown half kin, at $6.95.

SORORITIES SELECT

Pledge Ceremonies Climax Sorority Rushing Tonight

Sorority rushing will come to a climax tonight as the 16 women's fraternal organizations hold pledging ceremonies.

Four hundred women were registered this term under the deferred rushing system which was used at State for the first time this year. This system requires that every rushee must have attended one term at State and have attained a 1.0 all-college average before she is eligible for rushing.

During the rushing period which began on Jan. 6, with a formal tea, the sororities have entertained at a series of parties which ended with the formal preference dinner last Sunday.

After a three week wait, informal rushing will be permitted. These parties, date and time are left up to the individual sororities.

Women's Dorms Reveal Officers

Three women's residences have announced the results of elections for winter term officers.

West Mayo officers are: president, Geraldine Johnson, Grand Rapids sophomore; vice-president, Norma Maxwell, Jackson junior; secretary, Betty Derrick, Detroit sophomore; treasurer, Anna Kazenka, Silverwood senior; social chairman, Beth Alcock, Port Huron junior, and assistant social chairman, Ruth Hart, Detroit junior.

Results of the recent election at Mason hall reveal that Doris Pick, Grosse Pointe junior, will preside as president; Louise Ellings, Chicago junior, will act as vice president; Joan Rahm, Iron Mountain sophomore, secretary; and Barbara Couture, West Branch junior, treasurer.

U.S. to Control Strike-Bound Meat Plants

Government Proposes Wage Increase For Electrical Workers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson said tonight the government would seize strike-bound meat packing plants and White House sources indicated the order would go out tomorrow.

At the same time, in a day of fast-breaking labor developments, government procurement agencies proposed a 15 per cent wage increase for 650,000 shipyard workers and disputants in the week-old electrical industry strike agreed to accept mediation.

Officials of the CIO meat packers, headed by President Lewis Clark, spent the day in conference with labor department officials. Tonight, Gibson told newsmen the union leaders had "made no commitments."

When asked if this would delay the government's move, Gibson replied that it would not; the seizure would take place regardless. At one point he said it was his "understanding" the seizure would be carried out, but in response to other questions he made the flat statement.

Eugene L. Warren, chief of the Federal Conciliation Service, told reporters he had been assured by T. J. Lloyd, an official of the AFL Meat Cutters and Butchers union, that AFL workers would return to work if the government took over.

Book Union Strike Holds Up Orders For Vet Books

Seventy-five percent of the veterans on campus have their books, Tom King, head of the Veterans' Council, announced today. The remainder have a few, although there are still some who have none at all.

One reason for the book shortage is the little publicized strike of the bookbinder's union. In addition, the publishers still are unable to get paper in sufficient quantity, he added.

Up until winter term, orders were wired in, and the books were received not later than four or five days after. Now wire service is disrupted and it takes that much longer for publishers to get the orders and fill them.

King denied that the Veterans' council had any idea of the true number of students enrolling in winter term. There are now 2,400 veterans on campus, 600 more than were planned for. The sudden influx of students started the first day of registration week and continued up to and including last Saturday. With the conditions as they are, and the unpredicted number of students, the result was inevitable, King said.

'Move Over Bub' Becomes Housing Theme

By BOB BYERLY

This housing situation could be a lot worse than it is. In fact, there are very few people who are really dissatisfied with it, unless it would be the local dentists. They naturally are resentful of any kind of congestion because of their long experience in working in the wide open spaces. On the whole, however, adjustments to crowded living conditions have been made gracefully.

A few cases in point support the thesis. Take the 200 men living in Jenison gym. Those fellows have worked out a whole new social scheme, with compactness and brevity as the keynotes. Not only do they utilize every bit of space, but also they have developed the habit of not wasting any words either; they use numbers instead. One can imagine how a typical conversation would sound. Or can one?

Oh, What Fun

In Mason, Williams, Mayo and Campbell dorms, where three women share a room, another important discovery has been made, an idea so simple that one wonders why it was not discovered sooner, namely: in choosing one roommate, why not take two or three? They're small, and seem to be very plentiful.

There are approximately 112 men housed upstairs in the Union. This brings to mind some pertinent data dug up by a couple of four-year-old housing specialists who are presently doing research work in the sociology department of the home economics nursery (this department meets over by the swings). They discovered that for every 19 men housed on the campus, there are a couple of guys living somewhere else who are probably just as crowded.

Flying High

Wherever one goes on the campus, he cannot help but be impressed with signs of good old American ingenuity. Where but in this country, for instance, would one find a river or a carillon tower even being considered as possible sites for a campus home? Yet what students have not seen those ex-sailors occupying houseboats on the Red Cedar or the newly-discharged flight officers moored at the top of Beaumont? (Please do not write in a long, embarrassing list of names to this department regarding this.)

Although unorthodox living conditions are becoming almost a commonplace, a certain J. J. Smith, late-returning student on the campus, unable to find a place to stay for several days, has a setup that is quite a little out of the ordinary. He took up residence in the second telephone booth in the lower Union lobby. Sleeping, Smith says, was difficult at first until the ring was muffled somewhat and people began to be more considerate about not dropping coins down his throat. But like most other students on the campus, he gets along.

Boarder Wanted

Lately there have been some indications that things are on the upswing regarding housing. In the first place, the animal husbandry department announces that a number of box stalls might soon be ready for occupancy. Secondly, word has just been received that a local purple martin family has indicated its willingness to lease an upstairs apartment to someone short in stature and with some flying experience. Finally, who knows how long it will be before the top will blow right off this thing and one can rent space under a table in the grill for the asking?

School for Blind Offers Course In Practice Training

Students training to become teachers of the blind will have an opportunity to do practice teaching at the Michigan School for the Blind through a cooperative arrangement with the state institution, according to Dr. Cecil V. Millard, director of the division of education.

The course will be in the nature of a one-term internship during which students will live at the School for the Blind and work under the direction of Wallace Finch, superintendent.

Preliminary classes being held now will lead to the practice course to be offered next fall for the first time.

There is a great need for teachers in elementary education for the blind, Millard added, and he pointed out the gains to be realized from working and living with blind students in understanding their problems.

Gen. Eisenhower Faces Barrage Of Irate Mothers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was faced into a verbal ambush of war mothers today, heard at length their complaints about demobilization, and promised them his autograph.

From half a dozen tables of mothers, about 20 of them representing organizations devoted to obtaining the release of soldiers' fathers, gathered in a hallway in the House office building. They had heard that the army chief of staff was due to explain demobilization to the House military committee.

Unwarned and unguarded, Eisenhower walked toward the committee room. Before he could sign in, he was backed into a corner of the office of Chairman May (D., Ky.) and faced a withering barrage of questions. They all dealt with the theme: "When do we get our husbands back?"

Concert Series Program Books String Quartet

Monday night the Budapest string quartet will appear in concert at College Auditorium as a special on the lecture-concert series.

The quartet is composed of Jose Roismann, first violin, Edgar Ortenberg, second violin, Boris Kroyt, viola, and Maria Schneider, violoncello.

Consisting of three parts, the program will include the compositions of Haydn, Beethoven and Brahms.

Part I of the program will open with the playing of Haydn's Quartet in D major, Op. 76, No. 2. The quartet will play four movements of the quartet.

Quartet in E flat major by Hindemith was dedicated to the Budapest string quartet and was first performed by them at the Library of Congress in 1944. The quartet is written in a lyrical mood.

Concluding the program, the quartet will play Beethoven's Quartet in E flat major, Op. 127.

All-College Mixer Dance Heads Weekend Social Schedule

Phi Deltas, Alpha Xi Deltas Plan Term Parties

Winter term has long been known as the "party term," and this year is no exception. Proof of this fact is the seven parties which have been planned to date for this week.

The party with the most far reaching interest is the all-college stag drag dance which will be presented in the college auditorium Friday night. Rosemary Howland and her orchestra will furnish the music from 9 to 12 for this informal dance. The mixer will be sponsored as a part of the lecture concert series and students will be admitted by activity coupons.

Formal Dances Planned

The Phi Deltas have decided to have their party Friday night, and it will take place at the Hotel Olds. Chuck Lentz, St. Louis senior, is in charge of the affair.

The weekend's second term party is slated for Saturday night. The Union ballroom will be the scene of the Alpha Xi Deltas formal dance. Carolyn Forrester, Highland Park sophomore, is chairman for the party.

Another Saturday night party will be given by the Alpha Gamma Rho. A radio party is planned and Joseph Heger, Hydro Okla. junior, is in charge of making plans for it.

Other Parties Scheduled

The Alpha Omicron Psi have planned a party for the same night and Doris Baguley, Lansing senior, will act as chairman for this affair.

An ice skating party also has been planned by Student Club for Friday night. The party will leave from Peoples church at 8 and will return at 11:30. Another group taking advantage of the weather is Spartan Curran Fellowship who plan to skate for Saturday night.

Party-Party To Continue As Sat. Feature

Party-party will continue this term as a weekly Saturday afternoon entertainment program and will feature a variety of campus orchestras. It was announced following a meeting of Union board executive council.

Orchestra arrangements for this week are not yet complete, according to Dick Mosher, East Lansing junior and band chairman, but music-makers will be revealed later in the week.

Party-party is held from 3 to 5 p.m. each Saturday in the Union ballroom. In addition to dancing, tables will be provided for students who wish to play cards or board games.

Since "Spartan Varieties" has been postponed indefinitely pending American Federation of Musicians' approval, the executive council decided to rotate available orchestras for each Party-party, subject to the discretion of Union board.

Party-party is informal and open to all students who may attend singly or with dates. Tickets must be purchased at the Union desk, according to Chairman June McNutt, Detroit senior, since they cannot be sold at the door. Refreshments will be sold on the second floor of the Union during Party-party hours.

Out of Nowhere—

By DEE DEARING

Was listening to the radio the other afternoon and got so engrossed that I was not out my 2 o'clock. For some I thought I'd tuned in on a man-from-Mars thriller. The program's name I didn't know but the theme might well have been "Hypnotia."

With the sentimental strains of "Love You Truly," a young couple were being interviewed. She was sitting on the aisle, married and they sound very happy. But who wouldn't be in a wedding dress, wearing nylons, a bouquet of gardenias and a wedding ring. All a bride needs, all a bride needs.

I swallowed three or four times. That's enough, I thought. The couple were being interviewed. A Perry Como tenor was singing a song, and the minister was doing a little job. When the couple came back to the mike, they were Mr. and Mrs. and the minister had another little gift for them.

The bride was given her choice of a complete set of silver and a parting gesture was to be driven to the spot where the Honeymoon would fly them to their destination. At that point a limousine would pick them up and drive them to their honeymoon. And as a final parting gift the bride was given a set of nine outfits from Sak's.

It took me a long time to read the letter to Ross Mulholland, a barefoot boy with lots of never written a fan letter before, but I find that now's the time I've been hearing wild tales from you, first from the army and now here not so long ago, and now from my female friends. But it has all been good.

Haven't had the privilege to listen to your radio program until this term, when the administration didn't see fit to schedule all my morning classes at 11 a.m.

You are the first radio announcer I have ever listened to who has had the nerve to laugh at the commercials and poke a little fun at the poor demented souls who write the lyrics and music for dog food, shampoo, bananas etc.

For a while I was worried for I thought the commercial writing big boys in radio were really serious about their work.

You are my kindred soul, Ross. Just one more thing. I have a request for you. Will you please play "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead You Rascal You," and dedicate it to the writer of the Perk dog food blurb?

CONGRESS

pectation in mind in order to get action.

The committee rejected the President's plan 13 to 5. It then approved, 10 to 8, a version by Rep. Landis (R., Ind.) which establishes fact-finding boards but denies them subpoena authority and provides no "cooling-off" periods.

Stricter Plans

Those who favor stricter strike legislation announced plans immediately to try and write stronger language into the bill when it reaches the floor, probably next week.

Rep. Hook (D., Mich.), a committee member, said several attempts were made in the committee to prevent sending any bill to the floor. One of his motions for a continued investigation failed only by a 9 to 9 tie vote.

Close Cage Contest Tonight

Dangerous Detroit Quintet Here

In all probabilities there will be a very close basketball game this evening when Michigan State meets the University of Detroit Titans at 8 on the Jenison field-house hardwood.

Past seasons have shown that no matter what kind of records the two teams carry into the annual Spartan-U. of D. affairs, the score is tight and the battles plenty exciting. Last year's pair of runaways by by State can hardly be counted in this class because the Titan athletic setup suffered much more from lack of man-power during the war than MSC's did.

However, the Detroit eagles will need no excuse this winter with Coach Lloyd Brazil bringing a pre-war caliber outfit to East Lansing. So far the Titans have only dropped one tilt while winning seven. The loss was an early season defeat at the hands of Illinois.

Krall at Center Post

In an effort to control the backboard, Coach Ben VanAlstyne will start Shorty Krall in the center slot. With his 6 foot 7 inches of height around the nets, Krall should be able to grab the majority of rebounds from the Titans, who have Gino Sovran at 6-4 as their main backboard man.

Krall will also be expected to guard the accurate shooting Sovran, current leader of Detroit individual scorers. Before coming to the Titan campus Sovran played with Assumption college in Canada where he netted 1,000 points in three seasons.

GINO SOVRAN

Sovran has been bothered by an ankle injury the past two weeks, but he managed to see 29 minutes of action last Saturday in the Detroit win over Marquette. Brazil said yesterday that his star pivot man will probably be ready to start this evening.

Got 14 Against Marquette

Teaming with Sovran on the Titan first five will be Jack Richardson, who made 14 tallies in the Hilltopper contest; Bevis Fraser, forwards; Art Stolkey and Ed Bartz, guards.

Stolkey was with Detroit in 1942 when it upset a highly favored State quintet, 39-37, after the Spartans had rolled over teams like Michigan, Great Lakes, Marquette and Butler while compiling 13 wins.

In that game Stolkey scored the winning basket in the final minutes of play and his actions will bear plenty of watching tonight. Either Sam Fortino or Robin Roberts, starting forwards for the Spartans, will get the job of watching Stolkey.

Waldron, White in Back Line

Beyond keeping the Titan ace on hand, both Fortino and Roberts are counted on by Coach VanAlstyne to hit the torrid backboard, getting pace of nights like they had against Syracuse, when the pair scored 45 points.

In the back line for State will be Don Waldron and Ollie White, another pair of very talented scorers. Last Friday Waldron really was hot as he poured through 20 points in Chicago Stadium hoops as DePaul took State by a scant six points.

Two Records Broken
By Spartan Coed
In Swimming Meet

After taking swimming honors in a Detroit meet last Saturday, Donna "Sunny" Maddock, outstanding Michigan State coed tank star, broke two records in WAA competition the opening night of the current women's swim competition.

In the Motor City, Sunny took the 75-yard back stroke title and then was nosed out of the 400-yard free style event by one-tenth of a second.

Back on campus she spashed the breaststroke mark of 2:18 held by Edna Hartman, Alpha Xi Delta, and then broke Jean Procter's backstroke record of 2:18, slicing the time to 1:55.

A native of California, Miss Maddock was the protégé of Ann Curtis, nationally known amateur champion. She plans to enter other meets sponsored by the Detroit department of recreation.

Portland Buys Back
Orrell From Tigers

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 22 (P)—The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League have bought back "Bullet" Joe Orrell, right handed pitcher, from the Detroit Tigers, General Manager William H. Klepper said today.

Orrell, sold to Detroit after the 1942 season, has been shifted between the Tigers and the Buffalo Internationals. He will join the Beavers in February at their San Jose, Calif., training camp.

State Swimmers Go After
Third Win Over Big Ten Foe

Attempting to knock off its third Big Ten opponent, Coach Charles McCaffree, Jr., and his swimmers will meet Purdue university's squad Friday night at 7:30 in the Jenison pool.

This will be the seventh meeting of the two teams, each team having won three meets previously. In their last clash, Purdue came out on top side, 48-36.

State was handicapped by the loss of their breast-strokers in that meet, but Coach McCaffree promises his squad will be in the peak of condition Friday.

State will go into the meet the favorites, as Purdue has lost to Northwestern 44-40, while MSC took the measure of the Wildcats 51-33. Purdue also was humbled at the hands of the star-studded Great Lakes crew, 52-32.

Major interest of the meet will be the clashing of the two teams' stars, the Spartans' Abel Gilbert and Purdue's Dick Hennigan, in the 220 yard freestyle has hit 2:17.6 in swimming against Michigan this season, while Gilbert got the distance in 2:17.6.

Although Gilbert has swum the 440 yard freestyle season, he holds the team record in 4:54.6. He was swimming for Penn State in 1944 placed fifth in the National Collegiate with a time of 5:06.8. Hennigan did 5:06.8 for this season.

MSC tankers will be expected to snap several varsity and records in gunning for the third straight win. This will also feature the return of Howard Patterson, who has been laid up with the flu.

Hermie Says —

By TOM RIORDAN

THERE'S still going to be more snow and cold weather, but we can't help thinking of the coming Spartan baseball season. The boys are already taking daily workouts in Dem hall trying to win a spot on the first postwar Michigan State diamond team.

And for the first time in four seasons John Kobs will be taking his club on a southern trip during the spring vacation time. This in itself is enough to make the candidates really get into shape and put out.

We talked with "Smiling John" the other afternoon and he's very anxious to have big student turnouts for the Spartan ball games this spring. Kobs wants to arrange the time of games so that it will be most desirable to the student body and toward this end he is arranging the schedule.

Twilight Contests Later

Of course the first few contests on Old College field, one of the finest diamonds in the country, will have to start at the usual 4 p.m., because the evenings aren't long enough during April and early May, but later on as the sunset is delayed, he plans to hold twilight contests, beginning at 6.

The first time this was tried at State, back in 1942, it proved very popular and crowds of 2,500, an almost unheard of figure for college baseball attendance, watched the Spartans play. This twilight opening time gives the spectators time to eat and get to the park to enjoy and hear to a half of good baseball.

With all the excellent material on hand it looks as though Kobs is going to have a really fine ball club. The boys will probably revive the old favorite, "Buckle Down, Joe Skrocki, Buckle Down," which they chanted at the husky right-hander the afternoon he beat Michigan. Skrocki is back and Kobs predicts another bang-up season for him.

Steffee Also Serving 'Em Up

Also on the mound staff will be Keith Steffee, army air force hero who was discharged a year ago and handled mound duties for State last spring as the Spartans compiled a 14 games won and four lost season.

Since there are so many fellows desiring to play ball, Kobs stated he is probably going to have a "B" team that will play a regular schedule, using as its personnel the men who are not quite varsity caliber as yet.

All in all it looks like a very full spring for the veteran coach, his baseball men and MSC students.

Two NFL Players
Bolt to AA Teams

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—Two more National Football League stars, Joe Aguirre, Washington Redskins, and Charley O'Rourke, Chicago Bears, are jumping the All-America conference.

Aguirre, 230-pound place-kicking end, told a reporter today that he "dishes the set-up" here, there are "too many coaches," and he will sign with Los Angeles, Chicago or New York of the new league.

Dudley DeGroot, head coach of the Los Angeles club, said in New York that O'Rourke will play for him next fall. DeGroot coached the Redskins to the National League's eastern division championship last season, but quit the Washington club last week.

Former Boston College Star

O'Rourke, a former Boston college star, played with the Bears in 1942 before entering the armed forces.

National League sources here said that the veteran Sid Luckman stood between O'Rourke and the first-string quarterback position on the Bears. O'Rourke, they added, had told the Bears he wanted to be on a team with which he could play regularly.

Aguirre and the Redskins apparently came to a mutual parting of the way. Redskin officials said the Redskins intended to trade Aguirre to some other National League club.

He played college ball at St. Mary's in California and indicated he will join the Los Angeles club since his "family interests" are on the west coast.

Starts Tonight

Shorty Krall, pivotman for the Spartan cage men will be on the starting lineup in the State-Detroit classic tonight.

Army Surplus Goods
Given Release With
New Official Move

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—The army announced today it has declared surplus $9,212,588 worth of clothing, including 921,376 pairs of shoes and several million yards of textiles.

Sales programs are being prepared by the war assets corporation, and the items will be offered to priority claimants and dealers in the near future.

The material includes 5,178,333 yards of cotton cloth, 767,962 yards of cotton duck, 291,390 yards of alpaca and wool pile, and 40,240 yards of nylon chute cloth.

Also in the list are 30,984 WAC skirts, $2,148,461 of photographic equipment, 1,729,779 rolls of waterproof wrapping paper, 7,839,880 pounds of gun powder, 565 horses and 335 mules.

Spartan Grapplers Train For Tough Purdue Match

By KEN CLARK

Sparked by veteran matmen Gale Mikles and Iggy Konrad, undefeated Spartan wrestlers are preparing for the coming meet with Purdue's 1945 Big Ten championship team at 8 Friday night in the Jenison fieldhouse.

Coach Collins feels that the positions held by Mikles and Konrad are only filled, but pointed out that the rest of the arguments are a team up as far as the coming meet are concerned.

Five major letter winners make up the nucleus of the Spartan wrestling team. Four from last year's championship aggregation and one returned veteran was a member of the 1942 Big Ten championship mat team.

Facts Big Ten Champ
Martin Rajcewicz, 175 pound, Big Ten champion, will oppose veteran Jack Orr of State. Rajcewicz has won one and lost one so far this season, while Orr has split in his two matches. Both have plenty of experience and have met and defeated some of the country's best grapplers.

Ken Mottelson, 136 pound, Big Ten runner-up, will take on Gordon Cole or Bill Mowbray of State. It has not yet been determined which will get the starting nod.

Bob Folk, who placed third in the Big Ten last year at 145 pounds, will tackle a man-sized argument when he tangles with the veteran Iggy Konrad, the star at that weight.

Ray Gunkel, Purdue heavyweight, won his major letter in the Big Ten champs last year and is sure to give State's champion star, Bob Maltigen, a sore test.

Won in 1943
The last time Coach Claude Clark sent his Purdue Grapplers into a fray with the Collins team was in 1943. In that meet he was wiped off with the big score of a 23-11 score.

Michigan State's squad, under Clark, is consistently a wrestling stronghold. No one knows better than the Boilermakers in the State camp too, a respect is felt for the prowess of Purdue matmen.

The Boilermakers have been consistently well up in the Big Ten circles. The 1946 edition is no exception, with half a squad members of Big Ten championship teams. Both Purdue and State carry untarnished records into Friday's meet.

Iggy Lambert Quits Purdue Coaching Job

AFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 22 (AP)—I. (Iggy) Lambert resigned today as head basketball coach at Purdue university after years of service, during which he won or shared in Big Ten titles eleven times.

Lambert will continue on the faculty as a professor of physical education and as head basketball coach.

President Frederick L. Hovde, Athletic Director Guy Mack, said in a statement that Lambert had been desirous of giving the basketball coaching job some time.

Former marine, Walter Mack, distance man, will be counted on to score points in both the mile runs, while Jim Fraser, for six months a prisoner of the Germans during the war, is being counted on to take the 440 event.

Mack and Fraser are Spartan cindermen, being members of the 1942 team.

Former 'S' Star Takes Over Job As Boxing Coach

By MARTY HANRAHAN

New Spartan boxing coach Lou Zarza, former MSC star athlete, began his duties at State yesterday morning. Discharged Christmas day from the navy, he spent 40 months in the service teaching the manly art of self-defense.

Zarza's playing career at State is familiar to all followers of State football and boxing, as Lou was a stellar left end of the MSC grid team of the early '30s and was invited to play in the college all-star grid classic at Chicago's Soldier's field. He was on the East team in the Shrine's East-West game. In boxing Zarza was an MSC light-heavyweight ring star in 1935.

After graduating from State in 1936, Zarza went to St. Victor college in Kanawakee, Ill., where he became head football and boxing coach for three years.

He occupied the same position at Washington high school in East Chicago, Ind., in 1938, and then was hired by the University of Arizona as assistant coach in boxing and football until leaving for the navy in 1942.

In the navy, Zarza coached boxing at Georgia pre-flight and was athletic director of the aircraft carrier, Salamana.

Though he hasn't had much time to look over his fighters, Zarza promises that State will be well represented in the forthcoming ring meets.

The coach stated that he will need some good talent in the 120-pound bantam weight class and the 135-pound lightweight division to round out a good team. Any man interested in these assignments should talk with him any afternoon between 3 and 6 in the Jenison fieldhouse boxing room.

Phillies Buy Tabor From Red Sox

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Young Bob Carpenter, the man with the money and the intention to spend it, returned to his job as president of the Philadelphia Phillies today and promptly announced the purchase of Jim Tabor.

The hard-hitting third baseman was bought from the Boston Red Sox in what General Manager Herb Pennock said was a straight cash deal. He would not disclose the price.

Carpenter, who was discharged from the army last Saturday, said the Phillies either will move upwards in the National league or "I'll go crazy. I couldn't take a season like last year. I don't see how Herb (Pennock) stood it. Tabor, I'm confident, will help us advance."

Wonch Should Improve

Ted Wonch, who holds the fieldhouse record in the pole vault and returned this term, will find lots of competition in newcomer Bob Carr. In trial runs last Saturday Carr beat Wonch, but Ted is expected to regain his former place as No. 1 jumper for the Spartans with more practice.

Schlademan has lots of talent in the hurdle event with two former servicemen, Bob Carrier and Jack Dodge, along with Amien Carter, frosh star, all of whom should place high in the Buckeye meet.

Pool Tutors to Be Rivals Friday

Friday's meet featuring Purdue and Spartan swimmers holds an interesting sidelight.

Both Coach Charles McCaffree Jr. and Coach Dick Papenguth are graduates of the University of Michigan and received their swimming training from Matt Mann. The two men have been friendly rivals for a long time and both enjoy winning.

Coach Papenguth is president of the College Swimming Coaches Association of America, while Coach McCaffree serves as secretary and treasurer of the same organization.

Boxing Gate In U.S. Tabulated At Nearly Thirteen Million

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Boxing grossed nearly $13,000,000 in the United States last year and a breakdown of the figures showed today that New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco were the three top fight cities in 1945.

A study of an Associated Press tabulation of the national gate of $12,878,660 disclosed that nearly 40 per cent, or $5,257,726, was contributed by these three cities and their adjacent areas of White Plains, Hollywood and Oakland, respectively.

State athletic commission reports listed $3,273,363 for New York, over half from a record

$2,263,259 gate at Madison Square garden; $1,234,242 for Los Angeles and $750,121 for San Francisco.

Chicago ranked fourth with receipts of $612,630, including a gross gate of $94,120 for the one round knockout of George (Sugar) Costner by Ray (Sugar) Robinson of Feb. 14. Boston at $551,358 and Philadelphia at $520,518 were the only other cities over the half-million mark and ranked fifth and sixth, respectively.

Baltimore, Buffalo, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Cleveland rounded out the first eleven cities with receipts of more than $300,000.

Industry Blames Labor For Metal Shutdown

Steel, Aluminum Stoppage Cuts Mining Work, Transportation

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22 (AP) — The impact of the great steel strike spread to allied fields today as the industry followed labor's lead in disowning responsibility for the metal-producing shutdown.

Effects of the almost complete stoppage in steel and aluminum began to be felt in layoffs of railroad and river barge workmen and coal miners.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel corporation, said the steel industry had met the wage demands of the 750,000 CIO steelworkers "more than half way" and responsibility for their walkout "rests with the union."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and its steelworkers union, had said in a broadcast here last night the strike was brought on by "an evil conspiracy among American big business" to destroy unions.

Murray contended the industry could afford to pay the 18½ cent increase proposed by President Truman, a figure the union had accepted after first scaling down its original 25 cents per hour demand to 19½ cents. Fairless rejected Mr. Truman's suggested compromise.

Factories depending on steel prepared for eventual shutdowns. In Pittsburgh, members of the tri-state industrial association, met to map plans in the face of fast-dwindling supply because of the strike.

A hangover from the wartime fuel shortage still exists, and, with the steel mills down, the coal industry had a chance to build up supplies. A spokesman for the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators association said captive mines—those operated by steel companies—will continue operations "as long as their coal can be sold on the open market."

In Washington President Truman sent a letter to his steel fact-finding commission asking it to stand by "for further consultation." The commission had delayed hearings on the dispute pending the President's own settlement efforts immediately preceding the strike, which began early Monday.

Radio Workshop To Present First Play of Term

MSC's Radio Workshop will present the first play of its winter series today at 4 p.m. over station WKAR under the direction of Prof. Joseph Callaway of the speech department.

"Lady Windemere's Fan," an Oscar Wilde, an adaptation of a radio by Maxine A. Eyster, a Lansing graduate student, is a classical comedy of the 19th century that will be presented this week.

Oscar Wilde's plays are noted for witty repartee and that one of his most famous.

The cast of Wednesday's production includes Joan Carter, Kalamazoo senior; Jack Halliday, Lansing freshman; Ray Early, instructor in spoken English; and Tony Procissi, Flint junior.

Also taking part will be Kenneth Hemmeter, Saginaw junior; Polly Mochimaru, Mackinac junior; and John Reed, Eaton Rapids sophomore.

MSC Musician To Give Piano Concert Friday Evening

A program of twentieth century piano music will be presented by Paul Nordoff, assistant professor of literature and fine arts, at 8 p.m. Friday in the music auditorium. The concert is being sponsored by the departments of music and literature and fine arts.

An outstanding composer, as well as a concert pianist, Nordoff won Guggenheim fellowships in composition in 1933 and 1935, the Beams prize in 1933, and a Pulitzer prize for composition in 1940.

His "Nightsong" and "Toccata" will be included in the program, in addition to "Undine" and the "Serenade of the Court Jester" by Ravel, Sonata No. 3 by Paul Hindemith, and music by other well-known composers of the twentieth century.

That Does It

tution will have to be made soon, and will have to take into consideration the growing enrollment, while still leaving a small enough group to be workable.

During the next ten days Council members will be asking their organizations for suggestions and proposals. Students can turn in other ideas at the Union desk for Anne Cowan, Detroit senior and secretary of the Council.

But, if you don't get a chance to do either of these things, why not buttonhole a Council member and give some constructive idea of what YOU think the Student council can do.

Help modernize your governing body to live up to the preamble of its constitution, which says in part:

"We . . . recognizing that the purpose of this institution is to train young men and young women in the higher ideals of citizenship . . . and believing that by self government the interests of ourselves and of the institution may be best promoted, in order to promote orderly student government . . . do ordain and establish this."
