Food Gripes Get Hearing

RECENT steps taken here should prove to be an important factor in improving both dormitory food and student-college relations.

Emery G. Foster, head of the dormitory food service, has announced that he is willing to have students meet with him and dorm dieticians in an effort to thrash out "gripes" that are present.

Meetings such as this have been in operation for over a year, but students have not been admitted.

This new development means that students will have an opportunity to present their feelings and possibly prevent an outburst such as has occurred at the University of Michigan.

At Ann Arbor food committees are functioning in the East and West Quads, men's housing units.

The complaints they have are that the men cannot eat much of the food because of poor preparation, and that food which most of them dislike is continually being served.

In a survey the Wolverines discovered that 90% of the men are dissatisfied with the food. But all of their attempts have netted them little satisfaction.

The Michigan students have had to back administration officials who were not willing to cooperate and were not willing to help them solve their problems of improving the food.

At State, the officials are willing to do their part. Now it is up to interested students to collect and compile the suggestions and represent their dormitory in a student-dietician meeting.

Indirect Manpower Control Advised By Truman Council

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman's council of economic advisers in a "Guns or Butter" report called tonight for indirect manpower controls as part of a "systematic and vigorous discipline" to meet defense and foreign aid demands.

The White House planning body also recommended some new taxes, firm allocation and other controls over scarce raw materials, and a ready-to-go system of rationing and wage-price controls, plus new limitation of bank lending and installment buying.

Budget Boost Safe

It declared that restoring coal production is "our foremost domestic problem since indefinite continuation of the coal strike would bring industrial paralysis."

The economists said boosting the 1948 preparedness budget to $14,000,000,000 or $15,000,000,000 "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation."

But further military spending must be considered possible in the light of the uncertain world situation, the report warned.

Guns Or Butter

And it declared that hopes for the highest standards of living in history, "must be in some measure postponed or for the present revised downward."

"It is our particular application of the old alternative of guns or butter," the group said.

A PAT ON THE BACK MSC Alumnus Praises College Rules, Policies

TO THE EDITOR:
During the past nine months, I have had the opportunity to visit several other leading universities in this country, and upon comparison, I soon learned that Michigan State is not only conscious but progressive.

This is what I found. The University of Chicago is overburdened with petty rules and policies. An example—Any student cutting classes the day before or the day following a holiday is fined in proportion to the number of credits in that course. The student must make special arrangements for the final with the instructor. The fines range from five dollars on up.

The University of Idaho has comparable pentential laws governing the hours for coeds on campus. The University of Washington is completely controlled by the sororities and fraternities. I attended Michigan State as an independent and did not find this.

The University of California, largest university in the United States, has a direct representative of the president of that university proof-reading all student publications, even the ones I have said that many editors and letters to the editor, which have appeared in the State News, would not have made print in their publications.

The Pasadena Playhouse is not necessarily progressive, but rules governing the students are very lenient. Smoking is permitted in the classrooms, there is a bar right across the street from the school. This may be explained, however, by the environment.

I attended a play given at Arizona State Teachers college and it had been cut so badly, most of the pace and atmosphere was lost. I believe I can safely say, that the Dramatics department of Michigan State has never been compelled to cut a play.

Visiting the University of Illinois next, I found some very interesting situations. They have only one dormitory for men, and two dormitories for women. It seems that the local citizens of Urbana and Champaign have control of the governing board and do not wish any more dorms to be constructed for they are paying a considerable sum of money housing the students in their homes.

When the veterans received an increase in subsistence, all prices in the community rised accordingly. The veterans seem to be the favorite dish for the townspeople and yet if a third game of hide and seek is declared, these same men will be asked to press their punches again.

Now I think it is time to stop and thank a few people for the progress that has been made at Michigan State. First President Hannah deserves credit for his role in the building program. Next, you should thank your class and your student body for their efforts in promoting a twenty-fifth century school. Lastly it might be wise to thank Mr. Otto Adams for their smart way in helping out. After all who do you think brought both the new football uniforms, John E. Hallenbeck.

Two Thousand To Participate In Graduation

Approximately 2000 seniors are expected to participate in graduation activities at the end of the 1948 spring term, according to tentative figures from the office of the registrar.

Of this number about 1,300 will receive their degrees in June with 85 finishing after the six-week summer session and 172 ending their studies at the close of summer term.

Also eligible to take part in commencement exercises are the 196 students who graduated at the end of fall term and the 254 students who finished at the end of winter term.

First on the list of senior activities for spring term is the banquet on May 4. The three senior classes are scheduled for May 5, 12 and 19. As You Like It, the senior play, will be presented May 25, 27, 28, and 29.

Other dates for seniors to note are May 25 and 26, President Hannah's reception for seniors, June 1, lantern night, June 2, senior picnic, June 3, 4 and 5, water carnival and June 5, alumni day.

Grid Mentor Gives Team Rough Drills

With the weatherman supplying typical October football weather Thursday afternoon, Coach "Biggie" Munn sent his 200 gridiron candidates through the most strenuous spring practice session.

Munn's drill started with a half-hour talk by Munn in which he demonstrated a series of plays that were later put into practice on several elements on the practice field.

Wingback Marty Kelly, a member of last year's Jayvee eleven, and Fullback Larry Crane, up from last year's freshman squad, were especially impressive.

Most of yesterday's practice was spent on special drills while a portion of the time was spent working on the blocking business. The Sells and Munn, the Grove Pointe and the staff of a series of Wood and Houghton's "roughing club" were Saturday afternoon warriors and from Ann Arbor.

'Murat' Champs Begin Title Defense Soon

By ROY HOLDING

Snyder 18, defending all-college softball champions, may be just another ball team Monday night when they begin the defense of their crown on Old College field at 6:15.

The champion's lineup this season will have little in common with the team that waded through all comers last year and captured the title by tumbling TCA-6-2 in the finale.

Team Scattered Practically every member of the 1947 squad has moved out of the precinct and will be scattered throughout various other teams this season. The champions will particularly miss the pitching of Ed Maier.

Maier was one of the standouts in last year's intramural play and it was mainly on the strength of his arm that Snyder 18 won the crown. Maier will be nursing for another Snyder precinct in the coming tourney.

Thirteen other dormitory contests will open the play this year's softball tournament Monday night. Winners in the first round will continue in the one-game-elimination championship fight, while losers will drop into a one-game knockout consolation bracket.

The winner of the consolation event will play the runner-up of the championship tourney for all-college second place honors.

Fraternities Play Sigma Nu, who conquered ATO in the fraternity crown last season, will not swing into action until Tuesday night when they put their title on the block against AEPJ at Old College field.

Games will be played on 10 different diamonds with first tilts scheduled for 5:30 and the night-cap being played at 6:15 Monday's schedule appeared in yesterday's State News and is posted on the intramural bulletin board.

The Jayvee will have the best pitcher in the state, Steve Gene, an outfielder, Steve Gene, Gene Kolan, Ray White and Chuck Coulter on the field. The infield is being run by four men competing for the first base position. To last season's first baseman, Ray Jeffrey.

Seven other organizations are sending their own teams to the event. Entries have been received from Hope, Hope, Hope, Hope, Hope, Hope, Hope.

The Piano Business Gets a LIFT when Alcoa Aluminum Castings Replace Heavy Metal

Every well-to-do husband would rather have the piano in his home than a car. And you can see the reason why. The big metal plate that holds the keys weighs 125 pounds. No wonder it costs the piano builder a lot when a progressive piano builder replaced the heavy iron plate with one weighing 12 pounds made of Alcoa Aluminum. As a result, this big casting in our foundation is strong to resist the blast pull of the two strings. It is stable, hard to pry, and stays in tune. And it costs less to compete with the old-fashioned cast-iron plate. With other advantages, in other instances, Alcoa Castings are offering similar changes. In one plant, their corrosion resistance means no painting, simple finishing. In another, they are liked for their superior machinability. In still another, they are preferred for the ease with which they swing through production, where iron castings had to be hauled by truck or hoisted on heavy cranes.

HOT THREADS Fashion Plate 'Joe' Is Bold To Behold

By LYMAN FINK

Have you ever noticed how fashion-conscious MSC men are?

Who has? Army quartermasters and off-campus haberdashers are probably the best authorities on men's styles and they readily agree that if spring is here, suntans are bound to follow.

Still, clothiers experiment tirelessly attempting to give Joe College the bold look the up-town spectacle, the Saturday night scene, the lady-killer guise, the casual caper and the poor man's pageant.

Man of Destiny

But all to no avail, for Joe is a man of destiny. His outward appearance on campus is so secondary to his burning quest for knowledge and his favorite sport that days often pass before he is recognized.

Modern dress innovations which sway the coeds into ecstasies fail to influence the campus cut-up. At school he is content to garland his loins in any convenient sweater and slacks whether they be battered, bartered or borrowed. And his feet are usually saddle-swathed.

Campus Sprawl

When spring arrives, Joe makes his one big fashion effort. He supplements the bulky up-front look with the more daring campus sprawl. It is still too chilly for T-shirts, but light army toggery and sweat shirts are very popular campus wear. He still keeps his saddles.

However, the critical observer of campus style could not fail to make certain distinctions between Joe on campus and Joseph in his week-end wardrobe. The difference is blinding.

Comes Saturday night, Joseph decides to put on the dog for his season's steady over in West Spinter Abbey.

Even A Tie

He arrives at 8 p.m. bedecked to the Adam's apple in the latest gabardine. He is even wearing a tie. Joseph has always been a sucker for neck wear. Botany's, Wembleys, Arrows and Superbas line his closet racks. He has a tie for every occasion, but seldom has the occasion.

Neatly concealed under a double Windsor knot is a white shirt with the latest laminated spoon collar. The collar does something for Joseph. It keeps the hair off his neck.

Usually Joseph owns two suits. He wears one on Saturday nights and reserves his best one for formal occasions.

For the benefit of doubting people, who otherwise might deny even a similarity of the cranium, Joe poses informally with Joseph in a photo by Brandorfer.

nerals and fraternity rushes. Feeling sporty on this particular evening, Joseph is wearing the trophies to his Glenmarquart plaid suit and a midnight blue cardigan of sack cloth.

The dependable saddle shoes, the mark of his matriculation, and uncontrolled pattern socks, complete his ensemble.

For a few hours Joseph will endure his stiff collar and burdensome jacket. Then back on the rack they go until another curtain call finds Joseph again playing the lead role in affairs of State.

GOP Leaders Vic For Vote In Nebraska

Omaha, April 9 (AP) — The touch-and-go battle for Nebraska's stamp of approval produced desperate closing hour bids for support from two Republican presidential candidates tonight.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, not generally looked upon here as a major candidate since his loss in Wisconsin, served tonight as a cable to a Lincoln woman that he is remaining in the running in next Tuesday's GOP popularity primary.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, lengthiest and most personal campaigning by one day through Saturday, Sunday and Monday, has only a few minutes left to make his case.

A group of Harold E. Stassen's backers, including Sen. Wm. C. Caryl of Wisconsin and Gov. of Minnesota, descended on the state to keep the GOP in the state while the Wisconsin primary winner flies to Washington. He will return Monday for a radio speech.

Amid all this hubbub, an effort on Tuesday to elect Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan kept complete silence in Washington.

But there were strong indications that his presence at the voting list, despite his repeated denials that he is a candidate, may influence the outcome here.

United Nations To Be Subject For Debate

Debating the United Nations before students here May 22 and 23 will be two U.N. authorities, Paul Schupp of Northwestern University and James A. Thompson, field director of the American Association of United Nations.

The two are being brought to campus by the U.N. committee of the Student Council, which has its organizational meeting of the term Thursday evening.

Thompson, spokesman of the group, stated that speakers were to answer the question: "Should international affairs and news information be available to students?"

Robinson stressed the importance of the organization of the U.N. committee meeting in campus, asking that all interested students attend.

'Payment'

"Well, they finally got me," said William McCabe, 65, publisher of a Joliet, Ill., newspaper after he was discovered near his home viciously beaten.

He was found on a county road April 7, two miles east of Lockport, Ill. McCabe had been editorially fighting what he considered a corrupt political set-up in the county since 1936.

Seven Engineers Attend Conference

Seven members of MSC branch of AIEE, engineering society, attended a three day conference of the society.

Attending the meeting were William R. Carlson, East Lansing junior; Mae R. Deolittle, Tekonsha junior; Don Beckwith, Midland senior; Harvey Powers, East Lansing senior; Martin Sterner, East Lansing senior; Clare K. Tubbs, Laingsburg junior and J. A. Strelzoff.

Coal Shortage May Hamper Auto Output Within Week

DETROIT, April 9 (AP) — A sharp drop in motor vehicle production is in prospect for next week.

The nation's car industry which has been keeping close to a 100,000 units a week output despite a tightening up of its steel supply, will begin to feel the more serious effects of the coal tie-up before the end of next week, according to informed industry sources.

Situation Serious

Ward's automotive reports, estimating this week's United States output at 97,875 units, said the car manufacturers face a serious situation with respect to sheet steel and iron for castings. The latter, the agency said, will be more quickly affected by the coal mine shutdown than finished steel and could close the industry down.

Pig Iron Low

Unless the coal strike ends quickly, he said, that period can come in about two weeks. Pig iron already is low in the foundries, he added.

"The situation is serious today and will be very serious before long," Lovett said.

This week's output of cars and trucks in United States plants showed a drop of more than 2,000 units, mainly in trucks. Ex-
