Student Group Studied Plan For 1 1/2 Years

The proposed Student government constitution passed by the Student Council Wednesday night has been planned for over a year.

There is a legal question, Dean Emmons said, on whether the legislature has the right to force the colleges to adopt such a policy.

Party Registration

All organizations and living groups planning parties for the first two weeks of spring term have been asked to register their parties this term.

Truman Asked To Seek Endorsement

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two major senate committees yesterday approved resolutions urging that troops be sent to Europe, but calling on President Truman to get endorsement of both houses in following this policy.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) quickly explained this restriction was intended to apply only to future troop moves—not to the assignment of four divisions already promised by Mr. Truman.

Smith pushed through this provision when a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats suddenly grabbed control of the foreign relations and armed services committees, which are joint-considering the hot issue.

The section calling for action by both senate and house was a major setback for the administration. Its supporters had sought to limit the committee's action to a resolution calling for senate sanction of the dispatch of American foot soldiers to join the international army under General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The final result, which Senator George (D-Ga.) called a "botch" was two resolutions.

One, adopted unanimously, requires only approval of the senate. The other, approved 16 to 8, requires both senate and house approval.

No Force Of Law

However, this is merely an expression of congress, without force of law. Administration forces rallied to defeat 13 to 11 a Republican proposal to make it a joint resolution, which would become law with the President's signature.

Senator George, one of the committeemen who went along with the coalition, called the result "wholly unsatisfactory."

Thomas Gives Tibet Lecture

Tibet was seized by the Chinese communists as a gateway to India, Lowell Thomas, Jr. said in the MSC auditorium last night.

The son of the famous commentator spoke before an audience of about 3,000 while showing the films of a trip to Tibet in 1949.

The main reason for the invasion of Tibet by the Chinese communists was strategic, said Thomas. "There seems little doubt that the next move of the Chinese communists will be toward India."

He added later that there have been rumors that the Russians were surveying parts of Tibet for airfields. Western aid could have saved Tibet, Thomas said.

The original amendment was introduced by Rep. Adrian de Bevoise (R-Ore.).

Allies Stall Red Drive, Take Peaks

UN Troops Advance Under Air Support

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied troops seized jagged snow-patched heights along the Korean battlefield yesterday, advancing up to two and one-half miles in a major offensive designed to "break a powerful communist counterstroke."

Fighting in heavy weather but under clear, sunny skies, American troops used the aerial advance with strong artillery and air support. Chinese retreated hastily at points, leaving burning supplies and loot behind.

In the west, 25th division troops drove through a network of Chinese communist mortar and machinegun fire to gain a bitterly-contested one and one-half miles in their two-day old offensive 13 miles east of Seoul. This expanded the 25th's bridghead four miles north of the Thawing Han river.

In the east, U.S. seventh division troops seized jagged snow-patched heights along the Korean battlefield yesterday, advancing up to two and one-half miles in a major offensive designed to "break a powerful communist counterstroke."

 the people, and our people are enough inclined, naturally, to make game of their politicians. It is a type of escapism to low rate their political leaders, even if we discount a good deal to our native indulgence in exaggeration.

People, too, have a dual personality in their approach toward government. Now they are mere bystanders and now they are constituents trying to get something. In the latter role they harry their congressmen for introductions at departments and agencies, which is normal and proper business for their public servants. Some who are not content with this routine procedure and have the wherewithal become suckers for "influence" peddlers and keep that breed prosperous. Then one day, a committee exposes all of it.

As now. And it's a good time, it would seem, to do some house cleaning and get the smell off.

Senate To Finish Action On 18-Year-Old Draft

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two proposals to "draft" dollars as well as 18-year-old boys" faced the senate last night as leaders planned to complete action today on the universal military service and training bill.

They came from Senator Langer (R-N.D.). Sponsors of the UMTS measure expected the senator to reject both.

The unexpected death of Senator Chapman (D-Ky.) in an automobile accident yesterday delayed earlier plans for final action on the draft measure.

The senate adjourned after first agreeing to meet two hours early at 10 a.m. (EST) today to speed decisions on a long list of amendments.

One Langer amendment proposed to take all taxable income of any individual about $25,000 a year.

The other called for a 100 per cent tax upon the excess profits or dividends of all corporations.

The senate draft bill first aims at expanding and extending the present draft act in order to build up the fighting power of the army, navy, air force and marines.

It would lower the induction age from 19 to 18 and extend required military service by draftees from 21 to 24 months.

Red Offense Stopped By UN

 sion troops blocked a major North Korean attack by capturing three peaks, each more than a half-mile high in wild mountain country northeast and northwest of Paganim.

The Reds had driven a five-mile-deep salient in this area through the lines of a faltering South Korean division.

In the center of the United Nations front, a battalion of Canada's famed Princess Patricia's own light infantry charged with fixed bayonets up the steep 60-degree slopes of a hill, only to find that Chinese resistance there had collapsed over night.

The Canadians were flanked by British, Greek and American first cavalry division troops on their left and U.S. marines on their right.

75 YEARS OF TELEPHONE SERVICE

On the evening of March 10, 1876, on the top floor of a boarding house in Boston, the telephone carried its first intelligible sentence.

It seemed like a miracle to our grandparents and great-grandparents. Yet today, the telephone is a part of our everyday living. And that is the real miracle—the fact that the telephone has come to mean so much to so many people in so many ways.

The telephone is an indispensable tool of business and government — today's tremendous job of production and defense could not be carried out without it. It serves in minor emergencies and great ones. It helps maintain family and community ties and keeps right on growing and improving.

Never in the history of the telephone has it been so valuable to so many people as right now.
