Stan Batters Pound Out 14 Hits; Others Limit 'Irish' to Three

By STAN KURZMAN
The batting attack and the relief pitching of the Michigan State Spartans was too much for the Notre Dame Irish as they bowed to Michigan State 9-1 this afternoon at South Bend.

Gene Carlson was the starting pitcher and winning pitcher for the Spartans. He was hit only once in the game, a home run by the Irish in the first inning. Carlson pitched a complete game, allowing only three runs, one earned, and one walk. He struck out seven batters.

Carlson's performance was aided by the strong hitting of Stan Batters, who led off the game and went on to hit a home run in the first inning, a double in the second, and a triple in the third. Batters also had a single in the fourth and a double in the fifth. He finished the game with four hits and four runs scored.

Other Michigan State hitters who had hits were Dick Johnson, who had a double in the second and a single in the fourth; and Bob Manning, who had a single in the fourth. The Irish were limited to three runs, one earned, and one walk. They were hit by one error in the first inning.

Red Offense Stemmed by Allied Blows

Red Losses Mount in Slowing Drive

TOKYO — (AP) — Savage allied counterattacks stemmed the Chinese Red offensive on the Chinese Korean frontier last Wednesday. The entire front line was quiet for several days.

The National ground forces, which were heavily outnumbered, launched a series of counterattacks. These attacks were successful in slowing down the Red advance and inflicting heavy losses on their forces.

The Red forces had been making significant gains in the past few weeks, but the allied counterattacks have now brought the front line back to its original positions. The Red forces are now being pushed back in several key areas.

Here Are Your Primary Candidates

These are the policy statements of candidates for student council and class office who are on the primary ballot today.

Council Men's Coop District

John King, Chicago, Ill., sophomore: Good student government can be more effective if it recognizes the limitations placed upon it by the administration. I am of the opinion that those who drafted the new constitution were well aware of this and have thus made a step forward for future student government at MSC. My three terms as a co-operative member have proved, beyond doubt, that there is a need for better contact between the houses and the council on matters that are of direct concern to them. I propose to become the medium through which this contact is made. "Student apathy" may come primarily from the ignorance of students and their representative of the possibilities of the council and what it can do in any particular situation.

William Tulip, Farmington, Conn., No statement.

Gerald Walworth, Mio, Mich., No statement.

Mayo District

Marilyn Ringler, Chesaning, Mich.: It has been my privilege to serve on the Student Council this past year as Mayo representative. Working with the reorganization of student government I have learned much that I would like to see carried out and would like to help in the work of the new student government for which the new constitution provides. With the background and experience I have gained I believe I can effectively represent my constituents and use all that I have learned for their benefit.

Just a Moment

Union Boarders

By Steve Brandorfer

Michigan State has a cross-country collegiate look today. It'll stay that way until the weekend. Causing that look are more than 300 delegates from 107 colleges and universities attending the national convention of the Association of College Unions. For the delegates let me add The State News welcome to the many you probably have already received. A Union Board convention is an experience. Last year, I had the privilege of attending the national convention in Swampscott, Mass. Much was learned. But most of the learning didn't come from the formal parliamentary sessions.

Learning took place simply from chatting with people. I met some delegates from a university in Ann Arbor. Although we beat their football team and took their goalposts home last fall, I knew beforehand that this university had some other points that weren't too bad. The same held true for those I met from the south. Sure they follow some traditions that we don't endorse. But the university students recognized there were shortcomings and intelligently talked about long-range solutions. Unions themselves have a definite role to fill on any college campus.

They have been set up to supply a central location at which all students may find a friendly place for recreation. Unions evolved a long while ago in England when debating societies found they wanted some spot where they could bat the breeze.

They may have been more intellectually inclined those days. But the central location to get together is still vital. For the delegates here from all sides of the nation, we hope you like Michigan State. If you have questions ask any of the students around you. If the Michigan State student isn't cordial, don't feel bad. This, like the 10,000 other campuses in the nation is known as a "friendly campus." You just found somebody that isn't as friendly as the rest.

When you go home, remember Michigan State isn't located in Ann Arbor. That's another school. And don't forget an understanding of the attitudes of students from other parts of the nation is just as important as how they run their Unions. Spreading those words back home can do a lot of good.

Classes

Senior President

Bob Martin, Dearborn: If elected to the office of senior class president, my ambitions are to create a much friendlier relationship between the administration, faculty, and the senior class. I would attempt to develop a closer feeling between the class members and their elected officers. The new constitution should be satisfactorily completed and put into action for our student government to run efficiently. Great and more class activities for both the enjoyment and education of our class in our final year would be planned. The elected officer has already set before him many plans which can be supplemented for the betterment of the seniors of '52.

Gene McDermott, Staten Island, N.Y.: To give my open and full support to the newly drawn up Student Council constitution. To continue with the present form of Senior Council. At registration next fall, a questionnaire would be distributed to all seniors, getting their views on matters such as outdoor commencement, senior coffee hours, some alumni club, representing the class, senior of the week, and the remainder of all senior class activities, giving recommendations and criticisms. It is hoped by the use of this questionnaire that from the senior council and the class officers will emerge worthwhile new class activities along with correcting possible present class functions.

Jim Mitchell, Grand Rapids: I believe that in order to have an effective class government, the officers of the class must be able to coordinate their class projects with the other classes and the student government. To accomplish this coordination there must be good communication between the different organizations. I have worked with the administration and student government.

Carl Eicher, Newberry: Election policy: co-operation with the other senior class officers in my capacity as treasurer with the aim of supporting and developing activities which are beneficial to the seniors.

Lucille Kappinger, Saginaw: No statement.

Lucille Kappinger, Saginaw: No statement.

and I believe that this experience will help me to exercise efficiently the position of senior class president.

Senior Vice-President

Frank Bradley, Saginaw: The job of senior vice-president as a co-ordinator to the president of the class requires a man of sound leadership ability. I feel that I am qualified for this position as indicated by my experience in speech, dramatics, radio work, and executive responsibilities in high school and college. I want to see the class of '52 the most spirited and successful of any class to leave MSC.

Jonny Rubetz, East Lansing: The office of senior vice-president presents an opportunity for supporting the president's policies, advising and co-operating with them. It requires an active interest and participation in the administration of an officer. It would be a challenge to help coordinate class and student governments for the benefit of the campus.

Audie Doyle, Lowell: Your X by my name for senior class vice-president would be greatly appreciated. In the past three years I have enjoyed working for the various activities of the class and school as a whole and as senior vice-president I believe I would have even a greater chance to be of service to help formulate and carry through the many senior activities.

Gayle Mathias, Royal Oak: Election policy: 1. To make the office of vice-president a job, not just a name. 2. Student government for the students. 3. A closer knit class, acting as a unit. 4. Help make MSC's student government strong in the Big Ten.

Bill Cass, Frewsburg, N.Y.: No statement.

Senior Treasurer

Rosemary Corcoran, Saginaw: No statement.

Carl Eicher, Newberry: Election policy: co-operation with the other senior class officers in my capacity as treasurer with the aim of supporting and developing activities which are beneficial to the seniors.

Lucille Kappinger, Saginaw: No statement.

Junior President

Erik Furseth, Cleveland, Ohio: No statement.

Roger Wehms, Lansing: I'm not going to manufacture political issues and then advocate a whirlwind solution for them—but there are a few problems which need only hard work and good common sense to solve. I'm all for a stream-lining of the football ticket system. It doesn't seem necessary to have to get up at 6 a.m. in order to get a decent seat, and I don't see why it can't be changed.

Don Hoole, South Wales, N.Y.: I feel that I have the confidence and ability to lead the class of '53 through its junior year. I think our class has made an encouraging start and would like to see it continue to show its enthusiasm by supporting projects of the junior class such as the J-Hop, Career Carnival, G.I. News, etc.

Doug Weaver, Goshen, Ind.: As junior class president I will: 1. Co-ordinate the activities of the class by having a sound organization of committees. 2. Stimulate class unity and participation in the junior class and its projects by better publicity of news pertaining to the junior class and by regular class meetings. 3. Afford an opportunity to all those interested, to take part in the planning and carrying out of junior class activities and objectives. 4. See to it that the junior class does its part in co-operating with other classes. 5. Consider as essential the junior class backing of and participation in all college student government.

Bernie Young, Rockford: It is my ambition to lead an "active" junior class and to help make the J-Hop the biggest and most spectacular event that is humanly possible.

Tom Sergeant, Detroit: By now many have seen my platform and it's sound. Other Big Ten schools, notably Wisconsin and Northwestern, already exercise part or all of the points I represent. If State is going to be in the Big Ten, then I'm for putting her on top where she belongs!

Junior Vice-President

Janeen Anderson, Wilmette, Ill.: No statement.

Jim Gubera, Lansing: As a candidate for junior class vice-president if elected, I shall endeavor to the best of my ability to fulfill the objectives required of this office and to create a more stable and harmonious junior class.

Betty Jo Muhlner, Detroit: If elected I would try to uphold the constitution and enforce it for the benefits of all members of the junior class. It is my belief that the junior class should be very closely integrated with the class officers. Our group, working with the administration, should be able to present a full calendar of activities, diminished with the greatest J-Hop MSC has ever seen!

Betty Trappeneau, Saginaw: My aims as a candidate for junior class vice-president are to gain a closer correlation between the officers and the junior class and to help express the wishes of the students in accordance with the policy of the administration.

Diane Vernon, Ithaca: Through the efforts and co-operation of the class of 1953, I would like to see more class participation in class activities. I can devote the necessary time to the office, and I feel that through my past experience in class activities that I can fill the job in an active capacity. I would feel it a great honor to serve as your vice-president.

Junior Secretary

Ann Cahill, Petoskey: I would like very much to hold the position of junior class secretary. If elected, I shall work to the best of my ability for the betterment of the junior class. I feel that the experience I have gained by being a member of the Frosh-soph council has helped to prepare me to become a class officer.

Doris Clark, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio: In seeking the office of junior class secretary, I wish to bring into it new ideas and spirit for the benefit of the class. I have not campaigned previously for a campus office but I have had considerable experience in group leadership in high school and other community organizations.

Kay Hammerstrom, Highland Park: As a candidate for the office of secretary of the junior class, I hold as my election policy the sincere desire to fulfill the requirements of this office to the best of my ability and to take an active interest in promoting a smooth running and well organized class government.

Ann Nelson, Dunkirk, N.Y.: I am running for junior secretary because I am interested in the class and its activities. It is my wish that the class of '53 will be an active part of MSC's student government. First step: Go to the polls and vote for your choice of candidates.

Barbara Otto, Grosse Pointe: No statement.

Olga Torsky, Cedarville, Ohio: To work with the other officers and representatives for a more efficient student government. 2. To support the new constitution and amendment 1. 3. To keep and have available accurate minutes. 4. To create an accurate and permanent record system.

Junior Treasurer

Glyn Dee Havens, Union City: I will carry out the capacities of junior treasurer to the best of my ability and will see that the class is run as efficiently as possible. If I am elected, next year's J-Hop will be bigger and better than ever before, but, at all times, I will keep economy in mind.

Don Stewart, Charlotte, N.C.: Policy—To work with and for the junior class of the coming year to do all possible to help in putting the class of 1953 ahead financially. Not only is the J-Hop the largest class activity and source of income for the junior class each year, but it is also considered each class' largest function throughout the entire four years of college. I am aware of the unsatisfactory financial condition of the class of '53 and feel that I am in a good position to continue working for the class by taking on the responsibilities of junior treasurer.

Gene Hickman, Pontiac: As a candidate for the office of treasurer of the junior class I believe that the formulation of our class policy rests primarily with the president of the class. Nevertheless, I feel that it is the responsibility of each officer of the junior class to assist the president in determining worthwhile class efforts and their execution in addition to the specific duties of the office of treasurer.

Gertrude Jacobson, Grosse Pointe Farms: No statement.

Sophomore President

Warren Bowne, Ionia: I will co-operate with the freshmen next year to revise the Frosh-Soph council into a co-ordinating group instead of a source of political power. I will utilize my year's experience as frosh president to defend the best interests of the class.

Philip Thornton, East Lansing: I believe in a strong class unity, not a group of kids who have too many credits to be freshmen and too few to be juniors. The way that this unity can best be promoted is through the Frosh-soph council, because it establishes 16 leaders for the class and a means by which the class can express itself. Furthermore, I want to uphold the Frosh-soph council because it unites the two classes and gives them power that they would not have alone.

Bill McGraw, Detroit: Lack of unity and co-operation has been the main stumbling block in the path of advancement of the sophomore and freshman classes. I can promise that the utmost effort will be devoted to establishing and maintaining that desired unity and co-operation if I am elected to the presidency of the sophomore class. My primary aim will be to keep ALL members of the sophomore class informed of the activities of the class and thereby stimulate needed interest.

Sophomore Vice-President

Winnie Anderson, Dearborn: If elected to the office of sophomore vice-president, I intend to do my best to carry out this policy: 1. Encourage class spirit through better organized and more publicized activities. 2. Co-operate with other classes and other colleges with the purpose of exchanging ideas for projects. 3. Inform class members of all important proceedings and report their opinions and suggestions to the cabinet. 4. Promote unity of the class by getting more of the students to work on committees so that no individual will be overloaded with work.

Betsy Arnold, Grosse Pointe: As vice-president, I would like to strive for more participation in school and class activities, unity between classes and its own members and boost class spirit so as to make the class the students' class.

Folly Klingensmith, Detroit: No statement.

Steve Kivri, Jackson: I will assist the programs and aims of the Soph-frosh council in any way possible. I will do my part in heading and serving on committees for soph-frosh events particularly the Soph-frosh weekend. I will aid the president and other officers of the class in striving for a voice in all college affairs and for greater unity between class members. Any program attempted will be as successful as the support and interest of the class is and I'm sure the officers now elected will appreciate any amount of co-operation you give them.

Deek McCally, Wilmette, Ill.: No statement.

Shirley Sellers, Pontiac: My policy if I win this election, will be to support a more effective Frosh-soph council, and to encourage the sophomores as a class, to more actively participate in class activities.

Lou Varsha, Plymouth: The office of vice-president is usually one considered as a soft job—good for prestige, but not much more. The official duties of vice-president are simply to take over in the absence of the president. However, a vice-president who has a feeling of responsibility can do much more. I feel that the vice-president can do much to aid the president by working with, generally assisting and pushing various class committees which are functioning during the year. Our sophomore year is an important one in our college careers and we will have many activities. Also, I feel that the vice-president can co-ordinate the workings of the class officers with the opinions of the class as a whole by keeping in contact with the students in the class.

Sophomore Secretary

Sally Collins, Birmingham: If I am elected to the office of secretary of the sophomore class, I intend to promote the following policy: 1. Greater co-operation between the classes. 2. To arouse class interest in activities more fully. 3. To keep and post an accurate account of all class proceedings so that all interested students will know exactly what is going on.

Beverly Ann Dean, Durand: No statement.

Mary Ellen Haggard, Marysville, Ohio: No statement.

Doris Hamer, Lansing: Since the position of sophomore secretary entails knowledge of the workings of the Frosh-soph council and the class as a whole, I feel qualified to run in this capacity. If I am elected, I shall do my best as a representative for the sophomore class, keeping their best interests always in mind.

Doris Hamer, Lansing: As class activities are an important part of college life, I would like to help you organize your class projects.

Mary Mohr, Grosse Pointe: I feel qualified to run for the office of sophomore secretary because of my past experience in this type of work. I have talked to people who have held this office before and therefore I know what my duties would be. If I am elected to the office I will be sure to carry out these duties to the best of my ability.

"TIRED FEELING"

FATIGUE... NERVOUSNESS... POOR APPETITE... LOSS OF WEIGHT and other symptoms caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, C and Nicotinamide! (See "Warning" at bottom of ad)

If you're feeling tired all the time for no apparent reason, see your doctor. He may find a specific disease or he may find you are vitamin-starved and prescribe "B Complex Vitamins."

EASY TO CHOOSE RIGHT VITAMIN
Experimental vitamin users recommend Rybutol because it comes in Gelucap capsules. This processing prevents ingredients from damaging each other, makes Rybutol tasteless.

RYBUTOL
The Complete "B Complex" Vitamin Means Best Guarantee of Vitamin Cooperation of America. Only 6c a day.

B-12 NOW INCLUDED
B-12 the "Wonder Vitamin" (see Reader's Digest Feb. '50), relieves fatigue of pernicious anemia. Rybutol gives you 3 mcs. of B-12 per capsule.

COMPARE THIS FORMULA

Vitamin B-1 (Thiamin Chloride)	15 mg.
Vitamin B-2 (Riboflavin)	6 mg.
Vitamin C (Ascorbic Acid)	50 mg.
Nicotinamide	30 mg.
Calcium Pantothenate	3 mg.
Vitamin B-6 (Pyridoxin)	0.5 mg.
*Vitamin B-12	3 mcg.

Each gelucap contains 100% of the minimum adult daily requirement of Vitamin B-1, 100% of Vitamin B-2, 167% of Vitamin C, and 34% of iron.

*The needs for these in human nutrition has not been established.

WARNING! The symptoms mentioned may be due to causes other than a Vitamin Deficiency... See your doctor first if he suggests Vitamin B Complex, ask your druggist for RYBUTOL.

Professors Attribute Upsurge of Marriages to Unstable Times

By KAY MYERS
"Marriage is a way of life for two adults, not a game for two adolescents."
Prof. Norman G. Kinzie of the effective living department made this statement when he was questioned about the advisability of college students marrying while in school.

ward more married students, Professor Kinzie stated.
"Marriage in school is a result of the unstable times," Kinzie said. "Many people are inclined to use marriage as an escape from the present troubled state of life."

Not All Are Ready
That a wholesome situation is present when those of marriageable age can marry, was one of the points made by Kinzie. But this does not mean that every high school graduate who lands in college is ready for keeping a home and marriage mate. Emotional stability and maturity are two of the all important factors necessary to make for a successful marriage, he said.

In the past, it was not the custom to marry while still completing a college education but the "G.I. generation" changed the situation. Dr. Judson T. Landis said in his book, "Building a Successful Marriage." Landis is a former member of the effective living department.

Interviews Married Students
Dr. Landis interviewed 544 married college students on the chief advantage of school marriage. Rated at the top of the list by those polled was affectional and emotional security. The two-some bound by law tended to give stability to their lives many men said.

Landis cited a survey taken at the University of Wisconsin recently which revealed that married students had a higher scholastic average than single ones. Those married students with children ranked up even higher averages than those without offspring. Of course, there are many other factors such as more seriousness, responsibilities, and student age, that probably have a bearing on the question.

Money Big Problem
Economic support is probably the chief problem with school marriages, the book said. The problem was not as serious immediately following the war as it is now. Jobs were more plentiful then and the G.I. Bill of Rights provided support.

College students have made a success of college marriage and the record is encouraging, Landis concluded.

Battles End

AWS Judiciary Group Keeps Ruling on Dawn Serenades

Judiciary board of AWS re-worded its new ruling arising from last week's serenading of men's dorms issue, Tuesday night, according to Sue Merriman, president.

The law now reads: Any general disturbance or infrac-tion of standards established by the college or AWS will be dealt with by the judi-ciary board of AWS. Any case that cannot be localized to certain individuals or areas will result in penalties of the whole group.

This action reworded the specific penalty of a weekend campus and loss of all late fees to any living group passed last week.

Ann Speer and Nancy Teeters were appointed chairwomen of the 1951 "big women" program. Activities board president Arlene Uyan announced.

I Apologize..

DON FEDERMAN
State News Feature Editor
Kachow, Kachow, Kachow, Kachow.

Four fifty caliber, ripped through my gut and I was off on the greatest adventure of my life. (Great apologies are extended to Max Shulman, but I had to start this thing out some way.)

I'm not sure, but it seems to me that ROTC does not go over too big with the majority of the non-aggressive male students. (I hasten to add that the term "non-aggressive" is used only in the war monger sense and does not reflect on the after dark activities of said gender.)

Maybe I'm just bitter from my own experiences with our student army; after all, there are probably very few people who try their utmost to get their right thumb lopped off every time "inspection arms" is given. It seems that I could never do anything right, which had always led me to the conclusion that their was Russian money behind this particular course.

I must check on that someday. This little gem came over the AP wire the other night.

"Film actor John Garfield, testifying before the house un-American activities committee today, credited Eric Johnston, who used to be head of the motion pictures association, with the immortal phrase:

"I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the very death your right to say it." Committee counsel Frank Tavenner, Jr. suggested it was Victor Hugo who coined the famous quotation.

"Take it away, Voltaire!" Elections are with us. Now is the time when all mentors of better student government are busily engaged in kicking over their opponent's signs in an effort to make their election a bit more "in the bag" so to speak.

All It Takes Is Money

Want to travel through Europe—vacation in Bermuda? Those dreams of "far away places" can be realized through the Union Travel service.

Dorothy Waldo and Dave Peppard, MSC graduates, in the first floor Union concourse are the people to see.

The service, organized two years ago when the Union was remodeled, handles both foreign and domestic tours, rail, air, and steamship travel for students and faculty at MSC.

The service is busiest just before the end of each term. Students are turning more and more to air travel to get back home, said Miss Waldo. Train, plane, and boat travel have been arranged to such places as South Africa, India, Hawaii and the Near East.

One student just brought his mother here from Austria by accommodations arranged by the service. The French wife of an MSC staff member just returned to France for a vacation. There is no charge for tour, steamship, and air travel service. However, the service has a nominal fee for domestic railway accommodations, to cover the operating expenses of the service.

Coeds Take Over Male 'Tradition'

White Bucks Now Get Women's Nod

The women have stepped on one of the most sacred of masculine fads, white bucks. East Lansing shoe stores report they have sold almost 500 pair since spring vacation.

MSC men are divided on the question. Jerry Eddy, Durand sophomore, said bitterly, "It is another manifestation of women's lack of originality," while John Shawman, Corona sophomore, remarked, "I like them, if women want to wear white shoes, why not let them?"

"Individuality" expresses it, according to Bill McKinley, Saginaw Junior. However, another white-shoed male charged "If they have to copy us why don't they wear Cordovans?"

The most tolerant man interviewed was Bob Mooney, a visiting junior from Notre Dame, who sighed, "It's wonderful to see women... no matter how they are shod. It isn't so bad... at least MSC men have coeds to complain about."

Mink, Foxes Enliven S. Campus

By PAUL BOTTS

Who says Michigan State doesn't offer its students the best? What other school supplies its students with mink?

Anyone who has ever wandered across South Campus near the short course dorms has seen what looks like a miniature zoo. There are cages housing, besides mink, foxes, coyotes, racoons and owls. The men's dorms furnish the wolves.

According to Dr. Hunt, head of the zoology department, the animals are there for the benefit of the students.

Many classes are held at the cages, in which students get a chance to actually observe the mannerisms of the animals.

Cheaper Food
The minks are under a special experiment. Through experiment they are trying to find a cheaper food than meat for the animals. Up until the present time, meat produces the best fur, but if a cheaper food were discovered the price of coats would go down.

So, before you buy a mink coat, find out what the mink ate before it was killed, or better still, for those ambitious students, it would prove much cheaper to go over to south campus and make your own coat.

3,000 Rodents
The zoology department is also playing host to 3,000 rats and mice. An experiment has been going on for 15 years, supported by the United States Bureau of Health Service.

According to Dr. Hunt, they are trying to find the cause of tooth decay in the rats. Through inbreeding, they have divided the rats into two categories. Those that get decay early in life, and those healthier, more robust ones that don't develop aching molars until later in life.

the process of this experiment, the department has raised over 15,000 rats.

New Theory
Thus far, experiments have proved that sex, color or the secretion of sweat glands have nothing to do with the decay; but they are now investigating the thyroid system, to see if it has any effect on the problem.

Football Candidates Continue Workouts

By GEORGE WEEKS
An all-day rain halted in time yesterday to allow the Spartan football candidates to go through another intense drill in preparation for the annual Green & White game May 12.

Crane Tries Out for Air Cadets

LeRoy Crane, Michigan State College's star fullback, was processed yesterday at Selfridge Air Force base for entrance into the air cadet program. Crane is a 2nd lieutenant in the air force reserve and if he qualifies as an air cadet will leave for pilot training at the end of the school term.

For three years Crane has been a standout fullback at Michigan State. He had his best season last fall, playing in every game but the finale, due to an injury, and was a big factor in the rousing triumph over Notre Dame.

Detroit Lions Sign Dibble for '51

The signing of Dorne Dibble, Spartan all-American football player, to a Detroit Lions' football contract was announced Wednesday by Buddy Parker, Lions' coach. Dibble, who was drafted by the Lions last January, was their number three draft choice.

In 62 years of football Notre Dame teams have won 392 games, lost 81 and tied 31.

Plan Chest Drive

Publicity director Jack Hardy, Birmingham senior, and Carl Mottek, Cleveland, O. senior and executive director of the coming Campus Chest week, discuss plans for the various events to be held during the drive, May 7 through 11.

Faculty on Auction Block

Banquet to Officially Open Chest Week

Tentative plans for the events to take place during Campus Chest week, May 7 to 11, have been announced by Jack Hardy, publicity director.

The drive will open officially with a kick-off banquet in the Union, May 7.

Faculty members will be held in the livestock pavilion. It will consist of events such as broom polo, a greased-pig chase, and bundle races, which will be followed by square dancing.

Proceeds from all the events will be turned over to Campus Chest to supplement its funds obtained by solicitations on campus, pledges from living units, Spartacade and the UMOG contest, according to Carl Mottek, executive director of the drive.

Organizations Allied Funds
The money from the drive will support the following organizations: WSSF, 25%; displaced persons, 25%; Spartan nursery, 20%; Damon Runyan Cancer fund, 15%; March of Dimes, 10%; and Lansing Community Chest, 5%.

UMOG to Be Named
The campus queens will challenge the faculty to a softball game May 10. This event will be handled by Blue Key.

The winner of the UMOG contest will be announced Thursday evening at the inter-fraternity sing.

New "Spartafair" Planned
Something new is planned this year to close the drive. A "Spartafair" put on by Block and Bridle and the Ag club, will be held in the livestock pavilion. It will consist of events such as broom polo, a greased-pig chase, and bundle races, which will be followed by square dancing.

Toy Tigers Given to Campus Chest

Delta Upsilon pledges and tigers contributed their services to Campus Chest drive last week. Thirteen pledges volunteered to distribute posters around campus of the various organizations sponsored by the Chest drive. The toy tigers, winter term party favors, were presented by Pres. John Szukiewicz to Carl Mottek, executive director of the drive, to be sold at the faculty auction May 8.

Grand Rapids

"Some of the racketeers have relatives in high places in the city administration. One man is related to one of the best known political figures in Grand Rapids."

"Organized crime and vice are not limited to Grand Rapids," said Faulkner. "Western Michigan is dominated by the Chicago syndicate; the Detroit area by the well known Wayne county hoodlums, and Monroe county is in the sphere of the Toledo gang."

Faulkner further stated "The present executive authority of Michigan has made no worthwhile effort to enforce the laws of this state."

Rep. Thomas J. Whinery (R-Grand Rapids) stated he thought Faulkner was "voicing a pipe dream."

Governor Advises
Replying to Faulkner's charges at his press conference Governor Williams stated "If they do exist they are first of all a local matter. If he has any complaints that should be brought to me they will be acted on most speedily by the proper authorities."
