Petitions Available For Class Officers

Candidates Must Fill In Forms, File Them Before Thursday, 6 p.m.

Prospective candidates for class officers may pick up petitions at the Union desk anytime from today through Thursday. These forms must be filled in and returned to the Union desk by 6 p.m. on Thursday.

There is a three-fold purpose to these petitions. First to check the candidate eligibility for office, second to help prepare primary ballots, and third as a means of information for future publicity of candidates.

Thursday at 6 p.m. is the absolute deadline for petitions and "sticker" candidates are illegal according to Charles Bachman, Jr. Elections Committee chairman. The Music Auditorium has been obtained for next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for class meetings. The Senior class will gather Monday at 7 p.m. to hear the platforms of their candidates. Tuesday will find the Juniors meeting and Wednesday is the day for the gathering of the Sophomores.

The large size of the Freshman class has made it necessary to schedule their meeting in the band shell on Thursday night. All meetings will begin at 7 p.m. and will last no longer than an hour. The campaign meetings are under the direction of Student Council.

Listed in the "Blue Sheet" or MSC staff Bulletin is a notice "A Potpourri of Speech Activities" sponsored by the Faculty Club. The word potpourri incited the curiosity of Prof. Alden B. Love. He looked it up and found out it meant old-patriotic. He then set about through a dictionary to find out the meaning of the definition, and discovered that the faculty is holding a "poten pot."

Spikes Rumor

As usual the first week of class brought many a rumor to the campus atmosphere. Among them was Glen Gray and his band filling the spotlight for the homecoming game dance. It may be so, but Dean S. E. Crowe who is in charge of it said he is still looking for a good name band and as nothing definite has been decided.

U.S. Serves Offer-Meat Ultimatum To Convo

PARIS, Oct. 7 (AP) — The United States served notice on the European peace conference today that it will make no further concessions in the east-west struggle over the Trieste free zone as the delegates began final consideration of peace pacts for the five former satellites of Nazi Germany.

The American declaration was followed by immediate charges by a member of the Slav bloc that the United States had insulted both Yugoslavia and France during drafting of the Italian peace treaty.

And into the struggle plunged Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa, white-haired veteran of Versailles, who pleaded for "unity and tolerance" between the Eastern and Western powers as he urged delegates of the 21 nations not to turn their peace-writing efforts into "an overture to bigger struggles to come."

America's stand-pat policy on Trieste was made by Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.), who, in urging conference approval of the report drawn up by the Italian political commission, declared that "a just solution" of the Trieste problem was the "keystone of a peace settlement with Italy."

The white-haired Texan repeated previous American warnings that the United States considers the Italo-Yugoslav frontier and Trieste as "one decision, one agreement" in which "no part can be separated from the whole."

Honoraries Plan Mixer

First in a series of all-college mixers sponsored by Mortar Board and Blue Key honoraries will be held in the Auditorium, Friday from 9 to 12, according to co-chairman, Donald MacPhail, Detroit junior and Johnnie Helwig, Cleveland Heights Ohio senior.

The dance, originally scheduled for the end of freshman week, was postponed until Friday when the Auditorium will be available. Members of both Mortar Board and Blue Key will be present to act as hosts. Their sponsorship of the dances is a practice which is resumed this year for the first time since the war.

Offer-Meat To Vet Co-op

A guarantee that meat will be available to members of the Red Cedar Co-operative association, inc. was made at a meeting of the organization last night by Bruce Crow, meat distributor for a farmers' retailing organization in Hillsdale county.

Once the co-op's store is established, Crow assured delivery of quantities of pork and poultry, as well as some beef.

Jerry Smith, chairman of the Red Cedar co-ops, urged his audience in the trailer village recreation hall to join the organization immediately so that the store can be set up.

Among the guest speakers at the meeting was Everett Young, education director of the Michigan Association of Farmers' Co-operatives. He described the co-operative activities among the farmers of Michigan.

Adequate finance is the most important matter to consider," he stated. Young pledged the backing of his organization to this newly-organized campus co-operative.

Speaking on what co-operatives can mean, Orion Ulrey, Professor of economics and expert on co-operative organization, charged the United States with being "short on positive ideology." He believes, however, that co-operatives, as "effective tools of education," can reverse this trend.

Survey Of MSC Voters Shows Lack Of Interest

With the outside world abuzz in a political campaign for state and congressional elections, a NEWS reporter yesterday conducted a brief survey to determine what part MSC students would play in the overall election panorama and what they were doing.

One hundred voting-age students were queried on whether or not they had registered to vote in November. Sixty-two answered that they had not registered, thirty-eight said they had. Typical comments by those that had not done so were that it was "too much trouble" that it "doesn't do any good" and that "it's too far a walk to the city hall."

No Red Tape

Those that had taken the trouble were unanimous in agreeing that it was a brief procedure and that red tape was at a minimum. Most of the non-registered were not quite sure what procedure they should follow.

Students still interested in registering should contact their city or township clerk sometime before Oct. 16, the statewide deadline. Those who cannot go home for the elections will have to register and also make application for an absentee voters ballot, two separate procedures, both of which must be handled through the local clerk.

AVC To Aid Registration

The American Veterans Committee is sponsoring a movement to increase the number of registered voters. Beginning this morning the committee will operate a table on the Union's lower deck where prospective voters may fill in form postcards to be sent to their local election officials registered.

Resort Area And Fruit Crops Threatened By High Winds

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP) — A vicious tropical hurricane officially reported to contain 125-mile winds spun like a meteorological buzz saw along the Florida west coast tonight, sending thousands of persons scurrying for shelter.

The Weather bureau's 6 p.m. advisory placed the storm center 90 miles southwest of Fort Myers, and indicated it would reach the Tampa Bay area about midnight.

As the west coast braced itself, the hurricane signal flags were lowered in the Florida keys and the darker declared past. South-east storm warnings were hoisted in the keys, however.

Key West with top winds of 60 miles an hour, emerged from tightly shuttered homes and refuges and the city slowly came to life.

'Il Trovatore' Scores With College Audience

Never was it necessary for Verdi to make any apologies for choosing a difficult libretto, for however complex the book, Il Trovatore today after 95 years of wide-spread popularity is still superb opera. So jam-packed is the score that the phrase, Verdi's most tuneful opera, is richly deserved.

Gratified by the dramatic intensity of the score, one critic wrote, "Swift, spontaneous and stirring is the music of Il Trovatore. Absurdities and complexities of the story are swept away in its unrelenting progress. Il Trovatore is the Verdi of forty working at white heat."

Difficult Role

Azuena is one of the most difficult, but rewarding, roles for contralto in opera, and any performance of Il Trovatore is doomed without a contralto who has not only considerable acting ability, but a rich and colorful voice as well. Fortunately, Miss Summers and Miss Larrimore were possessors of both qualifications.

Manrice has always been the favorite role of tenors for it contains the chance for a marvelous display of talent as well as the beautiful show stopper "Di Quella Pira" that comes at the end of the wedding scene. Eric Rowton and Rafael Lagares were well suited to singing the role of the polished and chivalrous knight, Count di Luna.

Jess Walters and Daniel Dure were very effective as the villainous Count di Luna. Their singing of the beautiful aria "Il Balen" was especially memorable.

Musically, the high spot of the opera comes toward the close of the convent scene in a brilliant ensemble sung by Leonora, Manrico, and the count. This musical blending of various emotions, common to Italian opera, is always exciting to hear whether sung in Italian, English, or even Chinese.

Only too rarely is such a great musical experience available to us. — P. C.

S' Gridders Fall Before Pass Attack

By DUCK STRATTON
Boston College, unleashing its perfect passing attack, won as hot as the 100-degree weather, producing two touchdowns and accumulating a fourth down in a victory over Michigan State on Saturday at Mackinac Island before 21,000 fans. It was a Spartan inability to stop the Boston team that cost them a game as sure as if they had been hit by lightning.

clers then passed to Angelo Nick-stakis on the 30 yard mark. Again he threw to Jim Benedetto on the 15 who got to the 13 before Russ Gilpin made the stop. Mangene took a lateral and was driven out of bounds by Bill Spiegel on the four. Two plays later Mangene went around end to score. Panciera converted to make it 14-0. Roused to fighting fury, the Spartans pulled themselves together and brought the sweltering crowd to its feet as they came right back in just two plays to score. Carl Cappert, who proved himself a bearcat on defense all afternoon, picked up the short BC kick-off on his 38 and ran 25 yards through a scattered Eagle team to the Boston 37. On first down Reader found an opening inside end, and after breaking out Spartan halfback GEORGE GUERRE is nailed by three Boston college tacklers in an all too typical scene from last Saturday's contest.

The box office at Jackson Stadium will be open every Saturday morning until 11 a. m. during the football season. All students are reminded to bring their activity books to every game and to be sure that the proper club is torn out of their books. Student gates are 2, 4 and 5 at Mackinac Field.

Led by Don Panciera, a freshman quarterback from Westbury, N. Y. who passed with the deftness of a Hungarian pulling rabbits out of a hat, the T-minded Eagles won seven points on the score card before the game was three minutes old, added another touchdown with a baffling ground attack, and then fought off a desperate Spartan rally that wasn't even started.

Following the opening kick-off, Reader quick kicked to BC's 30 yard line and four plays later a maroon and gold warrior scored and were never headed. Ed DeLoose and Bernie Laine carried to the State 36 in two plays. On a speed play Panciera passed to Laine on the 10 and both the ball without a Spartan to stop him and scampered over the first BC touchdown. Panciera added the point to give the Eagles a seven point advantage. BC was unable to gain through the big Boston line after the kick-off and Reader again kicked to the BC 34 yard line. Reader giving the crowd time to get into the composition following the initial tally, the Eagles unrolled their ground offensive and drove 50 yards without giving up the ball, making in two passes to complete the trick.

of the grasp of two tacklers, went all the way. His conversion was good making it 14-7. Ed Clabby replaced Panciera after the State kick and the Eagles pushed deep into Spartan territory before a determined State line rose up to stop the third concerted advance of the New Englanders. Reader found Bernie Roseopp with a pass at mid-field and Roseopp raced to the B 23 before being collared, as the quarter ended. This scoring threat, which was one of three Spartan drives that failed in the shadow of the Eagles' goal post, died on the B 16 as the massive maroon line dug in and held on down. BC's T-attack was stalled again by the aggressive State forwards and for the first time in the afternoon the visitors had to kick. Unable to move forward, the Spartans were driven back by their own 27 from where George Guerre boomed a 70 yard punt out of bounds on the Boston College 12 yard line. A fumble by DeRosa recovered by Warren Huey deep in State territory broke up a 62 yard march featured by Red Mangene's 33 yard sprint around end. Taking advantage of this break State marched 74 yards for another tally aided by two penalties against BC for unnecessary roughness. Reader and Horace Smith worked together on this march culminating with Reader hurdling over for the score from the three yard line. Art Spinney, BC end, blocked Reader's conversion attempt. John Killilea fumbled on the BC 33 following State's kick. Eddie Bagdon recovered for MSC and the Spartans missed their best chance for victory when they lost the ball on

On The Rebound

By Bill Scamborn

It was rough going for Coach John Pingel on his way back from scouting the Mississippi State-LSU game, as well as for the Spartan gridders at BC's "T" party Saturday. Pingel had just taken off from New Orleans in a four-engine plane when one of the outside engines quit and the pilot was forced to turn back for repairs.

On the second attempt, everything was fine until the prop-feathering device on the opposite outside engine refused to function. Then the engine that caused the first trouble died again, and the anxiety of the passengers and crew rose once more.

"We arrived in Memphis on about 2 1/2 engines," Pingel explained, "and there were ambulances and crash trucks waiting at the airport, but we landed safely."

"I felt much better when Alexis Smith got on the plane at St. Louis," he smiled. The actress was accompanied by Robert Taylor, Edward Arnold and Gene Kelly, all enroute to Chicago.

Mississippi State, the Spartan's next opponent, went down to defeat in their Saturday night contest with LSU by a 13-6 score, but showed remarkable speed and power in their running plays, Pingel reports.

"If you think the Eagles were rough," he told me, "wait and see this fast, defensive minded outfit. Shorty McWilliams in a Guerre and Reader wrapped up in one, on open field running, and Mississippi State has three men as fast and powerful as he is."

"McWilliams played as a second stringer in the LSU contest, with Captain Billy Murphy having a firm grip on the starting position, and their entire backfield is very fast."

OUR congratulations go to State's marching band for the excellent performance turned in last Saturday, after only five days of practice. We chalked up the return in full strength of the pre-war Spartan grid spirit when those 80 men marched onto the field. A top-notch half time pattern which kept most of the spectators in their seats should do much to get more candidates for Director Leonard V. Falcone so that the organization can expand to the pre-war level of 100 men.

Brecheen Holds Sox To Even Series, 2-0

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (AP) — With Harry (the Cat) Brecheen turning in a masterful four-hit pitching job against the vaunted Boston Red Sox sluggers, the St. Louis Cardinals bounced back with a 3 to 0 triumph in the second game of the World Series today before another packed crowd of 35,815.

In squaring the play-off for the National League champs, Brecheen not only hamstrung the Sox with his left-handed shoots, but knocked across what proved to be the winning run with a single off-Mickey Harris in the third inning and himself scored the game's third run in the fifth frame.

Not a Boston player reached third base and only twice did the Sox move a man as far as second. Each time it was Rudy York, whose 10th inning homer broke up yesterday's opening game. He drew two of the three walks given up by Brecheen.

Ted Williams, greatest of the Sox sluggers, did not get a hit and was the victim of one of the four strikeouts registered by the slim-160 pounder from Broken Bow, Okla. Once Williams swung so viciously at a curve that his bat left his hands and sailed into the Boston dugout, barely missing a couple of his teammates.

While Brecheen was shackling the American Leaguers with one of the superb performances of World Series history, his opponent, Harris, found hard going in the seven innings he worked before being lifted for a pinch-hitter.

Del Rice, the Cardinal catcher, opened up on Harris with a smash hitting double in the third inning and Brecheen, after making an attempt to sacrifice, dumped a single into right field to drive a battery mate across with the first big run.

Rice also sparked the Cards' two-run clincher in the sixth, which he led off with a single to left. This time Brecheen tried to move him along to second by a Pinky Higgins, Sox third baseman, grabbed his bunt and threw wildly past second. Rice cleared to third and Brecheen's second on the bobble.

Red Schoendienst was an infielder out, both runners sliding up, but Captain Terry Moore slapped a single through Bobby Doerr at second to cover Rice, and Brecheen romped in a few minutes later.
