So Long, Bach

Michigan State college is today without the services of a m who has brought fame and glory to the former little ellege on the banks of the Red Cedar. Charles W. Bach-m, the genial "Bach" whose name has been synonymous ith Spartan football teams for more than a decade, re-imed as head coach of the Spartans. There will be nome sober thoughts today among old time indents and alumni of Michigan State. Thoughts of the great mus Bachman coached to top level ranking; thoughts of the growned players he tutored to national fame. Michigan State's past, present, and future students and k on the Bachman era as one of the brightest pages of bartan foothall history. The resignation of Coach Bachman must be accepted as the witable conclusion of a season marked by rumors, discon-nt, and growing pressure for a change. The pressure began be applied after the Mississippi State game, and gained mentum as the season progressed. Inchman realised at the end of this season that if he want-to he could have in his hands the potential for one of te's greatest teams, And with only one varsity football yer graduating, he knew that Michigan State had the ma-rial for future top ranking grid squads. But he also realized that the future Green and White team hd only he great if held together as a working unit. President Hannah, in his speech last night at the 1946 the hanquet, paid tribute to Bachman for his unseltishness is devotion to the best interests of Michigan State college. man sacrificed himself," Hannah said. "for the good of chiman sacrificed nimber, framan sind, "for the good of the college. It is not every man who would place his devotion interest for the good of the school above himself." The State News feels that Cortch Bachman's sacrifice is the lest example of his far-flung fame for good sportsman-and fine personal characteristics. We agree with the administration's decision to accept chiman's resignation because we fell as Bachman does — t it is for the best interests of the college. However, we miss "Bach" and long remember him for the wan he is. "resident Hannah gave no indication who Coach Bachman's reessor might be. He merely stated that there are two or we coaches that are being considered as likely candidates. The State News nees a bright future in store for Spartan ridiron teams. But we feel that the administration can take lesson from the past in acquiring only a new coach who, the bis coaching ability embedies the decency the ather s his coaching ability, embodies the decency, the ethics nd the clean sportsmanship Charles W. Bachman has shown his 14 years as head coach at Michigan State.
