Students Watch Floodwaters Approach Bridge

Students lounged casually on the Spartan near the Women's gymnasium as Red floodwaters reached the 11.2 foot crest of the bridge.

At the middle of the bridge indicates water's depth. Rising waters came within a few inches of reaching the bottom of the bridge.

Student workers are shown filling sandbags with dirt which were used in building levees to protect college property.

Constitution Gets Favor Of Officials

Council Distributes Letter-Writing Form

By JIM SMITH
A favorable attitude toward the proposed new student government constitution at MSC has been expressed by administration officials, Jack Hayes, Student Council vice-president, told the council during their regular meeting last night.

General discussion by the council was held on the constitution, but definite action was postponed for one week.

Council president Jerry Warren said the constitution was designed to set up adequate student government on a realistic basis at MSC.

The proposed constitution is divided into three major sections dealing with legislative, executive and amendment procedures. The legislative section provides for formulating ordinances, standing rules, and general procedures. Jim Caswood (Lansing) reported on the Building Appropriation committee drive. He said the form letters distribution would be continued for the remainder of the week.

Letter Writing Continues
The drive is in conjunction with the AVC letter writing program to return legislators to the final session of the legislature.

The council Elections committee reported that due to circumstances beyond their control the final election date has been changed to May 26.

Marshall Rejects Soviet-American Conference Plan

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall rejected flatly today any Soviet-American conference aimed at a general settlement between the two great powers. However, he held the door open to greatly improved dealings with Russia in the United Nations and other diplomatic agencies.

Marshall even indicated at a news conference that he respects the Kremlin may have decided to soften Russian foreign policy.

He read a paragraph from the statement which Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov gave to American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith in Moscow last Sunday declaring that Russia has always been and will continue to be a peace-loving policy and one of collaboration.

Marshall said that statement should be read with regard to the future. He added that he considers it a very important statement which the whole world will be waiting to see fulfilled.

He also told questioning reporters that the exchange of notes between Smith and Molotov and their surprise publication by Moscow may have helped the cause of world peace and brightened the prospect for a settlement of outstanding differences.

With about a hundred reporters present, Marshall read a prepared statement declaring—as President Truman did yesterday—that Smith's conference with Molotov had the definite purpose of impressing on the Soviet government the policy of the United States toward Russia and Europe.

By PAUL PALMER
The Nazi war crimes trials in Nurnberg were denounced as "illegal and impossible under international law" by Dr. Hans Leonhardt, department of history and political science, at a meeting of the student-faculty body last night.

Dr. Leonhardt did not contest the opinion that the sentenced German leaders "got what was coming to them" but he asserted he was in grave doubt that the proceedings had any genuine legal foundations.

Northville Hospital Contested

LANSING, May 12 (AP)—Senate Finance leaders refused today to endorse a compromise aimed at rescuing the $16,000,000 appropriation bill for state institutions and colleges.

At a peace conference between the House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance committee, Senator Don Vander Weep (R-Kentucky) offered a compromise after nearly three hours of debate.

He and Senators Frank Heath (R-Bay City) and James T. Milliken (R-Traverse City) agreed to the compromise as did the entire Ways and Means committee, but Senators Otto W. Bishop (R-Alabama), G. Elwood Bonine (R-Vandalia) and George Gurnea (R-South St. Paul) refused to endorse it.

Stumble On Northville
The stumbling block was the House insistence on and the Senate opposition to continuing the new Northville hospital project.

Bishop said the Senate would not accept the compromise, so there was no agreement to it. He refused to attempt to sell it to the chamber when the legislative returns May 26 for final approval.

The building appropriation was left hanging when the legislature went home April 29 because of an inter-quarrel row over several items.

Compromise Stipulations
Under Weep's compromise would have given Northville $1,500,000 to complete a physical building, University of Michigan $400,000 to start a maternity hospital, Wayne university $700,000 to complete two buildings, and $100,000 five million dollars from the State Highway department to county road commissions.

The Senate had voted nothing for Northville $300,000 for both the MSC and university building.

Young Group Of Scientists Plan Exhibit

The annual spring fair of the Michigan Junior Academy of Science, Arts and Letters will take place at Kottke Chemical Laboratory tomorrow and Saturday, sponsored by G. W. Prescott from the department of chemistry and plant pathology.

The public is invited to attend the fair on Saturday in room 108, Kottke Chemistry building from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Exhibits, demonstrations, projects and original constructions on which academy members have worked will be judged during the two days, Prescott said.

These include about 50 exhibits on everything from original paintings and jewelry to a demonstration measuring the speed of sound.

The academy is a federation of high schools and college clubs organized to stimulate research in the fields of science, arts, and letters.

It is sponsored by the senior Michigan Academy and supported by Michigan State college and the University of Michigan.

KEY MEN

Senate Trio Delaying Funds

THREE senators on Michigan's Senate Finance committee are still convinced that the capital outlay bill must not pass in its present form. So far they have found it impossible to reconcile themselves to any compromise offered by the House Ways and Means committee.

These men are economy minded and stand firmly on their belt-tightening policy. They must be convinced that a deficit to complete a necessary institutional building program will not ruin their reputations as great financiers.

Michigan citizens must convince them that educational facilities are far more important to Michigan than a thinly balanced budget.

The building program is vital to the educational facilities of Michigan's state-endowed schools. When the Victory Building program was begun in 1945, the schools were promised enough funds to complete their respective programs.

They have laid long range plans on this promise. If they are caught short it will mean a continuation of inadequate educational facilities, and the students will suffer.

The three men listed below are the ones who can turn the capital outlay bill into the right channels. Students should write them. Most of all write your parents and urge them to follow suit. Let these men know how you feel.

Sen. Otto W. Bishop, foot of First Ave., Alpena.

Sen. G. Elwood Bonine, RFD No. 1, Vandalia.

Sen. George Girschbach, 120 Park pl., Sault Ste. Marie.

APO Sing Decision

By PAT MCCARTHY

IF ATTENDANCE IS ANY INDICATION, Alpha Phi Omega's annual interfraternity sing was a tremendous success Tuesday night. A tremendous improvement over last year was MC Bob Shackleton's commendable show of restraint in handling the continuity between acts.

But, as last year, there seems to be a great deal of contrary opinion concerning the results. These opinions should not be passed off as a sour grapes griping. They come from other than disappointed fraternity members. And it does seem widespread enough to carry some weight.

Judging a choral contest would seem to be a rather nebulous business since it is difficult to assign an absolutely objective rating to any group.

In the future, we think that some sort of rating scale should be set up to show where each group excelled or decelled with some sort of point rating assigned to each division by which the groups are judged. In this way there would be a lot of unnecessary discussion cut short and undoubtedly many hard feelings would be disposed of.

MAYBE AN APPLAUSE METER should be hired as a fourth judge. The idea is not as silly as it seems at first thought.

Admitted that the different fraternities could bring all their pledges and turn it into a clapping contest between rival cliques. Still, in an auditorium that holds nearly 5,000, it seems doubtful that any group of one or two hundred people could cause much deviation from a true reading of audience reaction.

It might provide an interesting political exchange on the basis of you clap for me and I'll clap for you. Whatever is done, it still remains that something should be re-organized in the judging set-up so that a few less people find fault with the final decisions.

STILL ALONG THE MUSICAL LINE, there seems to be some confusion on policy concerning the Beaumont chimes. A week ago a member of the Spartan Roundtable suggested that at least the hours should be noted on the chimes. Before then the tower bells had been silent for some time, the exact reason still a little doubtful.

Until yesterday the quarter-hour tunes were still not playing, but they were turned on, so the whole business is in operation now. Many factors enter into the decision as to whether or not the chimes will play all night, or if only the hour chimes will ring.

One point is that the chimes keep people awake all night. Around a year ago they were turned off at ten every night to accommodate the restless coed sleepers in Wells hall.

Another angle is that there are offices in Beaumont Tower. The professors there undoubtedly do not see any musical beauty in bells pounding the tops of their heads in every quarter hour. In time it would probably produce an effect not unlike that of shell shock.

Ways and Means Bottleneck Threatens MSC Construction

(Continued From Page 1) $702,000 for Wayne and an outright grant of $5,000,000 from the general fund for county roads.

Maternity Hospital
Vander Weep said he proposed $850,000 for the University maternity hospital because Dr. Alexander J. Rathbun, University president, had told the committee he could get along with half a million dollars this year to start the maternity hospital.

Rep. John P. Espie (R-Eagle), Ways and Means chairman, said the House would not give way on the Northville project. Bishop, the Senate committee chairman, said the Senate, having adopted a resolution "urging" Northville, had abandoned the Senate would not receive at that point either.

Governor Feared
Although Gov. Siegel has not said so, Espie declared, "If we get deadlocked on this the governor will call us back into a special session and we'll be right back where we were with the same problem and the same group of people and we won't know any more than we do now."

Bishop and Bonine said they would vote $2,000,000 for full construction at Northville next year but would not vote $2,000,000 to start the project this year.

"Haven't Got Money"
Bonine said, "We haven't got the money and I'm trying to come as near as I can to balancing the budget. I'll come back next year and fight for it."

Espie asked, "What difference does it make if you vote it now or next year? It all comes out of the same budget and the deficit will be just as big at the end of the fiscal year whichever way you do it."

Espie took a unanimous vote of the House committee, but Bishop refused to allow a poll of the Senate group.

Might Pass
Vander Weep said that if Bishop and Bonine would support the compromise it might pass the Senate, but it probably would fail if they did not.

"To tie up a $20,000,000 building program because a few men can't get together is child's play," Vander Weep said.

"I'm willing to make some concessions. It would be assume not to complete these buildings."

By BEV WATSON
South Africa claims jazz fans, but Elsa Smit and Catherine Jansen of the Transvaal, like semi-classical music better than Stan Kenton. Elsa and Rena discovered that they had both won graduate scholarships to Michigan State college when the list of winners was released by the provincial administration of the Transvaal. They were graduated from the University of Pretoria with Bachelor of Science degrees in dietetics.

To See Country
Both plan to study here until the end of the first six weeks of summer term. Then they will attend a college in the west so they can see more of the United States. Both coeds say college life in South Africa is much like college life at MSC. They call their union the Club. It has recreation facilities, office room for various clubs, the governing body, the publications including their student newspaper, "The Wave," and a cafeteria.

Shorter Classes
Classes in South Africa last forty minutes—ten minutes shorter than ours, and marks are based on percentages and letter grades. Afrikaans is the only language spoken in Pretoria University's classrooms. At other colleges either Afrikaans or English are taught in the lower schools.

Carnivals Called 'Razs'
They have carnivals in South Africa, but they call them 'Razs'. One that depicted the life of the American Indian and a cornucopia of all pink and white, won that prize in the same Raz.

To Teach In Transvaal
Pretoria is the capital of the Transvaal. Most of the people are employed in government work or occupied in the Isaac Steel factories. Homes situated in the center of the city have large grounds and gardens in front of each house.

When Elsa and Rena return to the Transvaal they will instruct students in the academic side of diet therapy internship. At present no one in the Transvaal is qualified to do this work.

16 Sororities To Compete For Sing Cup

Bandshell Flood May Put Off Event

By JUDY GRAMM
The annual sorority sing will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. at the College bandshell. Betty Bigford, committee chairman, announced if the bandshell is still flooded the sing will be held Thursday, May 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Sixteen sororities will compete for the Panhellenic sing cup. A new cup will be awarded to the winner, as the cup used for the past seven years has no more space for engraving. The old cup, now held by Chi Omega, will be kept in the Panhellenic office as no sorority has won the sing for three consecutive years.

Old Tradition
Sorority sing has been a tradition at MSC for over 10 years. Kappa Alpha Theta has a sing cup dated 1932, and is the only sorority to win the sing for three consecutive years.

Charles Irwin, of the written and spoken English department will be master of ceremonies this year. Judges will be David Machtel of the music department, and director of men's glee club, Miss Lorraine Sheppard, education department, and Miss Elaine Pitzer, of the music department.

Men's Glee Club To Sing
Men's Glee club will sing during intermission. Their selections will be "Oh My Lawd, What Shall I Do" "Oklahoma" by Rodgers, and "Is There Someone Lovelier Than You" by Schwartz.

Points on which the sing will be judged are in two groups, one for the lay judge, and one for the two music judges.

Let For Judges
Judging points for the lay judge will be appearance, 15 points; appropriateness of selection, 15 points; enunciation, 20 points; interpretation, 25 points; and team work, 25 points.

Let For Music Judges
Music judges will pick the winner on appropriateness, 5 points; attack and release, 15 points; balance, harmony and rhythm, 15 points; enunciation, 15 points; selection, 15 points; interpretation, 15 points; interpretation, 15 points; and tone quality, 30 points.

Hubby Knows Facts On Female Fashion

listen little woman
"One reason so many women dress badly is that they don't listen to their husbands' advice," Edith Head, chief fashion designer for Paramount studio, contends in a May American magazine article. Miss Head also believes that husbands should demand that their wives look almost as well groomed at breakfast as they do at a bridge party.

While they don't need to dress in their Sunday best, she feels that the wife should wear a becoming house dress and take pains to look neat at the breakfast table.

Carelessness Is Habit
Carelessness about dress is an easily acquired habit and the first letdown, says Miss Head, is like the first act of doing.

According to her, the secret of being a fashionista for young and old is to make the most of what is planned for you.

Be Satisfying
Before a woman buys a dress, she should know exactly where and when she expects to wear it and shouldn't look at anything that doesn't fit that need.

Any woman can be well dressed, says Miss Head, but she must have the following basic wardrobe, plus accessories including a coat with a removable lining.

List Given
1. A suit or two-piece dress.
2. A day dress, one- or two-piece.
3. An afternoon dinner or evening combination.

For most women a suit is the most practical and becoming costume ever invented. Miss Head feels, and it is easy to change in appearance by the addition of sweaters, blouses and other accessories.
