State Board Keeps Ban On Politics

Proposed Policy Change Refused

By DEAN MORTON
A new development in the faculty politics ban was revealed yesterday.

The Board of Agriculture for the second time rejected proposed changes in its policy which prohibits faculty members from taking part in partisan politics.

The MSC chapter of American Association of University Professors had submitted the changes at the suggestion of the Board.

Another rewrite of the Board policy will be drafted, this time in cooperation with an administrative committee appointed by President Hannah.

The dispute originated early this term when the AAUP protested the Board policy statement calling for the resignation of any staff member taking part in partisan politics.

In answer to the protest the Board suggested that the AAUP rewrite the disputed part of the policy.

The AAUP rewrite which went to the Board last Tuesday sought to answer the Board's objection to faculty participation in politics.

The Board had stated that the private views of a staff member might be construed as those of the College, and that campaigning might interfere with staff duties.

The AAUP statement proposed that a staff member have "the same rights and responsibilities as any other citizen."

But the AAUP statement acknowledged that a staff member's position "imposes special obligations to indicate that he is not an institutional spokesman."

The AAUP replied to Board insistence that staff members campaign politically on their own time by stating "it is suggested that a staff member campaigning as a political party's candidate obtain a leave of absence."

If this candidacy interferes with the proper discharge of his duties.

This wording was not explicit enough, according to the Board.

The Board reply as written by President John Hannah said, "The Board insists that the statement include a positive statement to the effect that members of our staff campaigning for state or federal offices shall do so on their own time."

In accordance with Board action President Hannah appointed a committee to cooperate with the academic freedom committee of the AAUP in drafting the next statement.

William H. Form, associate professor of sociology and anthropology, chairman of the academic freedom committee, said work on the rewrite would probably begin next week.

Foreign Affairs Leader

Morse Calls For Stiff United Nations Support As Greatest Defense Weapon

By ARNOLD SPELLMAN
The United States must be unwavering in its support of the UN, pleaded Senator Wayne Morse in the auditorium last night.

"I don't think we could win a single handed war with China" asserted the Oregon Republican in urging us to avoid a policy of seeking to set ourselves up as the determiners and dictators of the organization's policy.

A lone war with China would last for years and destroy our greatest defense weapon, which is our economy and not the atom bomb.

25 Year Struggle?
"Stalin could then take over western Europe and with its industry run by slave labor would be able to involve us in war for a quarter of a century," Morse told a pre-dominantly non-student audience estimated at 1,000.

"We are in for a hundred year revolution of the colored masses of the world for a better life and no force is going to stop it," said Morse, calling it a struggle to determine whether these people go free or slave.

In order to achieve our goal he stressed that we must work to do away with colonialism and imperialism which are symbols in the contest for men's minds.

He also urged against developing a superiority complex in which we believe we can dominate the world.

"You cannot win over the minds of men to the free way of life when their stomachs are empty," stated the senator as he recited our "dumping food into empty bins when for years past we should have been dumping it into empty stomachs."

Domestic Measures
A decrease in outstandings of living to meet the times was the grim picture he painted.

In calling for a soundly based excess profits tax he declared he was "shocked" to read that there are those who believe we should have a tax that would be "shifted

U. S. Seeks Means To Halt Red Drive In Korea, Europe

'Entirely New War' MacArthur Announces In Communique

By The Associated Press
The U.S. government, shocked and spurred to fresh action by the grave turn of events in Korea, yesterday sought urgent measures to halt the Red tide in the Far East and at other danger spots all along the Iron Curtain.

There were plain indications of official concern that a third World War could be developing—and that the threat might not be confined to Korea.

General MacArthur yesterday told the non-Communist powers they must decide quickly what to do about the grim prospect of "an entirely new war" against Red China.

He issued a special communique suggesting that the war actually had begun and "could be stopped only by a last-minute political solution."

Hours later, the United States charged Communist China with "open and notorious" aggression in Korea in a tense meeting of the United Nations Security Council. It called on the Council to face the consequences squarely.

May Bomb Manchuria
That may involve the question of bombing Manchuria, posing the threat of war with Red China, which has a military alliance with Russia.

MacArthur's communique carried a veiled request for authority to bomb Chinese Communist troop assembly points in Manchuria.

MacArthur said the Chinese Communists already have thrown "a major segment" of their armies—200,000 men—into Korea.

They have shown "the obvious intent and preparation" to reinforce this spearhead with perhaps 300,000 more men now on the move in Manchuria, he added.

This, he continued, "has shattered the high hopes" that the Chinese Communists were making only token resistance in Korea.

Thus MacArthur raised the question of whether, barring a quick political solution, the United Nations would give him authority to fight an all-out military campaign.

Military Conference
The gravity of the hour was reflected by an urgent military conference between MacArthur and his top generals. This conference lasted until 1:30 a.m. today.

On Capitol Hill, some voices were raised in favor of using the atom bomb against the onsurging Chinese Communists.

President Truman met with the National Security Council, the government's top policy-making agency in matters affecting the country's safety. His military and

Sororities' Solicitations Questioned

Alpha Gamma Delta To Refute Charges

The Campus Chest commission last night dismissed charges of charity solicitations against one sorority while deciding to give another sorority a chance to present its case.

According to the commission, Kappa Alpha Theta was not violating the ordinance against charity solicitations by selling tickets to its style show. However, the commission considered Alpha Gamma Delta ticket sales for an argyle sock raffle as falling in the solicitation category.

Anne Kontas, president of Alpha Gamma Delta, said that her sorority was within its rights "The tickets are not being sold for a symbol," said Miss Kontas.

Every person buying one is invited to our house for refreshments so they will get a fair return for their money."

Alpha Gamma Delta representatives will answer the charges at the regular meeting of the Campus Chest tonight. Last night's special meeting of the Chest followed complaints by student Tom Angeli.

No action is being considered against Alpha Gamma Delta, according to Ron Linton, chairman of the commission.

The commission was created to curtail individual drives, charity drives and to co-ordinate them into a single campaign.

Charities desiring donations from the campus fund must petition the commission for a percentage of the campus.

Examination Time On The Namekagon

NOTE: This is not addressed to three-point, pardon, four-point students. Many of us were shocked recently when we learned that examinations start next week.

Familiar Signs

WASHINGTON—Familiar signs along the Southern Democratic front seem to portend another anti-Truman, anti-Fair Deal movement from that area, but under more propitious and more respectable auspices than the 1948 Dixiecrat crusade.

Last Call Balderdash

There remains to be done but two columns and the last one is reserved for the traditional swan song that every editor looks forward to. This means then, that this next to the last column must be devoted to all the topics, or as many as there is room for, that I failed to get down in print previously.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst By SPENCER MOOSA (For J. M. Roberts, Jr.) Taipei, Formosa—Chinese Nationalists understandably are striving to give the impression that Red China is in ferment against the regime of Communist leader Mao Tse-Tung.

There are two no more skillful political operators than Messrs. Byrnes and Farley. The former demonstrated his capacities when, as a Senator, he was liaison for President Roosevelt between the New Dealers and Southern conservatives in Congress to negotiate the way for the New Deal in its earlier reform stages and later, after a tour of duty on the Supreme Court at Mr. Roosevelt's appointment, as chief of the civilian war command in the White House at the President's right hand.

I wish that the people would realize this gigantic power they have—the power of public opinion—and put it to use on one of my pet peeves. I know that I am not alone in my feeling that merchants and others have reduced the Christmas holiday to brass commercialism.

This suggests natural and obvious obstacles, first in the minority strength that the South possesses in national conventions which no longer can be exercised as a veto since repeal of the two-thirds nominating rule in 1936; second, in the reluctance of political managers and delegates to pick a conservative as head of the Democratic ticket since that would negate the party's position and its appeal.

Looking Ahead

WASHINGTON — The American Council on Education doesn't like the plan for draft deferment of college students which was recently submitted by the advisory committee of selective service. It has proposed a plan of its own to draft director Hershey, which would make possible the deferment of two or three times as many draftees as the other plan would.

"Unorganized industry was pictured as having been permanently relegated to that status through the provisions which provide for dilatory legal and technical barriers.

"Wages, hours and working conditions are not a common law issue but are the province of management and labor, asserted the senator in charging that the law encourages government intrusion into the early stages of a dispute, with a consequent handicap to amicable settlement.

In conclusion Senator Morse called for "citizen statehood" in bringing politicians to look at today's problems in light of their effect in the century to come.

U-M Students Admit Having Football Pools

Took $2,500 In Bets, Say They Lost Money

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — An investigation of football wagering on the University of Michigan campus brought the arrest today of two students accused of operating betting pools.

Assistant Prosecutor Edmund Devine identified those arrested for registering bets as Robert McGuire, 20, of Chicago, and Lee Setomer, 26, of New York City. He said they confessed.

Both waived examination before Municipal Judge Francis O'Brien, who bound them to circuit court for trial Nov. 30. Both posted $500 bonds for their release.

Devine said that while the two confessed to handling $2,500 in bets on five games, they claimed to have lost money. He said they were uncertain how much they'd lost and he was skeptical of that part of their story.

Devine said he was pursuing his investigation in belief others might be involved. The University took no disciplinary action pending the trial.

Point Cards

Devine said the students told him they obtained cards, carrying give-and-take points on a number of college games over the five weeks, from Arcadia Sales & Publishing Co., 236 N. Clark St., Chicago.

Devine said McGuire and Setomer told him bets were accepted on one or several games at a time, odds being governed by the Chicago cards.

Educators Ask FCC To Permit Schools On TV

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Communications commission today heard pleas for more television channels for education and found that even a school man can learn from television.

William J. Wallin, chancellor of the Board of Regents for the University of the State of New York, told the commission:

"It's astonishing what you can learn from television. My father used to be pretty proud of the way he could carve a turkey, and I watched him closely. But the other night on the Arthur Godfrey show a chef came on and showed me a thing or two on how it should be done."

Educators want channels set aside for stations owned and operated by educational institutions and organizations.

One drawback: Television costs so much to produce that most schools haven't been able to afford to put on programs. But Wallin thinks he may have the answer to that.

"Let the schools sell commercial programs," he said.

At present, FCC rules bar sponsored programs on educational stations.

Richard B. Hull, of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, told the commission:

"If a city has only one television channel, the time should be split so that the educational institutions would be guaranteed time for their programs."

GALLAP'S GOSSIP

Sure is a good time to talk about the weather!

Quite a while ago some upper classman with whiskers said, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it." Just goes to show you that even such a lousy conversation piece as the weather can help secure your niche in the hall of fame if you just make the right crack to the right people.

I don't know though, there's a lot of good things to be said about the weather. There must be — nobody's ever said any of them.

You sir, this will go down as the year that gave birth to the "hidden player" idea in football: where an end burrowed under the snow and came up in the end-zone to receive a pass. I also understand that the weather man followed Michigan State's lead and caught Pittsburgh with their Panthers down.

There's really nothing like the weather to give us variety and plenty of surprises, mostly of the unpleasant kind. Come to think of it, it's just the opposite of the consistently pleasant surprise that people have who try "Perriots That Speak" by

MacArthur Forecast Called 'Universal Hope'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur said today his home-by-Christmas forecast merely expressed the "universal hope" for an early end to the Korean war. MacArthur cabled that explanation about the now famous comment in reply to a question by Ray Henley, Washington radio, commentator.

Henley, editor of NBC's "Three-Star Extra" news program, said he received the following message from MacArthur sent via the Pentagon:

"In reply to question contained in your cable of Nov. 28, apparently greatly exaggerated statements have been attributed to me in some informal comments passed between my field commanders and myself in a jocular vein expressive of the universal hope for an early termination of hostilities. The evident physical impossibility of fulfillment of the statement attributed to me should be its own best refutation."

"At no time have I ever attempted to predict the course or termination of this or any other military campaign."

In a dispatch from MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters yesterday, AP Correspondent Rehnan Mor-

Play Wayne Saturday; Home Opener Tuesday

By STAN STEINBORN

Michigan State's basketball team opens their 1950-51 season Saturday against Wayne University of Detroit prior to the first home game Tuesday at Jenison fieldhouse against the University of Detroit.

Carey Back

Bob Carey, last year's starting center, went through his second day of practice yesterday. Carey missed most of the fall practice because of his football duties.

It is expected that Carey will be ready for regular play by the start of the Big Ten race in January. Meanwhile, Newell will probably start Ray Steffen at center, with Lief Carlson and Bill Bowler at forwards. Gordie Stauffer and Captain Jim Snodgrass are slated to start at the guard positions against Wayne.

To See Action

Also expected to see action against Wayne are forwards Eric Fureth and Bob Johnson, center John Moore, and guards Sonny Means and Gene Rhodes. Wayne beat their opening game opponents, Assumption College of Windsor, Ontario, 83 to 37. High scorer for Wayne was captain Ron Condon, who plays guard.

Contender's Tourney To Determine Berths

An early season unveiling of this year's boxing team will get underway this afternoon at 4 in the boxing gym at Jenison fieldhouse in the annual contender's tournament.

Spencer was a member of the U.S. Olympic team, and a NCAA runner-up last year. Marek and Amos are also NCAA runner-ups in guiding the Spartans through an undefeated season last year.

Open Against Marines

The boxers will open their season January 3 here against the Quantico Marines. Ex-middlesweight champion Tony Zale has been secured as the probable referee for the opening.

Rogers Takes Fencing Crown

Pete Rogers took the intramural foil fencing crown in a round robin tournament held yesterday afternoon.

At the great depth they have had the past few Michigan State's swimming team will go into their Big Ten competition with only six returning from last year's team.

Charles McCaffree, a complete rebuilding of the nucleus of a team that helped State to Big Ten titles against Illinois in the past five years.

Michigan State's swimming team had little trouble in the Big Ten competition last year. They had the honor of beating a highly-touted squad for the first time in the Big Ten.

Bob Schumacher and Al McCormick will also be back in the 220- and 440-yard events.

In the breast stroke slot, the Spartans have Al Omans and Dave Patton back to give this event plenty of strength.

Outstanding Jayvee

In addition, McCaffree has Dick Robie, outstanding contender from last year's Jayvee squad back.

The back stroke will feature Rod Quigley and veteran Hal Shoup. Quigley was on the junior varsity squad last year.

Two sophomores, Ken Coyne and Jerry Lachwood, look like the probable starters for the diving event.

War May Keep Congress Busy

Lawmakers See Longer Session

Acheson Views Europe Danger

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The grave turn of events in Korea cast a shadow of foreboding over Congress today and brought predictions that it may force the lawmakers to stand by over Christmas for any emergency.

Behind closed doors, Secretary of State Acheson is reported to have told senators that the mass onslaught of Chinese Communists in Korea demands immediate decisions on the next moves in the crisis.

Legislators raised such questions as these: 1. Whether General Douglas MacArthur should be authorized to bomb supply lines and Red troops massed behind the border in Manchuria. Some lawmakers advocated use of the atomic bomb.

2. Whether Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa shall now be thrown into battle against the Chinese Communists.

Acheson is said to have told the Senate Foreign Relations committee that grave as the situation is in Korea, it is no more serious than the danger in Europe, particularly Yugoslavia, where Marshall Tito has been under mounting pressure following his break with the Kremlin.

Although overshadowed by events in Korea, a series of important homefront issues engaged Congress on this second day of its "lame-duck" session—that last session before the new 82nd Congress meets on Jan. 3.

In general, the legislative picture reflected a threat of a Senate filibuster over the question of Alaska-Hawaii statehood, increasing Republican opposition to an administration tax bill, and an apparent reluctance to extend federal rent controls as requested by President Truman.

Statehood Fight
In the developing fight over statehood, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) led off the debate with an appeal to bring Alaska into the Union "as a complete answer to Soviet propaganda." This was a reference to Moscow claims that the United States is a "colonizing power" with no interest in granting freedom or equality to its territories.

O'Mahoney urged the Senate to give quick approval to the House-passed bill for Alaskan statehood—to be followed by a similar bill for Hawaii—but he told newsmen: "In my judgment, there will be a filibuster."

Southern Democrats ostensibly dropped any idea of a full-scale filibuster when they found their ranks split at a meeting today, but Senator Russell (D-Ga) said there is "always a likelihood of an independent filibuster on a smaller scale."

Russell is calling the plays for a bloc of Dixie legislators who fear that the election of four new senators from Alaska and Hawaii, if they are granted statehood, might upset the balance in the Southern's fight against civil rights.

On the tax front, Republican leaders expressed doubt that the administration's call for an excess profits levy taping corporations for $4,000,000 will win approval at this session.

In the tax-drafting House ways and means committee, the administration plan was shown in a preliminary vote. With one Democrat absent, a motion to appoint the administration plan for a 75 per cent levy on profits in excess of the 1946-49 average resulted in a tie vote, 12 to 12.

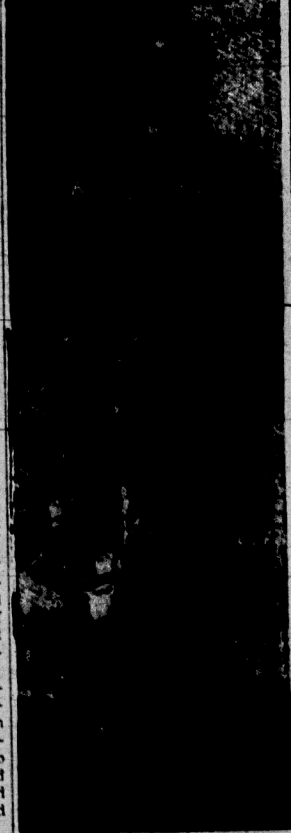

This decision, if it stood, would spell failure for the plan, but another vote is to be taken tomorrow.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee said his group has decided against taking an immediate stand on taxes, but he commented: "It will be difficult to get anything controversial passed at this session."

The State varsity football game and an MSC-Notre Dame football game movie will entertain the 800 Masons expected to be on hand at the Lansing Masonic Temple to honor the college coaching staff for "the masterful job they have done and are doing for MSC in intercollegiate competition."

The entire State coaching staff, along with President Hannah, Dean Emmons and Ralph Young, is scheduled to be at the banquet. The banquet will be held Dec. 4.

Residents OK East Lansing School Bonds

Construction Of New School To Start Soon

Better than four-to-one approval was given Monday to a $300,000 bond issue to finance a new elementary school in East Lansing.

Election results were released yesterday by Cecil E. MacDonald, superintendent of schools. Two ballots were used in the election, the first lifting the 15-mill school tax limit, and the second approving a three-mill assessment for 12 years.

First Ballot
On the first ballot, out of 805 votes cast, 646 were yes, 151 no, and eight void. The second ballot received 688 yes votes, out of 880 cast, with 157 no and 10 void.

Construction of the nine-room school will begin next spring, and occupancy is scheduled for fall of 1952, according to MacDonald. The building will be constructed on North Harrison road near M-78.

Health Center
With a health center and combination gym-auditorium in addition to nine classrooms, the structure will house kindergarten and the elementary grades.

The three-mill tax will bring in about $47,000 a year, MacDonald said, and will pay off the bonds in about six years. Income for the rest of the 12-year period will be placed in a building and site fund, to be used for construction of a new high school in four or five years.

A 55-acre site for the proposed high school has been purchased on Burchum drive. MacDonald said the board of education expects to advertise for buyers for the bonds in about three months. Preliminary sketches have been drawn up, and plans will be completed soon.

Williams Blasts Board For Policy In Recount

LANSING—(AP)—Governor Williams yesterday blasted the State Board of Canvassers for refusing to certify his reelection and so "attempting to grab the powers of the governorship."

His charges, the first such officially raised in Michigan's muddled gubernatorial election, were made in a formal statement. His Republican opposition promptly denounced them as "terribly premature."

Williams, who held only the slimmest of leads over his Republican opponent, former Governor Harry F. Kelly, added that he would take his charges "to the people" via a radio address Wednesday (WJR-9 p.m.).

"The people," he said, "should be told what kind of shenanigans are going on here." He labeled the all-Republican board's action in refusing to certify his election as a "gross perversion of the election machinery."

The board, at its Monday meeting, found that Williams had a majority of the votes, but failed to okay his election. Instead, it went ahead with plans for a statewide recount, as asked by Kelly and the GOP organization.

The Governor charged that the purpose of "this arbitrary procedure is to create a period during which there will be no legally qualified governor if the recount is not completed by Jan. 1."

"Then the Republican lieutenant governor or some other officer would take over as acting governor with a free hand to make appointments and submit them to the Republican senate for confirmation."
