Qua Show Floats Love to Red Cedar

Quote Me, Mister' Program
Construction Begins Tuesday

By CONNIE COURTEAU

The prints for "Quote Me, Mister," the 1951 Water Carnival will take to the Red Cedar Tuesday when final construction of floats begins.

Deadline for completion of floats is noon on May 31. Don Johnson, general chairman of the carnival, announced yesterday.

The Water Carnival program, running from May 31 to June 2, includes the nightly parade of floats on the Red Cedar, entertainment booths featuring pie-throwing and dunking of campus personalities, and the Land Parade.

About 20 land floats will take part in the Land parade, scheduled for June 2 at 10:30 a.m. Campus organizations will depict the work of their groups on a march which will circle the campus beginning at the Women's gym. High school bands will also participate in the parade.

Their float, decorated by Phi Alpha Xi, floriculture honorary, will show a formal garden in which the king and queen will be seated.

Tickets for the carnival are on sale at the Union ticket office. A few reserved seats are still available, Johnson reported.

By starting ticket sales early, the carnival committee hopes to eliminate long lines which form before the performances, causing ticket buyers to miss the first part of the show, Johnson said.

In case of rain, tickets for Thursday and Friday performances will be exchangeable, and a cash refund for Saturday tickets will be made.

Book Pickup Ends

Today is the final day for students to pick up 1951 Wolverines in the Union bookstore, Bob Scott, circulation manager, announced yesterday.

In announcing the schedule Major Johns also asked that the students scheduled to receive commissions next Tuesday report at the flag in front of Dem hall at 3 p.m.

Experts Call Tax A Little Too High

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House tax experts discovered yesterday that they had voted a $1.02 tax on $1,000, figuring that this was going a bit too far, even in these times, they decided to make the levy 94.5 cents.

The curious situation resulted from a vote yesterday, when Democratic majority of the house ways and means committee pushed through an increase of 12 1/2 per cent in the taxes on all individual incomes.

In doing so, they stipulated that there should be a ceiling of 90 per cent on the amount the government could take in taxes from any individual's income.

Various speeches and discussion groups will occupy the rest of the morning.

After lunch in the Union cafeteria discussion groups will continue. Clifford M. Hardin, director of the agricultural experiment station at MSC, will sum up the activities of the conference.

Major emphasis of the conference will be placed on presenting specifically what must still be done to bring Michigan's conservation activities to a high level of effectiveness to assure the maximum quantity of natural resources for the future.

Track, Tennis Teams Reach Big Ten Finals

Spartan Net
Squad Holds
Slight Lead

Eleven Enter
Conference
Track Finals

By NICK VISTA

By ALEX LAGGIS

Showing great team balance, the Spartan net squad paced the field after the second day of play in the Big Ten championships at Evanston, Ill.

With today's finals awaiting them, State has piled up 14 points to 12 for second place Michigan. Next in line comes Iowa with nine and one-half, Indiana eight, Illinois seven, and defending champion Northwestern with six.

Four Spartan singles players advanced to the final round. They are Capt. Len Brose, Wally Kau, Keith Kimble, and Dick Rieger. Two MSC doubles teams also are in today's finals. The pair of Brose and John Sahranian along with Rieger and Kimble were victorious in matches yesterday.

Brose defeated Sonny Bradley of Illinois, 6-4, 6-3, and will meet his old rival, Al Hetzcek of Michigan in the number one singles final.

Kau came through with 6-2, 6-1 win over Wolverine Steve Brynberg to average a dual meet loss. He will meet Curt Benstan of Northwestern today.

In the number three division, Don Lewis of Iowa put Dave Mills of State out of the tourney with a 7-6, 6-2 win.

Rieger reached the number six division final by whipping Dick Curhan of Michigan, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. His opponent in today's final will be Bill Gramos of Wisconsin.

Michigan State will go into tonight's Big Ten track finals with 11 qualifiers as the Green and White made their first appearance in the annual classic yesterday a shocking one for their rivals.

Downed to nothing more than a third place finish by pre-meet dozeesters, Michigan State kept close on the heels of Illinois, highly favored squad at Dyche stadium yesterday in the 51st running of the annual classic.

Jesse Thomas, star of the nation's top scores, stole the show from the meet's brighter stars as he won his heat in the 120 high 220 low hurdles and the 100 yard dash.

Illinois qualified 13 men in all nine events yesterday. The Wolverines who figured to give Illinois their toughest competition turned out to be the biggest flop as they only placed eight men to tie Indiana for third place.

They fared miserably in the 880 where their two top stars, Chuck Jacobs and Chuck White, were didn't place.

Syracuse Art Ingram tied Thomas for best time in the 100-yard dash with a 16.95. Ingram also won 5 position in the 220-yard final.

Dick Henson turned out to be a surprise performer for State as he placed in three events, placing in the 100-yard dash, 220 and low hurdles.

SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS

Studio Theater Ends Busy Year

By DON FEDERMAN

Studio theater came to the end of an exceptionally busy year last night as they presented scenes from great plays in room of the auditorium. The programs were directed by students of Speech 447c.

Scene from "The Show Off," by Neil Kelly, was presented first, as directed by Ann Costello, N.Y., senior. The cast included Jane Callahan, Lakewood, senior; Anita Doyle, Lowell, and James Collins.

Next scene from Clifford "Golden Boy," was directed by Marvin Phillips, Flint graduate. Dale Baum, Detroit junior; Murray Kamelhar, MSC trail junior, were the principal James Thurber and Elliot Nugent's "The Male Animal" was directed by Marie Delavigne, Detroit senior. The scene showed the living room of the Turner home before and after the big game. Clyde Adler, Dearborn graduate and Mary Brum played the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Turner.

The final production was a scene from "Years Ago," by Ruth Gordon, and was directed by Janet Linder, Sawyer senior. It portrayed the Jones living room in June 1910 on the day that Ruth is about to leave for New York to try her luck in the theater. Jane Clark, Roscommon sophomore, played the part of Ruth, while Gloria Tarpinian, Hazel Park senior, and Charles Arneson, Chicago graduate, played the parts of the mother and father.

Elections for the coming year were held after the first scene was over. Pat Davis, Ashland, Ohio sophomore, was elected president of the group. Other officers include Suzanne Sullivan, Grand Rapids freshman, treasurer, and Evelyn Darby, Albion freshman, secretary.

"How the Stars Were Made," an original play for children, written and directed by Patricia McKenna as her thesis project winds up the term for the dramatics department. This will be shown May 25 at 7 p.m. and May 26 at 2 p.m. Both performances will take place in room 301 home economics building.

Over 150 students have participated in the Studio theater productions during the year. This includes two major plays, two arena style performances, and over 20 workshop scenes or one-act plays. Off campus, the Studio theater has traveled to Lansing, Marshall, Albion, Mason and Rochester.

Work is now being planned for the summer, and tryouts will take place the night of registration. A comedy is being readied for the first six week season, and will be directed by a Brooklyn college professor familiar with this type of work.

Stuart Chenoweth, assistant professor in speech, dramatics, and radio education, looked back on the successful season of the group and hoped that most of the players would be back next fall to continue the work of the Studio theater.

A Publication's Credo

Concerning the recent attack on the Dartmouth daily student paper by the Chicago Tribune writer, William Fulton, there is perhaps more than meets the eye at first glance.

First, we are presented only one side of the story and The Dartmouth's alleged policies are severely criticized without the college paper's position stated or defended by its editors.

Secondly, the Chicago Tribune consistently veers sharply toward the reactionary side in matters of politics. It is not unreasonable to assume that the article has its biased points. The Tribune has laid no claim to fame in journalism on the basis of strict objective reporting.

It may be true, as the Tribune charges, that The Dartmouth is run by communists and is "spearheading radicalism" at that college.

We will not support or deny these accusations because we do not have all the facts.

It is obvious, however, that The Dartmouth is guilty of a breach of the privileges of a free press.

Disregarding the alleged "subversive" activities of its editors and looking solely at the product of their labors, we find that the student daily has made extravagant use of the sinister art of propaganda.

As a college paper, The Dartmouth has a responsibility to the college it represents; and represent it does, for the opinions of the paper invariably reflect directly upon the institution.

The responsibility and obligation of a student publication are oft-debated subjects. In order to more clearly define the aims and duties of college publications, a code for student publications was adopted at the last meeting of the MSC publications board. It reads as follows:

The student publications of Michigan State College constitute a principle source of information about the activities and interests of the student body, the faculty, and the college itself, and as such bear a large responsibility in maintaining the dignity, prestige, and reputation of the college in the eyes of the people of the State of Michigan. It shall be their function:

1. To provide a responsible source of accurate information about activities on the campus and in other theaters of activity of vital concern to the students and faculty of Michigan State College and all others interested in the welfare of Michigan State College;

2. To provide an outlet for expression of opinion for students, faculty, and any others whose opinions, counsel and expressed desires may be a consideration in the immediate and long range conduct of the affairs of Michigan State College students, the college itself, and society in general; always keeping in mind that harmony, tolerance, and sympathetic consideration of honest beliefs, credos, modes of society, and methods of operation are basic to an efficient democratic society;

3. To offer educational, cultural, and, within limits of good taste as are indicated by the accepted conduct of American homes, business and society, entertainment values which will make these publications a cultural asset to Michigan State College and the people of the State of Michigan;

4. To offer to students interested in journalistic and allied publications fields an opportunity to practice publications activities which, co-ordinated with their studies, will equip them better to engage in such activities elsewhere.

Those students to whom the active management of these publications is entrusted have the responsibility:

1. To consider that the most effective educational practice in the publications field involves, among other things, high economic survival values, and hence to conduct and manage these publications within such practical limits as are dictated by finances available to the publications as a result of their operations;

2. In consideration of the fact that student experiences on student publications becomes a part of their education and their training for professional employment later, to publish magazines, journals and newspapers meeting as nearly as possible the standards advocated for all such magazines, journals, and newspapers in our society.

Campus Driving Problems

The Student congress parking committee has not been a total waste of time. The adjustments made by the administration at the committee's request were needed.

Especially necessary was the appointment of a liaison member between the congress and the administration traffic committee. This means of direct communication between the two groups should result in better publicity for campus traffic regulations.

But the committee's main objective—permission for all students to drive on campus at night and on weekends—was not considered carefully before its proposal. The administration had two reasons for not granting the committee's request.

First, the campus police and the college would almost certainly be faced with greater problems in student conduct. Many moral offenses now handled on campus involve cars. A larger number of cars would increase these offenses.

For this reason alone the administration will continue to veto more lenient driving regulations. It is completely justified in doing so as long as some parents believe it is responsible for the conduct of their offspring.

In general, there is enough driving and parking room on campus to accommodate the additional cars which the committee's proposal would bring. However, more personnel would be needed to control traffic and take care of the increase in violations.

At a time when the college is trying to economize as much as possible, this would be an unnecessary expense.

The committee asked at least a one-term trial of its plan before it was junked permanently. It looks fair enough on the surface, but a relaxation of various traffic rules has been tried before. In almost every case, students have abused their privilege to such an extent that it was canceled.

Fellow Kansan Views 'Ike' as President

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
 WASHINGTON —(AP)— As a presidential prospect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "all but a flawless natural" in the public mind but has many handicaps to overcome, says a new book out today by a fellow Kansan, W. G. Clugston.

The author, a veteran political writer for Kansas and Missouri newspapers, says the handicaps include Eisenhower's "brain-hat" training.

He also raises the question whether the people would want a man in the White House of Eisenhower's "poker-playing accomplishments" and adds:

"Another of the big handicaps is that no one seems to know much about what General 'Ike's' political philosophy really is—or just where he stands on the most important economic questions currently under controversy."

Clugston traces Eisenhower's life from early boyhood, through his climb in the army, and on up to his handling of the supreme Allied command in Europe during World War II.

But the very title of his book, "Eisenhower for President? or Who Will Get Us Out of the Mess We Are In?" shows he is leaving to the reader to decide whether the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces is the man for the White House.

Clugston says it may be that "Eisenhower, with all his handicaps, and all his lack of training for getting jobs done through democratic processes," is the best presidential candidate available. But he lists others for the voters to mull over, including:

Associate Justice William O. Douglas and Hugo Black of the Supreme court, both Democrats; Senators Morse (R-Or.) and Duff (R-Pa.); Tobey (R-N.H.); Taft (R-Ohio); Warren (R-Calif.); Robert M. Hutchins, retiring president of Chicago University; Harold Lickes, former secretary of the interior under Roosevelt and Truman, and former vice-president Henry A. Wallace.

Capitol Comments

Tax Passage Gives Boost to Governor

By JIM SMALLEGAN
 State News Column Reports

There is a large segment of well informed observers at the capitol who believe that Governor Williams is a very happy man since his gasoline tax veto has been over-ridden.

It puts the governor in a very advantageous position. The people in the state will have no complaints of poor roads while the governor will still be able to say that he did everything in his power to stop the legislature from over-taking the people.

This is obviously a good election issue in the governor's favor. Although the governor has publicly stated he is strongly opposed to the gas tax he said he will not contest the legislative action.

Four Democrats "jumped the fence" to help the Republicans knock out the veto. Three of these seem to have done this for business reasons. The fourth "converted vote" was attributed to a legislative indiscretion.

John Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit) probably had the strongest reason for helping the Republicans. He works for the Wayne county road commission, which has been endorsing higher road improvement appropriations for years.

Thomas C. O'Brien (D-Detroit) holds a political position in Wayne county and undoubtedly felt a lot of pressure from both Detroit and Wayne county lobbyists.

His son Michael J. O'Brien, D-Detroit works for the Detroit department of public works, which is the governmental unit in charge of all public highways in the city.

Joseph G. O'Connor (D-Detroit) was expected to help the Republicans in the first vote to over-ride the veto.

His vote would have been the only one needed to knock out the veto in the first vote.

"I smelled a rat when no one asked me to hold the line or jump the fence in the first vote and I began to think that the other Democrats who were secretly for the gas tax wanted me to do their dirty work and be the only renegade to the party," O'Connor said.

"I went along with the party vote, much to their surprise, so I wouldn't be the only Democrat to vote against the governor."

Now comes the big question in many people's minds. Are the minority who do not want a gas tax raise seriously opposed to the law? If they are, there is a possibility of referendum proceedings. If they do not take that stand, they can start an initiative to make a new law that will counteract the one just passed.

Just A Moment

An Old Refrain

By Steve Bransdorfer

No more classes, no more books, No more teacher's dirty looks, That's an old refrain but it's about the way some 2,400 seniors feel today.

Here are some probable answers:

1. How to stay awake for 48 hours and still answer sneeringly "I don't know" to a professor.
2. How not to let philosophy or anthropology interfere with solving a crossword puzzle.
3. That canoeing can be a very exhilarating athletic endeavor.
4. That learning to be an educated fool can be fun.

Many will think a little deeper. They will know their four years here isn't a blank check to prosperity. They'll realize those years form a chassis that will get them rolling down the highway of accomplishment if they keep it filled with gas.

To switch the topic, I'd like to introduce readers of The State News to its new manager for fall term. That man will be Dick Lang, senior from Grand Rapids.

The complete responsibility of this paper will be in his hands. The Board of Publications couldn't have picked a finer person.

This is the last "moment." For the faculty and administrators who have endured 12 academic years of Bransdorfer, thanks for your patience. For the readers of this column, thanks for the opportunity to talk to you.

WMC Student Blasts Talks

By The Associated Collegiate Press

A student at Western Michigan college was out of sorts concerning the recent junior-senior dinner dance. "To me," he said in a letter to the Western Herald, "this formal banquet was disgustingly low-lighted by a series of speeches which ran from the absurd to mediocre."

"Judging from the speeches it would seem that the student body at WMC has an intellect comparable to a gutter-art. Certainly the coarse humor, off-putting jokes and dormitory topics of sex, sin, and 'shine' would have no place in a formal gathering of juniors, seniors and faculty members."

...WHO MADE JOBS FOR THOUSANDS THROUGH FREE ENTERPRISE

THE APTITUDE FOR SALESMANSHIP THAT BEFORE MIDDLE AGE FOUND HIM HEAD OF A COMPANY HE HAD BEEN CHIEFLY INSTRUMENTAL IN EXPANDING TO WORLDWIDE FAME MANIFESTED ITSELF AT AN EARLY AGE WITH RICHARD R. DEUPREE, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF PROCTER AND GAMBLE.

BORN IN NORWOOD, VIRGINIA, MAY 7, 1885, HE WAS ONE OF SIX CHILDREN IN THE FAMILY OF A RAILROAD MAN WHOSE DUTIES CALLED FOR FREQUENT CHANGE OF RESIDENCE...

...THUS IT CAME THAT WHEN HE WAS SIX RICHARD WAS SELLING NEWSPAPERS IN RICHMOND, VA., ADDING TO HIS EARNINGS WITH OTHER WORK AVAILABLE TO AN ENTERPRISING SCHOOLBOY, WHO RATED HIGH IN HIS STUDIES...

RICHARD WAS SEVEN WHEN THE FAMILY MOVED TO COVINGTON, KY. HE WAS FOR A TIME DELIVERY BOY FOR A HATTER, WHILE ATTENDING THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS. AT 16 HE TOOK HIS FIRST FULL-TIME JOB AS A CLERK IN THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY'S OFFICE, WHERE PROMOTION WAS RAPID FOR A WHILE...

LOOKING FOR WIDER OPPORTUNITIES, DEUPREE CHANGED JOBS WHEN HE WAS 20. CROSSING THE OHIO RIVER TO CINCINNATI, HE ENTERED THE EMPLOY OF PROCTER AND GAMBLE, SOAP MANUFACTURERS, IN THE CASHIER'S DEPT. HIS EXCEPTIONAL ABILITY IN DEALING WITH PEOPLE MANIFESTED ITSELF...

DEUPREE'S CHEERY WAY OF DEALING WITH CUSTOMERS AND HIS GENERAL EFFICIENCY ATTRACTED THE ATTENTION OF THOMAS H. BECK, HEAD OF A SALES DIVISION, WHO THOUGHT HE DETECTED PROMISING SALES ABILITY.

"YOU ARE THE ONLY CASHIER I'VE KNOWN WHO EVER SMILED WHEN HE PAID OUT MONEY," HE TOLD DEUPREE, AS HE HAD HIM TRANSFERRED FROM THE TREASURY TO THE SALES DEPARTMENT.

DEUPREE'S FIRST ASSIGNMENT WAS SELLING TO LAUNDRIES, TEXTILE MILLS, HOTELS AND OTHER BUSINESSES WITH LARGE SCALE FABRIC CLEANING NEEDS. IT WAS A TOUGH FIELD TO CRACK, BUT THE DEUPREE SKILL AND PERSUASIVENESS BROUGHT QUICK RESULTS...

DEUPREE LOST NO TIME IN PROVING THAT HIS SUPERIOR JUDGMENT WAS SOUND. THREE YEARS AFTER JOINING THE SALES FORCE HE WAS MADE SALES MANAGER OF THE ENTIRE WESTERN UNITED STATES. AT 32 HE WAS GENERAL SALES MANAGER OF PROCTER & GAMBLE, WITH SALES ROCKETING UNDER HIS DIRECTION...

A DEUPREE MOVE, AND ONE THAT HELPED STABILIZE SALES AND PRODUCTION AND REDUCE PRICES, WAS SELLING DIRECT TO THE RETAILER...

FIRST TRIED OUT IN NEW YORK STATE, THEN NEW ENGLAND, ITS SUCCESS LED TO EXTENSION OF THE PLAN THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

IN 1923 DEUPREE HAD A BIG PART IN SETTING UP P & G'S GUARANTEED 48-WEEK WORK YEAR, THAT STILL OPERATES SUCCESSFULLY. OTHER INDUSTRIALISTS SAID IT COULD NOT BE DONE, BUT UNDER DEUPREE STEADY SALES RESULTED IN STEADY FACTORY WORK AND LED TO AN ACTUAL GUARANTEE OF 48 WEEKS OF WORK EACH YEAR.

TOUGH JOBS GALORE HAVE BEEN THROWN IN FRONT OF DEUPREE, WHOSE JOY IS IN LICKING THEM. IN THREE YEARS HE WAS GENERAL MANAGER, VICE-PRESIDENT AND PRESIDENT OF PROCTER & GAMBLE. FOLLOWING WORLD WAR II HE SERVED AS CIVILIAN CHAIRMAN OF THE ARMY AND NAVY MUNITIONS BOARD.

THE MAN WHO, STARTING FROM SCRATCH, UNDER OUR DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM OF FREE ENTERPRISE BECAME PRESIDENT OF THE LARGEST BUSINESS OF ITS KIND IN AMERICA IN RECORD TIME, GIVES A SIMPLIFIED RULE FOR SUCCESS AS EXEMPLIFIED IN HIS CASE.

"ALWAYS DO THE ONE JOB THAT IS IN FRONT OF YOU. DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB, OR ABOUT WHAT OR WHERE YOU ARE GOING TO GET. IF YOU DO YOUR OWN JOB THOROUGHLY EVERYTHING WILL DROP INTO PLACE."

Spartan Nine to Meet Gophers in Crucial Series at Minneapolis

Bob Carlson to Hurl Opener; 10 Championship at Stake

By STAN KURZMAN

The Michigan State baseball team today travels to Minneapolis to tangle in a two-game series with the Gophers to start a stretch drive for the Western-conference title. The Spartan pitching staff will carry the brunt of State's hopes for a successful climax to this year's season.

Starting today the Spartans will play six games, five of them conference tilts, scheduled for the next nine days.

The weekend will probably not be the "make it, or break it" two days with eight Big Ten baseball teams seeing action. Iowa and Wisconsin are not expected to play for conference contests.

The State nine hopes to re-establish its reputation for being the "Big Ten" by sweeping the series with Minnesota. Minnesota has been eliminated from contention with only four Big Ten games.

Coach John Kobs has named righthanded Bob Carlson to start today's game. Carlson will be opposed by Gopher's ace righthander, Landeen.

Other than the pitching and the posts, there will be no action in the State line-up that opened U of D Wednesday. Minnesota is loaded with veteran talent that will probably be enough against the comparatively inexperienced State nine.

Davey Extends Streak to 21

Ex-Michigan State four time NCAA title Chuck Davey stretched his winning streak to 21 straight last night in Lansing's Ramey field by winning a wild eight round decision over Al Gronik of Detroit.

Davey had his lanky, hard punching foe on the ropes in the second and again in the fifth but could not sneak in the pay-off punch.

Tennis

In doubles play Rose and Sahrabian took Hitzek and Bromberg of Michigan, 6-4, 6-4. The Spartan duo will meet Bob Burnham and Jim Shannon of Indiana today, the only pair to conquer them this season.

Track

throwing the shot 53 even for a new Michigan State record. He broke his own record of 51'9 1/2" feet established this season against Ohio State. Carey's qualifying toss bested Indiana's Cliff Anderson's toss of 51 feet 4 1/2 inches. Anderson is the defending champion.

Mickey Walter won the Spartans a slot in tonight's finals with a place in the 880.

Big Ten Delays Action on Pact

EVANSTON—(P) The Big Ten yesterday delayed action on continuance of the Rose bowl pact with the Pacific Coast conference until today.

The faculty representatives and directors of athletics were scheduled to meet tonight, with the Rose bowl situation No. 1 on the agenda. However, during a morning session of the football coaches, an unusually large number of seven recommendations pertaining to freshmen eligibility and other problems were drawn up, and the athletic directors decided to set upon them at once, instead of going into the joint session as scheduled.

The concern at the meeting indicated that the Rose bowl pact would be carried by a 6-4 vote.

Delta Tau Delta Takes 'Mural' IFC Golf Title

Delta Tau Delta edged Psi Upsilon by one stroke to annex the fraternity inter-mural golf championship in the match played at Groesbeck golf course May 19.

DTD finished with a 332, only one stroke up on the Psi U's with 333. Frank Field was low man for the winners with an 80.

Snyder had won the IM dorm championship with 360 total strokes. West Shaw finished with 372, followed by Abbot hall with 373. Newman club was the only Independent team entered but only three scores were posted for them.

BULLETIN

EVANSTON—(P) Purdue's defending team champions held a four stroke lead over favored Ohio State yesterday at the end of the first 36 holes of the 32nd Western conference golf championship.

The final 36 holes will be played tonight. Wisconsin produced a surprise by moving into third place, five strokes behind Purdue.

IM Softball Nines Move into Final Play

DZV eliminated Elsworth house 7-4 in the semifinals of the independent block softball tournament Wednesday night in a hard fought game which saw two players ejected for fighting.

DZV scored twice in the first inning. In the second, doubles by Tom Yettis and Bill Wolfe highlighted a DZV four-run rally which clinched the game.

Elsworth pushed across two runs on three DZV errors in the fourth inning, but couldn't close the gap.

Phil EK pitcher Ed Barney started as they defeated ASCE 2 to 1 to move into the finals of the independent block playoffs. A line drive home run by Barney scored both Phil EK runs.

After ASCE filled the bases in the last inning, Barney put on a fine exhibition of clutch pitching by striking out two and making the last batter pop up to end the game.

Ron Pardon of West Shaw 6 pitched one hit ball as his teammates trampled Abbot 18, 14-2, to go into the finals of the dormitory block playoffs. West Shaw 6 scored 10 runs in a big third inning.

Snyder 17 capitalized on two errors in the first extra inning to beat Snyder 14, 6-5, in a dormitory quarter final game.

The winners of the independent dormitory, and fraternity blocks will play for the all-city league championship.
