

MacArthur Accuses Truman of Silencing Inquiry Witnesses

Hurls Charge in Letter to Russell; Declines Invitation for Rebuttal

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur accused President Truman yesterday of "silencing" key witnesses and thus clouding the full facts in the controversy over MacArthur's dismissal as supreme commander in the east.

The five-star general hurled the gag charge in a letter to Attorney General Tom C. Clark and to the House of Representatives. MacArthur inquiry committee chairman Russell (D-Ga.) declined an invitation to return to the state to hear MacArthur's testimony before the committee.

Dawn Raids Surprise 17 Communists

FBI Arrests Top Party Leaders

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI in a series of dawn raids arrested 17 Communist officials yesterday on charges of plotting to wage an underground campaign to overthrow the United States government by violence.

They were among 21 Communists named in a federal grand jury indictment as slated to take over control of the party when the 11 convicted Communist leaders start serving their prison terms.

Their arrests, 16 in New York and one in Pittsburgh, were held in full ranging up to $25,000 each for trial — one which promises to be as bitterly fought as that of the convicted "11."

Four others named in the indictment still are being sought. The FBI agents in New York appeared simultaneously at the scattered homes of the Communists at about 6 a.m. and rang the doorbells.

Then they trundled the sleepy-eyed defendants off in automobiles to the Federal building for arraignment.

Communist spokesmen promptly seized on the arrests — and the "early hours of the morning" in which they were made — to unleash a bitter attack on the FBI and President Truman's administration.

Eugene Dennis, Communist party general secretary and one of the 11 convicted leaders, issued a statement saying: "We see here a crude effort to stifle throughout the nation all criticism or opposition to the suicidal war policies of the administration."

New Location of Bus Station Gets Approval

In a move to relieve traffic congestion on Grand River avenue, the East Lansing city council approved a new location for the city's bus station June 4.

The new station will be located at 234 E.A.C. avenue. In announcing the switch, the council also referred to the traffic congestion a proposed new location for the bus station as a headquarter.

The council also approved one-hour parking limits on several streets north of Grand River near the MSC campus.

Approval of the Delta Street Shuffle was registered by the council, although Mayor Cornelius Wagenvoerd had to break a 2-2 deadlock vote.

The approval had hinged on the dance's hindrance of Delta street traffic and a question of widening Grand River avenue west of the Michigan avenue intersection, which was tentatively planned for this fall.

Paul A. Bagwell, head of the department of Written and Spoken English, was named civil defense director of East Lansing.

Econ Workshop Set for Summer

A program aimed at the understanding of current American economic conditions will highlight the annual Michigan workshop on economic education to be held here from July 30 to Aug. 17.

The workshop may be taken for graduate credit. An estimated 75 representatives of Michigan secondary schools will attend.

WEATHER: HEAT WAVE WILL CONTINUE

Almost Official Male Fancies Stop Turning; Spring's Over

Although MSC students already sweating in classes probably won't believe it—summer starts tomorrow—officially that is.

Spring bows in at 12:25 p.m. Friday. In the northern hemisphere, the first day of summer sees the sun attain its farthest north declination. It will be above the horizon for more than 15 hours.

But yesterday's 80 degree temperatures have State summer school registrants convinced that the swimming season is here, even if only unofficially.

Mortar Shells Burst Short of Target, Kill 11

Inquiry Underway At Marine Base

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Two mortar shells burst short of their target and exploded among unprotected troops at this sprawling marine base yesterday, killing 11 and injuring at least 16.

A public information officer said that the marines, members of the Second division on routine training exercises, were eating lunch and had congregated around a company command post when the shells exploded.

The explosions occurred at the Hickory Point maneuver area, about 20 miles from division headquarters. A board of inquiry was immediately summoned and began an investigation to determine why the shells fell short.

The incident occurred about 1 p.m. on the west bank of the New river which runs through the base.

Names of those killed and wounded were withheld pending notification to next of kin. The exact number of the wounded who were rushed to all available medical dispensaries, could not be determined immediately.

Last week a mortar shell exploded at Fort Jackson, S.C., killing one soldier and injuring 27.

College to Record Spartan Songs

Eight of Michigan State's favorite songs will be available on record early next fall at the college bookstore.

The selections, by the MSC men's glee club and the college marching band, will include a new march, "The Michigan State College March," written by Frank Marsales of Los Angeles, Cal.

Other recordings will include "MSC Shadowns," "Fight Song," "MSC Spartans," "Close Beside the Winding Cedar," "Gallant Seventh," and "Clap Your Hands."

Education Society to Host Convention

The MSC chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society, will be host to the group's national convocation March 6-8, 1952.

Approximately 175 delegates from colleges and universities throughout the nation are expected to attend the meeting. Site of the convention will be MSC's new Kellogg center for continuing education, slated for completion this fall.

Robert Munya missed graduation June 3. He was flat on his back at the Michigan State College hospital in a traction frame facing a long confinement and a lot of unpaid bills. To make things worse his diploma was being held up by the college until he paid his debt to them.

Project Nears Completion

Michigan State's mammoth Kellogg center for continuing education is expected to be complete late this summer. The building is located on the bank of the Red Cedar river at the west end of the campus. The purpose of the $2,100,000 building, according to Edgar L. Harden, director of continuing education, is to provide quarters for the college's extensive program of special courses and conferences in the continuing education service. The center provides 193 twin-bed rooms each complete with private bath, 16 conference rooms, an auditorium, a dining room and a large ballroom. The ballroom can be used as a banquet hall for 900 people or a meeting room for 1,000.

Students 'Blithe' for Term

By KATY TEN High School Journalist

The Speech, Drama and Education departments are beginning a schedule of the summer sessions. The plays were held Wednesday in the college.

Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" will be in Fairchild theater. "The Enchanted," by Raudoux, will be presented 3-4 under the direction of Marvin Phillips, and "I Green" directed by Tomlinson will be a production.

Dr. Jacob F. Foster, director of "Blithe Spirit," is director from Brookline. He has five years' experience in the professional theater and has appeared on Coast and New York productions in Shreveport.

Foster has headed production for the Community Theater, Williamsport, Pa. The TV production of "The Enchanted" will be the first production of the Is Green will be offered campus closed network of first six weeks of the semester.

Dissinger Fades ROTC Color Called to D

A familiar figure to ROTC members of State's ROTC has the dusty trail for War D. C.

Col. Charles E. Dissinger has headed the MSC unit since 1948, has received for duty, it was announced.

Dissinger has been transferred to the adjutant general where he will work army's career management.

Dissinger's successor, Col. Clarence Clendenen, first inspector general of first army headquarters, Fort Belvoir, Ill., will take over command Aug. 19.

Robert Munya missed graduation June 3. He was flat on his back at the Michigan State College hospital in a traction frame facing a long confinement and a lot of unpaid bills. To make things worse his diploma was being held up by the college until he paid his debt to them.

Adding to his dilemma, Munya has a wife and two children dependent on him and a daughter with a leg in a brace from an attack of polio last summer.

Williams Signs General Appropriations Measure

LANSING—The general appropriations bill—top money measure of the recent legislative session—was signed into law by Governor Williams today.

The appropriations bill provides $199,916,654 from the general fund and $109,663,335 from restricted funds for general operation of state agencies and state-supported colleges for the next fiscal year.

Whittling away further at the load of bills flooding his desk, the governor approved 20 other measures and vetoed two.

Separate measures covering spending for civil defense, welfare and other purposes will bring the total appropriation from the general fund to a record $385 million.

The governor used his veto power to turn down a measure designed to regulate the sale of drugs and the practice of pharmacy.

He acted with the approval of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical association. His principal objection, he said, was to a provision which would have allowed drug stores to have registered pharmacists in attendance during only part of the time they were open.

Williams also vetoed a bill which would have distributed a quarter of the $900,000 annual oil and gas severance tax to the counties where the resources are produced.

In turning down the measure, Williams said the state was in critical need of revenue and that he saw no justification for the taking of this substantial sum from the general fund.

Forum Slated for Engineers This Weekend

The Civil Engineering department of Michigan State College will act as host at the Civil Engineering Conference June 23-25.

Engineers from all over the country are expected to attend the conference. The purpose of the convention is to discuss the problems which engineering teachers encounter, and to hear noted speakers.

The program will feature group sessions, panel discussions, and lectures. Of the first day, Professor Lowell D. Stewart, a graduate of Michigan State and head of Civil Engineering at Iowa State, will discuss "Career Possibilities for the Engineer." Other lectures during the afternoon will be presented by W. C. Polkinghorn, who will discuss "Teaching Techniques," and by Professor David J. Hall, who will discuss "Teaching Techniques—Descriptive Subjects."

An inspection trip and a picnic the afternoon will be featured the second day of the convention. The Civil Engineering department will act as "chef staff" for the event, which will be held at the forestry cabin.

Concluding the occasion will be a speech delivered by Dr. Herbert F. Marco of the USAF Institute of Technology. The subject discussed will be "Text Book Selection and Evaluation."

Engineers Plan Education Convo at MSC June 25-29

The American Society for Engineering Education is scheduled to hold its annual conference June 25-29 on the MSC campus. Main objective of the meeting is to keep society members abreast of the latest developments, ideas, and theories in the field of engineering. The conference will feature speakers, panels and discussions of world problems.

The preliminaries to the conference will be organized today, and the special short courses will terminate July 4. During this time the society members will attend 50 different luncheons, dinners, and general sessions.

There are 7,000 engineers who belong to this society and Michigan State expects to see approximately 2,500 of them. Those attending will be divided into 30 different groups, each one representing a phase of the engineering field.

Summer Term Brings 4,507; More to Come

Enrollment Figures Reach MSC's Third Highest Total

Summer term enrollment at MSC is 4,507, 245 more than last year's comparable figure and the third largest summer school enrollment in MSC history.

Late registrations for both the six-week and the 12-week sessions are expected to bring the total to approximately 5,000, according to Alvie Smith, Information services news bureau editor.

Registration for the six-week session closes next Monday. Twelve-week registration continues until Wednesday.

The 4,507 figure is exceeded only by the 1947 and 1948 figures. At the end of the regular registration in 1947, the total was 4,653. Corresponding total in 1948 was 4,508.

Late registrations swelled those totals to 5,288 and 5,100, respectively.

The 5,000 approximation would bring total enrollment to about 100 more than last summer's total registration, which was 4,901.

Smith estimated the number of students in the six-week session at 2,000. The remainder are 12-week enrollees.

The ratio of men to women this summer remained substantially unchanged. Men make up slightly more than 70 percent of the total, or 3,138, while women account for nearly 30 percent, or 1,324.

Veteran enrollment rose from 23 percent spring term to about 30 percent this summer. There are 1,340 veterans on the roll. These include only vets under the GI Bill.

Most veterans must start their schooling prior to the July deadline in order to retain their eligibility under the bill. This probably accounts for some of the increase in veteran enrollment.

Final registration figures will be released next Wednesday.

Basic College Dean Named

Dr. Clifford E. Erickson, former director of the MSC institute of counseling, testing and guidance, has been named as the new dean of the Basic College. The appointment, announced by President John A. Hannah, is effective July 1.

Dr. Erickson succeeds Dean Howard C. Rather, who died Dec. 28. Dean Rather was the first head of the two year general education program set up in 1944.

Dr. Walter R. Fee, head of the history department and the Basic college department of social science, served as acting dean pending appointment of a permanent dean.

The new dean has had 23 years experience in Michigan and Illinois schools in the fields of research, teaching and administration. He received his bachelor of education degree from Northern Illinois State Teachers college and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Northwestern University.

Wilkinson Assists in Writing Book

Dr. Clyde W. Wilkinson, associate professor of journalism, has combined talents with two other educators as joint author of a new book on business letter writing. J. H. Menning, of the University of Alabama, and C. R. Anderson of the University of Illinois cooperated with Dr. Wilkinson in the production of the book, "Writing for Business."

Head of the business writing work at MSC, Dr. Wilkinson previously published "Business Correspondence Problems" in 1940. The latest book has been accepted by seven universities as their text in the field.

Too Many Cars

The city of East Lansing has a parking problem.

This problem has many sides, many angles. It is unique because of several factors.

East Lansing police have been concerned about the problem for a long time.

What is being done? The state highway commission recently made an order that parking on Grand River avenue from MAC avenue to the Peoples church would have to stop.

How much traffic? Approximately 30,000 cars going east and west every 24 hours.

As far as student driving goes, it's one of the East Lansing police department's big headaches.

Parking areas on side streets such as Abbott road and MAC avenue are clogged daily by student cars while owners are attending classes in Berkeley hall or getting coffee in the Union.

In an attempt to alleviate the situation, East Lansing is building two new parking lots.

What is the solution? We might suggest that students help the situation by using discretion when driving.

A final solution to the problem is not in sight, according to city officials.

British Oil Interests in Iran Periled

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. Associated Press News Analyst

The Iranian crisis seems to be approaching the point where British hopes of maintaining a hold on the oil may be superseded by thoughts of how to deny it to Russia.

The British, rebuffed in their latest effort to reach some agreement whereby Iran can take ownership of the wells without ending Anglo-Iranian Oil company operations, are now reported to be actually considering a complete evacuation.

Beyond another appeal for a negotiated settlement which would seem to have little hope of success, two alternatives are being discussed.

This raises the question of which situation will most gravely endanger the peace of the world.

Just as dangerously, any British attempt to maintain their position in the oil fields by force would give Russia an excuse in case she might be seeking one for intervention under her treaty with Iran.

The only hope for anything like a satisfactory outcome of the dispute lies in convincing Iran that she is endangering her freedom from a Russian domination which is far worse, than any ignominy which now might come through compromise.

Stabilization Head Praised

By THOMAS L. STOKES WASHINGTON — Eric A. Johnston is an example of what often happens to the businessman when entrusted with high heavy responsibility in his moment, called upon to serve people.

side, his ease, and to heed what he is saying.

It would not be fair or accurate to say of the economic stabilization director that he is a transformed or different man now.

Nor is he a newcomer to the intricate maze that is federal government here in Washington.

During the war he served as representative of business on various government boards and commissions having to do with economic stabilization, economic development, manpower and such, so that he got a firsthand view into complex problems.

So that, in effect, there is a transformation caused by circumstances, with no reflection on Eric Johnston, but rather a compliment.

President Truman has been ridiculed for talking of the usual — applying it to those who refuse to recognize the crisis of today and the sacrifices that it entails.

His week-end outburst followed the parade before congressional committees of representatives of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in opposition to controls, though he did not single out the organization by name.

That would be unfair, for many of its members clearly do not subscribe to the presentation purportedly on their behalf, just as he, its former president, does not.

His indictment was borne out when, after his criticism of the special-interest fight on controls, representatives of real-estate interests began this week their public attack on extension of rent control.

The long lines in the Union at noon set me back on my heels.

After the initial shock, I try to analyze the situation.

First, of course, is the "honorary" type. This character is too busy with date fraternities, beer busts, activities, football games and assorted trysts to do any studying during the term.

He's 187 points down by the end of an active summer, but he never gives up!

Then there's the type who is sure that school is an escape from an inevitable fate.

Some people are just plain lazy.

The "me-too" type heard his friends were coming to school.

Then, of course, there is the person who is in a hurry to get through school.

I realize, though, that if you are doing, but every man to his own poison, always say this, but its a hell of a chance!

Actually, I don't care about every day and play golf. Don't get in front of me. I hate slow players.

Among the letters that we have received, though, are a few that bring out our sympathetic and understanding nature.

Advice to the lovebird is somewhat out of our usual line but it seems that Dorothy Dix is too busy these days to handle all this type of work so we are willing to try our hand at it.

The first letter asking for helpful hints in regard to the road to happiness comes from a Mr. D. E. of Mason hall.

Mr. D. E. writes: "Dear Miss Lonelyhearts, I have heard of the wonderful advice you have given others in time of need so I've decided to ask your help in my darkest hour."

Ten Trackmen Fall to Coast

Spartans Points in Effort

Coast conference some measure of football losses by the Big Ten, 77 1/2 to the annual track and conference meet. The meet Tuesday at Eugene, Ore.

Michigan State runners showed in the meet and five of them grabbed points for the Spartans.

Preutzel, who ran a mile in the mile but in the final yards of the race, came in first. Trux was second in a slow 4:17.4.

Thomas, the Spartans top runner this year, was anchor of the Big Ten's winning 440-yard relay team. Running man of Illinois, Len Gary Scott of Iowa, topped post a time of 1:10.4.

Lindley's Hitting Tops State Nine

.418 Average Best Since '33: Four Others Over .300 Mark

Final Michigan State baseball statistics for the past season show sophomore rightfielder Darrell Lindley swatted his way to most of the batting honors.

Lindley topped the Spartan nine in batting with .418; Bower batted in with 29; total bases, 67; hits, 43; and doubles with six.

The 6'1", 190-pounder, Clio, Michigan, product also tied for first in triples with four, was second in runs-scored with 28, and tied for second in home run production with four.

Lindley's .418 mark tops all Spartan batting champions for the past 17 years. Former State head basketball coach Al Kischer topped it with a .430 average in 1933.

Four other Spartan regulars would top the season above the .300 mark. First baseman Bob Ciolek was second with a .337 average. Shortstop Joe Rivich finished with a .327 showing. Ravich was also second in the RBI column with 27, led in runs-scored with 29 and home runs with seven.

Catcher Bill Bower was fourth with a .319 record. Team captain Vince Magi was also over the coveted .300 mark with .315. Magi also set a Spartan record by compiling a 21-game consecutive hitting streak.

As a team, the 1951 Spartans batted an even .300 for the season and established a new record for home run production, belting 27 round-trippers in 26 games.

Seven pitchers split most of the mound duty for the Spartans during the campaign, with all featuring in the won-lost column. Bob Dangel, sophomore rightfielder from Grand Rapids, was tops among the regular moundmen in both winning percentage and in the important earned-run-average department.

The lanky fastballer boasted a record of 3 wins and no losses and sported a 2.97 ERA.

Gus Carlson and Bob Carlson each contributed three wins to the Spartans' 17-9 record; while Roger Howard, Chuck Gorman, Don Quayle, and Tom Lawson each chipped in with two wins.

Terry Sawchuk, goalkeeper of the Detroit Red Wings who was voted the outstanding rookie of the National Hockey League, has the distinction of being picked the outstanding rookie in every pro league in which he played.

No Comment!

NEW YORK (AP)—An informed source said yesterday the $65,000-a-year baseball commissioner's job had been offered to at least two men who have turned it down.

These are J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, and James A. Farley, former postmaster general. Both Hoover and Farley said "No comment."

In a forfeited baseball game, the final score is 9-0.

MSC Places Two on NC2A District Team

Two Spartan baseball players, Darrell Lindley and Bob Ciolek, won places on the Big Ten dominated NCAA District IV all-star teams.

Lindley, stellar right fielder, won a first team berth, while Ciolek was named to fill the initial sack on the second squad.

Western conference players won 18 of 20 places. The only "outsiders" were two Western Michigan players, Don Edwards and Newal Wilson. Edwards, one of the two pitchers named on the first team, held that honor with the man that beat him 1-0 in the District IV play-offs, Dick Hauck of Ohio State.

Named to the first team infield were Al Weygandt, Michigan first baseman; Jim Anderson of Minnesota at second; Gene Ring, Indiana shortstop; and Dick Raklovits, Illinois third sacker.

Raklovits was a surprise choice for the hot corner over Bob Montebello of Ohio State, winner of the Big Ten batting title.

Joining Lindley in the outfield were Leo Koesick, left fielder for the University of Michigan, and Stov Hein, Ohio State center-fielder. Backstop duties were given to Bill Hoffman of Illinois.

Yankee shortstop Phil Rizzuto handled 14 chances — three short of the league record — in a game with Washington on April 29.

Victory String

John Sahrattian, Michigan State's gangling sophomore tennis star went for nine straight varsity matches without losing a set. Sahrattian teamed with Len Brose for the Big Ten doubles championship.

Bower Voted Captain for Next Season

Veteran catcher Bill Bower has been named captain of the 1952 Michigan State baseball team, succeeding centerfielder Vince Magi.

Captain-elect Bower batted .319 for Fort Wayne, Ind., and has been a regular receiver for the past two seasons.

He closed out the 1951 season as the Spartans' fourth leading hitter. The 5'11", 175-pounder batted .315 in 47 trips to the plate for a neat .218 average.

Included in Bower's hit collection were three doubles, one triple, and four home runs, good for 13 RBIs. An excellent receiver, Bower also was one of the best throwing arms in the collegiate catching ranks.

Besides his baseball talents, Bower also excels in basketball. He has been major letters in basketball for the past two years as a forward.

Despite his lack of height, Bower was one of the Spartans' best rebounders and floor men during the 1950-51 season and second in his team's third leading scorer with 139 points.

418 Average Best Since '33: Four Others Over .300 Mark

Lindley's .418 mark tops all Spartan batting champions for the past 17 years.

Former State head basketball coach Al Kischer topped it with a .430 average in 1933.

Four other Spartan regulars would top the season above the .300 mark.

First baseman Bob Ciolek was second with a .337 average.

Shortstop Joe Rivich finished with a .327 showing.

Ravich was also second in the RBI column with 27, led in runs-scored with 29 and home runs with seven.

Catcher Bill Bower was fourth with a .319 record.

Team captain Vince Magi was also over the coveted .300 mark with .315.

Magi also set a Spartan record by compiling a 21-game consecutive hitting streak.

As a team, the 1951 Spartans batted an even .300 for the season.

Established a new record for home run production, belting 27 round-trippers in 26 games.

Seven pitchers split most of the mound duty for the Spartans during the campaign.

All featuring in the won-lost column.

Bob Dangel, sophomore rightfielder from Grand Rapids, was tops among the regular moundmen in both winning percentage and in the important earned-run-average department.

The lanky fastballer boasted a record of 3 wins and no losses and sported a 2.97 ERA.

Gus Carlson and Bob Carlson each contributed three wins to the Spartans' 17-9 record.

While Roger Howard, Chuck Gorman, Don Quayle, and Tom Lawson each chipped in with two wins.

Terry Sawchuk, goalkeeper of the Detroit Red Wings who was voted the outstanding rookie of the National Hockey League, has the distinction of being picked the outstanding rookie in every pro league in which he played.

's Loss—U of M's Gain

(AP)—Army's loss is Michigan's gain in the case of a national, one of the most sought-after high school football players in the nation.

Preparatory course at the U.S. Military academy, the footballer has decided against a military career and is enrolling at Michigan.

The move is a most welcome one for the Wolverines, for it comes along at a time when Michigan is sorely in need of backfield strength that has carried it to four successive wins and two victories in Rose Bowl encounters.

Centerback on Flint Northern's scintillating 1950 team, the respect of Coach Guy Houston as the best centerback ever to appear in Houston's 23-year regime.

Each has had some good ones.
