

Don Cossack Chorus To Appear At MSC Tonight

Today's Campus

... Shining Light

Brickbats for the most odorous joke of the week are awarded to the social science instructor who exhumed the body of the little moron from the dust of antiquity when he related how the little fellow stayed up all night pondering where the sun went when it set, suddenly it dawned on him.

... It's An Old, Old

It wasn't quite as bad as the old apple for the teacher, but it didn't work when one coed story used the excuse that her Aunt Tilly died in Ishperma and was being cremated. She took the AWS test over again last night.

Music Group Will Present Lute Player

Suzanne Bloch, lutenist and singer to the lute, will be presented by Collegium Musicum, Michigan State college musical organization, at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Music auditorium.

The program will include sixteenth and seventeenth century music and will be divided into four parts: music for lute, music for virginals, music for recorder and songs to the lute.

Older Line

One of the best known players of lute music and instruments, Miss Bloch is the daughter of the composer, Ernest Bloch.

Her earliest honors were won in piano and composition, and at the age of 19 she was awarded first prize in a contest open to women composers of Paris.

Recitals

In the past several years Miss Bloch has been heard in recitals throughout the east and middle west.

She has appeared as soloist with the Detroit symphony and the New York philharmonic symphony orchestras.

The recital will be open to the public.

Frosh, Sophs To Nominate Class Heads

Council Re-emphasizes Banning of Corsages At College Dances

Freshman and sophomore class officer nomination dates were set last night at the Student council meeting when Dale Brown, Sebewaing junior, announced that Thursday, Feb. 7, at 5 p.m. has been scheduled for the preliminary balloting.

The frosh group will meet in the auditorium of the Horticulture building, Brown said, while the sophomore nominations will be held in 130 Morrill hall.

Tickets for J-Hop Will Be Available To Juniors First

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow for the 1946 J-Hop, according to Harold Sessions, Lansing, chairman of the ticket committee. The affair scheduled for Feb. 15 from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m. in College auditorium, will feature the music of Lionel Hampton and his band.

Tomorrow's ticket sales will be limited to juniors. Seniors have exclusive rights Saturday morning and sales will open up to the general student body Saturday noon.

Juniors and seniors must present identification to purchase their tickets at these scheduled times. The price of the tickets has been set at $4 a couple and may be purchased at the Union desk only. Sessions added.

John Kobs, East Lansing junior, general chairman of the dance, stated that there will be 1,000 tickets on sale for the semi-formal affair, and that women have been granted 4 a.m. permission.

DON COSSACK CHORUS

Russian Singers Will Offer Songs Of Varied Nature

Renowned Don Cossack chorus, named after the famous Cossack general, Platoff, will appear in College auditorium at 8:15 tonight as a special feature of the lecture-concert series. Tickets are still available for students, according to Dean S. E. Crowe.

The chorus, composed of 27 Russians from the Don river region, has made several appearances at State. They have just returned from an extended 4,500 mile tour of the world.

Director

Directed by Nicholas Kestrukkoff, they will present a varied program of Russian music and dances. "The Rosary," by Nevin, will be the only number sung in English.

Battle songs of the Cossacks, sacred music, and favorite Russian folk songs will be included. One of the folk songs to be sung is "Churchbells of Novgorod," which was used in the opera "Boris Godunoff," by Moussorgsky as the melody of an aria.

Two Dances

Two dances will be featured; famous Cossack dance, and a Caucasian Cossack knife dance in which 12 knives are juggled.

The group, an a capella chorus, will also sing a Rachmanoff Vocalise arranged by M. Fivelsky, Moussorgsky's "Song of the Flea," and the "Lord's Prayer" by Ivanoff.

In Exile

The members of the group, who are exiles from their native land, have taken out United States naturalization papers and are making their homes in this country.

The chorus was founded in 1926 in Czechoslovakia under the patronage of Edouard Benes and Thomas Masaryk, then foreign minister and president. Since that time they have become world famous for their choral work.

Interviews To Start For Retailing Seniors

The J. L. Hudson company, Detroit, will be represented on campus Tuesday and Wednesday by Robert Arkell, according to Placement Director Tom King.

Arkell will interview both men and women seniors interested in retailing and department store careers. Appointments may be made by calling Ext. 525. King added.

Employers in business and industry are interviewing candidates and making selections. Superintendents of schools and boards of education also are asking for the credentials of outstanding teacher candidates.

WKAR to Present Hit Tunes On Early Morning Program

Starting Friday morning at 7:30 WKAR will begin its twelfth year of morning jazz under the title of "Dawn Salute."

According to Larry Frymire, master of ceremonies and program supervisor of WKAR, this program will be a six day a week broadcast, Monday through Saturday, from 7:30 to 8 a.m.

Request Tunes

The schedule this year features several request tune programs. On Mondays and Fridays all student requests will be played although Frymire states that names of persons sending in requests will not be announced. Thursday will be "memory morning" with special requests taken for old songs with sentimental value.

Every Wednesday the program will devote its half hour to one featured band, playing the most popular selections of the nation's top ranking musicians.

Top Music

On the remaining Tuesday and Saturday mornings regular top tunes of the day will be on the bill.

The introductory theme of the program will be Benny Goodman's arrangement of "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

During the program announcements of the time, temperature, and weather will be given.

Sorority Women To Display Work During Reception

National projects of MSC's sororities will be displayed at a PanHellenic reception Feb. 27 in the Union ballroom.

These projects will be exhibited for the one evening only and first and second prizes will be awarded, according to Mrs. William Burlingame, general chairman of the affair.

All sorority women on campus and Greek alumni of Lansing and East Lansing will meet for this get-together which will have as guest speaker an alum of Kappa Delta sorority.

Each organization will sing one of their songs as well as preparing and displaying their sponsored projects, Mrs. Burlingame added.

The undergraduate committee is headed by Betty Card, Lansing junior. Other members are Peg Parkinson, Detroit junior, and Jo Bowman, Almont junior.

Judging the displays will be three fraternity men. Two of them will be alums and one a member of Interfraternity council.

Women Crash Gates of Veterinary School

By SYLVIA CIERNICK

Nineteen women's professed love of animals has led them into a realm of work once reserved for men only. They make up the largest group of women enrolled in any one of the ten veterinary schools in the country. Many colleges still do not consider veterinary work a field for women and attempt to discourage them.

At State skirts or trousers are not a basis for discrimination. The veterinary division does not recognize any difference between men and women students.

Explanation

As Dean Ward Giltner, head of the division, explained, every student signs up for what is in the catalog. It is all there, and they know what will be required of them.

This confidence placed in women's ability has been fulfilled by an admirable record. The position of editor of The Veterinarian, quarterly publication of the division, was formerly held by a woman student.

Wins Award

Nancy Kadlec, Chicago sophomore, walked off with vet honors last week when she won the veterinary faculty award for the highest scholastic record in the freshman class of 1944-45.

Contrary to opinion, it doesn't take the masculine type to make a good vet. The women vets on campus make up an exceedingly feminine and good looking group. Proof of this can be easily seen in June Hartline, Dover, O., sophomore, elected queen of last year's veterinary ball.

Students Even

The debit and credit sides of any attempt to compare the capabilities of women against men as students stack up pretty evenly. The women do not faint in droves or cringe from certain phases of the work. They would make a poor example for any theory about a weaker sex.

According to Dean Giltner, a woman may have more endurance and patience, but he emphasized that in general they are worse gossipers.

Take Positions

Usually women veterinary graduates take positions in clinics, universities with veterinary schools, or colleges with veterinary department. One is Rebecca Borton, Oshkosh, Wis., senior, who hopes to use her knowledge in research work.

Mary Jane Malloy of Pontiac, another graduating senior, plans on entering an even more man predominated field. Large animals will be her speciality.

Many of the underclass women hope to go directly into the professional field by establishing small animal hospitals.

Freedom Versus Security?

In recent weeks labor and management have been vying with each other for the upper hand. Fundamentally, the question to be settled is not a matter of wage scale, but of power.

In the course of negotiations, it might be noted that both lay much stress on guarantees. One wants guaranteed wages and hours. The other wants guaranteed work schedules and production rates. It seems as though altogether too much stress is being put on guarantees.

This, unfortunately, is the trend of our times. The closing of the frontier and a high degree of competition seem to have stifled initiative. Security seems to have superseded enterprise in our life.

But it is not possible to carry this point too far? Proposals for a planned economy are in the offing. Guaranteed supply and demand, guaranteed food, clothing, and shelter; guaranteed marriage and family, perhaps even a guaranteed life expectancy is planned.

Security is important, but let us not lose our freedom in seeking it.

NOMINATIONS

Freshman representative for AWS will be nominated at the same time. Sue Averill, Birmingham senior and AWS president, told the group, but election for this representative will be after the class elections. Final class election date was not set last night.

Corsage Ban Discussed

The all-college corsage ban was again discussed, and reinforcement of it was emphasized, several members mentioning that violations were observed at the all-college dance Friday night.

Pres. Helen Fisher, Grand Haven senior, read the council's constitutional amendment on the ban, which was voted into effect by the entire student body in 1942. It reads as follows:

"The Student council is hereby authorized to enforce or have enforced the following ruling regarding the wearing of flowers at all-college dances. For the purpose of relieving students of certain expenses issuing from college parties, no flowers shall be worn either in the hair or on the coat's dress or by the fellow at any college dance either semi-formal, formal or informal unless same shall be declared a closed party and so proven to be a closed party to the satisfaction of the Student council. In the case of a closed party, the wearing of flowers shall be left to the jurisdiction of the sponsoring organization or group."

Revision Discussed

The remainder of the student governing body's meeting was devoted to discussion of the two methods proposed so far for council reorganization.

First method would have, approximately 21 members with seven students from the Basic college, four from the school of science and arts, and two each from the other five schools. The four class officers would complete the number.

For the second proposal of the council organization proper, there would be 10 members at large, with the remaining undesignated number made up from the class officers and elective members from the individual school.

Change Planned

With either of these two council arrangements, the entire structure of student representation would be reorganized. Serving directly under the council as an activities board would be representatives from Union board, Interfaith council, board of publications, the International club with an opening left for the proposed eligibility board which would decide how many offices both men and women students could carry.

The big change in the present setup, however, would be with the reorganization of a men's council. Vice-presidents of IFC, Blue Key, Alpha Phi Omega, YMCA, Green Helmet, Excelsior, the Varsity club, and organized veterans groups would serve on this council as representatives of the men students.

The former men's council constitution is still in existence, and this group would be reorganized under it for the remainder of this year, with a new constitution to be designed in the future.

Women's Group

Running parallel to this would be a women's organization comparable to the present AWS. Vice-president of PanHellenic, Spartan Women's league, Mortar Board, Tower Guard, YWCA, WAA, Town Girls, Home Economics groups, the Cooperative league and dormitory councils would form the membership.

The presidents of AWS and the men's council would serve directly on the Student council, rather than the activities board, as ex-officio members.

Affairs of State

By TONI EBNER and SALLY CLARK

THE days of argyle socks and baggy tweeds are back in full collegiate swing. Along with this comes the contagious disease that answers to the tune of knit two, pearl two. But before we get all tangled up in our knitting we'll set aside our badly raveled dog sweater for bigger events.

Turning the beacon on one of last June's graduates, big things have already begun to smolder. Alpha Phi Betty Boatman, of Flint, is on the engaged list. Finance is Herb Sidihaky, Flint senior, a Hesperian now back on campus after a service discharge.

Alpha Gamma Rho Gale Miles, Tulsa, Okla., freshman, turned over his pin to Audrey Gromis, Pontiac sophomore, for safe keeping.

raine Lapham, Northville sophomore, has an AGR pin on her sweater to indicate her intention. Former owner of the fraternity item is Tom Billig, Dearborn freshman.

It looks like the AGRs have gone into this hearts and flowers category full speed ahead. Anna Lu Macy, Alma sophomore, is strictly a one-man gal after John Shields, of Kingston, passed his pin.

The pulse of this gay life on campus is getting back to normal with the return of old blood. At least the Sigma Nus will have the welcome mat out next week when Don La Mont, Detroit junior, returns after his sojourn with Uncle Sam. Don recently received a discharge after serving with the 26th Yankee infantry.

The Alpha Chi Omegas have added one more coed to their lengthy list of pledges. She is Betty Powell, East Lansing freshman.

Over at the Alpha Phi house there are at least six people who are very happy that their courtship week has ended and they are proud bearers of a shiny, new active pin. The newly initiated members are Julie Cromley, Detroit sophomore; Peg Jackson, Grand Rapids sophomore; Joyce Jorae, Dearborn junior; Katie Kemp, Birmingham sophomore; Marge McMahon, Detroit sophomore; and Joan Perry, Grosse Pointe sophomore.

The Delta Sigs have added some new pledges to their list. They are Bob Cullenane, Lansing freshman; Joan DuChene, Bay City freshman; Al Kohler, Lancaster, Pa., freshman; Fred Garvey, Muskegon freshman; Jim Pilz, Wyandotte freshman; Jerry Walters, Detroit freshman; Bill McNeil, Detroit freshman; and Bob Mosher, East Lansing junior.

And over at the Phi Delt house they also have a new pledge. He is Bob Hewitt, East Lansing freshman.

Spartan Cagers Will Face Unbeaten Irish Tonight

By ROGER CESSNA

When the Spartan cagers train for South Bend tonight at 4:30 p.m., they start a five day trip that will see them playing on the home floor of Notre Dame, Kentucky, and Cincinnati before they return home for a repeat game with Wayne next Wednesday.

The first game is scheduled for tonight and pits State against the Fighting Irish, and if beating the Ramblers and their 12-game winning streak wasn't enough to do it the hard way.

Because of mid-term exams, most of the team members will be in their class rooms up until 4:30 p.m. The Green and White will be on board and arrive at the Notre Dame campus in time to take the floor in the Irish fieldhouse.

PAT PEPLER, Spartan guard, who is considered as the sixth man on the State basketball squad, has seen plenty of action in all Spartan contests. He will be with the team when it makes the trip to South Bend this afternoon and is expected to see service against the Irish tonight.

Crackdown Again

Saturday evening it will be the turn of the University of Kentucky to be again, beaten only by Tennessee and Notre Dame, and holder of a 45-48 decision over State this year. The Wildcats are rated second in the nation, with the Irish in third spot.

After the rough games anticipated at Notre Dame and at Kentucky on Saturday, Coach Ben Alstyne also expects plenty of trouble from the Cincinnati team which lost to State 69-38 two weeks ago at East Lansing.

Crack-Box Gym

As an added obstacle the Spartans will have to adjust themselves to the Bearcat crack-box gym after playing on the spacious Jenison floor. Coach Van Alstyne said Wednesday, "Cincinnati always give us a hard fight on their own floor."

Making the trip will be only a few members, limited because of exams, and will include starters Sam Fortino and Robin Roberts as forwards, Ollie White and Don Waldron at the guards, and other Matt Mazza or Shorty Hall at the pivot spot.

Capable reserves who'll also see plenty of action in the three games are Dudley Jones and Jimmy Granack, front liners, and Pat Pepler and Danny Plesky, dependable guards.

Former Mates To Meet At Pool

Don't be surprised if you see swimmers from both the University of Michigan and MSC squads getting together before and after the meet. Both teams have several freshmen who were either former teammates or high school competitors.

Howard Patterson, Harland Hooge, and Jim Quigley will renew acquaintances with Michigan's Dick Weinberg. All four boys were varsity members of Michigan's all-American team.

John DeMond and Matt Mann are also freshmen who made the all-American high school team.

High-Powered Swim Meet Saturday

Spartan, Wolverine Tank Teams Will Clash

The coming tank meet between University of Michigan and Michigan State Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Jenison fieldhouse pool will hold interest among Michigan swim fans, not only because both teams are ranked high in the midwest, but because the material of both schools is of unusually high caliber.

One feature to that point is the freestyle event with State's Latin American favorite, Abel Gilbert, slightly the underdog going against Michigan's Matt Mann III. Mann's time record ranks him the favorite, although both contestants are undefeated. The winner might be judged as one of the best freestylers in the country.

Speaking of Gilbert, Coach Charles McCaffree, jr., had this to say: "The best man is going to win. Mann's a good swimmer and will be hard for Gilbert to beat. Gilbert has made better times in practice than Mann, but the best man Saturday will win the event."

This brought the subject to State's chances of scoring an upset against the highly favored Wolverine team. Michigan, at the start of the season, ranked top among Big Ten squads and third in the country. Its only defeat came at the hands of Great Lakes, and even that was avenged a week later.

"We're not afraid of them. We will be there trying in each event," said McCaffree when asked what chance the Spartans had against the Wolverines. "Actually the only event we're sure of taking is the 150-yard backstroke. We've got a pretty good crew of backstrokers and our time has been better than what Michigan has turned in so far this season."

In the diving event the Wolverines and Spartans will have undefeated entries. Michigan's Alex Canja, a Big Ten favorite, has an edge over State's Don Dunbar, freshman. The fact that Michigan has two top divers will probably give it an edge over State in points.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

By BARBIE ALLEN

NORTH Campbell, in the WAA bowling tournament Monday night, made the new team and individual high score so far this season. With the new record of 714 pins they defeated Alice Cowles with 585 points.

Margo McGonagle of North Campbell bowled the season high of 199. Chi Omega's 580 topped Mason 8 with 443 points. Dot Langley, Chi Omega, led the match with 138 pins. Alpha Chi Omega defeated Alpha Xi Delta 654 to 629. Barb Lucas, Alpha Chi, again was high point leader with 173 points.

Last night Mary Elleen Evans of Mason 6 paced her team nosing out Catherine Black 618 to 452. Kappa Alpha Theta, with 636 pins, defeated Pi Beta Phi's score of 587. Peg Frimodig, Theta, was the high with 170.

The block leaders at the Rainbow alleys are Alpha Chi Omega, South Williams, and Alpha Gamma Delta, still undefeated. At the Spartan alleys North hall and East Mayo are tied for first place in block 1, each with three wins and one defeat. South Campbell is undefeated in block 2. Zone 5 and West Mayo are tied for the number one position in block 3.

Standout Trackmen Will Be In 24th Annual MSC Relays

By JIM CARR

After a three year pause, Michigan State will again play host to the 24th annual relay carnival a week from Saturday night in Jenison fieldhouse.

Such highly rated teams as Michigan, Notre Dame, and Ohio State, along with squads from Wayne, Western Michigan, and Loyola of Chicago, will be on hand to take part in the 14 different events.

The first Michigan State relay carnival took place in 1919 in what is now known as the Women's gymnasium. At first only local state schools were invited to participate, but as the popularity grew larger outstate schools joined in.

The relays have attracted such outstanding stars as Greg Rice and Ollie Hunter, Notre Dame distance men; Alan Tomash, Wayne university Olympic star, and Charles "Whitey" Hlad, Michigan Normal hurdlers; Bob Ufer and Dave Matthews, U. of M. distance men, and Wilbur Green, dash man and Jim Milne, high jumper from State.

With the war, the relays have been postponed the last three years but a similar meet was held in 1945 at the University of Michigan and called the Michigan Relays.

Who's No. 13

Great Cage Mystery Solved

You more observant sport fans may have noticed an addition to the "Spartan Players Roster" in the basketball programs.

Under No. 13 is listed Dick Beals, of Birmingham, four feet, two inches, who weighs all of 80 pounds. Dick, who starred as a cheerleader with the '45 grid team, has worked out with the team in all pre-game practice sessions, and has developed into a dead-shot forward.

It has been rumored that Coach Van Alstyne will send Beals into the breach to stop Ray Snyder, five feet, six inch scoring ace of the Ohio State cagers, when the Bucks come here Feb. 16.

U.S. Army Reduces Training Period To Eight Weeks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The army today reduced the period of training to eight weeks for soldiers destined to be sent overseas as replacements.

The War department said the action followed consultation with overseas theater commanders on the "critical situation" regarding troops for occupation duty.

The training period previously had been reduced from 17 to 13 weeks by order of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

A limited number of replacements will be given more than eight weeks training, however, to qualify as specialists.

At the end of normal eight weeks, the soldier will be given a seven-day leave prior to embarkation.

The department said the revised program will be put into effect at once and remain in force "until future developments warrant more adequate training in this country."

Strike Control Bill Approved; Sent to House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP) — A strike control bill far more sweeping than President Truman asked was approved by the House rules committee today and sent to the House floor for action, amid bitter protests from backers of labor unions.

It would outlaw violent picketing, provide for civil suits against violators of labor contracts and lay unions open to injunctions. Foremen's unions would be deprived of any status.

Board

A labor-management board would be created to help settle disputes. Five-day notice of any strikes or lockouts would have to be given to this board. If it took jurisdiction, strikes or lockouts would be prohibited for a 30-day cooling off period.

The board, composed of six or more members appointed by the President, would then try conciliation, mediation through a special panel of (if both parties agreed) binding arbitration by one person.

Conciliation

Conciliation is a process by which the parties are brought together and their offers and counter-offers exchanged and assayed. Mediation goes somewhat farther, with the mediator exerting some pressure for an agreement and perhaps making recommendations. Arbitration is a process by which the parties lay their conflicts before an arbitrator and agree to be bound by his decision.

The measure, on which House debate may open tomorrow, contains many more teeth than the President's plan. He asked Congress to legalize fact-finding boards, give them power of subpoena and prohibit strikes for 30 days while they deliberated.
