Vote Board Moves Date Of Elections

May 27 Stated For Balloting

Final elections for Student Council and class officers have been set back to May 27 instead of May 25, Bob Valliere, election board chairman, announced yesterday.

At the same time, Valliere announced that a record total of 188 candidates were filed eligible for office by the election board. This was 31 under the unofficial total announced last Friday.

Large List In Race
In the Student Council contest 95 will vie for the 48 places on the final ballot. Of these only 34 will be voted on the council. Only 10 former councilmen are in the race for reelection.

Ninety-three will battle for the 24 places on the final ballot in the class office race.

Campaigning, which started last Friday, is expected to reach its peak at the Student Council-planned rallies of May 18 and 19 tomorrow and May 20.

Board Meets Tonight
The election board will meet tonight at 8:30 in the Student Council office to prepare for the elections.

Rains Drive Band Inside For Opener

The Michigan State College concert band, under the direction of Leonard Falcone, was scheduled to give its first out-of-doors concert in the college band shell last night but heavy rain and near flood conditions have forced the concert inside. It will be presented tonight at eight in the college auditorium.

Beginning the band's twenty-first season, Falcone will direct the group through a diversified program.

La Forza del Destino Overture, Verdi; First Suite in E Flat for Band, Holst; a current favorite, a selection from "Oklahoma," Rogers; "The Three Trumpeters," Augustin; "Leaning Tower of Pisa," Gershwin; "The Blue Danube," Strauss; "The Swan Lake," Tchaikovsky; "The Nutcracker," Tchaikovsky; "The Merry Widow," Strauss; are included.

AVC Letter Drive Moves Ahead

Water Red Cedar Forces Many To Evacuate

The Associated Press reported that floodwaters of a half dozen Michigan rivers chased hundreds of families from their homes Tuesday, while inundations of more rain brought the water level up to 10 feet higher.

At Lansing, the Red Cedar and Grand Rivers were still rising upwards but weather bureau experts said the flood waters would not reach the crest they hit earlier this spring.

H. M. Wills, at the U.S. weather bureau at East Lansing, said the Red Cedar would not exceed 112 feet and the Grand river would crest at about 13 feet. The Red Cedar crest at 11.3 feet and the Grand river exceeded 14 feet here in March.

Residents of the Cooper trailer camp at East Lansing vacated their mobile homes to escape the swirling flood waters. About 80 trailers were pulled to high ground on the Red Cedar golf course.

College authorities reported heavy damage to the MSC boat house and said three canoes were missing.

Quorum Essential

The Student Council has swung solidly behind the AVC in its drive to obtain a quorum of Senators and Representatives when the legislature meets May 20 in the final legislative session.

In conjunction with the AVC letter drive the Student Council Building Appropriation committee, headed by Jim Cannon (Lansing) and Jack Hayes (Grand Rapids), has prepared more than 6,000 form letters directed to students' parents.

The purpose of the letters is to get qualified voters to write their legislative representatives in order to have them appear for the session.

450 Letters Coupled
Harvey Yudel, Flint junior and chairman of the AVC Civil Rights committee, reported yesterday that more than 450 individual letters had been written at the tables set up in the Union.

Greek War Executions Questioned

ATHENS, May 11 (AP) — The French expressed official concern today over the executions in Greece that followed the assassination of Justice Minister Constantinos Ladas last week.

Count De Vaux Saint-Cyr, the French ambassador, called on Deputy Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris. A spokesman for the French embassy said no formal protest was submitted, but the ambassador asked for detailed information and reported to Tsaldaris the "execution" caused in France by news of the executions.

Greek informants said Tsaldaris told the ambassador the executions could not be construed as reprisals for Ladas' assassination. Police have said the assassins were not members of the Communist Party.

Judicial proceedings by civil courts were suspended last week. An undetermined number convicted by military courts, given the total executed by military courts since the assassination.

Five-Year Draft Bill Faces Senate Debate After Committee OK

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — The American defense program gathered speed today despite Russia's talk of "peace and cooperation." Both Senate and House approved a 70-group air force bill and a Senate committee voted a draft measure.

Sigma Chi's Win Honors At IFC Sing

2nd Straight Year: Sigma Nu's Follow

Sigma Chi fraternity captured the big gold cup for the second time running last night at the Alpha Phi Omega interfraternity sing before a standing-room-only crowd in College Auditorium.

Directed by Bob Klenninger, Detroit senior, the Sigma Chi chorists sang "The Animals Are Great," "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and "My Heart Stood Still."

Honorable mention was awarded the group from Delta Sigma Phi, which sang "MSC Fight Song," "Delta Sig Sweetheart," and "My Heart Stood Still."

This year's sing with 17 fraternities in the race was the largest in the history of the event. Next year, with more national fraternities active on campus, it is expected that a still larger field will be competing for the annual trophy.

Senate Gets Civil Rights Hot Potato

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — Senator Morse (R-Ore.) passed the Senate today for a plunge into the boiling civil rights dispute. But it may not dive in yet.

Morse proposed: 1. An amendment forbidding separation of whites and Negroes in a southern regional university system which 15 southern states have asked Congress to sanction by approving an interstate compact.

2. A motion to recommend the compact bill itself to the judiciary committee on the grounds that congressional approval is not required.

In the offing, Morse faced the possibility of a showdown in President Truman's civil rights program itself.

The Senate quit for the day in the midst of debate on the motion to recommend. An effort will be made to reach a vote tomorrow. If the bill goes back to committee, then Morse's anti-segregation amendment won't come up.

Morse's Plans
If the recomunal motion fails, then the seething civil rights controversy probably would get going full blast.

Morse says if his amendment comes to a vote and fails, he will attempt to throw in major provisions of Mr. Truman's civil rights program, including anti-lynching anti-poll tax and anti-job discrimination amendments, thus raising the whole question of civil rights.

Morse declared he wants his own Republican party to express itself. He thinks a test of its sincerity on its platform plank on civil rights should be made.

MAN THE LIFEBOATS Canoers Struggle As Ducks Play

However, because of the jagged current, the canoe shelter may reach the footbridge before the two contestants can hold their dual meet. Due to this possibility, Patton and Goodrow have decided to change their course. They will swim downstream instead.

Three Pioneers
Monday three other MSC students found the flood waters more than they bargained for. With true Spartan spirit, Ed Koch, East Lansing sophomore, his brother Gregory Koch, Three Rivers sophomore, and Al Bennett, East Lansing senior, embarked on a canoe trip from the Women's Gym to Lansing's Potter Park.

The voyage took only 45 minutes, and was uneventful until the three erstwhile sailors reached the Kalamazoo street bridge. They passed the bridge — but over it, not under. The water was so high that there was no room for their heads, with, after all, are rather important to college students.

The swift current swept the canoe against the bridge and almost capized it. Gregory Koch jumped into the water, which proved to be only a foot and a half deep, at that point, and hoisted the canoe to shore.

A portage was made around the bridge and the trio continued their trip. South of Kalamazoo street the going got tougher. So much of the land had been covered with water that it was impossible to find the river. Dogging stumps and trees in a forest is not included in the sailor's manual.

Ducks On The Loose
In Potter Park another problem arose. Ducks are okay when you're watching them from the banks of the Red Cedar, but when you get in the liver with them it gets kinda crowded. The three voyagers found the water full of floating fowl that had escaped from the zoo in the park.

By this time the tired trio was ready for refreshments. They paddled up to the hot dog stand at the park, but surprisingly found no one attending it.

End Trip In Car
The escapade ended when Ed Koch, Seaburg, Ind. freshman, packed up the canoe's occupants and brought them back to campus via No. 10.

Ed Koch had yesterday that as soon as the flood waters recede enough to get under the railroad bridge he and his crew will attempt to shoot the rapids at the MSC dam.

Some people never know when they've had enough.

Two Purpose pledges were forced to alter their intentions today. Dave Patton, Lansing freshman, and Dick Goodrow, Saginaw freshman, announced yesterday that they would stage a swimming race up the Red Cedar river, from the footbridge to the canoe shelter, today at noon.

Senior Recital By Imbraglio Gets Applause

Selections from the classical and romantic eras of musical history characterized the senior piano recital of George Imbraglio last night in the Music Auditorium. The two periods were presented by Bach and Mozart from the classical era and Brahms and Chopin from the romantic.

The appreciative audience applauded the highlight of the program "Ballad in F Minor" last of four ballads by Chopin.

Other pieces which Imbraglio featured on the program were "Sonata in B Flat" by Mozart, "Chromatic Fantasy" and "Fugue in D Minor" by Bach, and two intermezzi and a ballad by Brahms.

Imbraglio, a resident of Ellenville, Mississippi, is a student of Ernst Victor Wolf, head of the MSC piano department.

Industry Talk Related Tonight

labor-management relations in the Detroit area will be discussed tonight in the Music Auditorium at 7:30 by William C. Brown, former president of the Industrial Relations Association.

Topics faced by management and methods used to promote better relationships with labor will be emphasized.

Farm Prices Get Attention

Prof. Karl T. Wright, farm management research specialist, will discuss Monday for a regional meeting a farm real estate price search committee.

Congratulations

Congratulations are in order for the Spartans who helped establish the local chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha, international interracial fraternity.

It is heartening in these times to have a group of sincere and tolerant men like these show us how to handle ourselves in accepting those who do not look exactly like we do.

Alpha Phi Alpha will be closely observed by those organizations and members who are considering their own racial restrictions from an objective standpoint.

The racial barriers which exist in other Greek groups will not be dissolved overnight.

They could not be without a great deal of unhappiness and turmoil.

The first white man, according to APA, entered its ranks in 1941. The fraternity disclaims any discrimination for reason of color.

If the Michigan State College chapter of APA follows in the footsteps of other chapters by initiating whites, we feel it will be taking positive action in the direction of lowering any color barriers who do exist at Michigan State.

We of the State News wish to congratulate Alpha Phi Alpha for their progressive attitude in the field of racial relations.

THE ANNUAL SPRING FLOOD IS GIVING MSC a playback. Water, tons of it, covers every part of the Red Cedar flood plain.

John Kobs' boys, the State nine, are forced off Old College field and the band shell looks like a crew shell. All this water—and the Aquamania is going to be held indoors.

Ah Spring, the time of the year that South campus is an island.

TWO NEW PUBLICATIONS ARE DUE to be released soon. They are the engineering magazine, The Spartan Engineer, and the agriculture-home economics magazine, The Homesteader. Loyal members of the student body are asked to buy a copy of each of these magazines to get them off to a good start.

Elsewhere in the publishing field, the report reaches us that Con Williams, editor of the local humor magazine, is hospitalized in Detroit. However, the reports say that he is sick, not incapacitated by one of his readers. The same report says that two more Spartans are due this term.

WHAT TO DO WITH $3,000 IS THE problem presently before the junior class. We have heard lots of suggestions about disposing of this money, but few of them are getting into the suggestion box in the Union. John Buda, class president, says that suggestions are requested. How about it?

The turnout at senior activities has not been as good as could have been expected. It seems to me that when some of the seniors have been around campus as long as I have seen them around they should be greatly interested in the final activities.

To pep up senior activities I would suggest a 10 year club, made up of men who have taken 10 years or more from the time they first entered State, to graduate. I would not be a member of such a club, having been here only nine years, but I know of a few who could qualify.

A NASTY LETTER FROM THE MICHIGAN Daily, a student publication at the University of Michigan, says that the Daily is not a student publication, but THE student publication.

The letter goes on to say that the students at U. of M. like to think of the Daily as a newspaper, just like the State News.

Keep on dreaming, boys.

One of our advertisers, a shaving cream company, has sent me a tube of brushless shaving cream. Now if some razor blade company would be so kind . . .

THE SYRACUSE DAILY ORANGE reports that "The Old Look is the New Look for needy Europeans." This brings to mind the drive for clothes for needy Europeans and orphans in Japan the Newman club is sponsoring until May 17.

Style is no necessity to people who don't have enough rags to clothe their bodies.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR: Considerable controversy has been gathered on the campus over the recent "violations" of civil rights.

Intelligent handling of actual violations can usually remedy matters rapidly as was demonstrated in the barber shop episode. But, when misguided individuals, fanatics, "intellectuals," pseudo-liberals, pinks, and others, bitterly assail a branch of the legislature for a supposed violation of the constitution before it can be tried in the courts, and in the face of an adverse opinion from the attorney general, it is time for a little common sense coupled with some objective realism.

The attorney general has ruled that business establishments must cater to all hoodlum, gangster, or "sure thing" hockey bettors. Yet, very close to this campus is a singular establishment boasting two large signs, prominently displayed, proclaiming to all that pass that college students are not allowed.

On what level does this put us? Who is to fight for the civil rights of the majority, the fourteen "hyphenated"? Perhaps there is not enough publicity in this or it does not follow the accepted procedure to create mass hysteria.

David E. Stojan.

ISA Offers To Endorse Candidates

Council Field To Be Checked

A review board under the auspices of the Independent Student Association has been set up to check all candidates running for campus offices. ISA will endorse only those candidates whom they feel are qualified to hold office. Candidates approved by the board will be allowed to put ISA Approved on all campaign material. Jim Houde, Detroit senior, said.

The results of this board will be published as a guide to the student voters. Basis for the endorsement of candidates will be an affiliation, scholastic average, interest and participation in campus affairs, knowledge of campus activities, leadership potential, and personality.

Candidates wishing review by this board to receive ISA approval should contact Houde, Mason hall, or Barbara Williamson, Fort Huron Freshman, West Landon, to make appointments for personal interview.

This does not mean that ISA is sponsoring any one candidate or group of candidates for particular offices. We hope to make this a service to the students and help them think more seriously about qualifications for office rather than about names only, Houde said.

Post Graduate Plan

For the first few years of professional or business life most new graduates find their responsibilities quite heavy and their income comparatively light. A few years will improve matters but during that initial period the going is none too easy.

The Sun-Life Assurance Company of Canada offers a special plan to meet exactly this situation. It provides full protection from the start but during the first five years the premium is very low. At the end of five years, when the assured's income will normally have increased, the premium also increases.

The broadcast, starting at 2:30 Lansing time, has been arranged through the cooperation of the college station and the State News.

The Spartans, who are winding up their season with a series of games, are currently in the middle of a losing streak. They have lost their last three games, including a doubleheader at Ann Arbor.

The Spartans will be looking for a change of fortune today. They are expected to play a strong game against Michigan, who are also in the middle of a losing streak.

Coach Frank Beaman will be in charge of the team today. He has a record of 100 wins and 50 losses in his career.

The game will be broadcast on WKAR at 2:30 p.m. The State News will also have a special report on the game.

DAM-P UMPIRE!! Water Ball Today At College Docks

By Ed Brown — The best effect of a water ballet, a baseball game, and underwater salvage work, will be combined when the JV nine meets the frosh squad six feet over the diamond on Old College field today at 3:00.

Both squads will be there in an effort to prove that nothing, including an inundation of liquid mud from the Red Cedar can stop the Spartans when they want to play ball.

Coach Ray Fisher will probably start his number one hurler Art Dole this afternoon. Dole has been the top hurler for the Wolverines this year in their determined bid to win the nine crown.

However, the Wolves will be depending primarily on their offense today, relying on the big bats of football stars Bob Chapman and Jack Weisenburger and other players.

Walkouts Due In 16 Chrysler Plants Today

Deadline Approaches As Mediation Fails

DETROIT, May 11 (AP)—Federal mediators tonight admitted failure in their attempts to head off a strike of 75,000 Chrysler Corp. employees set for tomorrow morning. "Our efforts at mediation have terminated," said conciliator Leo Z. Kotin. "We have been advised by the union that there will be a strike at 9 a. m. (EST)."

The CIO United Auto Workers had set that date for a walkout in 16 Chrysler plants in three states, unless settlement had been reached.

Union delegates from the 16 plants tonight heard a full report on the breakdown of negotiations and placed a final okay on the strike plan.

Says Chrysler Forced Strike

Norman Matthews, head of the UAW's Chrysler department, told the UAW conference that "since Chrysler has forced us into the position of striking, we will give them the damndest strike they have ever seen."

Kotin said no further efforts to avert the strike are contemplated.

Emil Marex, heading the big union during the absence of President Walter P. Reuther, accused Chrysler of not offering "one damn cent."

"With complete disregard for the public good," the union state-mentorated, "Chrysler Corp. has left its employees with no alternative but to go on strike."

"In doing so," he continued, "they will have the complete moral and financial support of the UAW-CIO."

Sigler Cites Law

Governor Sigler said late today that if Chrysler workers do not obey a state law requiring a vote before a strike, he would expect the prosecutor of Wayne county to do his duty.

"I think the attention of the men should be called to the fact that the law is on the books and we expect it to be obeyed."

Sigler said he would not "try to tell" Prosecutor James McNally how to enforce the law. He added that he did not favor state action to obtain an anti-strike injunction, but implied it was a matter for Wayne county authorities to decide.

No Chrysler Statement

Chrysler issued no new statements. They already have said that they are "sympathetic" to the financial needs of their employees. But they contend a third round of wage increases will not solve the problem.

Marex said the union will ignore any effort by the State to block the strike in the courts.

Union Members Assessed

The auto workers mapped plans to place themselves on the soundest emergency financial basis in their history. Marex said a special $1 assessment against every member in the UAW-CIO will raise from $800,000 to $1,000,000 before the end of the month.

Another $7,000,000 in the treasuries of 900 local unions could be tapped if needed during a prolonged strike, he added.

Republicans To Hold Eye Of Institute

What's Wrong With the Republicans? will be the subject of discussion tonight at the first meeting of a four-session institute on the November elections. The campus chapter of Students for Democratic Action is sponsoring the series.

Prof. William Fern and Graduate Student Samuel Pratt of the sociology department are to present a brief analysis of the social composition of the Republican party, and Prof. Lewis Ferguson, James Miller and Ira Polley of the political science department will discuss the GOP's leading candidates and general program.

An informal discussion is to follow, said Douglas Kelley, SDA committee member.

The meeting in room 314 Berkeley hall at 8 tonight will be followed by three Wednesday night meetings devoted to critical consideration of the Democratic, Wallace, and Socialist parties, Kelley said.

If the series arouses sufficient interest, SDA leaders plan to invite other campus political groups to co-sponsor a mock election early in June, in which student could be offered a choice between the leading candidates of each of the four parties.

As Nation Waited

Der Pieronek of Rochester, N. Y., stops to study a notice in New York's Grand Central station warning of a cancellation of service because of the railroad strike which was threatened for May 11. Meanwhile, final day meetings took place at the White House, at which the government look over the nation's railroads.

Rail Dispute Unsettled

The three unions were resentful of government seizure and court action preventing the strike. At a news conference held by the heads of the three unions, Glover said:

Andrew F. McIntyre, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad's New York division, was called back to active duty from the reserve with the rank of Brigadier General as Leavely's assistant.

Revall divided the nation into seven rail traffic areas, commissioned seven civilian railroad presidents as colonels in the army, and put one in charge of each of the areas.

Revall said the army will only supervise rail operations, letting the carriers handle their own finances and other details. Bans against shipments of perishable goods were lifted.

Ag Department Menus 'Rile' Congressman

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Rep. GROSS (R-Pa.) is mad at the Agriculture department. He says it's trying to tell Pennsylvania Dutch what to eat.

Gross got up on the House floor today to talk to the Agriculture people like . . . well, like a Dutch uncle.

It seems the department has got out some sample menus to show how cheaper foods often may be substituted for scarce ones.

Needs Asparagus

Save for one particular, that's all right with Gross.

"They say, 'Eat cabbage instead of asparagus,'" he said. "Well, we eat cabbage the year around. This is the time of year when a fellow needs a little asparagus."

But it's geographically, not gastronomically, that he thinks the agriculture people are in error.

"They decided to start in Lancaster and York counties in Pennsylvania," he said, in horror.

Well Stocked

Why, we're Pennsylvania Dutch up there. Every housewife has enough food canned to run her four, maybe five years."

Gross later explained to a reporter that telling a Pennsylvania Dutchman what to eat is as ridiculous as telling Ted Williams how to bat.

Wonderful Cellars

"Those cellars," he said dreamily. "Those wonderful cellars."

"We probably eat better than anyone else, and we eat cheaper, too. We know how to do it."

Gross said he understands that in some unfavored sections of the United States, people live out of grocery stores and cellars collect only mice and broken down furniture.

Let them take their campaigns there, he said.

New Bike Saves Feet; Hard On Police Pants

By NORM ANSCHUTZ—

There is one less pavement pounder on the East Lansing police force.

Since the department added a three-wheel "Servicar" as a regular patrol unit, Patrolman Jack "Low Gear" Campbell has been able to cut down expenditures for arch supports, foot plasters, and corn pads.

Gets Nickname

Dubbed "Low Gear" by envious fellow patrolmen, the motorized trooper can save four or five pairs of shoes a year in covering some 30 miles daily on his parking beat.

Conventional ambulatory mountings are by-gones for Campbell, who now relies on the twist-of-the-wrist method for covering ground. Throttle adjustments for the tricycle are made by revolving a grip on the handlebar.

But the new mode of transportation has occupational hazards. It is rumored around the police desk that Campbell has already placed orders for three or four extra trousers and a book, "Stop That Speed."

Another disadvantage to the bike is that the chief can spot it outside a crane or coffee impoundery when the patrolman takes five. Chief C. F. Pegg reported that Campbell was approached for rides by campus lovelies with Mardi Gras queen aspirations, but had to refrain because of departmental rulings against "participation in political campaigns."

Chief Pegg also remarked that the force is concerned with "Low Gear's" health after last week's cold snap. "We are shopping around for army surplus high-altitude flying togs," he said.
