All is well now, the student said. "But I was ready to sue or take a bath with my clothes on," he declared.

Union Food Prices

Wait a minute, Mac. Just because you're a senior and you've seen better times, don't get mad and hit the manager of the Union in the head with a coke bottle.

We know the food prices in the Union cafeteria have risen over the Christmas vacation and it hits us all where it hurts most—in the pocketbook. But that's only one side of the story.

How about the Union manager's view? He's caught between two fires. On one side there is the desire to provide good food at respectable prices. The thing that stops him is the constant rising price of food.

There's another fact that most of us have overlooked. Last term when wages for student help went up to 75c an hour there was no change in the price of food. The manager was trying to hold the line, but it's now impossible.

It is a common fact that prices are continually rising. In one week last month the wholesale price index went up 3 per cent. The food the Union buys has been on a steady upward spiral for quite some time but prices were held down. Now they can no longer do it.

Even with the rise we still think that for the prices the cafeteria and grill serve better food than anywhere else in this vicinity. Where else can you get a lunch for 60c and dinner for 90c, including tax.

There's nothing that can be done about it, just as nothing could be done about the rise in dormitory room and board. As long as everything else goes up we'll just have to make the best of it and pinch our pennies so we can continue the very necessary habit of eating.

Besides, Mac, how much more are you making if you're working for the college. How much more money is your father taking home each week?

82nd Restores Arbitrary Pigeon-Hole

Copyright, 1951, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON — Our emphasis on the defense of democracy everywhere in the world, and our desire to extend it wherever possible, naturally enlarge our interest in our own democratic institutions. In short, we look at ourselves more closely — or should.

It is, therefore, somewhat embarrassing that a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats in our House of Representatives has just delivered a smacking blow to democracy. This was done on the opening day of the new 2nd Congress by restoring to the Rules Committee the arbitrary power to pigeon-hole bills approved by the appropriate legislative committee and deny the House the right to vote on them.

What the coalition effected was repeal of the rule — adopted by the 1st Congress after the 1948 Truman victory — which removed this arbitrary blockade by permitting the chairman of any legislative committee to move, for House consideration of bills approved by his committee if the Rules Committee failed to send such measures to the House floor after 21 days.

That can't be done any more. Again a handful of men can thwart democracy in the House. The purpose of this undemocratic move is no secret. It is to keep social welfare and civil rights measures from getting to the representatives of the people in the House for a vote.

From the standpoint of their party's own political welfare it is a bit hard to see why the House Republican leadership again was maneuvered into this alliance with the anti-social welfare, anti-civil-rights Southern Democrats. For it was the blockade of the Rules Committee — then as now controlled by the coalition — against a housing bill, combined with the hostile attitude of the House Republican leadership toward other social legislation, that had much to do with the party's 1948 defeat in the Presidential election. Many Republicans were conscious of the bad judgment of their leadership. Forty-two of them refused to go along and voted against repeal of the so-called 21-day rule.

As a practical matter, the blatant, overt coup hardly was necessary. Little social legislation and no civil-rights legislation had been expected from the 82nd Congress. Emphasis will be on foreign policy and defense. Furthermore, the coalition now has enough votes, as a result of last November's election, to defeat measures it doesn't like openly on the floor, though the Rules Committee straggle allows members to duck responsibility. The Republican action could be easily admitted. For, because of its admitted aim, it will provoke resentment among millions of people who, whether Republicans realize it or not, now are fully aware of what dictatorial control of the House by the coalition through the Rules Committee bottleneck means to them.

They know because President Truman told them the story in simple language in the 1948 campaign, revealed to them the chicanery whereby bills for their welfare can be pigeon-holed by a few men in the Rules Committee. This simplifies the task of special-interest lobbyists who can concentrate on this committee and not worry about the regular committees too much, and never worry at all about the House, itself. By this camaign President Truman won support for removal of this blockade after his victory. It was the first thing done by the Democratic House leadership at his direction at opening of the 81st Congress.

What had happened became clear once the President raised the curtain in the campaign. While the Republican Senate of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress had passed social legislation, including housing, Federal aid to education, the House leadership tied it all up. This became a mockery when the party, in its 1948 platform, advocated all these measures that the House leadership had stifled just before the convention. President Truman capitalized this on stumps all over the nation. Labor unions told the story to their members through their union newspapers, as they are telling now of repeal of the 21-day rule and its meaning. This is not very helpful to Republicans in their effort to win back labor votes.

During the Congress just ended, eight bills were extracted from the Rules Committee and brought before the House for a vote by the 21-day rule. Beyond that, because of threat of its use, the Rules Committee itself moved to the House floor for passage the housing, minimum wage increase and expansion of Social Security system bills.

Now the blockade has been raised again.

Just A Moment

The Looking Glass

By Steve Brandner

Good morning. This is column number one for a new editor. This will be an introduction. It won't introduce me. Rather it will express my view on what I think the purpose and scope of the Michigan State News should be.

Before delving into my views on the NEWS, I first want to pause, not for a minute of silence, but for a word of praise, for Ron Linton, editor for the past two terms. Ron is a born newsman. I think he'd rather get a scoop than eat. I know he does more writing than sleeping. He is now working for the United Press in Lansing besides going to school. Up to the time the army gets him, the UP has a good man.

To me, the STATE NEWS is a mirror. It's not a dainty little item in a lady's boudoir. Rather it's a substantial, precision-built instrument that reflects what has happened.

That concept is important. The STATE NEWS does not make the news, it reports it. In reporting the news, the college paper must strive to keep its surface and more important, its base, free from flaws that would distort its stories. It's hard for any paper to do this. It's even harder for a college paper to do it.

I am glad to say the STATE NEWS has a smooth surface AND base. It's stories are run according to their news value. There are no blind spots.

It's true that many times, the reflections in the mirror are not always pleasing to those from whence they came. Many people don't like their looks in a traditional mirror. I don't blame them. Many also don't like the image that shapes up in the morning press. It's not the paper's fault.

If the mirror, that is, the college paper, develops blind spots, everyone quickly knows it and deals with the paper for what it is... an unreliable sheet.

The college paper must always be fair that is, it must handle the news without distorting it for its own purposes. That this is done is my job. I don't wear glasses and have no plans on developing near or farsightedness in the future.

Concerning campus coverage, the college paper should react as any other good looking glass. That which is nearest, will dominate the reflection. The STATE NEWS is a college paper. It should and will concentrate on what happens locally.

However, all stories are evaluated in relation to what happens in the state, the nation, and the world for the play they receive in the news columns. The events that create the biggest images in their significance to the college, will be reflected as such.

That means the Society for the Preservation of Lost MSC Swedish Baton Twirlers will probably never be the lead story on the front page, even if they flipped their batons with both arms and legs, at the same time. On second thought, that wouldn't be a bad story...

A mirror is not a passive being. If nobody looks into it, it's no good. Someone should look at the images as they appear on the front page and evaluate and discuss them. That is the role of the editorial page.

That's my concept of the role of the STATE NEWS reduced to figurative terms. Every effort will be made to live up to this ideal.

Letter To The Editor

Perturbed Coeds Want Less Mud Tossed At U. M.

To The Editor:

It seems to us that MSC could do with a little less ridicule thrown in the direction of Ann Arbor. In the past, we have heard that the bigger a person is, the less they have to step on others to prove it. We think that should be just as true of colleges.

We love State very much and hate to be thought of as traitors merely because we accept the fact that the University of Michigan has its finer points. We do not think there should be a question of which institution is best but rather a statement that both are good in different respects. You must realize that State is getting a lot of unfavorable publicity from sportswriters and citizens because of several sarcastic articles concerning the University of Michigan which have been printed in the STATE NEWS.

We hope that State will start the new year out right by ending the childish battle of words which has been waged.

Sincerely, Perturbed Students, Joyce Kirk, Frances W. Anderson

Concerning Truman's Speech . . .

Press Reaction Differ

By The Associated Press

The nation's press reacted quickly — but with divided opinions — yesterday to President Truman's message on the state of the Union. Some newspapers called it a stirring message, others said it was disappointing.

Some editorials pointed out that steps to be taken in this crisis could not be too precise because of the threat of war and America's desire for peace.

Others said the state of the Union was "well reported."

Some of the sternest critics said the President uttered patriotic generalities with which all Americans agree.

They complained Mr. Truman had failed to stir the people or give them a positive lead, and said that the nation wanted more of the facts. Their feeling was that much of his report on foreign policies had been said before.

The Democratic Miami Daily News said that "televised into approximately 3,500 words, there was a stirring synthesis of the hopes and aspirations of 150 million Americans in deadly peril. Their President understands them. If it was not high oratory, it was a good summation of the nation's stake in the forthcoming struggle for survival."

The Indianapolis News (Independent Republican) said "President Truman's state of the Union message was a disappointing document to an American people which had been awaiting it for those specific marching orders to which they are ready in order to deal with the enormous peril to the nation."

"Mr. Truman asked for unity," commented the Indianapolis Star (Independent Republican). "But he said nothing to inspire unity or to give the people that he is telling them about what they have to do not know where to go or how we are to get there."

The Minneapolis Star (Independent) said "the document made it clear that as far as he is concerned the destinies of the States are inextricably woven with those of the freedom-loving nations."

The St. Paul Pioneer-Independent said "Mr. Truman has been in the mood for a long time, instead of a high temper, his objectives at home front would be far advanced if they and his preparation would be infinitely far along."

President's Statement

In the death of Dean Rather, Michigan State College has sustained a loss it can ill afford, for he had rare qualities of intelligence, leadership, and human understanding. While he had served the College in many capacities, he will be best remembered as the man who contributed more than any other to the establishment of the Basic College and its development into a significant factor in American higher education. He was in the midst of another task of great importance when he was compelled by illness to leave the campus, and it is a matter for great regret that the All-College Educational Research Committee could not continue to have the benefit of his wise leadership. Students who knew him will not be surprised to learn that in one of his last conversations with his family, he commented on how much he had enjoyed his work with young men and women on the campus. I know I speak for faculty, students, and alumni alike when I say that he will be long remembered at the College he loved so much and served so well.

President John A. Hannah

Patronize, etc. . .

There's a simple method by which you may bring a bigger and better State News into your hands every morning.

When you read through the paper, take notice of the advertisements. They are put there by local merchants for the express purpose of catching your attention.

Many times you will find bargains, sales and the like. Then, the next time you stop by the store, mention to the merchant that you saw his ad in the State News. This will let the gentleman know his advertising money is being put to good use and help pile up lineage for us.

From here, it's easy for you to see the rest. The more ads—the bigger paper. The bigger paper—the more room for news, sports, society, etc.

So, you see, everyone will be happy. By doing this, you can (1) serve your own needs, (2) make possible a better State News, and (3) help local merchants who are helping us.

The sudden rash of quick-trick cigarette tests may have caused panda-monium on the campus — but our scholarly friend was unperturbed. He pondered the facts of the case and decided that one-puff or one-stiff tests... single inhale and exhale comparisons are hardly conclusive. Proof of cigarette mildness doesn't come that fast!

And that's exactly why we suggest... The sensible test — the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. Spartans Defeat Wildcat Cagers, 67-62

Last Quarter Rally Gives State First Big Ten Win

By STAN KURTZMAN

A dogged and determined Spartan basketball team pulled its Big Ten opening game out of the fire to beat Northwestern 67 to 62, Saturday in Evanston, Ill.

State was behind 36 to 34 at the half and trailed by as many as eight points in the second half before late minute scores by Bill Bower, Bob Carey and Leif Carlson gave them their margin of victory.

Previously, during the holidays, the Spartans had walloped Marquette 74 to 42, beaten Penn State 51 to 43 and lost to Princeton 52 to 46.

Better Last Record

These games gave State a 5-1 record going into the Wisconsin game, which is one more game than the last year's team won all season.

See page one for results and story of last night's Michigan State - Wisconsin basketball game.

In the Princeton game Coach Newell said that in many respects his team played their best game of the season in the losing effort.

In Saturday's Northwestern game Gordie Stauffer led the scoring for State with 16 points. The Wildcats outstanding center, Ray Ragelis, led both squads with 25 points.

Wildcats Command

Michigan State scored first in the game but this lead was short-lived. Northwestern went in front and weren't headed until the late minutes of the opening half. Three times in the half State rallied to tie the score but the Wildcats rallied each time to regain the lead.

State Steps
At the start of the second stanza poor passing and inept ball-handling aided the Wildcats in piling up an eight point lead 45 to 34, with only five minutes gone.

But once again a determined State five whittled the lead down and caught Northwestern at the nine minute mark, 48 to 46.

The Spartans once more failed to pull in front after tying the score and three field goals and a pair of free throws by Ragelis gave the Wildcats a 59 to 55 lead going into the final four minutes of play.

Late Rally
In the next four minutes the lead changed hands three times before State pulled in front to stay. Ray Steffen sent the Spartans in front 61 to 59, but this lead was erased by three Northwestern foul shots, one by Ragelis and the others by Wally Horvath.

With less than two minutes to play and the score 62 to 61 in the Wildcats favor, the stage was set for the Spartans' whirlwind finish.

Second Buck Gridder Gets Boot

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Ohio State University has expelled half-back Richard (Skip) Doyle for low grades—second such dismissal for a Buckeye athlete in the past week.

Doyle told the University this afternoon he would apply for permission to attend school again in the spring quarter.

Spikes Hammer
The avowed intention to seek admission once more to the college of commerce spiked a story published by the Ohio State Lantern, campus daily newspaper, that Doyle had enrolled at the University of Miami (Florida). Doyle's expulsion was confirmed today by school officials.

Janowicz First
All-America Vic Janowicz, close friend of Doyle off the football field, also was dropped by Ohio State for the winter quarter on the basis of low grades. Doyle is Janowicz's understudy on the Buckeye football squad.

Vi Also Applies
Janowicz also applied for re-admission to the college of commerce.

By studying hard during the spring quarter and during the summer, both Janowicz and Doyle hope to become eligible to play football next fall—their last in collegiate competition.

Sad Flight
Friends of the two 20-year-old juniors at one campus hangout reported Doyle's academic plight worse than the spot on which Janowicz finds himself. Janowicz had an average of 1.6. Passing is 1.7. The university did not announce Doyle's average. Doyle is a native of Rochester, Pa.

Swimmers Break Into Big Ten Competition With Easy Victory

By GEORGE WEEKS
Showing brilliant early season form the Michigan State swimming team swamped the Northwestern tankers 55-29 before a capacity crowd Saturday night, at Jenison fieldhouse.

Next week the Spartan swimmers tangle with highly rated Michigan here Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

Big Ten Opener
In opening their 1951 season and breaking into Big Ten competition officially this year, Coach Charles McCaffrey's squad established or bettered 12 records.

Shoup Stars
Hal Shoup bettered the NCAA record of 2:13 in the 200 yard back stroke as he swam the eight lengths in 2:15.

The showing of sophomores Bert McLachlan, a free-styler, and Ken Cosme, a diver, was especially pleasing to Coach McCaffrey, who is having difficulty in finding worthy replacements for 19 swimmers who graduated.

MacLachlan captured two firsts in the lanes while Cosme displayed smooth first place form off the high board.

Swim medley relay - Michigan State (Hal Shoup, James Quigley, Al Shoup) Time-1:36. Dual meet record.

Swim free style - Bert McLachlan, MS. Time-2:10. Dual meet record.

Swim back stroke - Hal Shoup, MS. Time-2:15. Dual meet record.

Swim breast stroke - Glen Orms, MS. Time-2:23. Dual meet record.

Swim free style relay - Northwestern (Frank Davis, Spencer Peterson) Time-1:37. Dual meet record.

Swim 100 yard dash - Leonard Bendall in the heavy weight contest left nothing to doubt. Bendall was down three times in the second round and it wasn't necessary to count over the prostrate Marine the third time.

Captain Hank Amos chalked up a win for the Spartans in the 125 pound class by outpunching and outboxing Larry Alkafer of Quantico.

Amos showed improvement over last year in that he seemed to have more authority in the ring and his punches never landed better.

Black Pleases
State's Jed Black made his first showing for the varsity team and won immediate approval of the fans with his aggressive style and solid punching. Black defeated Antonio Mario De Santis in three rounds.

In other bouts, State's Bob Johnson pounded out a close decision over Alfred Marquis while Ralph Lutz and Leon Hamilton of MSC dropped decisions to Frank Bawlings and Walt Spangher, respectively. Spartan Ed Waggoner won by forfeit.

North Dakota Mauls Spartan Hockey Team

The Michigan State hockey squad resumed practice this week in preparation for this Friday's contest with Ontario Agricultural College.

Last Thursday and Friday the Spartans dropped both contests in a two game series with the University of North Dakota, 5 to 4, and 7 to 3.

Spartans Blow Lead
In the first of the games Coach Harold Paulson's team led by as much as 4 to 1. With only five minutes left in the contest they still led 4 to 2 but the State defense collapsed and North Dakota tied to win.

Ineligibility regulations cost the pucksters the services of three promising sophomores. Goalie Chuck Roache, Wingman George Bolton and Defenseman Walt Deutscher were cut from the squad.

Reid Outstanding
Del Reid, last year's first string goal tender, replaced Roache in the nets. His play in the two Dakota games was one of the highlights in defeat.

The Spartans record now stands at 2-2, with both victories coming at the expense of this week's opponent, the Ontario Aggies.

Frosh-Sophs Meet

Frosh-Soph council will hold a special meeting Thursday at 5:00 p.m. in room 36 of the Union. Bob Forman, sophomore president, will preside.

Writers Name Korean Hero 'Man Of Year'

DES MOINES — (AP) — A man who never played a game the past season was acclaimed by the Football Writers association of America today as football's man of the year.

Selection of Lt. John Trent as winner of the annual award by the writers was announced today by Bert McGrane, of the Register-Tribune sports staff, secretary of the group.

Trent died a hero's death on the battlefields of Korea, carrying the spirit of American college football into battle, the writers said.

S' Knockouts Mark Defeat Of Quantico

Boxing made its 1951 debut at Jenison Fieldhouse Saturday night as the Michigan State squad hammered out a 6-2 win over the Quantico Marines.

Sparked by the knockout wins of light-heavyweight Chuck Spieser and heavyweight Gabby Marek, the Green and White had little trouble with the highly-touted Marine outfit.

Along with the knockouts, State fighters scored three decisions and captured one bout by forfeit.

In the 175 pound class the Spartan's classy Spieser belted A.A.U. champion Eldridge Thompson into submission and was awarded a technical knockout at 1:45 of the second round.

Thompson somehow managed to stay on his feet despite Spieser's fusillade of blows but was unable to defend himself and the bout was stopped at the instructions of ring physician, Dr. Holland.

Gabby Gets KO
Marek's knockout of Leonard Bendall in the heavy weight contest left nothing to doubt. Bendall was down three times in the second round and it wasn't necessary to count over the prostrate Marine the third time.

Captain Hank Amos chalked up a win for the Spartans in the 125 pound class by outpunching and outboxing Larry Alkafer of Quantico.

Amos showed improvement over last year in that he seemed to have more authority in the ring and his punches never landed better.

In other bouts, State's Bob Johnson pounded out a close decision over Alfred Marquis while Ralph Lutz and Leon Hamilton of MSC dropped decisions to Frank Bawlings and Walt Spangher, respectively. Spartan Ed Waggoner won by forfeit.

State Matmen Edge Panthers

Coming from behind after the first six matches, the Michigan State wrestling team swept an 18-0 win over the University of Pittsburgh squad last Friday, at East Lansing.

Highlights of the meet were the two pinnings made by State's Gene Gibbons and Don Basset.

Spartan Coach Fredley Collins evidently was not too well pleased with his team's showing in the night contest for he stated that "We have done a lot better and more practice is needed by the squad."

Bagwell To Head Study For Military Services

Professor Paul D. Bagwell, written and spoken English department head, was appointed to serve as Chairman of an advisory committee composed of nine national authorities in the field of communication.

The American Council on Education and the United States Defense department gave Bagwell the post.

Communication Programs
Studying the communication programs and courses offered by the United States Armed Forces Institute and the various military centers will be the purpose of Bagwell's group.

National Reputation
Seven areas of study were selected by the U. S. Defense department for evaluation during the present national emergency. Besides communication the subjects are readability, mathematics, social science, physical science, technical vocations and culture.

Bagwell's appointment came as a result of the national reputation MSC achieved with its course in Basic Communication, according to the agencies. The course was first offered and required of all students when the Basic College was opened in 1944.

Various staff members of the MSC's Written and Spoken English department will assist with the study by serving on sub-committees.

Eleven Grants Given To MSC For Projects

Eleven grants, totaling $3,771, have been made by the Rockefeller Foundation, N.Y., for a fourth group of Midwestern culture studies, administered by Michigan State College.

The grants to date account for $24,379 of the $30,000 set aside for the work by the foundation. The entire $30,000 must be spent and the studies completed by June, 1952. The three-year writing and research project began in July, 1949.

The awards were announced Wednesday by Dean Lloyd C. Emmons, chairman of the Michigan State College committee administering the funds.

Nine of the awards went to Michigan State scholars. They are A. R. Gilpin and Norman Pennington, history of civilization; W. H. Knowles, economics; R. M. Dorson, Richard Barton and J. A. Garraty, history; M. J. Segal, social science; George Joyaux, French; and Charles Hampton, written and spoken English.

Interviews Slated For CPA Firm

A representative of the Arthur Anderson and company, a CPA firm, will be on campus Wednesday to interview accounting graduates of winter, spring and summer terms.

Those interested contact the placement office immediately for an appointment.

State Enrollment Tenth In Nation

seventh in full time enrollment, and eighth in grand total enrollment; MSC was 10th in full time enrollment and 18th in grand total enrollment; Wayne placed 19th in grand total enrollment, and Western Michigan College of Education was the largest of 112 independent teachers colleges.

Both Wayne and Michigan State gained four places—in grand total enrollment while University of Michigan dropped a notch.

General Drop
The survey pointed out a general drop of 9.4 per cent in full time enrollments and 7.1 per cent in grand total students.

Dr. Walters said the drop was caused by the graduation of 1949's record-breaking enrollments, laden with veterans of World War II.

Committee Meets

J-Hop committee chairman will hold a general meeting Wednesday night at 7 in room 41 of the Union.

A meeting for all J-Hop workers will follow at 7:45 in room 33, Dick Lang, J-Hop co-chairman, announced.

To Delve Into Healthy Minds

Mental Research Slated Here

Michigan State College social scientists are going to take a new approach to mental health by studying the healthy instead of the sick.

The Social Research Service of MSC has been awarded a grant-in-aid of $14,985 by the National Institute of Mental Health of the U. S. Public Health Service for study.

Other Grants
This grant was included in a total of $21,902.49 in gifts and grants accepted during Christmas vacation for Michigan State College by the State Board of Agriculture.

The money will be used in a pilot study of "social strengths in mental health," according to Dr. Charles R. Hoffer, acting director of the Social Research Service. "This project differs from most mental health studies in that it will examine normal people in order to find out what it takes in human resources to make successful adjustments to modern living."

Begin Shortly
The research committee will include anthropologists, psychologists, social psychologists, and sociologists. The project is expected to begin shortly after the first of the year.

Other grants received during vacation include $1,800 from the American Cynamid Company to be used for a study of the relationship of nutrition to parasitic infections.

For New Equipment
A grant of $500 was received from the Michigan State Florists Association of East Lansing for the purchase of horticultural equipment. The receipt of $3,317.49 in contributions to the Michigan State College Alumni memorial center fund was also reported.

Broadcast Opens Spartan Forum Winter Schedule

The first Spartan Forum program this term was broadcast over WKAR at the new hour, from 2:30 to 3 Saturday afternoon.

John Clingerman, Lansing sophomore and co-chairman of the Spartan Forum committee with Ward Ouradnik, Ann Arbor junior, moderated the discussion, "What's College For?"

Other members of the group were Tom King, dean of men; John Ringle, Grand Rapids junior; Phillip Rowley, Lansing sophomore; Jim Star, Lansing sophomore; and Connie Shepard, Sexton high school student.

Last term the program was restricted to 15 minutes on Wednesday nights on FM only because of football games on Saturdays. Under the new setup, the program will last a half hour and broadcast on the regular station as well as FM.
