Anderson Defends Food Aid To Europe

U.S. Meat Rationing Not Related To ERP Exports, Secretary Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said today that proposed food shipments to Europe under the Marshall plan have nothing to do with the administration's bid for standby power to put meat and food under government control.

'Big Oil Men Squeeze Us', Dealer Says

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP) — An independent fuel oil dealer told Gov. Sigler's special oil price investigating committee today that "the big companies are trying to put the squeeze on the smaller fellows."

Ernest Wagner, operator of an independent fuel oil firm, said he paid 12.5 cents a gallon last summer for oil he obtained from "major oil companies" while the latter sold to his customers directly at 11.5 cents. The current price to him, he added, is 21.5 cents a gallon.

"I was always made the heel," he told Chairman Muri K. Ales and Douglas Clapperton, only members of the six-man committee present.

Earlier, a similar charge came from Charles C. Lockwood, a lawyer representing two consumer organizations.

He accused major oil companies creating an artificial shortage to boost prices and squeeze independent operators.

AWS Council Plans To Train New Leaders

Questionnaires went out this week to all organizations on campus as the first step in arranging a Leadership Training Program, announced Bob Fisher, AWS Council member.

AWS and Men's Council will sponsor the program, and the questionnaires must be in the administrator of Men's office, Administration building, by Monday.

The results of these questionnaires will determine the time and general outline of the program.

Constitution Ready For Council Vote

Committee Finishes Work On Revision

By RON LINTON
The new Student council constitution will be announced as ready for presentation tonight when the reconvened council meets, Richard Burns, Detroit junior, chairman of the committee announced. The formal presentation will be made at next week's meeting.

During 1947 many amendments and revisions had been made on the constitution and by spring a completely up to date print of it could not be obtained.

Work on the revision was delayed until the fall meetings of the council began and then the committee of Dale Critchfield, Jani Hite, Ed Howard, Harold Robinson, Karl Mikko and Burns began the hashing and revising of the constitution.

None of the changes made in the constitution appear startling. The main job was that of revising and consolidating. A complete change had been suggested for the preamble which, in the words of one committee member, was high sounding. The preamble was rewritten by Mikko.

The new constitution will embody a change made last spring when councilmen were elected by district instead of being chosen by class. The final major change will be the election of the Student council president by the members elect instead of by both outgoing and new members.

Little Opposition Expected
The suggestions and ideas that have been incorporated in the new constitution were received from council members, committee members and from the council suggestion box.

Some opposition is expected from council members on minor points but no organized attack on the constitution has been noticed so far, Burns reported.

"The committee," Burns continued, "was in complete accord and complete cooperation had been received from all the members."

The new constitution will not improve the student government on campus nor will it give it any greater power to regulate campus activity. It is merely a base for the student council to operate from, Burns said.

Hill To Edit Math Journal

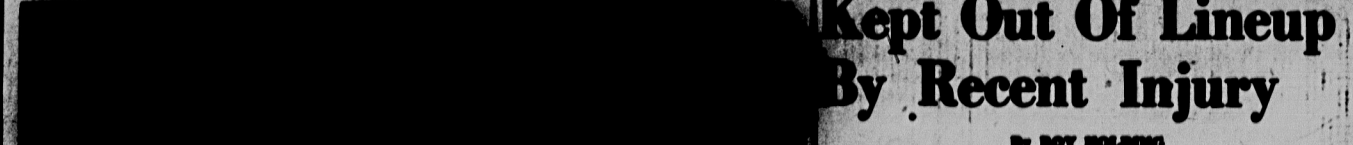

The American Journal of Mathematics announces that Dr. J. D. Hill, associate professor of mathematics at MSC, has been appointed a cooperating editor for a three year period beginning Jan. 1, 1948.

The American Journal, a mathematical publication, is issued quarterly by John Hopkins university.

Dr. Hill is the author of many research papers written during his 12 years at Michigan State. His latest is an expository article on "Approximation and Expansion of Functions" written for the forthcoming edition of the National Encyclopedia.

State Nips Marquette, 57-54

Berce, Hilltop Ace, Kept Out Of Lineup By Recent Injury

Michigan State came from behind in the last half of a wild, rough and tumble contest last night to edge out Marquette university, 57-54, for the Spartans' sixth basketball victory of the year.

After trailing throughout the early minutes of the last period Bob Brannum shoved State out in front with five minutes remaining, 53-50. Sam Saucedo tied it up again a minute later on foul shots, but a basket by Robert Robbins and a bucket and a foul shot by Hugh Dawson gave State its victory.

Berce Out With Injury
Berce, the Hilltop's leading scorer, did not play because of a leg injury incurred in Monday night's game with Detroit. Brannum continued on his way to a new individual Michigan State scoring record as he paced the Spartan attack against the Hilltoppers with 19 points.

75 Stadium Carpenters Walk Out

Construction on the new football stadium slowed to a near halt Tuesday afternoon when approximately 75 carpenters employed by the Reinger construction company walked out in protest against the firing of union steward John Robinson.

Both company and union officials refused to term the stoppage a strike, but Vincent Vandenberg, Reinger foreman, said work would be at a complete standstill by the end of the week if the carpenters did not return.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — The National Labor Relations board today issued a charge of unfair labor practices against the AFL Chicago Typographical union whose members have been on strike against six big Chicago daily newspapers since Nov. 24.

The complaint was signed by George J. Bott, Regional NLRB director on behalf of Robert N. Denham, General NLRB counsel. It was based on charges made by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association.

Latest figures released by Starr Keeler, housing director, reveal that the total number of people housed by the college has surpassed the population of East Lansing.

AL'S HALF ACRE

The Campus Chest

By AL BERGLUND

STUDENT council tonight will hold its first meeting for the winter term, and it might be a good time to start now to plan the campus chest drive for the school year of 1948-49.

The campus chest, which combines all the fund raising drives for the school year under one solicitation, will be a tremendous job. It will take months of planning by way of promotion, execution, solicitation methods and earmarking of funds.

Such a program has already been adopted and used with considerable success at many of our leading colleges and universities. The University of Iowa for instance made use of a speakers bureau, moving pictures, the student newspaper and solicitation booths all over the campus to promote its campaign.

Organizations which received funds from the drive at Iowa were the World Student Service fund, United Negro College fund, American Cancer society, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Nile Kinnick Scholarship fund and an emergency fund. Students were allowed to earmark contributions to any of the above groups.

This is not a recommendation that Michigan State apportion its fund money to exactly these same organizations. It is intended to give a picture of something that has been done in the right direction. A local committee should begin working now on which organizations (both on and off the campus) are to receive funds from our own drive. No one will be completely satisfied, but with an early enough start, there will be an opportunity for compromise.

Again: it won't be easy. Solicitation of funds for what seem to be worthwhile causes strike bigger snags at Michigan State than they do anywhere else. The J-Hop and the Mardi Gras are still sellouts—even at $5 a throw, but students become nickel-squeezers when it comes to charity.

I know that persons who have been in charge of charity drives in the past have often become discouraged because their hard work has not resulted in over-subscriptions of quotas for worthy causes. It is one of the occupational hazards of those who do take charge of such campaigns.

Let's hope that the idea of a single drive will take care of the common complaint that "they're always collecting for something." As for the rest of it—the general apathy toward any charitable undertaking—perhaps those in charge of the first campus community chest at Michigan State will accept that apathy as a challenge, and conquer it.

ROBERTS REPORTS Interpreting The News

Marines To Protect American Interests In Mediterranean

By J. H. ROBERTS, JR. (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

We have now had almost as many differing official explanations of the shipment of 1,000 Marines to the Mediterranean as there have been days since the transports were loaded Jan. 8.

The policy of secrecy on the movement, and the subsequent varieties of explanation which have been offered, served to create a "situation" around something that might well be regarded as a "fait accompli" on the part of the country's attention to its new position in the world.

Analysts' interest in China has been so keenly stimulated that reports of Marine landings in the Mediterranean where the U.S. has had to take over from a British garrison, is viewed as a good position of American interest, and we might well get used to it. We are in the oil and for the defense of our own and British interests throughout the Middle East. But above everything else we are in it to prevent Communist expansion.

Dispatch of additional troops to the area does not mean that war is expected. Instead, it is more of a warning of how serious the U.S. considers the continuation of provocations which, if somebody slips, could lead to war.

Bombardment of Greek positions from across the Albanian border already has led to the suggestion that the United Nations general assembly be called. Greece wants either American or international troops to seal her borders to keep guerrillas from returning after her own army has driven them out, and to forestall the possibility of Yugoslav or Bulgarian moves to take over Greek Macedonia or Thrace.

Five thousand U.S. troops in Trieste face constant provocations from 100,000 Croat Yugoslav troops across a poorly defined border. Their position might be seriously endangered if Russia crosses this spring to attempt to set up a Communist government in Northern Italy, as it has attempted in Greece.

If Britain cannot do so, it will be up to the U.S. to keep open the oil pipelines which traverse the Middle Eastern land bridge for which the Jews and the Arabs are contending. Stoppage of these supplies now would just about wreck all chances for rehabilitation of western Europe and maintenance of our own economy.

During the business meeting following, plans will be made for the military ball to be held Feb. 22. All advanced ROTC students are asked to attend.

LEADS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR: Before submitting the student body for its political inactivity, as you seemed to imply upon doing in your recent editorial, it might be well to look toward the Administration holding for the root of the evil.

Ask President Hannah, Tom King, or even the impotent and inanimate Student Council what happened to the Young Republicans when they attempted to organize last spring.

Ask of them the fate that would befall any political group that might earnestly try to organize on this campus, be it Democrat, Republican or even Wallaceite.

When you have their votes and answers that come back and talk to us. Until then, please be so kind and courteous as to leave us in our present state of political confusion, groping in the dark and wallowing in our ignorance.

Ray A. Johnson, Jr.

TO THE EDITOR: It certainly was your sportsmanship on the part of State's rowers when they showed an ignominious display by whittling and making unnecessary noise while the U. of Kentucky's players were attempting to do their best in the historical game last Saturday night.

Swimming Star Returns

Swim Squad After Repeat Of '47 Mark

Falcons Poolmen Repeat Spartan Swim Last Year

Sam Cooper, the swimming coach at Bowling Green State college, will carry a bitter memory of 1947 competition as his tank team duels with the powerful Spartan squad tonight. Last year Cooper brought a very successful Falcon team into Jenison pool, late in the season, and watched a terrific State squad make a sweep of the nine events, smash nine meet records, and thoroughly swamp the Bowling Green outfit, 64-20. Tonight, Coach Charles McCaffree will use virtually the same men who performed in last year's meet. The Ohio school will also present the same lineup as in 1947.

Olympic Prospects To Appear In State-Buckeye Track Meet

By BILL FRASER. Spartan track fans will have an opportunity to witness one of the top dual meets of the collegiate indoor season on the night of Saturday, Jan. 24. Michigan State and Ohio State, two of the nation's better clubs, will clash that evening in Jenison fieldhouse.

Class Last Year. Last year State edged the Buckeyes 67 7/12 to 66 5/12. Jack Dianetti, MSC anchor man, nipped Ohio State's Big Nine 400 champ Mal Whitfield in the last leg of the mile relay, the final event of the meet.

the fast time of 1:50.8 for the 800-yard distance. Besides Dianetti, who is considered near the top of the country's list of middle distance men, there are several other Olympic prospects on the Spartan roster.

MSC Matmen To Open Slate With Twin Bill

By HERBERT BOWERS. Michigan State's 1948 wrestling team will get its first test Friday night in a double header meet. The star-studded Iowa Teachers' squad will provide the main attraction while Bowling Green university is slated to face the Spartan junior varsity in the preliminaries at 7 p.m.

Both teams are rated as strong as in 1947 and prospects are that the final score will be just as close.

Coach Karl Schlademan, Spartan mentor, predicts that at least four future Olympic stars will come from the two squads. Lloyd Duff and Bill Clifford are O.S.U.'s top candidates for the international honors.

Coach Karl Schlademan, Spartan mentor, predicts that at least four future Olympic stars will come from the two squads. Lloyd Duff and Bill Clifford are O.S.U.'s top candidates for the international honors.

Another rumor making a bid to represent MSC in the Olympic games is distance man Bill Mack. Mack transferred to State from Drake university last fall and is not eligible for varsity competition this season.

Duff is a brilliant all-around performer who competes in the pole vault, broad jump, and hurdle events. Clifford edged State's Dianetti in last summer's NCAA half-mile by turning in

He came here to gain the benefit of Schlademan's coaching and according to the Spartan pilot is one of the hardest working men on the squad.

Air Force at $285 a month to start. You also get an extra $200 for each year of active service. There are many other benefits that make this career an outstanding opportunity.'

Another flurry of records can be expected from tonight's competition. George Hogerhyde, James Duke, and Dave Seibold will be shooting at comparatively slow times. Hogerhyde, whose first 230 effort of the season was a good 2:14.4, will have to crank 2:14.6. Duke didn't swim the 50 yard sprint against Bowling Green last year, but should have little difficulty lowering Dan Paton's standard of 34.1. Dave Seibold, who turned in a fast 2:28.8 in the 200 yard breaststroke to defeat Purdue Captain Keith Carter, will swim for the 2:23.6 clocking set by Paul Seibold last year. Paul is not making the trip. The meet tonight will allow Coach McCaffree to use his entire squad freely in preparation for the triangular meet in Jenison pool Saturday between the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman teams.

Residents of these quarters are still in the process of settling down in new homes. The number of entries represents a new record for team entries in all-college competition. At present nine leagues have been set up — four independent, two dormitory, one each from the fraternity, quonset, and YMCA groups. If enough teams file from the married housing areas two more leagues may be formed, otherwise these teams will compete in the Quonset league. All games will be played on the gymnasium floor, with three courts in use. YMCA games will be played on Saturday afternoons, all others on week nights, including Friday.

Rodzinski Gets Gate As Discord Arises

Chicago Symphony Conductor, Patrons Fail To Harmonize

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — Dr. Artur Rodzinski, who quit a year ago as conductor of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, was dismissed today as musical director of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, "effective at the end of the current season."

A statement by the Orchestral Association's trustees listed disagreements with Rodzinski regarding:

1. "The number of concerts" which Rodzinski would personally conduct. During the current season the 56-year-old conductor had the number reduced first from 71 to 67, then to 62, of which he "missed" eight, the trustees said.

2. "Dissatisfaction on the part of Dr. Rodzinski with Orchestra hall as a permanent location and with many long standing policies of the association."

Rodzinski said "I shall make no statement until I have examined the charges which apparently have been made against me — charges which I have not yet had any opportunity to meet or even to see."

He was scheduled to conduct this afternoon's concert with Dame Myra Hess, British pianist, as soloist, but at the last moment the Orchestral Association announced Rodzinski's illness and his replacement on the podium by Tuomo Hannikainen, assistant director.

Rodzinski succeeded the Belgian conductor Désiré Defauw as musical head of the Chicago organization at the start of the 1947-48 season. Since that time he has had several bouts of illness and recently was hospitalized for a time with pleurisy.

Dr. Cyrus H. Adams, vice president of the Chicago Orchestral Association, said at a news conference that there had been no discussion of a successor to the dismissed conductor.

Forestry Head To Outline Plan

"What to do about Michigan's deer starvation problem" will be the subject of an address by Prof. Paul Herbert, head of the forestry department, before the Wayne County Sportsman's club in Dearborn today.

Herbert believes the real solution to the problem is long range planning and control. These are the points of the plan he will outline before the sportsmen.

Local feeding by sportsmen's clubs besides giving only temporary relief, is increasingly costly and the deer start to depend too much on the hand out, he maintains.

Herbert believes that the yearly harvests of deer by the hunters help control the size of the herd but as starvation areas increase hunters will find fewer deer in the woods each year.

Children To Give 'Rumpelstiltskin'

"Rumpelstiltskin," a puppet show, will be presented this term by the Junior High school section of college creative dramatics class for children, Eleanor Chase, director of the Children's theater, said yesterday.

The Children's theater classes for East Lansing school children ranging from the second grade through Junior High school were resumed Monday. They meet in the Studio theater four times a week under the direction of Miss Chase.

Seventh and eighth graders meet Mondays from 4 to 5 p.m. Second and third graders on Tuesdays; fifth and sixth graders on Wednesdays and fourth graders on Thursdays.

The puppets for "Rumpelstiltskin" were made by the Junior High students during fall term art classes. The show will be presented for parents and children.

NAB Leader Calls Petrillo Radio Pirate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — James C. Petrillo was accused as an "economic pirate" today by a radio leader who expressed "pessimism" about the chances of reaching an agreement with Petrillo by Jan. 31 on the use of "live musicians" for the nation's networks.

The testimony was given to the House Labor committee by Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Petrillo's contract with the networks for the use of members of his American Federation of Musicians members expires Jan. 31 in the second phase of a series of bans laid down by Petrillo which have already halted record making.

Miller also testified that Petrillo's union asked him to intercede with President Truman to bring about a veto of the so-called Lee "Anti-Petrillo" bill. The Lee bill, passed by congress in 1946, forbade anyone to force radio stations to hire musicians they do not need.

Miller said the late Joseph A. Padway, general counsel for Petrillo's union, called him at the height of negotiations between the union and the networks, and told him: "We want to make a test of your good faith. We want you to get President Truman to veto the Lee bill."

Miller, who served for eight years as a judge in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, said he refused to intercede.

"That apparently was the basis for the breakdown of all negotiations with Petrillo," Miller said.

Plans are being made for the construction of a new men's dorm. The new building will be erected on South Campus facing the Red Cedar river.

Architectural plans will follow the style of Mason-Abbot and the new Phillips-Snyder dorms.

Landscaping plans will include the area from the river to the dorm, while road entrances will be constructed on the south side of the building. The dorm will be erected to face those on the opposite side of the river.

The exact location has not yet been decided.

In schools established by the Navy in Trust Islands of the Pacific, classes in the practical use of English are held for native children.

INSIGHT TO ENGLISH Sprechen Sie Englische? Lernen Es Mit Deutsch

Sprechen Sie Deutsch?
Dr. Stuart A. Gallacher, professor in the Foreign Language department, believes that one pathway to becoming better acquainted with English can be opened by studying German.

Gallacher says that approximately seventy percent of the words which we use in everyday English have related words in German despite the fact that only thirty-five percent of our English vocabulary is derived from the Germanic language group.

Contrary to the opinion of many students, the doctor feels that German is not the most difficult modern language to learn. German conjugations of verbs are much the same as English. Declensions are quite regular, as is the plural formation of nouns. "No other language can make that statement," according to the doctor.

Casting for the Dionysians' spring term all-college musical, "What Goes Up," continues tonight and tomorrow evening.

The tryouts are being held from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Home Economics building. All students interested in singing and dancing in the production's choruses are welcome to participate.

"What Goes Up" is scheduled for four night in Fairchild theater early in April.

Gallacher also feels that too much emphasis is placed on a dollar sign evaluation of language utility. He believes there is a cultural value in language which precludes dollar sign measurement.

In order to gain insight into the character of language groups, a knowledge of the language is necessary. Dr. Gallacher points out that the "brunettes and coldness" conveyed by the guttural German tongue is dispelled when we read the "emotional warmth" and intense feeling of the folk-poetry and prose.

"If you want to know the power of a word, then learn related words and their meanings in other languages," the doctor concluded.
