...The Last One

Prof. Fields, in his Latin American history class, told of the girl who arrived 30 minutes late. Her explanation was this:

The instructor for the previous class, annoyed by late arrivals locked the door. Unfortunately, when the hour ended, no one could open the door. Finally a passerby, rapped from the window, found the janitor who rescued the captives.

...It Was Hard!

It's bad enough to lose anything, but when a hard worked med tech loses her baccy notes it's nothing short of tragedy. At least that's the way Phyllis Elsbey, Rockford sophomore, felt. The mystery was solved when Kay Little brought them into the room, explaining that she'd borrowed the notebook because she wanted something hard to write on.

Famed Woman To Give Talk This Evening

the Johnsons spent at Lake Paradise in the African jungle, will be presented in College auditorium tonight at 8:15, as a part of the world-adventure series.

Lake Paradise, discovered and named by Mrs. Johnson and her husband, was the home of huge African elephants and other wild animals which were photographed in their natural environment.

Among the Johnsons' other camera firsts were the filming of a cannibal witch-doctor performing his gruesome work, and the photographing of the pygmies in the hidden Ituri forest in Africa.

GAME THRIVES

Bridge Addicts Play Daily

By MORTON D. SMERLING

People usually associate bridge playing with drawing rooms, ladies' afternoon tea parties and neighborly get-togethers. Now it is added to the fertile field of our college community.

Especially does this card game flourish in the men's lounge in the Union, across the hall from the grill. In spite of, and with all due respect to, such pursuits as coke drinking, basketball playing, and practicing the subtler art of wooing the gentler sex, bridge manages to hold its own.

From the early hours of dusky dawn till closing time at 10 p.m., the lounge's tables are occupied with earnest players, playing cards back and forth, making points and slams and yet grander slams.

Average Three

Sometimes as many as six tables are going at one time, though the average is three. Often more than half a dozen observers are gathered about a single table, in addition to the players. Kibitzers

Nordoff Concert Features Original Piano Selections

Paul Nordoff, assistant professor of literature and fine arts, last night presented to an overflow audience at Music auditorium, a finished program of twentieth century piano music.

In way of introduction, Nordoff mentioned the international flavor he had chosen for the concert. Included in the performance were sonatas, Hungarian peasant songs, and a tango composed by Nordoff.

Frederic Mompou was well represented with two preludes, "Song and Dance I and III," "Intimate Impression," "Secret," and "Gypsies." Part I was brought to a stirring close with "Fantasia Poetica" by Manuel de Falla.

Ravel's "Serenade of the Court Jester" and "Sonata No. III" by Sergei Prokofiev made up the second part. Each was executed with the skill the artist attained in concert work, early in his career.

The talent that won for him a Pulitzer prize for composition in 1940, was displayed in Part III when Nordoff played three original works, "Nightsong," "Toccato," and "Tango."—T. N.

Lewis Returns to AFL; Takes Seat On Council

UMW Go Back To Parent Organization; Green Emphasizes He Will Remain Head

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—John L. Lewis returned today to the American Federation of Labor which he split asunder a decade ago.

The big man who created the CIO, and then left it in a huff over the 1940 Roosevelt election, which he bitterly opposed, brought his 500,000 United Mine Workers back to the parent federation and was quickly elevated to a seat on the policy-making executive council.

Council Seat Assured

He would not have come back without that place among the 15 all-powerful union heads on the council. Previously he turned a cold shoulder on re-affiliation without an assured council seat.

AFL President William Green, mindful of the stories that Lewis return to the federation boded an end to his reign of more than two decades, emphasized he would remain as president.

Lewis will be the 13th vice-president, but Green said the line of succession to the presidency is not numerical.

CIO Hushed

There was no mention of Lewis' brain-child-the-CIO — which is locked in postwar wage struggles at present. CIO unions are striking in steel, electrical manufacturing, meat packing, General Motors, and similarly come to grips over pay in the oil refining and glass industries.

Green has made much of the absence of strikes among AFL unions. Lewis has a contract which can be reopened, if he chooses, prior to April 1, but he was not thus far lined up in the fight for continuation of wartime wages.

Michigan Editors Convene At Olds For 78th Meeting

Approximately 375 Michigan newspaper editors and their guests are attending the Victory convention of the Michigan Press association at Hotel Olds, Lansing.

The 78th anniversary dinner was held at 7 last night in the Olds ballroom. Those seated at the speakers' table included Chairman W. A. Butler, association president; John A. Hannah, MSC president; The Rev. N. A. McCune, pastor of Peoples church, East Lansing; and Toastmaster Ink White, St. Johns publisher.

Louis Bromfield, novelist and agricultural leader, spoke on the topic "A Few Brass Tacks." Bromfield is the author of "The Rains Came" and "Mrs. Parkington."

The "State of Michigan Press Conference," scheduled for this noon, will be attended by Governor Harry F. Kelly, Lieut. Governor Vernon J. Brown, and Secretary of State Heman F. Dignan. Other state officials have also accepted an invitation to answer written questions by MPA members.

Roundtables are being held on programs and problems of daily and weekly Michigan papers. National advertising, and printer apprenticeship training programs are two topics being discussed in detail by committees.

Famed Entertainers Plan Varied Program For Thursday Night

The Don Cossacks will appear as an added feature on the college lecture-concert series. The performance will take place in the College auditorium Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

World famous for many years for their unique and original presentation of Russian folk ballads and dances, the troupe has played in all parts of the globe.

The program consists of three distinct acts. The first part includes devotional songs with the favorite hymn of America, "My Rosary" in its original translation. The second act will be made up of songs from Russia, portraying the peasants and the ancient Cossacks.

The four dance numbers that conclude the program will touch on the picturesque army and folk history of the Russian nation.

Reading Hour Begins Tuesday Afternoon

The first of a series of three reading hour programs will be held Tuesday afternoon, according to Mrs. Moore Comper, who is in charge of the group. Programs are student productions and will be held in the Workshop theater, room 49 of College auditorium.

Tuesday's program will have two readers. Marjorie Atkinson, East Lansing junior, will read Donn Byrne's "Messer Marco Polo" and Marion Cannon, Toledo, O., sophomore, will read a story by Dana Burnett entitled "The Rool."

Faculty Needs Houses, Too!

Housing is a pressing problem on campuses all over the country, a recent survey indicated. Michigan State college certainly is no exception.

Yet, as much as postwar increases in enrollment have taxed housing facilities for students, it should be remembered that the faculty must be correspondingly augmented. Suitable living quarters for them must also be had.

What will it avail a college to enroll new students if it cannot provide teachers for them?

Provisions for housing at State have necessarily pertained to student needs. With trailers and quonset huts the college hopes to accommodate yet more students expected spring term.

But what of the additional faculty personnel required? Where will they live? Prospective instructors interviewed for faculty positions must make their acceptance of employment contingent to adequate housing possibilities.

It is hoped that the administration will not overlook faculty needs in its housing plans.

Everybody's Doin' It

Sidewalk Slide Thrills Fans

By BOB BYERLY
 One old State institution that returned with a bang yesterday is the running two-footed, or starboard tilt, sidewalk slide. This old pastime has long been a favorite of everyone from the graduating seniors down to the greenest freshmen. With icy sidewalks in full bloom yesterday, the whole campus seethed with practitioners of the art of sidewalk sliding.

Novices were soon sliding with the experts, and seemed to have little trouble in grasping the elements of the game, which can be divided into three phases: (1) the take-off, (2) the initial struggle for balance, and (3) the extended slide. All three phases are discussed at length in a new booklet, "So You Want to Be a Sliding Champion?" now in the process of publication.

One can get some idea of how the campus looks in action on a slippery day by climbing to the reading room in the third floor of the library at the time when two o'clock classes let out. The most-slid areas are the narrow sidewalks that connect the main thoroughfares.

For on these little-traveled by-ways the would-be (or old-time) sidewalk slider has the feeling that he is not being watched, and runs and slides to his heart's content.

Alpha Phi Omega To Hold Smoker Monday Night

Alpha Phi Omega, the college's service honorary, will hold a smoker in the Union from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Monday night. Pres. Jesse Woodring, Lansing senior, has announced.

Among the organization's activities in the past have been the sponsoring of the Homecoming dance, the Red Cross blood donation campaign and orientation for freshmen. Upholding campus traditions is a fundamental policy of the honorary.

Besides its service activities, APO has social functions for its members. Affiliation with a fraternity does not conflict with membership in this honorary, Woodring stated.

Only prerequisite for membership is that one must at one time have been associated with the Boy Scout movement, Woodring added.

Philosophy does the going and wisdom is the goal.—Seneca.

McCaffreemen Swamp Purdue; Wrestlers Lose

Hermie Says —

By TOM RIORDAN

WHEN you start picking all-time Michigan State basketball teams don't forget Sam Fortino and Robin Roberts, present MSC forwards, who have teamed so well in the State front line the last two seasons.

Wednesday evening when the University of Detroit almost took State it was Fortino and Roberts, as they had done in many games before, that practically spelled doom to the Titans by themselves.

Both forwards were high in the scoring column with Fortino at 13 and Roberts next with 12. But this is far from the whole story in regards to what the pair did offensively for State.

Up Easy Shots

Time after time they set up easy shots for their team mates and each other. Probably the most spectacular bit of maneuvering on the floor was pulled by Roberts when he tossed Matt Mazza a beautiful pass as Mazza was all by himself in front of the hoop.

The play started when Roberts broke across the middle, took a pass and started dribbling. As he slipped by a pair of Detroiters, another closed in. Roberts made a leap as if to shoot. The Titan guarding Mazza was so sure that Roberts was going to shoot he left Mazza and leaped in front of Roberts to try and block the attempt. Without looking Roberts slipped an underhanded pass to Mazza, who had no trouble in converting it into a field goal. This is the sort of thing the Roberts and his running mate, Fortino, have been doing at State for two years. As one fan said, when they throw the ball they look good.

One-Handed Push Shot

There is a great similarity between the style of shooting both use—the one-handed push shot. Roberts can hit from most any place on his side of the key, while Fortino is "dead" from his corner. State opponents for the past two years have found it fatal to slacken up for a moment on their vigil of guarding the pair.

So when mythical Spartan basketball clubs are picked up any Roberts will surely be up high on the list of forwards.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the University of Michigan - Spartan football contest for October 6 from Ann Arbor was welcomed with open arms by Charlie Bachman and his MSC grid coaching staff.

For the first time in many years the Spartans will have an opportunity to gear themselves for the game with the Wolverines, which is probably the most important on the State card each year.

The saying goes, "Beat Michigan and you've had a good season."

This seems to be very true too, because in past year when the game opened against Michigan and was beaten, the rest of the season seemed to be pretty good and it showed on the Spartan football players, as well as the attendance.

In the most unusual football game of 1944 and the only 2-2 ever recorded, Lincoln University and Aberdeen Ordnance School matched safeties.

Gilbert Cracks Two Records As State Scores 57-27 Win

By MARTY HANRAHAN

Before a capacity crowd in the Jenison fieldhouse pool last night, the Michigan State swimming team trounced Purdue university, 57-27.

Sparked by their Ecuadorian star, Abel Gilbert, the Spartans broke several varsity and dual meet records and tied another.

From the first event on, the outcome was never in doubt. The medley relay team (Howie Patterson, Paul Seibold, and Jim Quigley) broke varsity and dual meet marks with a 3:03 time. Ziggy Indyke tied the dual meet record in the 50 yard freestyle with 24.5. Gilbert broke four more records in the 220 and 440 freestyle races. The 440 yard relay team, featuring Quigley, Bob Allwardt, DeMond and Indyke, also took both varsity and dual marks.

In other events, Don Dunbar remained unbeaten in diving. Quigley and DeMond took first and second in the 100 yard freestyle, and Paul Seibold won the 200 yard breaststroke event. The natators, with three Western conference victories under their belts, will now point for the big meet with Michigan, to be held at the fieldhouse pool next Saturday.

MSC Fencers Face Chicago University

Michigan State's fencing team journeys to Chicago today to meet Chicago university in hope of gaining its first victory. Coach Charles Schmitter is taking nine men: Charles Thompson, Tom Billig, Dennis Murphy, Louis Marian, Alex Valiente, Greg Dean, Jack Cannell, and Dick Sheley.

Young Wants Crowd To Sing Anthem

Ralph Young, Director of Athletics at MSC, has requested that all students join in singing the national anthem when the band plays it before the home basketball games.

Newspaper Articles Cause Beyer To Quit Basketball Squad

Several Detroit News stories have prompted Joe Beyer, of the Michigan State basketball squad, to write Coach Ben Van Alstyne a letter saying that he had no desire to be "a character to some writer's comic strip," and to quit the team.

Beyer, who was a star and regular on last year's Spartan quintet, has failed to see any action this season with the return of several outstanding servicemen. Nothing has been mentioned of Beyer's lack of action, and he continued as a squad member, dressing for most Spartan contests.

In Wednesday's Detroit News a long article entitled Beyer "State's star bench warmer" and telling how he had won major awards at both the University of Detroit and State appeared. It further stated Joe would be on the bench for the Titan-MSM game that evening, hoping for a chance at getting into the affair.

In the News' review following the final paragraph stated:

"Coach Ben Van Alstyne used nine State players, but for the eleventh successive game Joe Beyer failed to get off the bench. Beyer was a regular at U. of D. two seasons ago and started all 17 games for State last season. But after the tense last minute was ended by the timer's gun, Beyer got off the bench—to congratulate his teammates for beating his old school."

With this final slap, Beyer wrote his coach that, although he was willing to sit on the bench until such time as Van Alstyne saw fit to play him, he would not remain on the squad and be material for the comic strip of some writer.

Six Gridmen Fill MSC Track Team

Six varsity football players will be in the starting lineup when State's new, potent track team makes its debut against Ohio State's squad tonight at 8 in the Jenison fieldhouse.

Halfbacks Amian Carter and Russ Reader will join veterans Jack Dodge and Bob Carrier in the hurdles. This foursome will make up the shuttle hurdle relay team on which high hopes are being set. Reader is a former high school state champion in the low hurdles, while Carter won the same honors last year in the high hurdles.

men throwing the shot put. Neither has had previous experience, but both possess the physical prowess and are regarded as top prospects. Showing them the way will be Bruce Drynam, captain of the '43 Spartan track team.

Tino Barbas and Milford Jones, both famous for their drive on the football field, will be churning up the track in the dashes and the middle distances.

Boilermakers Stop Matmen; Orr Hurt

By KEN CLARK

With an array of stars, Purdue university grapplers captured a dual meet from a scrappy State team by a score of 19-11.

Leading 11-9, State suffered a severe setback when Jack Orr became injured in his bout with the 175-pound Big Ten champ, Mike Rajcevic. Orr, suffering severely from a side injury, tried vainly to stay in the match. Referee Cliff Keen awarded the bout to Rajcevic when it became evident that Orr was unable to carry on in safety.

Highlight of the event was NAAU champ, Gale Mikles' pin of Warren Gregory, Purdue's Big Ten runnerup. Mikles looked like the real champion that he is; he left little to be desired.

Weekend Events Include Dances, Skating Party

It takes only a small amount of eavesdropping to discover that the weatherman isn't the only one with things planned for this afternoon and tonight. So far the plans for seven parties have been overheard.

The first one taking place is the Union board's Party-Party. The Union ballroom will be the scene of the affair, and Gene Devine and his orchestra will supply music for "stag or drag" students from 3 to 5 p.m.

Refreshments will be sold on the second floor and tables will be set up for students who wish to play card or board games. June McNutt, Detroit senior, and Jim Graves, East Lansing sophomore, are in charge of the affair.

Heaven Scent

"Heaven Scent" is the theme of the Alpha Xi Delta term party which will take place tonight in the Union ballroom from 9 to 12. The music for dancing will be featured by Gene Devine and his orchestra.

Included in the entertainment will be the "Juliettes," a sextette which is composed of Alpha Xi Deltas, and a reading. Carolyn Forrester, Highland Park sophomore, is chairman for the affair, and patrons will be Dr. and Mrs. S. Bergquist, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller.

Cafe Society

The Phi Kappa Taus have a radio party planned for tonight, which will be decorated in cafe society style. Props used to set the mood will be tables covered with red and white checked table cloths, candles with old wine bottles as their holders, and the final touch will be added when the Phi Taus hang some of their choice Petty pictures around the room.

Howie Neale, Dearborn sophomore, has announced that there will also be refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pitkin and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayden have been invited to act as patrons.

Skating Party

The Student club will hold its annual skating party tonight. Everyone who plans to skate must meet at Peoples church at 8 with skates in hand. Games and refreshments have been planned for those who don't skate, and also for the skaters when they return.

Included in the program will be the popping of corn over the open fire in the fireplace. Patrons for the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kleis, L. M. Ferrell, M. E. Runyan, and M. E. McCullough. The committee in charge of planning the affair is composed of Joyce Lamb, Rockford sophomore; Walt Geist, Ina Love, Detroit freshman, and Lu Price, Lansing junior.

Saddle Shoe Stomp

Precincts 11 and 14 of Abbot hall are the planners of a party to which all the men of Abbot and their dates are invited. It will be an informal radio party with "Saddle Shoe Stomp" for the theme. Vern Dodson and Charles Beach are supervising the planning of the dance.

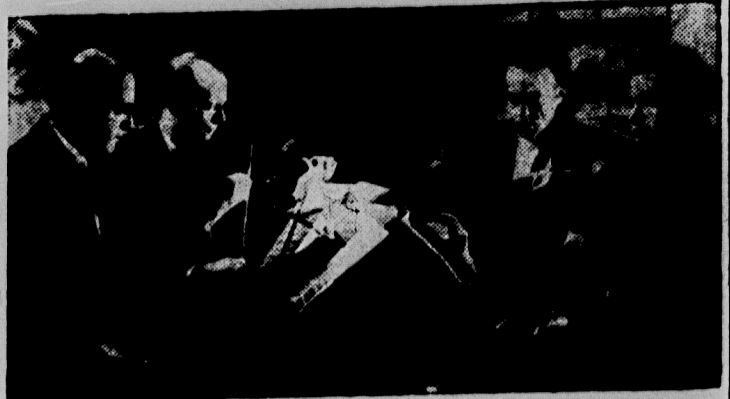

The second stomp of the evening will be given by the women of Sanford co-op house. Its specific title is "Stuffed Animal Stomp." Decorations for this radio party will carry out the theme. Grace Boulton, Saginaw sophomore, is chairman for the affair.

Skirt and Sweater

Tonight's final radio party is being given by the Alpha Gamma Rhos. It will be an informal skirt-and-sweater affair. Joe Hager, Hydro, Okla., junior, is chairman for the party and he has announced that the latest records will be on hand for those who wish to dance, and tables will be provided for bridge.

Tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 4 the Short Course students will hold an open house for all students on campus.

News in Brief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (P.)—Mankind's success in establishing radar contact with the moon was described tonight as an "opening step" toward solving the age-old question whether human life exists elsewhere than on earth. This is the view of Maj. Gen. Harold McClelland, air communications officer of the air force when queried as to further possibilities growing out of the arm signal corps announcement.

LONDON, Jan. 25 (P.)—The United Nations Security Council today ordered formation of a global "peace army" and agreed to consider on Monday Iranian, Greek and Indonesian military and political issues described as imperiling peace.

Russia, which earlier in a note to the council had declared its Iranian charges of Soviet interference in Iran's affairs were "without foundation," reserved the right to oppose anything more than a formal hearing of that case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (P.)—The Senate labor committee heard R. J. Thomas objections to the fact-finding bill today, but halted his reading of a nine-page statement when it developed to a bitter attack on Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.).
