Franco Defies Allied Action

U. S. Studying French Plan To Place Case Before UNO For Decision

WASHINGTON March 5 (AP) — Defiant reaction from Francisco Franco was made public today as the United States, Britain and France awaited results of their joint call to the Spanish people to oust the Generalissimo.

Franco's ambassador in Washington, Juan Francisco le Cardenas, delivered a note at the State department Sunday — some 24 hours before the release of the American-British-French declaration — warning that Spain would "repudiate" any "foreign pressure."

The note said the question of the Franco regime was exclusively a Spanish matter, and that any foreign intervention would "heighten the national feelings of the Spanish people, always zealous of the integrity of their sovereignty."

Spain was passing along this information because of press reports that the three-power statement was about to be issued, the note explained.

London Receives Note

A similar note was delivered to London, but not to Paris.

The note delivered in Washington made no attempt to deny the accuracy of captured German documents, made public exclusively by the U.S. in connection with the three-power declaration, which detailed at considerable length Franco's wartime efforts on behalf of the German-Italian axis.

Franco Beats Allies

It was the second time in as many weeks that Franco had attempted to beat the allies to the draw. The first was his action in closing the international frontiers with France after the French government had voted to take the same action against him, but had not yet put it into effect.

Meanwhile, officials in Washington, Paris and London were studying possible means of implementing their stand for the ousting of Franco by peaceful methods devised by "leading patriotic and liberal-minded Spaniards."

French Proposal To UNO

At the state department, Secretary Byrnes said the U.S. still is studying a French proposal to lay the allied case against Franco before the United Nations security council at its next meeting.

Reports from London said the British had rejected the French plan.

Audience Enjoys MSC Orchestra Team Concert

Last night, before a small but appreciative audience, the MSC symphony orchestra under the direction of Alexander Schuster, presented a finished performance in their winter term concert.

Outstanding on the program was the work of Phyllis Collins, Spring Lake junior, who played the solo cello part in Hindemith's "Funeral Music for Cello and String Orchestra."

In the second movement of the Jupiter symphony, the melancholy theme typical of Mozart was performed expressively by the orchestra.

Norma Lou Gregg, Lansing senior, and Jacqueline Walton, Jackson senior, sang the soprano and contralto parts respectively in "Dream Pantomime" from Humperdinck's opera Hansel and Gretel.

Also included in the program were "Bourree" by Bach and Sousa's march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever." L.K.

SWL Members To Vote For New Officers

Spartan Women's League will hold their general elections in 104 Union Annex from 5 to 6 p.m. today, according to President Adoree Evans, Manistee senior.

Members at large, who will participate in board activities will be elected from Jean Wood, Detroit junior; Jane Bratz, Adrian junior, and Alice Ruthertford, Detroit sophomore.

All SWL members must present membership cards before voting.

Queen of the Mardi Gras will be chosen by a popularity vote, rather than by the previous "penny" system, Bill Page, North Muskegon sophomore, has announced.

The election will consist of a primary and final vote which will be held the Wednesday and Thursday preceding the dance on Friday. Student council will be in charge of all voting.

Committees Listed

Dean Rather To Speak At Legion Meeting

H. C. Rather, dean of Basic college, will be guest speaker at a regular meeting of the Red Cedar Post, American Legion, to be held tomorrow night at 7 in the Union ballroom.

Rather's talk will deal with the Basic college and the evaluation of college credits earned through military service.

This will be an open meeting for all veterans on campus, according to Phil Rosenblatt, Central Ship, N. Y., sophomore.

Faculty Express Views On Cutting System

By CAROLYN KARNEY

Results from a poll of faculty opinion taken on the abolishment of the cutting system show a variety of results. The deans, heads of departments and instructors contacted have made the following statements:

H. C. Rather, dean of the Basic college, said, "I think the check on attendance should be up to the individual instructor and correlated with the quality of work that the student is doing in the course."

A. A. Applegate, head of the journalism department, voices his opinions as, "Ideally, it is an excellent thing. It is likely to work a good deal of hardships on the student that is not used to being on his own and the mortality rate is liable to be higher. 'Along with it,' Applegate added, 'should go higher standards of honor in taking examinations.'"

Dr. J. S. Frame, head of the mathematics department, has two opinions on the topic. He says that, "Since it is possible to write off the course by examination without taking the course, it seems inconsistent to fail a person on inadequate attendance."

"On the other side of the argument students can make an awful nuisance by cutting lectures and then expecting the professor to make it up in private conference."

Dr. Ben Euvema, head of the English department, stated, "The important thing in a course is learning the material, and it doesn't matter how the student learns it. But the easiest and quickest way of learning is by going to class and getting the benefit of class discussion and getting the instructor's interpretation of the material."

Dr. W. R. Fee, head of the history and political science department, takes another view on the system. He adds, "I am not sympathetic with the abolition of the cut system until there is evident a greater degree of student responsibility in intellectual matters than at present."

Dr. R. K. Fennel, zoology department, believes, "the cut system as it now stands could be waived for juniors and seniors who maintain a C average in their all-college work."

"But freshmen and sophomores should be required to attend classes under the present system or some modification."

J. W. Miller, history and political science department, feels that "with an ideal student body a system in regard to classroom absences is not needed. Unfortunately we do not as yet have an ideal student body though we are making progress in that direction."

"It should be borne in mind that it is the taxpayers' money as well as the students' fees, which pay for the students' instruction. The administrations of any state college has a duty to supervise education in the interests of the taxpayers. The present system allows what appears to me an ample leeway."

LETTERS . . . To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — All letters to the editor submitted with the intention of being published, must be signed by the writer. If he does not want his name to appear with the letter, it must be indicated. No letters will be considered for publication unless the writer is known. The opinions expressed are those of the writers and not necessarily those of the editors.

TO the Editor:
I would like to take exception to Mr. Demarest's statements in yesterday's column. College examinations are designed for the average high school graduate. By lowering our standards below such level would no doubt increase our enrollment considerably.

However, it would remain to be seen whether such action would keep the artificially increased number of students in college, unless content and quality of courses would be lowered in proportion. Would this be beneficial?

An applicant for a position is frequently judged by the standard maintained by his alma mater. Then, why "forget the prestige of MSC as an educational institution?" As Miss Hopps pointed out last Friday in her column, the curtailment of enrollment by raising standards of admission rather than through the application of boy-over-girl theory would be the correct answer to our current problem.

With equal suffrage, equal opportunity for education is obligatory. Admittance of men wholesale, regardless of ability, for a college career in preference to women, who would be able to benefit by the offered facilities, is a misstep toward our goal of qualitative education.

Peter H. Gerns.

TO the Editor:
What's the matter with women students — are they lump heads or are they simply vote evaders?

Did you ignore the AWS election booth yesterday? Does it mean nothing to you that your privileges are determined in part by these women who will take office this coming year? Does it mean nothing to you that your campus activities will be regulated by the measures they propose? Yesterday was election day. The number of ballots cast indicates "yes" to all of these answers.

Three thousand five hundred women had the opportunity to choose those students they felt best qualified to fill the positions of activity board president and judicial-legislative president. Three hundred seventy-three women voted.

Scathing letters have reached the State News office clamoring for more effective voice in student government. AWS has spent grueling hours in reorganization to answer this demand. Further improvement can only come from each individual student.

A bridge needs support. AWS is your bridge to smoother relations between the administration

DRIP, drip, drip, sloppy Red Cedar will undoubtedly be the hit song on the Spartan Varieties Saturday . . . and with good reason. The gentle little stream along the west bank of the campus is beginning its annual crusade to see whether the waters will win over the shore line and try an invasion of the bandshell, College auditorium, and the power plant, or just settle back to the ducks.

Merrill Wills, over in the big white house between Mayo and Williams, was once interviewed on the matter of whether it is possible that more rain falls in East Lansing than in any other place in the state. He persisted in saying that wasn't the case . . . but if this is your first year at MSC (or last one for that matter) don't put away the rain apparel at the end of this spell . . . it's only the first of the heavy 'fogs.'

Williams Dormitory Spells Campus History

The history of Sarah Langdon Williams dormitory, second of the group of new dorms beginning with Mayo, proves an interesting one. The ground upon which it was built was formerly used as a woman's gym field.

The stakes outlining the form of the building were put up several times, and then taken out when the building was delayed so that the field could be utilized by the coeds.

Students, watching developments anxiously, would see the stakes all up on one day and ready for the builders, and the next day they would be down again and the coeds out playing ball on the grounds.

Dorm Named

The dorm is named after Sarah Langdon Williams, wife of the first president of the college, an outstanding woman in her own right.

It is one of the larger of the dorms on campus. The normal capacity of North and South Williams is one hundred and twenty-eight women each; but the present occupancy is 180 women in each side.

Dorm Open 1937

During the first few weeks after the official opening of the dorm in 1937, it was called Langdon Dormitory, in order to identify it from a men's dorm named Williams, which was on campus at that time.

However, it was shortly discovered that everything in the building records was filed under "W" and so it was thereafter called the full name, Sarah Langdon Williams or just Sarah Williams.

tion and the student body. Your vote is your support. The answer must come from you.

A campus is a small democracy. With every right or privilege we receive there is in return a corresponding obligation or duty. The two go together. By your very actions you are slowly killing any further advances in greater student government. Is it too much to ask that each woman student vote?

If you don't know the candidates running, make it your business to find out her qualifications. Sure, you thought it wasn't important. But it is.

Every woman student has an AWS representative who will give out additional information.

You are being given another opportunity to exercise your right and privilege. You will live under the government set up by these people in the coming year. It definitely affects you. Tomorrow another election is being held to give those people who didn't vote a chance to do their part. Here's your opportunity to show whether you want to be led by a minority-elected leader. Vote!

SINCE way back when, the spring suit, feminine, sassy or sweet, has arrived simultaneously with the first robin. Wonderful things, spring suits. They show timidly under winter coats for a little while, and then suddenly it's warm enough to wear them, solo.

Any coed can make her Easter wish come true with a suit from Jacobson's. One that's terrifically simple and simply terrific is a navy blue dressmaker model of Swansdown. The lines are new and curved to accentuate the shoulders. Braid trim around the collarless neckline and down the front of the jacket adds a feminine touch. High mock pockets are dotted with braid twirls. The skirt is slim, with trouser tucks and one kick pleat. It's a beauty at $49.95.

It's always sweater and skirt time at M&C, and the new shades in sweaters at Penny's are something to see. In short or long sleeve styles of medium-fine knit, they are sure sugar bait for spring at $2.98 and $3.98. U. S. Sends Two Protests Over Russian Activity

State Officials Release Texts

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The United States flung two fresh protests at Moscow tonight—over Soviet activities in Iran and Manchuria.

It furnished a forum at the same time for Winston Churchill to deliver a blunt warning against what he called Russia's expansive and proselyting tendencies.

Announcement that two notes had been sent to Moscow was made late in the day by the State department. Withholding the contents pending their receipt at the Kremlin, the department described one as relating to the continued presence of Soviet troops in Iran and the other as concerning Manchurian industries.

Officials Secret

The fact that they constituted protests, however, was learned from officials in a position to know, but who may not be publicly identified.

The note on Iran was described as a direct protest against what the United States considers a failure by the Soviets to live up to a treaty calling for withdrawal of all their troops from the oil-rich little country by last Saturday.

Iran Asks Explanation

It was sent after notification from Teheran that the Iranian government has protested. The British, at the same time, have asked Moscow for an explanation.

The note on Manchuria was said to be a sharp statement of

An important meeting of the students who have agreed to visit their home high schools during spring vacation will be held today at 5 p.m. in the Music auditorium, Karl McDonel, secretary, announced this country's attitude opposing a Russian plan to treat all Japanese facilities in Manchuria as war booty and bring much of the country's industry under joint Russo-Chinese operation.

Secretary of State Byrnes told his news conference during the day that Russia had made such proposals to China on Jan. 21 and that Chungking had rejected it.

Out of Nowhere—

BIG rest looms as final week peeks its little head around the corner. Always am glad when final week comes because I have so much time just to sit around and study. Don't think it ain't a pleasure. And with all this talk about abolishing the cut system things are looking even more up.

And spring term might not be the worst if the floods don't wash away my rowboat which I'm going to snatch some dark night when the kid on M.A.C. isn't looking. He was having so much fun the other day rowing around in a field of water that I really hate to do this to him. But it's either that or water wings.

Would like to get the inside dope sometime on "How to Make A Speech." Recently had to do such, and when I had finished the class was crawling out on its knees. With every shake and quiver of my voice, they sunk lower and lower in their seats.

Looking at it objectively, it's really quite humorous. And almost physically impossible. The knees do a rumba, the whole body is in slight motion, the hands are beating vaguely in the wind, and the phalanx is scratching the tonsils and making wierd sounds such as—and, ah.

This phase passes slowly and the speaker is left with a slight reaction. Such as grasping on the corner of the desk to support himself. They can talk all they want to about "perse and personal magnetism," but I, as a public speaker, ain't got any. And what's more, the public speakers must lead such good, clean lives, that they are given this ability as a reward.

Got a letter a few days ago from the boxing manager who gave me a very good excuse for boxing. I really was surprised to learn that it rates 7 when it comes to injuries from sports. Would have thanked the writer before, but I just dug the letter from under a pile of term papers which I have been plagiarizing from the book of term papers by great men, and am getting around just now to acknowledge it. If all is forgiven, I'll be glad to be given two tickets to the Louis-Conn fight just to see if I like the sport any better now.

With all these improvements going around, heard a few comments from the Home Ec students who are mightily wishing for an elevator to convey them upward in the Big Building. Don't mind putting over a plug once in a while for the Home Ecs, because deep down inside I'm doing them dirt. Usually get into violent controversies with my Home Ec friends from my wicked remarks. The latest they tell me, is that I'll save money if I knead bread. I don't need bread that badly.

Questions on Proposal

DETROIT, March 5 (P) General Motors corporation today announced "without merit" a proposal by the CIO United Auto Workers that the 105-day-old strike be submitted to arbitration.

The proposal that the GM side production workers on the question of returning to work under terms of its latest offer— including an 18 1/2 cent wage increase— GM declined.

It is difficult for us to determine whether you are accepting the principle of a referendum on the company's latest proposal or simply attempting to delay the issue in an effort to gain support for your demand for arbitration.

General Motors' position was stated in a letter sent to the CIO over the signature of W. Anderson, GM vice president.

Even as the negotiators with federal mediator James C. Hays in a session that was adjourned two hours after the request for arbitration.

Society of Countries Presented in Registration

Seventeen foreign countries, 44 states, two U.S. territories and the District of Columbia are represented by students enrolled at Michigan State, Registrar S. S. Linton said.

New York has 190 students which is a total greater than that of any other state, with the exception of Michigan. Illinois and Ohio students follow with 136 and 104, respectively.

Foreign countries with students attending MSC are: Brazil, Canada, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Finland, Honduras, India, Jamaica, Mexico, Nicaragua, and Panama. The students of Hawaii and Puerto Rico are also represented.

Students of World War II are 2,302, Linton said.

Cage Team Completes High-Scoring Season

Fortino, Roberts, White, Lead Scorers

A double victory over the University of Wisconsin on two successive weekends drew to a close a colorful chapter in Michigan State college basketball history.

Coach Ben Van Alstyne turned out a team that took recognition from such top schools as Notre Dame, Kentucky, and Great Lakes. Playing each of these teams twice, the Spartans never were able to cop a tilt, but the scores were invariably close enough to make each opponent work hard for a victory.

In a 21-game schedule the Spartans won 12 tilts and dropped nine, and compiled 136 points to their opponents' 1,016. Five out of seven victories in Big Ten competition included defeats of Michigan, two over the Badgers, Ohio State, present Big Ten champions, and a win over Minnesota.

Leading Scorer

Leading a pack of high scorers was forward Sam Fortino, a discharged navy veteran. Fortino, noted by coaches and officials as the most valuable player in college during the 1944-45 season, set a new seasonal record with 51 markers. Formerly held by Joe Gerard at 239, Fortino's score is 12 points better.

ROBERTS

Guards Good Shots

Unusual in basketball, two guards proved to be among the leaders in the scoring column. Ollie White, recently elected honorary captain of the squad, finished up the season with 174 points. White, a Cleveland, played two years at guard before joining the AAF in 1943.

Waldron finished up the season with 168 points. A newcomer to the State squad, he has shown great promise as future varsity material and next year is expected to be one of the best players in the country. Don was induced to come to Michigan State by Pat Peppier, one of this year's returned ex-servicemen-lettersmen with whom he teamed in rep ball at Shorewood (Milwaukee).

Shorty Krall, who is an excellent ball handler and a good shooter, played center.

Shorty Krall broke into the starting lineup after his performance in the DePaul game of an 18. Krall, standing 6 feet, 1/2 inches in his locking feet, has handled the pivot position throughout most of the season and figured with the Coach Charles McCaffree announced Monday that all seats will be reserved for the Central Collegiate Conference swimming meet Saturday. Tickets can be obtained at the ticket office in Jenison fieldhouse for 60 cents.

Preliminaries in the swimming contest will begin at 10 a.m. and the finals will start at 3 p.m. Students are advised that their activity books will not be valid for admission to the swimming matches.

Addition of Dave Lundston to the Spartan roster of centers on this year's cage squad brings the total used by Ben VanAlstyne to seven. The others include Bill Krall, Matt Mazza, Jack Wulf, Jack Cawood, Stu Francke and Joe Schwochow.

Bowling Winnings Not All Picked Up

Some bowlers still haven't picked up their winnings from the recent State News all-college classic. These men are urged to visit the office in the Union annex this afternoon anytime between 1 and 5.

Bill "Shorty" Krall, Spartan pivot, was voted the man who showed the most improvement in his position during the past season, in a poll taken by all members of the MSC cage squad.

The Spartan poolmen shattered so many records this past season that they had trouble counting all the ones that they did break.

Just yesterday, Coach Charles McCaffree was comparing times of last Saturday's Great Lakes meet with the NCAA freshman records and discovered that State's 300-yard medley relay team clipped two and three-tenths seconds off the standing record made in 1941 by Rutgers university.

State's medley relay trio of Howard Patterson, Paul Seibold, and Jim Quigley paddled the distance in two minutes, 59.8 seconds, to establish a new mark.

Three stellar MSC cage men are now out for positions on the State baseball squad. Ollie White and Robin Roberts are trying for mound assignments, while Pat Peppier is working for a post in the outfield.

Glove Team Ends Postwar Season On the Upgrade

By MARTY HANRAHAN

Building a Spartan boxing team to represent the Green and White for the first time in two years, was the task awaiting Lou Zarza when he was appointed boxing coach at State in January.

It was a rough undertaking even for an experienced man like Zarza as the material on hand at the beginning of the year was not only inexperienced, but the majority of the team had just been discharged from the armed forces and were badly in need of conditioning.

Working out every afternoon late in January, Zarza soon rounded into shape what turned out to be a scrappy array of fighting talent.

Sailors Win First

In the first match of the year, Iowa preflight took the measure of the Spartans 7-1. State received only two draw bouts in this match, counting for the lone point.

However, a week later, against Syracuse, State showed much more form and was barely nosed out 4 1/2 to 3 1/2. The feature of the evening's battles was a terrific right hand punch thrown by State's Lloyd Coon that put the Syracuse heavyweight to sleep in the second round.

In the third match of the season, State met a strong University of Wisconsin team in Madison. MSC was once again turned back although the evening's bouts were much closer than the final score indicated.

10,000 Saw State

State lost 6-2 before 10,000 howling Wisconsin fans. Outstanding for the Spartans was Johnny Buda who came up with a hard earned victory after slugging it out toe to toe with his opponent for three vicious rounds.

The final meet of the season pitted State against Iowa Preflight for the second time in the season, this time State fought to a draw as Iowa rallied in the last two bouts of the evening to tie the State 4-4.

In summing the season up, Coach Zarza was very well pleased with the improvement his boys showed, who all will be back next year.

Detroit Club Signs Rookie Infielder, Johnny McHale

LAKELAND, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Rookie first baseman Johnny McHale, who started at Buffalo a year ago and then announced he would remain at Notre Dame university this spring to earn his law degree, has agreed to terms for a 1946 Detroit Tigers contract and will report here immediately.

McHale batted .319 and hit 22 home runs for Buffalo.

The American League teams will play 130 night games in the 1946 baseball season.

Central Collegiates to Hold Top Swim, Track Squads

Michigan State will be host at the annual Central collegiate conference combination track and swimming Saturday in the Jenison fieldhouse. This is a CCC event and not Spartan sponsored, thus student activities will not be recognized.

However, the preliminary events will all be free-taking place in the fieldhouse pool at 10 a.m. and track and field events will be held at 2:30 p.m. with all seats reserved. Cinder finals will be 7:30 p.m. with the same charge. High school students vicemen will be admitted for 30 cents.

State's Cindermen To Run Saturday

All eyes will center upon Michigan State's Jenison fieldhouse this coming weekend, where many of the outstanding track and field stars in the country will gather for the 19th annual running of the CCC indoor track and field meet.

Spartan Coach Karl Schlade-man, chairman of the meet, announced last night that 15 mid-western colleges and universities had already filed entries and that he is expecting one of the largest turnouts in the history of the meet.

Drake to Defend Title

Drake university will travel all the way from Des Moines, Iowa to defend its present title which they carried home after last years running.

While the powerful Notre Dame squad should furnish most of the tougher competition to the title holders, Michigan State, Western Michigan, and Kansas State will also be pressing the leaders and should be among the top teams when the final points are tallied.

One Man Team

Kansas State which put in an appearance here earlier this season proved that they would definitely be a threat in their distance event. The Bronco's from Western Michigan can also cause plenty of trouble with their one man track team, Ed Taylor. Taylor was a big gun in the recent MSC relay carnival, by accounting for two first places.

Marquette university will be represented by Jim Richardson, giant shot putter, and Ken Wisner, national intercollegiate high jump champion.

Red Wings Vying For Third Place

DETROIT, March 5 (AP) The Boston-bound Detroit Red Wings have a chance Wednesday night to lodge themselves in third place in the National Hockey league, providing they can stage a performance which will equal their last meeting with the fading Bruins.

That was on Feb. 24 when the Bruins invaded Olympia stadium here and retired at the end of the game on the short end of a 4-4 score. They were completely outplayed and only a pair of goals in the final period shortened the Detroit lead to a less lopsided figure.

Eight Tank Teams To Compete Here

Coach Charles McCaffree announced Monday that eight tank teams will enter the swimming meet Saturday in the Jenison fieldhouse to attempt the Spartan record.

Included in the entry list are teams from DePaul University, Detroit Technical College, University of Detroit, Wayne State University, and Illinois Institute of Technology.

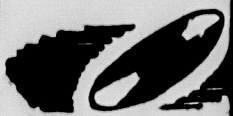

This year's meet is the largest ever held since matches in 1942, with a number of new entries.

is the story of a Michigan State basketball player who went to war leaving an all-time scoring record behind, but when he came back found he wasn't winning a regular job on the Spartan quintet. It's the story of Dudley Jones' cage.

'They Also Serve...'

a Hammond, Ind., was a letter-winner in 1941-42 and 1942-43 State and set an individual record against the Spartans of Michigan in his first appearance.

He was dropped out of school at the end of that season to join the U.S. Navy. He served in the Pacific on various craft and transport ships and saw combat in the Philippines.

After the war he returned to Michigan and played basketball. However, he was not really a star. He was really a team player. He joined the Spartans in 1945 and in his first appearance he scored 25 points on 11 field goals and three foul tosses that were made.

He was named MVP of the team in 1945-46. He has scored 17 points in his first appearance.

Michigan visited Jenison in 1942. Dud's score was 17 points. He was named MVP of the team in 1945-46.

More Night Games Will Be Featured By AL This Year

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP) — The American League, with the New York Yankees turning on the arc lights for the first time, this season will play 130 night games, an increase of 20 over last year when five teams had lights.

The junior circuit's 1946 schedule, released today, showed a return to the standard four east-west swings for the first full postwar campaign.

Tigers to Open With Browns

All eight teams will start April 16, with Cleveland at Chicago, St. Louis at Detroit, Boston at Washington and New York at Philadelphia. This matches the National League get-away, and both leagues will close the same day, Sept. 29.

Boston's original schedule was revised to drop two games with Philadelphia on April 19 in deference to Good Friday, with the Red Sox instead opening their home season April 20 in a single game against the Athletics. One of the cancelled games will be part of a doubleheader with the As at Boston on April 21 and the other played on an open date, Aug. 20, at Boston.

Plenty of Night Games

St. Louis and Washington, both hearty proponents of arc light play, have scheduled 42 and 32 home night games respectively. Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and New York booked 14 each, with the Yankees making their after-dark debut in New York against Washington on May 27.

The Red Sox and Detroit are the two lightless clubs, but the Tigers have scheduled six twilight contests.

Wrestlers Finish With Five Wins

Mikles Leading Candidate For Walter Jacob Mat Award

By KEN CLARK

Closing the regular season by tying a strong Iowa State college mat team, the Spartan wrestling team are taking it easy these days while waiting to enter tournament competition later in the month.

According to records covering the past season, at the top is Gale Mikles, national AAU champ; his score stands seven wins, one defeat.

Bill Courtwright, University of Michigan star, snatched a decision from Mikles at Ann Arbor to give him his only setback in two full seasons of collegiate wrestling.

Leading Candidate

Mikles is the leading candidate for the Walter Jacob award, given annually to the Spartan grappler scoring the most points in both dual meets and in tournament competition.

Right behind Mikles is Iggy Konrad, returned veteran. Konrad, with a record of six wins, one defeat and one tie, is in a deadlock for runnerup spot in the season's scoring, with Bob Maldegen, freshman star, at 22-11. Mikles has 29.

Maldegen's record for his initial season as varsity heavyweight is six wins against two losses.

Dowell in Third Place

In third place in individual scoring and boasting six wins and only one defeat is another freshman star, John Dowell, the Tulsa redhead. Dowell has scored 20 points.

Boasting a clean slate is the veteran Earl Boring, recently returned from the air corps. Boring has won four straight and has yet to taste defeat this season. His most recent feat was a 2-0 decision in the Iowa State Teachers dual meet.

Took Five for Eight

Coach Fendley Collins' team won five of eight dual meets in 1945, tying one and dropping two. As a team the Spartans amassed a total of 14 points to only 69 points for their opponents.

Six Big Ten teams were met and four were beaten decisively. Outside the Western conference schools, State met only two other schools, Wheaton and Iowa State Teachers. One victory and a tie resulted from the meetings with these two smaller schools.

Father Helps Son In Fight For Job

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. March 5 (AP) Brooklyn has a unique father and son story this spring in rookie outfielder John "Jack" Corriden, Jr., and 59-year-old dad Coach Johnny Corriden, Sr., of Manager Leo Durocher's board of strategy.

Red-faced Johnny Sr. is getting one of the biggest thrills of his 38 years in baseball from his son's fight with the Brooklyn ball club, yet he remains strictly neutral — or as neutral as a father ever can be about his own son.

Always at Park

It was all planned years ago, for when the elder Corriden was managing and coaching around the minor leagues after his playing days were over, Jack was always out at the park shagging balls in the outfield or playing catch with the players.

Ball players, knowing about such things, sized him up as one of their own and taught him some of the tricks of the trade. That was in places like Minneapolis and Indianapolis and later in Chicago where John, Sr., was a coach from 1931 through 1940.

Started in Pony Loop

Olean, N. Y., in the class D Pony League was the first stop for Jack in 1941. Next it was Dayton, Ohio, in the class C Middle Atlantic and then to Montreal and New Orleans in 1943. For the last two years, he has been a regular with Montreal.

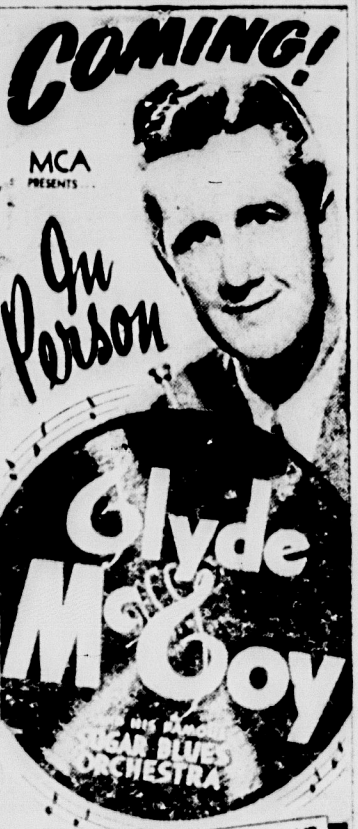

Since he joined the Brooklyn chain, his father has seen him play only seven games, and most of those by sneaking over to Montreal or Jersey City for a night games while the Dodgers were having an off night.

Pat Peppier, who ranked sixth on the team before he came down with the measles, was fast and tricky on offense and a fine defensive man. Matt Mazza, first year man at State, was one of the most aggressive players on the squad, seeing plenty of action at center.

Strike Fever Hits Railways In Country

Peterson States Quick Settlement Can Curve Railroad Walkout

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 5 (AP) — A progressive national strike of railroad engineers and trainmen involving an estimated 300,000 workers is slated to start Monday, a brotherhood official announced today.

P. O. Peterson, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the western area, said that only a quick settlement of a long drawn out dispute could prevent the walkout.

He said the strike would be fully effective within four days. The country has been divided into four groups, Peterson explained, and railroads in each group will be struck on successive days.

Southern Pacific Strikes

The Southern Pacific here will be struck at 6 a.m. (PST) Monday, Peterson said. Workers on other rail lines in various sections of the country also will go on strike at the same time.

A spokesman for the Southern Pacific here said only that the company had not received any official notice of the impending strike and therefore did not have a statement at this time.

Western Pacific Strikes

Within the 24 hours following the strike call — on Tuesday — Peterson said workers on the Western Pacific and other lines also would walk out.

Notice of the intended strike was filed July 24, 1945, Peterson said. He added that a membership vote was heavily in favor of a walkout.

the Associated Women Students of Michigan State college, supposedly the entire feminine enrollment, held their annual elections for new officers. The booth was open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and in that time approximately 300 women students cast their ballots.

Stop and look at those figures again, and then start having a case of conscious pangs. No one group of people ever complain more than MSC students about no representation, no voice in campus affairs, no chance to express opinions and too much government by a small body of students. Well, what are the students doing to overcome these things? Three hundred women voted out of a total of over 3,500.

Since every coed that enters State receive a copy of the by-laws and rules of AWS, it would be conceivable that they all know they are automatically members; but apparently they choose to find themselves too busy to go into the Union building some time during one day and cast a ballot for a woman to represent them in their governing body.

AWS is made up of the Activities board and Judicial-Legislative board. The meetings are held every Tuesday for the Judicial branch, which deals with infringements on rules and all general actions which pertain to all coeds. These meetings are open to any coed on campus, yet visitors are scarcely ever found at them.

The same situation of ballot casting was found in class elections, both last term and this. And when the men students on campus were given the opportunity to vote on whether or not they wanted to wear formal dress at open college parties, the total vote was just slightly over one half of the male enrollment.

All of which leads up to just about this. Everybody is very eager to blow about the lack of things and the way things are run and the conditions, but do you see a complete turnout when an issue arises or a vote is required? No.

Michigan State is a friendly campus. That's one of its many traditions (despite the critics who claim the no smoking tradition stands alone), and friendliness denotes cooperation and interest.

Next time an all-college organization asks your cooperation for a project similar to voting for AWS representation, don't pass off the opportunity by letting George do it. The constitution of the United States gives every citizen equal rights, and we're always ready to take our rights, but we forget that that same paper speaks of every citizen's duties. Start doing your duties and the rights will take care of themselves.

CHLOROPRENE RUBBER DEVELOPED BY DU PONT

Chemists and Engineers Unite to Produce "Neoprene," Prove Value of Group Research

THE synthesis of rubber was for many years a challenge to the chemists of the world. In 1925 Du Pont chemists undertook to solve the problem, using as their starting point a discovery announced by Dr. J. A. Nieuwland at Notre Dame University in connection with the polymerization of acetylene. The Du Pont research staff modified his process to form a material known as monovinyl-acetylene and discovered that this, treated with hydrogen chloride gas, produced chloroprene, a chemical previously unknown. Their next discovery was that the polymerization of chloroprene resulted in a rubber-like solid, superior in many respects to natural rubber itself!

Neoprene, as this synthetic rubber is now called, was first placed on the market in 1931. Although more costly than natural rubber, the demand for it grew rapidly. Du Pont engineers were called upon to design and build manufacturing units embodying improved equipment and better production techniques. The result is that today neoprene production is measured in millions of pounds a year, and the price is only slightly higher than that of prewar natural rubber.

The development, the improvement and the large-scale production of neoprene are another tribute to the value of modern, coordinated research. Neoprene is the result of the cooperative efforts of many Du Pont research chemists, engineers and other technical men.

Chemistry extends the mold-free life of baked goods

A hungry world cannot afford to waste bread. Yet until recently millions of pounds of bread were being wasted annually in the United States because of mold. There was a real commercial need for a material that would delay the growth of this food enemy, if only for a day or two. But to meet requirements, this material had to be edible, wholesome, and completely beyond any suspicion of being toxic.

Combined chemical and bacteriological research resulted in the discovery that 0.3% of calcium propionate or sodium propionate in bread would delay the growth of mold for as long as two weeks. In commercial practice, a concentration between 0.1% and 0.2% was found to be sufficient for average conditions.

Calcium and sodium propionates are made from propionic acid, the synthesis of which (from carbon monoxide and ethyl alcohol) is another chapter in the achievements of Du Pont research—and an interesting one. The propionates occur in low concentration in Swiss cheese and other dairy products, as well as in the human body. Hence their consumption in foodstuffs is both natural and safe.

"Mycoban"—as the Du Pont propionates are called—is a shining example of how intensive research solved a problem which long perplexed baking technologists.

"WILL I CONTINUE TO LEARN AT DU PONT?"

On-the-job training of new chemists and engineers is supplemented at many Du Pont plants and laboratories by training courses, lectures, and conferences. In 37 laboratory centers—chemical, biological, metallurgical, engineering, physical—new men are continually exposed to the thinking and direction of men who have given cellophane, nylon, polythene, and many other products to America.
