

Freshmen, Sophomores Choose Class Officers

Parties, Dances To Be Given By Student Groups Tonight

George Washington's birthday will not go unnoticed this year. His life has been chosen as the theme of several of tonight's parties.

Union board is sponsoring an all-college dance which will take place in the ballroom tonight from 9 to 12. Dick Snook and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

"George Was Here" is the theme for the informal social dance which Student club has planned for tonight. Chairman Frank Boden, St. Clair junior, has announced that games and decorations will carry out this theme. The party will take place at the Forestry cabin from 8:30 to 11:30, and all students are welcome to attend. Patrons for the affair include Prof. and Mrs. Leo Hoak and Prof. and Mrs. Buford Grigsby.

Term Party Has Birthday Theme

Decorations for the term party which the coeds of Alice Cowles will give tonight, will also be based on this birthday theme. Highlights of the decorations will be the cherry tree which will be planted in the smoker. Gum dropped tied on the branches will represent the tree's fruit. Mary Moran, Battle Creek freshman, is party chairman, and Prof. and Mrs. J. T. Landis and Prof. and Mrs. W. B. Greenwood have been invited as patrons.

Ewing house will be the scene of tonight's third party which will be based on the holiday theme. Silhouettes of Washington will deck the room, and a wishing well will also be included in the decorations. Rose Nandra, Hazel Park freshman, is chairman for the party, and she has announced that dancing, games, and refreshments will constitute the party program.

Formal Dinner Dance

Tonight's singular formal dinner dance has been planned by the Gamma Phi Betas. It will take place in the American room of the Hotel Olds from 7 to 12. Chairman Pat Beechler, Charlotte senior, has stated that the couples will dance to the music of Jimmy Shaffer and his orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stewart and Prof.

Debaters to Present Discussion Program

A panel discussion by members of a men's and a women's debating squad will be broadcast over station WKAR from 4:30 to 4:55 today. This program will take the place of Prof. J. D. Menchhofer's discussion groups regularly on the air at this time. Bernard J. Knittel of the speech department will serve as mediator of the panel.

'Dateable Dreams' Rate On Masculine List

By KATHIE MULL

Reactions among "dateable" students to an all-college blind date bureau movement that is sweeping campus are many and varied. Although some Spartans still prefer to make their own "knock-down", a few men students interviewed yesterday were enthusiastic and elaborated on their personal specifications for the card and file system.

Insists on Dark Hair

Tony Vesco, Niagara Falls, N. Y., freshman, insisted on an exotic looking woman, preferably with long black hair, a good figure, a good dancer, and popular. A blonde about 5'3", broad-minded, good-humored, not sloppily dressed, with a sharp personality and Mrs. Chas. Lawson will act as patrons for the affair.

Delta Chi pledges will throw a party tonight in honor of their actives. The chapter house will be the scene of this affair which will take place from 9 to 12. Bill Peek is party chairman, and Prof. and Mrs. Aron Napoli and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laechi will be patrons.

East Mayo Open House

East Mary Mayo coeds will hold open house tonight from 9 to 12 for all men on campus. Joyce Folley, Dearborn freshman, has stated that "February Follies" will be the theme of the affair. Patrons will be Prof. and Mrs. Vit Noll and Prof. and Mrs. J. G. Davis.

A radio party has been planned by the SAE pledges for their actives. It will take place from 9 to 12, and dancing and refreshments will fill the evening's bill.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma pledges and the Phi Delta Theta pledges will hold an exchange party at the Kappa house tonight from 8 to 12. Betty Perry, Akron, N.Y., freshman, is in charge of this function and Prof. and Mrs. H. P. Skamser and Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Kimber will be chaperons.

The Jr. Farm Bureau 4-H short course students have a dance planned for tonight which will take place in the Little Theater of the Home Ec building. Morey Winer is in charge of the affair.

Tickets For Term Play Go On Sale

Tickets for the term play "The Little Foxes" which will open Thursday evening in Fairchild theater, and continue for the two following nights, are now on sale according to ticket chairman, Doris Guth, Ovid senior. All those holding advance sale tickets should turn them in at the accounting office for reserved seats as soon as possible.

Advance sale tickets may be obtained from Theta Alpha Phi representatives in the dormitories, and from the Union desk. Reservations may be purchased directly at the accounting office also.

Opening night, Thursday, will be informal, Paul Geisenhof, play director, emphasized.

Young and Prince Elected As Class Presidents; Scott Wins AWS Post

The results of the freshman and sophomore elections which were conducted yesterday in the Union have been announced by Dale Brown, Sebawaing senior.

Officers elected in the sophomore contest are as follows:

president, Roland Young, Lansing; vice-president, Marian Dudgeon, Huntington Woods; secretary, Joe Bogart, Sturgis; treasurer, Glen Hatfield.

Board Accepts New Donations

At their meeting yesterday, the State Board of Agriculture accepted a total of $5,404 cash gifts to be used at Michigan State college. Karl H. McDonel, secretary, announced last night.

Action was also taken by the board on appointments, granting leaves of absences, reinstating faculty members who have been on leave, and accepting the resignation of other members.

Building to Proceed

The college has been authorized to proceed on the building program. This includes the building of the two women's dorms, new classroom building and a home management laboratory.

The largest gift, $1,350, was donated by Strons, Cobb and company for research in the home

All persons who had pictures taken at the J-Hop are asked to pick them up at the Photography laboratory in the auditorium basement today.

The money will be used to sponsor a project in the foods and nutrition division of the department.

Effective September 1, the board appointed new heads in the departments of speech and dramatics and the department of foreign languages.

Knower Replaces Bagwell

Franklin H. Knower will replace Paul Bagwell acting head in the department of speech and dramatics, while Frederick F. Fales will take the position of head of the foreign language department.

Leaves of absences have been granted to C. O. Wilkins, controller; Gomer L. Jones and Dr. J. M. Barbour of the music department.

Spring Term Courses For Basic Students To Be Discussed

All basic college students are requested to see their counselors before March 9 to discuss their courses of study for spring term, according to Paul Dreshel, director of counseling.

New students are anticipated for spring quarter. Therefore, it will be to the advantage of basic college students to schedule classes before registration.

Those elected in the freshman contest are: president, Richard Prince, East Lansing; vice-president, Richard Carveth; secretary, Barbara Babcock, Bay City; treasurer, Robert Ludwig.

Joy Scott, East Lansing, was the freshman elected to the AWS council.

Students who had campaign pictures in the Union and want them back should contact Dale Brown, 8-3553.

Women Students Select Metzger W.A.A. President

The returns on the WAA officers were announced by Isabel Firth, Jackson senior, retiring president of WAA. The elections were held in the Union yesterday.

The sports managers elected were: archery and riflery, Marilyn Mead, Grand Haven junior; tennis, Pat Elliott, Traverse City sophomore; soccer and softball, Eileen Carey, Washington, D. C. sophomore; bowling, Mary Ellen Evans, Armada sophomore; and hockey and canoeing, Barbara Jenks, San Francisco, Calif., freshman.

Others are: volleyball and orchestra, Jean Long, Chicago Hts., Ill., sophomore; badminton and tennis, Margaret Velt, Wauwatosa, Wis., sophomore; basketball and golf, Marion Duncan, Grosse Pte. junior; swimming and hiking, Peg Frimodig, East Lansing junior.

The proposed revision of the constitution which was voted upon in the election was accepted.

Children's Theater To Give Three Plays

Children's theater under the direction of Jean Granville, graduate assistant in speech and dramatics, will present three short plays tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 and again at 7:15 in the evening.

The plays, "The Sentimental Scarecrow," "Cabbages and Kings," and "Polly Patchwork" will be done by 30 children from Lansing and East Lansing. The public is invited to attend.

Assisting the director will be Jean Geyer, East Lansing senior; Lucille Bunn, Reading junior; Barbara Weiss, Jackson senior; Betty Bolander, Lapeer senior; and Lois Banzet, East Lansing senior.

No Freightcars?

Ralph Melvin, who was elected Abbot hall representative to the hobo convention in Chicago next month, kept the campus agog with his ads for hobo gear. However his publicity manager, John Cox, Buffalo, N. Y., freshman, announced yesterday that Melvin will be unable to attend. Reasons were vague, but it seems that either there is no convention, or Pullman reservations could not be procured.

Forced Landing

One bright boy found yesterday that the floor of the Union grill was not the softest place to land after a forced landing when the back of his chair broke off.

What's the matter, forget the parachute?

Co-eds at Michigan State really get around — at least their photographs. Appearance of Doris Baird's picture in Stars and Stripes, the army's European newspaper, as queen of Porpoise, swimming honorary, should substantially increase veteran enrollment here when the transports unload homecoming Yanks.

When asked about the picture the co-ed said, "It's really been fun, but I was surprised at seeing my picture in the magazine."

Math Honorary Helps With Tax

For all students anticipating trouble with income tax returns and rebates, Sigma Epsilon is planning to give aid, John McCougna stated yesterday.

Sigma Epsilon is the business and economic honorary fraternity and it will have a trained student in attendance at a desk in the lower deck of the Union during the coming week. Information, tax forms and help will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Until war cut off manpower, the honorary was closed to women, now however, any junior or senior student who meets the requirements is eligible for membership.

He Put America On the Map

The Virginia squire who led a revolution of about three million colonials would doubtlessly feel himself a stranger today in this country of more than 135,000,000.

He might wonder why, after this lapse of time and all the intermittent changes that have taken place, the great mass of people should still hold him in respect.

No doubt what we revere in Washington are the qualities of leadership and character he displayed.

Out of the depths of despair in Valley Forge, he took his rabble army and with it won a war. Victory came, from the heroism of those men, certainly, but more, perhaps, from the persistence and will power of their leader.

In the same fashion he made a going concern of a government whose 13 constituent states accepted with reluctance and only out of necessity.

Though the common man may feel a greater kinship with Lincoln, the railsplitter, than Washington, the aristocrat, he should remember that to win a war and keep the peace, the nation needs a leader who can forge from our democratic steel the weapons needed.

George Washington was such a man.

Mad As Hopps

By JANICE HOPPS

SO I am mad, like a church-mouse, the Hatter, Hopps and the whole rebellious State News staff all tossed together. I feel like Betty Hutton on a spree, and if you'll just give me enough men, pots and pans, bicycles and automobiles to throw around, you'll think all hell has broken loose.

To come swiftly and bluntly to the first point, I and the other members of the State News staff hereby resign as the acting publicity chairmen for half the organizations on this campus. Those who were my friends before I wrote this column, please take note.

For two terms I've walked into the Union early in the morning after a rugged night before to the tune of half a dozen voices saying: Put a notice of our meeting in tomorrow's paper, here's a list of our new officers, call me this afternoon and I'll have a story for you, we want a big story on our Friday night affair, what's-his-name has just pinned his girl, etc., etc.

So my private secretary who rides along in my left hand pocket takes meticulous notes on the news of the day, and by the time I'm settled in the office about three hours later, I have accurate information on everything that's going on. Like fan! I just might not have a photographic memory, and I speak for all of us.

So then what happens? Well, I try to remember everything, but I ain't so smart.

Next morning, same time, same place, same cast but different dialogue: Why didn't our story get on the front page? What did you cut our story in half for? Why

New Vacancies Still Left in Bowling Tilt Roster

There are still over 50 vacancies to fill the State News college bowling maximum number of 120 entries, sports editor Tom Riordan announced yesterday.

All day today a desk in the main lobby of the Union will be open for entries. Any male student on campus is eligible to enter the affair which is scheduled for the Spartan days on March 2.

Enter at Abbot Hall

Another entrance booth will be open in Abbot hall from 7 to 10 p.m. this evening so that dorm members may sign up sometime during the supper hour.

Over 15 prizes will be awarded with $25 going to the holder of the high three-game series and $10 to the runner-up. Other monies will follow down to a number of $5, $3, and $2 awards. The game will net the top kegger $5.

All "Cross" Alleys

Bowling in the classic will commence at 12:15 and continue until 1:45, with 45 minutes being allotted for each round. Two men will play each alley with another pair in each of their three games. Official league pins will be used.

The meet will be entirely individual with no doubles or team events. Because of the shortness of time these other events could not be included. In all probability future State News tournaments will have the doubles and team competition.

State Hoopsters Gun For Badgers In Home Stretch

Michigan State college cagers will reach the home stretch of the current season Saturday night when they journey to Madison, Wisconsin for a game with the University of Wisconsin. The tilt will mark the next to the last contest for the Spartans before playing Wisconsin again the following Friday in Jenison fieldhouse.

The last two games of the season against Wisconsin will mark the climax of one of the toughest schedules ever attempted by any college team in the country. If the Spartans win both tilts, it will give them five victories out of seven tries against Big Ten competition.

"We can't take Wisconsin lightly," remarked Coach Ben Van Alstyne. "All of the games they have lost this season have been by two or three-point margins."

Krall on Injury List

Against Wisconsin the Spartan mentor hopes to use the same lineup that started the Irish tilt. However, Shorty Krall broke his nose in the Ohio State game and has a badly bruised toe, a handicap for the squad since Krall cannot be expected to play the entire game. He played only 26 minutes against Notre Dame.

Bad news came from the college hospital to the extent that Pat Pepler will be out for the rest of the season. He was released from the hospital Thursday morning, but the doctor will not allow him to finish up the season.

Dudley Jones and Dan Plesky will not be able to make the Madison trip because of studies, and Van Alstyne will add Donn Joyce to the traveling squad.

Notre Dame Tough

Giving the Spartans a light session in yesterday's practice, Van Alstyne took time out to analyze the Spartan loss to Notre Dame Wednesday night.

"They were a tough bunch, one of the best squads in the country. Our men are under a terrific strain after going through a rough season, and we just could not cash in on late baskets Wednesday night."

A brief summary of the statistics shows that Don Watron and Ollie White, guards, made only 10 markers out of 42 tries against the Irish in comparison with 15 out of 36 against Ohio the previous Saturday.

MISCELLANY

MSC Varsity Sport Shorts

By KEN CLARK

Latest Spartan loses are footballers Kent Esbaugh, Steve Contos, and Don Stewart who enlisted in the army several days ago. All three were varsity letter winners last fall. Only 17 years old, Esbaugh was the iron man of State's line, playing 60 minutes of several games, while Contos, Toledo freshman was the winner of the governor's award given as the most valuable player.

Preps to Meet at MSC For Swimming Finals

With eight high schools from all sections of Michigan entered, the Class "B" prep swimming championships will be held at the Jenison pool Saturday afternoon and evening.

With the exception of Leelanau High, each school will enter two relay teams in addition to the single entries. Individual registrants by school number: Grand Rapids East, 25; Ypsilanti Central, 19; Adrian 18; Trenton 17; University of Ann Arbor 13; River Rouge 12; Ypsilanti Roosevelt 8, and Leelanau 1.

The meet will be open to MSC students free of charge. Preliminaries begin at 2 with the final events scheduled for 7.

Boxers Working Overtime As Badger Meet Draws Near

Attempting to break into the winning column for the first time this season, Coach Lou Zarza, State boxing mentor, has his boys working overtime this afternoon in preparation for the meet with Wisconsin at Madison this evening.

"I'm not making any excuses for our first two losses," Zarza said, "but our opponents have had much more time to condition themselves than we have, and in college boxing it's condition that counts."

To remedy this situation Zarza has his entire team boxing extra rounds every afternoon in an effort to reach top condition. Many of his State boxers have just been discharged from the Army, and it is taking time to round them into shape.

Well Pleased

Coach Zarza was well pleased with the way his club looked last Saturday night against Syracuse, though the Spartans were nosed out by one point.

"This boy Lloyd Coon is really a heavyweight," Zarza commented. "He has a terrific right hand and is powerful enough to make any man miserable enough with one punch."

Coon knocked out his opponent in the second round last week and is counted upon to register a victory this Friday night against Wisconsin.

Houth in 127-Pound Class

Once again the Spartan lineup will be the same with Doug Houth competing in the 127-pound class. Houth has a victory and a loss thus far this season. John Tierney, also with one win and one loss, will be boxing leather in the 135-pound class.

Johnny "Chet" Crampton will weigh in at 145 pounds for the fight. Crampton was four pounds overweight last week and didn't box against Syracuse. Barney Glowacki at 155 pounds and Jim Demigan, a 165-pound middleweight, will box for State at these weights. Both Glowacki and Demigan are heavily counted upon for victories by Coach Zarza.

Coach Schlademan Predicts Track Records Will Fall

Coach Karl Schlademan predicted that many meet records would fall tomorrow night when the Spartans play host to the Wayne university tracksters in Jenison fieldhouse.

State met the Tartars for the first time last year and that time the present meet records were established. Now that many of the pre-war stars have returned to their studies at their respective schools, Schlademan looks for much faster times in just about every event.

The Spartans expect to use as many members of the team as possible which will eventually determine who will win in the triangular meet the following week with the University of Michigan and Notre Dame in Ann Arbor.

One of the events added to this week's program will be the novice sprint medley relay. Schlademan announced that in running this event he hopes to discover some new talent to represent the Spartans in the coming Central Collegiate meet.

Freshmen will carry the baton for the Green and White. Paul Stedman, Lansing, and Cal Gress, Detroit, will run the 220 yard while Bill Old, from Birmingham, will cover the half mile distance.

 wasn't what's-his-name's pinning in the paper? Can't you spell. Why in the heck did you print that story about the do-fangle over in the cow-and-pig building.

Okay, sez I, and mumble some scat singing under my breath that's going to put Danny Kaye out of business after a few more months of practice. But this morning, the first guy with a complaint gets the whole darn book in his face.

We've been doing our best, which may not be too good, but we're limited by time, space, ability and patience. I've run out of the latter.

I, too, want things to get in the paper and get in right, but I'm not willing to take a responsibility that doesn't belong wholly to me.

I think every organization has a publicity chairman. If they don't I'd suggest they start looking for one. We in turn have a staff member in charge of every conceivable campus activity. Myself and a couple of other big noises around here are not directly in charge of all of them.

If one of our staff fails to get in touch with your publicity chairman (sometimes publicity chairmen are difficult to track down) the publicity chairman can see our social editor for social events, the Affairs of State writers for pinnings, engagements, marriages, pledgings and stuff, and the night editor for general announcements. The staff members are centrally located in the State News office in the Union annex or can be contacted by calling ext. 269.

If you enter an empty office (we aren't the earliest risers), you'll find marked places for leaving your items. The bulletin board on the north wall holds Affairs of State and social announcements. The spindle on the night editor's desk is for general information. If you put it in writing and include accurate names, dates, times and places, we'll run ourselves ragged for you. And if there are still complaints, we'll take them on the chin.

As for discrepancies that don't result from poor memories, we wish you would consider one or more of our other limitations. Because of our small amount of space, we can't promise that every story that comes in will appear the next day; but it will appear before the event takes place.

Because of our time limitation and a desire to hit the hay sometime before our eight o'clocks, if you bring something in after 7 p.m., you're running a long chance of getting it printed the next day. And finally, because of our limited abilities, we don't promise perfection. But by golly, we're tearing our hearts out trying.
