SO HELP ME

Library Logic

By GORDON HANNA

SEVERAL STUDENTS, IN LETTERS TO the editor, have protested the building of a large stadium, when the library facilities are inadequate for the students.

One student asked how the stadium construction got priority over the library on the construction list.

The answer is simple, yet complex. It seems that stadia can be constructed on a self-liquidating basis and libraries can't.

This is typical of the American spirit, the same spirit that is manifested in so many of our other undertakings. Americans will spend fortunes at race tracks, but will not spend 10 minutes trying to improve race relations.

AMERICANS WILL SPEND BILLIONS of dollars fighting a war, but are hesitant to spend more billions preserving the peace. Americans will sell airplanes to their enemies but will not give food to their friends.

We should not damn the college authorities for building a stadium, on a self-liquidating basis. A stadium is as important to college life as a library. We do not have a new library because the Legislature has not seen fit to give us one. We have dormitories, an auditorium, a fieldhouse, a Union building, and a stadium because the college authorities have found means, beyond the Legislature, of getting these buildings financed and paid for out of revenues.

Were it possible to build a library without the aid of the Legislature, we would have a new library. College officials know we need a library and want to get a new library. But money has not been made available for this construction.

THE STATE OF MICHIGAN BUILT NO buildings on Michigan State's campus during the 1930's. During the 30's and the early 40's, Michigan State grew from a little school of 3,000 students to a great university of over 14,000.

The only reason that there are places for students to live on campus is because college authorities went out and found private capital to finance these buildings.

But don't blame the Legislature because more money is not forthcoming at this time. The state is handcuffed by the so-called sales tax diversion amendment, economy measures occupy the number one spot on the legislative calendar. Money for libraries just doesn't seem to be available at this time.

But don't think that stadium construction is in any way preventing the building of a new library.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

TO the Editor: Ever since Berkey hall has been open, there have been bottlenecks at the entrances and on the stairways. Sometimes it takes 10 minutes to get up to the third floor. Instead of griping, I think we should do something about it.

Aside from rebuilding, the answer seems to be one-way traffic at 9 to 9:10 a.m., 10 to 10:10 a.m., 11 to 11:10 a.m., on all entrances and stairways. During these periods it might be most convenient to have the north and west entrances be considered entrances only, and their stairways be only used upward. The south and east entrances should be considered exits only, and their corresponding stairways be used only for going down.

I think that this arrangement might be more convenient than the present mess; for that matter any universally applied rule would be better. You probably can think up some better solution. So why don't we all sit down and iron out this mess, instead of complaining?

Sincerely, Joseph Blough P. S. Anyone backing traffic would be considered fair game for tramping.

week and term by term. If those of us who were here in 1945 will look back, we will see the strides our police department has made. At that time the officers in many cases were untrained and if trained were not using their instruction in the way which a capable police department operates.

Since that time we have had a complete change of personnel, acquiring the most capable and trained men available, and under the leadership of Lieutenant Latta our little Michigan State college police department has developed into one of the most progressive and efficient departments in the vicinity.

Instead of always running down our department, let's all give them a big hand and encourage them to continue to make our college campus a safe place to walk, ride a bike, or drive an automobile.

It is through their efforts that we have an effective patrol system 24 hours per day for the safety of all individuals and all college property and a police service which when called upon will always give prompt courteous service to every student and member of the faculty of Michigan State college.

Tenure Bill Set To Face House Vote

MSC May Get Money Grant

Governor Sigler's proposal to give four-year terms to state officials is due for a test in the House of Representatives today.

The amended measure advanced after heavy debate in yesterday's session. As it now stands, it would give four year elective terms to the governor, attorney general, secretary of state, auditor general and state treasurer. Repeated attempts to insert a clause giving the governor power to appoint the secretary of state and attorney general were voted down. Sigler asked for the appointive power in a message to the legislature.

Appropriations Bill Approved The House also approved a $9,000,000 appropriations bill for general government purposes. The bill was sent to the Senate.

A move by the Ways and Means committee to remove $312,000 for state aid to libraries from the House general education bill was vetoed by members. The committee had contended that local units had enough retention sales tax monies to support the libraries.

The general education bill, due for a House vote today, includes an $8,000,000 grant to MSC.

School Aid Passes Meanwhile, in the Senate, two of Sigler's proposed constitutional changes passed by slim margins. One would allow the legislature to fix the salaries of state officials; the other gives it power to fix the salaries and expenses of legislators. Both measures received one vote more than the necessary two-thirds.

The Senate also approved a $7,000,000 school aid bill. The measure provides some $6,000,000 for teacher retirement funds, and $1,430,000 for junior colleges.

A Senate proposal for appointment April 15, was sent to committee.

program, he said. "We have had down the condition and I hope we enforce it that they must work together in helping themselves if they expect us to help them."

He warned against impeding in educating other peoples in the Democratic life.

Points-To Russian Case He pointed out that Russia was under the iron rule of the Czars not so many years ago.

That they succeeded in breaking those autocratic chains once is the important thing—not that they immediately put on communitistic chains in their stead. Once there was a spark of desire for freedom in the Russian people it would be a cynic beyond redemption who did not think that it still burns there, waiting another chance to burst into flame.

Calls Education A Weapon Education, he said, must be a major weapon in the endless fight for the freedom of all mankind.

In these days of change of strong and virile, while we keep our nation strong and virile. For in America, and in American education lies mankind's great hope.

Kenton To Stress Dance Music

Will Play Concert In Jazz

Special late permission for coeds, a 45-minute "progressive jazz" concert by the nation's top dance band, plus three hours of "the kind of music college students love to dance to," will highlight Friday night's social activities when the Varsity ball of 1943 gets underway.

Tickets are still available for the ball, which will feature Stan Kenton and his leading box-office aggregation of bandmen.

Promise Good Entertainment

Tickets are priced at $4 per couple. Al Reynolds, publicity chairman said yesterday. Reynolds promised that "those who are not Kenton fans now, will be Kenton fans before the Friday evening affair has ended if they attend the dance."

AWS, upon learning that the Kenton band will play four hours, granted special 1:30 a.m. permission to coeds going to the ball.

Features Jazz-Concert

A special feature of the evening will be a 45-minute concert of the new progressive jazz originated by Kenton. Music critics have labeled the jazz "a new type of American folk music."

Another "special" for the evening will be the opportunity for persons attending the dance to win one of six pairs of tickets on the 50-yard line at the Michigan-Michigan State football game Sept. 25.

To Hold Novel Contest

Balloons, each containing stubs, will be suspended from the ceiling of the Auditorium ballroom and released during intermission. Six of the stubs will determine the prize winners.

Varsity ball decorations will be based on a varsity theme. Pennants used during basketball games will be hung along the balcony, and a huge "S" will be used as a backdrop for the stage.

Large caricatures of the head coaches will also decorate the stage.

The dance is the first all-college affair sponsored by the Varsity club since before the war.

Committee chairmen for the ball in addition to Reynolds are: Bob Allwardt, Battle Creek junior; George Rutenbar, Detroit senior; and Glen Hatfield, Flint senior.

College Heads Approve Plans Of Mock Vote

A mock national election following the all-college elections is a definite possibility, Marshall Bennett, chairman of the elections committee, said yesterday.

"Any political group new on campus or any political group that wants to form, can take the initiative and 'hold an election,'" Bennett said.

The administration has favored the idea Bennett added.

Bennett will assist the groups in planning for the mock election and if voting machines are used in the all-college elections they may be used in the mock elections.

"The group will have to handle the voting themselves and will have to choose which candidates are to be on the ballot," Bennett said.

The Jackson Hole National Monument was established March 15, 1943, by presidential proclamation because of scenic, recreational, historic and outstanding geological qualities within its borders. —Sports Afield.

OUCH! Scissors, Scalpel- And Saw

By DON NISBETT
"Oh, my achin' back" is the theme song of Spartan City fence builders this week. Dog owners, faced with an April 18 deadline, and parents of small children have been making regular and frequent trips to the lumber scrap pile to carry two-by-fours to their homes.

The fence builders have three classifications. They are dog owners, who are building to keep their dogs in; parents, who want to keep their children in; and residents with neither, who want to keep both out.

Styles in fences are diversified. Most common is the plain wire fence with two-by-four supports. Picket fences are very common, from six inches to three feet high. Two families co-operated and built one with cedar posts, with a rustic arch over the gate.

One of the most unusual fences was built by four families with facing apartments. They constructed one to include the four front yards, with double swinging gates.

So for the rest of the week, Spartan City will echo with cries of, "Timber!" "What happened to my hammer," and "Marge! Marge! Get the iodine!"

For the first few years of professional or business life most new graduates find their responsibilities quite heavy and their income comparatively light. A few years will improve matters but during that initial period the going is none too gay.

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offers a special plan to meet exactly this situation. It provides full protection from the start but during the first five years the premium is very low. At the end of five years, when the assured's income will normally have increased, the premium also increases.
