What The Co-ops Can Do

The Red Cedar Co-operative association, inc. has tendered invitation to all students, faculty, and staff of the college to join its membership in promoting the establishment of a grocery store to be located in the emergency housing area on the campus.

The principal advantages of the store would be:

1. Convenient shopping facilities for those living in the area.
2. Food supply restricted to the membership. Especially meat, which seems to be a scarce item on family menus these days, would be available to the members.
3. At the same time, the organization also expects to make patronage refunds.

Thus far the co-op has raised better than $1,000 towards its initial goal of $5,000 which it feels should be had as capital stock before launching the store. Numerous contacts have been made with food supply sources, and on the whole the outlook appears favorable.

In regard to food supply sources, it seems that co-operatives co-operate. The Michigan Association of Farmers Co-operatives has pledged its backing to the Red Cedar Co-ops. In practical terms, this means that the farmers will give preference to this consumer co-operative when they market their produce.

Clearly, a family can profit through this organization. Besides the material advantages, there are also educational advantages to be gained, as Prof. Orion Ulrey of the economics department has pointed out. Co-operative organization is a democratic technique that permits a greater number of people to participate in the economic affairs of their life. We recommend the Red Cedar Co-ops for your consideration.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Lament on Living or Little Steel Formula
In a canyon on a campus.
Killing time from eight to five,
Is a bricklayer and his helper.

At a dollar sixty-nine,
While in a classroom without a helper
Slaves a prof from nine to nine,
At slavery wages live these sages,
Growing old before their time.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

The Collegiate World

Southgate, N. Y. (I. P.) Male students from the local community who served in the armed forces have enrolled at Vassar college along with the women students. The admission of men will be limited to the period of over-crowding of educational institutions because of the return of veterans.

Although Vassar classes have for many years been open to men of the community as listeners, this is the first time that men have been allowed to study there for academic credit.

Granville, O. (I. P.) Southern University has adopted the core curriculum to mark a forward step in the academic history. For the past two years the Grant Southern Board of trustees has been studying the various phases of Southern's proposed growth and has devoted considerable time to the new plan of basic course of study to prepare its graduates for intelligent citizenship.

Cambridge, Mass. (I. P.) Plans to bring Harvard's American students into closer intellectual and social contact with the 200 foreign students attending the university have been put into effect. Among features of the program are a foreign students' lounge and installation of newspaper racks in various parts of the university which will contain publications from almost every country in the world.

In addition, university housing authorities have announced that they will continue to emphasize a policy recently established of placing foreign students into dormitory suites with Americans.

State College, Pa. (I. P.) State Teachers college in Pennsylvania will support this year in giving programs designed to take care of freshmen who cannot be accommodated on this campus by Pennsylvania State college. Freshmen who admitted will be informed of the college to which they will be assigned. Students will be under no compulsion to transfer if he or she desires to remain at the Teachers college.

Children To Register For Theater Group, Vermont Announces

Registration for Children's theater will be held tomorrow and Monday from 2 to 5 p. m. Applicants may appear in person at room 121, College auditorium, or phone Ext. 392.

Children of faculty and East Lansing residents between the ages of eight and 12 are eligible for membership.

At the meetings which are held from 4 to 5 p. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, the children work on one act plays and participate in creative dramatics. The group is directed by Marion Verrill, graduate assistant in the speech department.

Smith to Talk To Veterans About VA Aid

Lyman Smith, assistant to the chief of the claims and service section of the Michigan Office of Veterans Affairs, will explain the services offered to veterans by the OVA tonight at the annual open meeting of the Michigan State college post 402 of the American Legion, at 8:30 in the Union ballroom.

Among facilities provided for veterans is financial aid for those men whose subsistence checks are held up or lost. It is now possible for GIs to borrow up to the full amount of their checks and repay the money when the allotment arrives.

Also on the program is a discussion of the veteran's right to emergency hospitalization under the Michigan Law, by Smith, and talks by Tom King and Don Cook of the college Veterans administration. Robert Blett, post commander will report on the National A.I. convention in San Francisco, from which he recently returned.

A brief business meeting will be held during the evening to discuss the various committee appointments for the year and to set up plans for the term party.

All servicemen and women are invited to attend this meeting. Members of other Legion posts will have the opportunity to transfer to the MSC post at this time.

Personal property valued at $125,000, ranging from glass eyes to alarm clocks and wallets, left behind by forgetful passengers, is recovered annually by the Pullman Company's Lost and Found Department.

TRAILER TALK

The folks in section A will remember Pete and Lynn Raphael who left at the end of last term. Their new son, James Henry, arrived Oct. 2.

Brother and sister, Jean and Jim Rothman of Blainfield are making their respective homes out here. Jean is now Mrs. William Brubaker.

Did you know that there are 152 children out here? That is, at the last count there were. Only five of them are of school age.

Considering the complicated job Ray Lamphier has as manager of married housing, we wonder where he finds time to keep his office so neat.

You figure out where they find the extra space, but Madeline and Richard Mackenzie of section J are sharing their home with Dick's sister, Zoe.

If you're wondering why all's so quiet at the Taffies' these nights, here's how they've worked out an old problem. When Mad wants to study and Lois wants to listen to the radio, she just puts on their earphone attachment and dials away.

"Take all you want, but eat all you take" was a phrase heard by members of the armed forces throughout the war. Follow that advice in your home. More often than not, the food you leave on your plate would feed someone else who is starving.

Geogangue Schedules Program On Geology And Geography

Geogangue, MSC's geology and geography club, is punctuating its reactivation after the war years with an ambitious program. Though primarily a professional organization for majors in geology and geography, any student having nine credits in either of these subjects is eligible for membership.

The club is sponsoring a dual program consisting of both a lecture and a movie series. The keynote lecture will be given by Dr. R. A. Smith, retired geologist for the state of Michigan. He will give a sequence of weekly morning talks on the topic, "Human Geology." The intimate relation between geology and everyday living and how these relationships affect us, will be the dominant theme.

Movies Sponsored

The motion picture series is being given currently on announced evenings in Morrill hall at 9 p.m. Several movies on each of four topics are being offered. The present, "Minerals and Mining," will be of special interest to engineers. "Regional America" will deal mainly with the physical and economical aspects of our diverse areas.

The movies on Latin America, a region of big development for Americans, will stress the understanding, on our part, of Latin peoples. "Natural Parks" will reveal much on our wealth of natural landmarks.

Main Aim is Education

Education is the foremost goal of the club. It sponsors projects designed to supplement professional subject, and give positive assistance to the faculty, its most praiseworthy function that of bringing its subject, in interesting, progressive manner to the student body.

Geogangue, as President Smith puts it, is a social organization among members. Some of the social undertones are picnics, barbecues, and dances. Students desiring membership information can contact the office in Morrill hall.

New Spartan Gridiron Punch Sought In Lineup Switches

By CHUCK STRATTARD
Spartan grid fans will see new faces in the starting lineup Saturday when MSC takes on Mississippi State on the gridiron.

This was the announcement made by the coaching staff yesterday before the team went into its second strenuous practice session of the week in preparation for the contest of the Maroons from the south.

Three members of the squad have been promoted to starting lineups in the Michigan State lineup, and a fourth change may be forthcoming before kick-off time Saturday, according to the coaching staff.

Huston with Varsity

"Spud" Huston, 180-pound Jayvee halfback, from Chicago, has been moved up to the varsity squad and will be used in the kick-off role in an effort to improve that department which showed glaring weakness against both Wayne and BC. John Kobs, coach of the junior varsity team reported that Huston kicked off into the Wayne end zone several times in the MSC-Wayne Jayvee game last week.

"This Mississippi State outfit has the best set of backs in the Southeastern conference," commented head coach Charley Bachman, and added, "They've got the drop on us in experience." Such men as Harper Davis, Billy Murphy, Shorty McWilliams and Bill Hildebrand, would certainly bear out the words of Bachman.

Misses College Experience

A check of the MSC varsity roster of 55 players showed a total of 34 men who have never played collegiate football before this season, and 15 of those players are members of the first two teams.

Don LeClair, Lynn Chandross and Alger Conner are nursing their injuries along and it is a certainty that LeClair and Chandross will be ready for Saturday's game, with Conner only a slight question mark. Horace Smith, flashy negro halfback from Jackson, the only squad member who will not be ready for McWilliams and company. A trusted site is still causing him pain.

Yesterday's work was taken up with a heavy scrimmage against Mississippi plays and emphasis was placed on pass defense and a stronger passing offense.

Deadline Today For 'Murals' Touch Entries

The intermural office today released further information on touch football. Ed Pogor, intramural director, stated that final entries must be turned in to his office no later than 4 p. m. this afternoon.

With nine teams from Abbot Hall, and the same number from Mason Hall, six from Wells, nine from the Quonset village, and all the fraternities registered, the largest intramural program in the history of the school will be realized.

Independent teams are restricted to eighteen players per squad. The fraternities and dorms, however are limited in that only members may participate.

Team captains may obtain a set of rules by calling at the athletic office any time on Friday. Pogor also said that a medals will be mailed to the sports chairman of each organization and that if it is at all possible, games will begin this Monday. The starting date depends upon how soon lighting arrangements can be made.

Golf news was also forthcoming with today set for final entries. Prizes will be made and announced next Wednesday in the State News.

Largest American sports stadium is Soldier's field, Chicago with a seating capacity of 200,000. Largest football crowd there was 112,000 November 16, 1929, Notre Dame vs. Southern California.

Meeting Set For Riflemen

First meeting for men interested in shooting on the rifle and pistol teams is scheduled for 7 p. m. Tuesday in Demonstration hall, armory. Major Morgan Braken-heck, team coach, announced yesterday.

MSC teams in the past have placed high in both collegiate and military competition. Last year States team took second in the Hearst Trophy meet, which is held on a national basis.

All men students are eligible to try out for the college team while the ROTC team is restricted to military students. Rifles, pistols, ammunition and all other equipment will be supplied. In addition men who make the team may earn a letter sweater from the school.

MSC Varsity Sport Shorts

Rhode Island may be synonymous with chickens but for this season at least State football fans will associate the name with Don Paniera, Boston college freshman quarterback. Rated the outstanding prep football prospect in the New England area last season, the 19-year-old Paniera filled many a Spartan nightmare with number 33.

Paniera tossed nine passes and connected for eight completions. Three of these flips were for touchdowns, covering 49, 37, and 17 yards.

On defense this sparkling quarterback was just as impressive. He intercepted two of George Guerin's vain aerials to halt Spartan drives.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

By JUDY GRAMM

Spartan women interested in the intramural volleyball games which will soon be organized are invited to attend the demonstration volleyball game to be played in the Women's gym tomorrow evening at 7 p. m. The women participating in this game are last year's champions from South Campbell, and the runners-up, the women of Alpha Phi society.

Immediately following this game, the intramural sports managers will hold a meeting to determine the rules of eligibility of the players.

Any volleyball player who takes part in all but one game that her team plays in the tournament will receive 75 WAA points, and will be eligible to participate in the intercollegiate volleyball tournaments which will immediately follow the intramural games.
