MSC Alma Mater Marks Official Birthday Today

"MSC Shadows," the alma mater of Michigan State College, is two years old today. Actually, it's about 25 years old, but it was accepted as the official alma mater by students, State Board of Agriculture, and Student Council in April 1949.

Barney Traynor, an assistant football coach at MSC wrote the song in 1927. It was a campus favorite for many years, and the choice for official alma mater after ten years of student agitation for a new one.

A registration week vote showed 6,075 of 11,383 student voters in favor of the song. The State Board of Agriculture, MSC faculty and Student Council quickly approved the decision.

The resolution making the "Shadows" official alma mater is now incorporated in ordinance 10 of the Student Council. "MSC Shadows" replaced the alma mater written in 1907 to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the college.

State News Banned from Faculty Club

Action Comes after Defense Talk Story

By DAN MCCRARY
State News Associate Editor
The Michigan State News has been banned from reporting speakers at the State College club.

The action came after Prof. Malcolm G. Trout, president of the club, protested a State News story on a speech made Tuesday by Col. A. D. Howell, of the Michigan State Civil Defense office.

Professor Trout labeled the State News story as "sensational." Col. Howell, when informed of Trout's opinion, said he agreed with the State News story. However, he added that one point in the story was not clearly presented. Although Col. Howell said Wednesday that he had not been informed that a State News reporter was present, he said it was "all right, I'm glad he was there."

The controversy on the speech story centered mainly around the statement printed that "if the United States is not attacked by next winter, it never will be." Col. Howell said the statement was made on the basis of the comparative strength of the U.S. and Russia at present.

Story should compare
He said the immediate danger would probably be over by next winter when American defenses are built up to higher level. The statement printed in The State News should have been qualified more clearly by this comparison, he stated.

Permission to cover the State college club meetings was granted in The State News by Professor Trout at the beginning of this year.

The State College club is a social group made up of faculty members. It meets every Tuesday evening for luncheon at which noted speakers are scheduled.

Democracy at Work

Jelane Seefeld, Grand Rapids Junior and Marilyn Vickers, Detroit Junior, cast their ballots at the fraternities and sororities desk in the Union yesterday. Mary A. Davis, Detroit senior, is the election worker.

Hannah Recovers

President John A. Hannah will probably be released from the college hospital tomorrow, according to Dr. Charles F. Holland, director of the health center. President Hannah underwent minor surgery last week.

Reds Press Pre-Dawn Attack

Chinese Hit Allied Guard
as UN Troops Withdraw

TOKYO—(AP)—Chinese Reds pressed pre-dawn attacks yesterday on allied rearguards shielding the planned withdrawal toward Seoul on the western Korean front. Headless of heavy loss, the Reds advanced in darkness over a battlefield littered with their dead.

On the central front, the United Nations forces held firm against lighter Communist assaults.

Withdraw from Ridge
An early morning dispatch from AP correspondent John Randolph reported the night attacks on Allied units covering the western front withdrawing from a ridge west of the Uijongbu-Seoul highway.

The main thrust on the western front seems to have developed north of Seoul, where two or three Communist divisions are trying to push their way toward the capital, Randolph reported.

Mortar Company Overrun
He said an Allied mortar company northwest of Uijongbu was overrun but counter-attacking UN forces recovered the company's equipment.

An American B-25 light bomber used its landing lights to illuminate Chinese positions for strafing. Allied artillery kept up its devastating barrage. Big guns of one division fired more than 10,000 rounds in a 24-hour period ending Thursday night.

Capture Munman
The shock troops of an estimated 300,000 Chinese pressed toward Seoul from captured Munman, 21 miles to the northwest and from the north along the Uijongbu highway.

They forced pointblank Allied artillery fire at long points. The international U.S. Eighth army, pullback on the western front extended to 27 miles in the face of the Red offensive—but the long, dusty UN columns were well south of the Red vanguards.

The bitter action in the west and the steady stand in central Korea took a mounting toll of Communist lives. Unofficial military estimates placed at nearly 30,000 the Reds killed since Monday night—more than 3,000 from Allied air strikes alone.

Police Intensify
Search for Child

Police have intensified their search for the body of three-year-old Sheila Klugman of Lansing, but failed to find any new leads by yesterday afternoon.

The body of Sheila's cousin was found in the river Monday. The two had disappeared together April 4.

Lansing police also continued the investigation of the murder on April 6 of LaVerne G. Boose without incident yesterday, according to Capt. Charles Stragier.

Students Cast 3,823 Ballots in Primaries

'Light but Healthy Vote'
in Class, Council Election

By PHIL GUNBY and DEAN MORTON
Gene McDermott, this year's junior class president, from Staten Island, N.Y., and Jim Mitchell from Grand Rapids, will vie for the 1951-52 senior class presidency in the final elections, May 3. Both survived yesterday's primaries, McDermott garnering 536 votes to Mitchell's 365.

Student council election workers termed the vote "light" but healthy, and pointed out that fewer seniors were involved because of the few living unit student council representatives involved in the primaries. By way of explanation, councilmen pointed out that present seniors may vote only for their council representatives.

Discovery of a forgotten ballot box which held the votes from East Shaw forced retotaling of primary results about an hour after workers had posted election results. The new ballots did not upset any previous results.

3,823 Votes Counted
A total of 3,823 votes were counted for the class presidents. This tally shows an increase of about 1,000 over the last year's primary vote of approximately 2,800 students.

Unlike previous years no serious charges of "unfair election practices" have been filed, although investigation of several complaints was made yesterday. David Miller, elections chairman, said these protests will result in subsequent tightening of the rules, especially in connection with the May 3 finals.

Hosie, Hekhuis Win
Donald Hosie, South Wales, N.Y., and Roger Hekhuis, Lansing, will oppose each other for junior class president. Hosie had 309 votes and Hekhuis 250.

The present freshman president, Warren Browne, of Ionia with 367, and Philip Thornton of East Lansing, 443, won sufficient votes to reach the sophomore class president finals.

In other class races, the final tallies were equally close. For senior vice-president, Bill Cass and Jody Butolz survived with 312 and 247 votes, respectively. Rosemary Corcoran and Carl Eicher will contest the senior treasurer position. Eicher had a landslide 737 ballots to Miss Corcoran's 251. The senior secretary post was not included as only Nancy Holop and Ann Foster are competing.

Junior Vice-President
Jim Osborn with 362 votes and Duane Vernon with 360 enter the junior vice-presidential race finals. Candidates for junior secretary are Olga Torsky, 410, and Kay Hammerstrom, 187. Voters will choose between Gene Hekhuis and Don Stewart for class treasurer. Hekhuis pulled up 492 ballots and Stewart, 414.

A previously declared tie between Janet Matteson and Duane Humes for sophomore secretary was nullified by the late-additions and Miss Matteson will compete with Sally Collins for office. Miss Collins received 150 votes to 342 for Miss Matteson.

Highway Head Rejects Road

Charles Zeigler, state highway commissioner, told area officials last night that the state would not finance a highway extending from Main street in Lansing and ending in the city of Grand Rapids.

The controversy on the speech story centered mainly around the statement printed that "if the United States is not attacked by next winter, it never will be." Col. Howell said the statement was made on the basis of the comparative strength of the U.S. and Russia at present.

May 3 Ballot Planned for Constitution

The constitution on this page is a revision of the one printed in The State News the last week of winter term.

Students will vote on this constitution at final elections May 3. It has not been approved by the faculty "as a whole." However, the MSC administrative group approved it for submission to the faculty earlier this term.

Before the constitution can take effect, it must be approved by both faculty and students.

Amendment Added to New Constitution

An amendment has been added to the new constitution, making it permissible for the student government to levy a tax of 25 cents per term on every student.

The amendment can not come up for approval by the student body until it is passed by the State Board of Agriculture. Student leaders have cited it as an integral part of the constitution which will insure stronger student government.

The amendment is as follows:

Whereas, the student body of Michigan State College desires and demands:

Section 1. That all-college student government, in order to fulfill the desires and demands of the student body and carry out effectively functions benefiting the student body and the responsibilities of the all-college Student government to the students, shall be allowed to be supported financially by the students.

Section 13. The Student congress shall determine what portion, up to the maximum specified in Section 2, of the Student government fee shall be levied.

Letter To The Editor: Legislator Asks Poll on Graves Bill

TO THE EDITOR:
We have before us here in the legislature, house bill No. 175, commonly referred to as the Graves bill. This bill is before the committee on education, of which I am a member. This bill has been assigned to me for study as to its merits.

The bill, if it becomes a law, would require a "fraternity, sorority, or secret society in any college or university that is supported by state funds to keep its charter, constitution and by-laws in written form and file a copy with the president or administrative head of such college or university, also with the superintendent of public instruction."

My thought in writing you is that through the medium of The State News, and the students of Michigan State College, a poll could be conducted for the purpose of gathering the pro and con on this bill.

I will welcome letters from your staff, and that of the student body with good arguments for or against this proposed bill.

Letters should be addressed to me here at the State Capitol, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan.

Elmer E. Eriksen

Coaches' Corner

Guest Column

By CHARLES SCHMITTER
MSC Fencing Coach

We are glad to have this opportunity to make a few observations on fencing.

Basically, fencing consists of attack and defense with sword point or edge. The object is, of course, to hit and not be hit. The rules governing the use of the weapons have a definite tradition, based on the use for which the weapon was originally intended. The foil was originally a practice weapon for the court sword. In duels with court swords, the object was to kill or totally disable the opponent by running him through the body.

So it is obvious that an attack had to be guarded off (parried) before anything could be done to the opponent. This is the basis of the foil rules.

When an attack is executed with the arm extended, and the point of the foil threatening, it must be deflected before a counter-action can be validly executed.

Kell Ready

DETROIT—(AP)—George Kell, hard-hitting Detroit Tiger third baseman, took the split off his injured finger yesterday and said he was ready to play again. After Kell, whose finger was broken in March, took part in batting practice, Manager Red Holke said he would decide today when Kell would play.

In short, the weapon is theoretically sharp and the rules are designed to force one to react normally to an attack which could mean death.

The sabre, a descendant of the cut-and-thrust rapier, is similar in concept to the foil. It is theoretically sharp on edge and point, and the rules are set up to enforce normal reactions on the part of the defender.

The foil and sabre are conventional weapons because of the mandatory defense against a correctly executed attack before acting against an opponent.

The epee is the youngest of the modern fencing weapons. It developed from a desire to continue defending "honor" without the risk of being executed for murder if the venture were too successful.

The whole body is the target and touches are scored only with the point. The arm is a primary objective because it is so close. There are no conventions in epee fencing; time is the only criterion of the touch.

The electric epee machines in use are set so that only if opposing touches are within one-twenty-fifth of a second of each other do both register.

We feel that fencing will be popular as a spectator sport when it is understood by the public. It is spreading slowly and ultimately most colleges will sponsor teams as they do in other sports.

We are unfortunate, because if a spectator happens into a fencing meet during a dull bout he leaves and never returns.

This same individual will leave at the halftime intermission of a football or basketball game that is dull or lopsided in score, but will be back next week because he realizes that this is only a poor example of a thing he likes. Under the same circumstances at a fencing meet, he concludes that he does not like fencing.

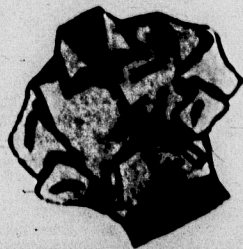

There have been questions about the physical aspects of fencing. It is very hard on the legs and requires much practice because of the speed and precision necessary for success.

Hand, foot, eye, and brain coordination must be developed and in general it may be said that the higher the potential and the closer the fences come to achieving it, the greater will be his success.

Trainer Heppinstall Rich in Tradition

By GEORGE WEEKS

When an alumni Spartan athlete returns to the MSC campus tradition has it that he stops in to see trainer Jack Heppinstall.

For 37 years the amiable trainer and former equipment manager has watched the Michigan State athletic plant grow into the "best for all-around athletics in the country."

When Heppinstall came to State from England in 1914, the entire athletic system was confined to the old Armory building, with a portion of the Old College field the only area being used for outdoor contests.

Served under Macklin. He's served with scores of Michigan State coaches. During his first year only two men were in the physical education department, John F. Macklin being one of them. He has seen 12 coaching eras on the gridiron.

In recalling some of the history that he has seen made, Heppinstall remembers watching the first MSC victory on the gridiron over Michigan in 1950.

Reserves Sentiment. Although he's proud of seeing the athletic plant and coaching staff expand, Heppinstall seems to reserve his sentiment for the generations of players that have passed through State.

He remarked that all the Spartan athletes have been "a wonderful bunch of boys, and it's hard to pick out any outstanding ones." One of the most unsung stars has been Adolf Weinacker, the walking champion.

Heppinstall's activities have expanded beyond the campus. Prior to World War II he was president of the National Trainers association.

With Olympic Team. In 1948 he was chosen to serve as trainer for the American Olympic team during the London games.

During the summer months Heppinstall conducts a training and first aid clinic here.

Sympathy and understanding toward the injuries of Spartan athletes comes easily for Heppinstall. Before coming to America at the age of 24 he was a professional soccer and football player.

Spartan Gymnasts Enter NAAU Tourney in Detroit

By BILL BEAUDRY

Michigan State's gymnastic squad will travel to the NAAU gymnastic championships at Detroit May 4 and 5.

The meet is sponsored by American Turners of Detroit in connection with the 250th anniversary celebration of Detroit's founding.

This will be the first athletic event in the celebration program.

Stout's Last Appearance. Leading the Spartans in Detroit will be Capt. Mel Stout competing for State for the last time. This promises to be the best chance Stout has at winning the NAAU all-around title.

Last year, at Los Angeles, he missed fourth place by 1.10 of a point. Representing State for the first time will be Bob Feldmeier, a junior in the all-around event; Russ Paul, a freshman in the all-around; Ken Cook, senior on the flying rings; John Walker, a sophomore on the trampoline; and Tom Mullineux on the tramp.

Minarik Signs with Steelers

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Henry Minarik, former Michigan State end, returned his signed 1951 contract to the Pittsburgh Steelers yesterday.

Minarik has been a regular end at Michigan State for the past three seasons. He is the second Spartan end signed by a "pro" team this week. Wednesday it was announced that Donnie Dibert, a teammate, had joined the Detroit Lions. Lynn Chandross, Spartan All-American halfback in 1949, is also a member of the Pittsburgh squad.

Both Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio missed out by one point in winning minor league batting titles. Gehrig hit .369 for Hartford in 1924. DiMaggio hit .398 for San Francisco in 1935.

Face Badgers This Afternoon

By DALE ARNOLD

Starting the Big Ten net season off with a bang, the Spartan tennis squad plays Wisconsin this afternoon at Madison, and face the Golden Gophers tomorrow at Minneapolis in their first Western conference tilt since State's entrance into the Big Ten.

Win 9-0 Opener

In the first match of the season, State whipped Wayne university 9-0 and were rained out against Western Michigan Wednesday.

Team captain, Len Brose, will occupy the number one spot with Dave Mills, John Sahrtian, Ken and Keith Kimble and Dick Rieger in the other single positions.

In the doubles, Brose and Sahrtian will team up for the number one team. Keith Kimble and Dave Mills, and Ken Kimble and Doug Curley will pair off to finish out the lineup.

Show Power

The team has shown power so far this year and should prove a tough squad to beat in the Big Ten.

Wisconsin has dropped the only three matches they played against the Spartans and Minnesota has never met State on the courts.

Nats Win, 2-1

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Washington moved into a first place with Cleveland last night by defeating Philadelphia 2-1, on the one-hit pitching of Connie Marrero, and home runs by Mickey Vernon and Gil Coan.

Good Weather Predicted for Today's Races

A 14-man Spartan track delegation returned to the famed Drake relay yesterday at Des Moines, Ia. for the first time since 1948. The last State team to compete in the relays dominated the running. The classic starts today for a two-day stand. Five important relays plus the broad jump finals and 100-yard run prelims are slated for today.

DES MOINES—(P)—The Drake relays open today for a two-day run—and definitely there won't be a snowstorm such as plagued the 1950 games.

The weather, in fact, is expected to be good.

The pole vault heads a program that has attracted entries from 25 universities, 49 colleges and 62 high schools.

There are six university and college finals today. Michigan and Washington State are mentioned as possible record breakers in the university four mile relay and Loyola (Chicago) is expected to post a new mark in the college distance medley.

Wayne Tinkle

Grad Student Picked to Fill IM Vacancy

By ALEX LAGGIS

It is now official.

The long awaited appointment of Wayne Tinkle as acting intramural director was announced yesterday by Director of Athletics Ralph Young.

Tinkle, assistant mural director to Harris Beaman for three years, graduated from State in 1950 with a physical education degree.

The position was vacated April 16 when Beaman was recalled back into the army as a ROTC instructor. Tinkle took over the IM reins then and was a heavy favorite for the appointment.

He is 27 years old and attended Detroit Pershing high school. Tinkle is married and has two children. He will receive his masters in physical education this summer.

Tinkle stated yesterday that he will strive to keep improving the present system, which is considered one of the best in the nation.

State Gridders Battle for Defensive Slots

By GEORGE WEEKS

Practicing under a cloudless sky for the first time this spring, the Michigan State 130-man football squad went through another heated scrimmage yesterday in preparation for the Green and White classic May 12 in Macklin stadium.

Coach Biggie Munn gave special attention to his defensive backfield, which is undergoing a wild scramble for positions.

Halfback Slots Open

Along with the battle for safety between Art Ingram and Jim Ellis, Munn sees a wide open contest for the halfback slots. At right-half Rex Corless, Ray Vogt and Tom Brogan have shown promise while the opposite flats are being covered by second string quarterback Johnny Wilson, Ellis, when not at safety also has seen action at left-half.

Now that Ed Timmerman is back in uniform, Leo Boyd has tough competition in the tussle for the left side linebacking job. Bill Hughes is working out behind the right side of the line.

Dekker at End

Paul Dekker has temporarily nailed down the left end post. Bill Carey and Doug Robo are alternating on the right flank.

Slowly the offensive backfield picture is clearing up, but three men are still vying for the right-half spot. Vince Pisano, Vogt, and Bill Wells are all receiving approving nods from Munn.

Frank Leahy, head football coach at Notre Dame for eight years, has a record at South Bend of 64 wins, seven defeats and six ties.

big right-handed pitcher who let 3 last year while pitching 24 innings. The sophomore, his curve ball, which he did not use much last year, has added to the effectiveness of his striking fast ball.

Edwards was scheduled to start the opening game of the 51 campaign but he injured his arm in a game with Kobs' team. However, he is expected to start Saturday against Wayne.

Another right-handed pitcher, Bob Carlson, last year allowed only nine earned runs in 42 1/3 innings while winning three games and losing only one. In his start against Wayne this year he gave only one run in four innings.

Expected to Improve

A product of Jamestown, N.Y., and a member of MSC, Carlson is expected to improve even more over last year when he was used mainly as a reliever pitcher.

A lot of his effectiveness can be attributed to his ability of keeping opposing batters from taking a "double" at the plate. Thus when they do hit the ball it is without their full power.

One of the pitchers, Kobs is counting on to fill the rest of the gap is Charles "Chuck" Gorman, a 20-year-old sophomomore. Gorman has a sharp-breaking curve and lacks only control to be a star pitcher.

Fastball Artist

The second sophomore hurler is Bob Howard, who played for prep baseball at Johnston, Pa. Howard, a right-handed pitcher, stands 5'10" and weighs 160 lbs.

Howard's fastball is a real terror against Wayne.

Coach Kobs commented on Howard saying, "For a small pitcher, Howard has one of the best fastballs I have seen. His ball is fast and he has control of it."

Speed was demonstrated in the opening match in the history of the Wayne hurlers. His control is also sharp, especially in catching the corners of the plate.

Another promising hurler is Gus Carlson (in relation to Bob) who joined the team late but pitched good ball in starting against Notre Dame. He is a right-handed pitcher.

Remainder of Staff Untried

The remainder of the Spartan pitching staff is composed of sophomores who will have outstanding seasons. There are two new prospects in football, Don LaPointe and Don Quave, who are also the kicking specialists of the team. He stands 5'10" and weighs 160 lbs.

One outstanding prospect in football is Bob Doral and Art Zill, both of whom should see plenty of action this year.

Prepare for Swingout

Senior Gown Orders Due This Saturday

By CONNIE COURTEAU

Seniors planning to attend Senior Swingout May 8 must order caps and gowns tomorrow, according to Dick Szepaki, Swingout chairman.

The deadline for orders for both Swingout and commencement is tomorrow noon. Gowns can be reserved in the Union bookstore.

Petitions for '51 club membership must be submitted to organization room 2 in the Union by Monday. Blanks are available at the Union desk and in organization room 2.

Second of Series
This year's Swingout is the second of a series of May events which will honor seniors. Events began with the Senior Ball May 5, followed by Swingout and three mid-week dances slated for May 9, 16, and 22.

Choice of '51 club members. Water carnival, Land parade, and the Commencement date, June 2, will wind up the list of May activities.

The Swingout tradition was born 41 years ago when senior men gathered to push their coed classmates on swings in front of Merrill hall, then a women's dormitory.

Peaceful Progress
The event progressed peacefully until 1916 when junior women revolted the night before Swingout and stole the senior women's caps and gowns.

When the irate seniors saw 20 junior men arriving at the dorm laden with food for a picnic, they retaliated by soaking the men with water and stealing the food.

The whole affair ended suddenly when the entire group was discovered on the roof of Merrill hall 'Cap Night'.

Along with swinging and strutting around the campus, seniors incorporated "Cap Night" into their Swingout for several years. All four classes gathered by a bonfire on the Red Cedar's banks and threw books, freshman beanies, and other souvenirs into the blaze.

The first Swingout in the modern tradition started in 1921 when five honoraries, including Blue Key, Green Dragon, and a group by the name of "Daddy Long Legs" collected their members and paraded around campus. The graduating class liked the idea and took it over.

Coeds still had their yearly swing until after World War II. With the return of war veterans, this strenuous part of the entertainment faded out, leaving the parade and Fairchild theater celebration which honors seniors this year.

Vet Students Get Scholastic Honors at Convocation

Thirteen Michigan State College students were honored Tuesday night at the annual Honors convocation of the MSC school of veterinary medicine.

James O. Hughes, East Lansing senior, received a $300 Borden veterinary scholarship for attaining the highest scholastic average during his first three years of professional work.

Other awards went to Wilford D. Davis, Dundee senior; Thomas A. Blackburn, Lansing sophomore; Adolf Weinacker, Detroit senior; Warren Litsky, Fitchburg graduate student; and Helen I. Houser, Grand Rapids junior.

MSC Veterinarian staff members awarded gold keys were David L. Reath, Vulcan junior; and Richard Hansel, Osterville, Mass.

Silver keys went to Bernard W. Bigger, Cheboygan senior; Bernard Wasserman, East Lansing senior; Dorman L. Hughes, New Richmond, Ind., senior; Harry Stollker, Farmington senior; and Dewitt Owen, Terre Haute, Ind., senior.

Educator Asks Emphasis on Responsibility

"We are inclined in our educational system to produce grade 'A' physicians and grade 'D' humans."

That is the feeling of Dr. Charles D. Anspach, president of Central Michigan college of education, who spoke to the convention of the Association of College Unions at a dinner last night.

Dr. Anspach said that the Union people were one of the groups that were helping to produce "A" grade people as well as "A" grade scientists and businessmen.

He continues that we must bring moral and intellectual discipline back into education. The best preparedness we could have in this or any other crisis is an intellectual and moral discipline equal to that of military discipline.

We must assume more direct responsibility for civic affairs if we are to prevent one of the biggest wrecks of human progress in history, Dr. Anspach said.

We have to get rid of the "let George do it" attitude in public affairs. Public indifference can only lead to government aid or control, he added.

An article by Dr. Shao C. Lee, director of the International center, will appear in "The World Through Literature," a textbook for general literature courses, being published in May.

Blood to Flow as State News, Council Give

Campus to Have Red Cross Mobile

MSC's Student council has accepted the "bloody" challenge of The State News staff, to give blood to the Red Cross.

The challenge was accepted by Council president Bob Rombouts yesterday.

In connection with the current drive on campus, sponsored by Alpha Chi Omega, the Council and the State News staff will give to see which organization will pledge and give the most blood.

The State News challenge stated: "We pit our veins against yours. We put our ability to bleed for the campus blood drive against yours."

No Guts
"We want blood," it continued. "Many of you have not displayed the quality called 'guts.' Have you blood?"

All donors must apply by this Friday, according to Chairman Clifford Raulola. The Red Cross blood mobile unit will be on campus Monday if there are 200 promissory donors.

To Contact Donors
Those who sign up to give blood, either through their living units or in organization room 2 in the Union, will be contacted by phone in order to arrange a convenient donating time on Monday.

The mobile unit will be on campus from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Those unable to donate on Monday may do so at the blood center in Lansing.

Any donations there will also receive voting credit for the Ugliest Man on Campus contest.

Tell How Easy It Is
Donors time and time again tell us that had they known how simple it was to give blood, they would have done it long before.

William Chestnut, Red Cross official, declared:

All blood collected in the drive will be sent to Korea immediately.

Some birds, swifs for example, never walk.

East Lansing School Groups Plan Operetta

The East Lansing High school choir and orchestra will present Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "The Pirates of Penzance" tonight and Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

"The Pirates of Penzance" or "The Slave of Duty" is the two-act story of Frederic, a boy who is apprenticed to a band of pirates until his 21st birthday through a misunderstanding by his nursemaid.

Frederic has a conflict between his sense of duty to the pirates and his love for Mabel, the daughter of Major-general Stanley.

This conflict is resolved in the final act and Frederic marries Mabel, while pirates and police air off with the rest of the general's daughters.

Fred Dawe and Betty Bauer will play Frederic and Mabel, the lovers. Ruth, the nursemaid, will be Isabel Annand, and Charles Dexter will play the part of Major-general Stanley.

The operetta will start at 8:15 both nights. Admission will be $1.00.
